Canned Thanksgiving Collection:

Canned Food To Refugees; Clothes To World’s Needy

A Crusade to feed the hungry in our midst and clothe the poor of the world will be undertaken during Thanksgiving week by the Diocese of Miami.

In all parishes, people have been asked to donate canned goods to a Thanksgiving campaign that will provide food for Cuban immigrants who have fled here to escape the rise of communism in their native country.

During the same week, families throughout the diocese will take part in the nationwide clothing collection sponsored by the U.S. Bishops for the benefit of needy persons in foreign countries.

Two-Fold Crusade

The two-fold crusade to clothe the poor and feed the hungry was announced this week by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll in a letter sent to all parishes.

He appealed to everyone "to help our needy brethren overseas" by contributing clothing, blankets, bedding and shoes to the annual Bishops' collection. "I assure you that the need in many parts of the world still continues," the Bishop stated.

In announcing the simultaneous drive for canned goods, Bishop Carroll said he felt "impelled by charity and concern for the welfare of Cuban people who are in exile in this diocese" to ask for contributions of food.

Latest Action

There are many Cuban families in this area who presently are in need," the Bishop stressed.

The appeal for canned goods is the latest action taken by the diocese to alleviate the plight of some 30,000 Cubans who have settled in South Florida. Unemployment and the usual hardships faced by immigrant groups continue to impede the economic progress of the Cuban newcomers.

The canned goods collection and the clothing drive are under the direction of Father Peter Reilly, diocesan moderator of the St. Vincent de Paul Societies.

The canned goods collection will be completed on Nov. 27. In a letter sent to all pastors, Father Reilly explained that the food will be collected in each parish and then sent by the parish to a designated collecting point.

COLLECTING POINTS

He directed that Dade County parishes forward their contributions to Centro Hispano Catalino, 130 NE Second St., Miami.

Broward County parishes will utilize Little Flower, Hollywood St. Anthony, Fort Lauderdale.

In Palm Beach County, the collecting points are Sacred Heart, Lake Worth; St. Julissima, West Palm Beach.

Kennedy At St. Edward’s Mass

By MARJORIE L. FULYAW

Palm Beach — President-elect John F. Kennedy assisted Sunday at a special Mass offered for his intentions in St. Edward Church here.

Msgr. Jeremiah P. O’Mahoney, long-time friend of the Kennedy family who is pastor of St. Edward parish in which their winter home is located, was the celebrant of a low Mass at 10 a.m.

Despite Senator Kennedy’s efforts to avoid any public demonstration at the church by not disclosing what time or where he would assist at Mass, hundreds of onlookers joined the large corps of reporters and press photographers who stationed themselves outside St. Edward Church as early as 7 a.m.

PRIVATE MATTER

In addition to crowds which came from Lake Worth, West Palm Beach and surrounding areas, many persons had traveled almost 260 miles from Miami hoping to be on hand when the President-elect arrived.

Early on Saturday, Pierre Salinger, Mr. Kennedy’s press secretary, had issued a statement saying, “The Senator feels that his worship is a personal and private matter. It has been policy in the past not to announce the time and place of worship and there will be no change in this policy.”

In his sermon to about 350 persons in the congregation, Monsignor O’Mahoney, who had welcomed Senator Kennedy at the entrance to the church, chose as his theme Solomon’s prayer to God for the gift of wisdom to rule his people. He emphasized that the King sought divine assistance, “not for riches.

Religious Issue Laid To Rest

CHICAGO (NC) — American Protestants have mortally wounded the so-called religious issue, according to Msgr. Francis J. Lally, editor of the Boston archdiocesan newspaper the Pilot.

Commenting on the election as President of Sen. John F. Kennedy, a Catholic, he said:

"The posture of Protestants, taken in the wide dispersion, is surely a very heartening picture. Plainly the mass of Protestants considered the religious issue at least a secondary one — and this even in some places where their religious leaders were openly exploiting religious differences."

"Kennedy was doubtless correct when he said he buried the religious issue in the hills of West Virginia. He might have added that he preached its eulogy in Houston and that the American people raised a massive monument over its grave on Tuesday," he said.

REPEATED SUPPORT

Msgr. Lally's references were to the May 10 Democratic primary in heavily Protestant West Virginia, which Mr. Kennedy won, and to his appearance in September before a group of Protestant ministers in Houston, Tex., when he repeated his support of separation of Church and State and of religious freedom.

The priest-editor spoke at a symposium for Chicago-area priests on the "Priest in the Modern World." The symposium was sponsored by Loyola University in cooperation of Chicago and was attended by some 300 priests.

Msgr. Lally said he does not expect the religious issue ever to appear again in this country.

MORTALLY WOUNDED

But "at least as a political issue," he said, "it has been mortally wounded, and more than anyone else credit for this lies in the impressive and unpredicted response of American Protestants."

Pope Congratulates Pres.-elect Kennedy

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope John XXIII has cabled his congratulations to President-elect John F. Kennedy just as in recent years all popes have sent congratulations to winners of American presidential elections as a matter of routine.

Pope John said:

"We congratulate you sincerely on your election as President of the United States of America and, with the prayer that Almighty God may assist you in discharging the duties of your exalted office, We express Our heartfelt good wishes for the well-being of yourself and your family and for the happiness and prosperity of the beloved American people."

IN WASHINGTON President-elect John F. Kennedy and his family will be parishioners of St. Matthew the Apostle Cathedral. Msgr. John K. Cartwright is rector of the Cathedral which is located on Rhode Island Avenue in downtown Washington.

Did The Election Revitalize U.S. Interest In Politics?

By J. J. GILBERT

WASHINGTON (NC) — Is there a strongly revitalized interest in politics in this country? If so, will it endure? Professional politicians are seeking the answers to these questions in the wake of the latest presidential election.

Many factors undoubtedly entered into the Nov. 8 balloting — sectional loyalties, the religious issue, personalities, and the like. But the vote turnout was so large, and the result so marked by suspense, that "old press" wonder if this means a healthy revival of interest in public affairs.

VIGOROUS INTEREST

It is argued that the large vote showed a vigorous interest in the national elections, and a strong participation by younger people. On top of this, the prolonged suspense, which in a d e the election a conversation piece for much longer than usual, could have given some permanence to the public interest reflected by the size of the vote. This is not a minor consideration to one who makes his livelihood as a public servant, and makes his employment upon the favor of the electorate. Traditionally it has been possible to count upon a certain amount of apathy on the part of the public. If this margin of complacency is sharply diminished, the politician must react accordingly. And if the cut is permanent, and due largely to an interest on the part of young people, still other adjustments have to be made.

Ireland Celebrates Election Of Kennedy

DUBLIN (NC) — U.S. Sen. John F. Kennedy's election to the presidency caused widespread rejoicing in the land of his ancestors.

Especially pleased are the president-elect's cousins, James Kennedy and Mrs. Mary Ryan of Dungarvontown in County Wexford, birthplace of Sen. Kennedy's great-grandfather Patrick. There was rejoicing in Skibbereen in County Cork where the Senator's maternal great-grandfather was born and whose name of Fitzgerald survives and thrives.

ST. EDWARD CHURCH, Palm Beach, where Senator Kennedy has served as an usher, was the scene of unprecedented crowds Sunday as hundreds of newsmen and South Floridians gathered as early as 7 a.m. in anticipation of seeing the 34th President of the United States.

Jewish Merchant Brings Christmas Spirit To Main St.

NORTHPORT, N. Y. (OCT) — A Jewish merchant is bringing the true Christmas spirit to Main Street in Northport this year.

Milton Jacobs, a hardware store proprietor who heads the local Chamber of Commerce, is inducing an ever-growing number of businessmen to display a Nativity scene in their store windows.

Mr. Jacobs admits he was doubtful about the project at first. "Few people realize how much a merchant depends upon Christmas business," he said. "And to ask him to give up his street window display of merchandise in his best season — well, I liked the idea but I was skeptical.”

SPECIFIC SURFET

Mr. Jacobs approached his fellow businessmen cautiously. When nearly all of them expressed interest in the Christmas project, he enlisted the aid of local priests and ministers and talked to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce into sponsoring the plan.

The day after Thanksgiving, store owners will remove display merchandise from their windows and turn them over to the public for Christmas use.

This peaceful place is an aging cellar at the Winery of The Christian Brothers.

In those great casks, wine is resting. The old oak will give character to the wine as no other material can.

Years will pass before this wine is offered to you. Each year the wine will grow more brilliant in color, smoother in taste, more fragrant in bouquet. When it has become as brilliant, smooth and fragrant as a wine can be, then you may have it. Not before.

There are easier ways of making wine. The Brothers chose their way long ago. They labor in an ancient tradition of excellence, and see no reason at all to change.

Ceylon Acts To Nationalize All Private School Property

COLOMBO, Ceylon (NC) — The Ceylonese government has announced it will introduce legislation in January to nationalize the buildings and land of private schools in Ceylon.

This would complete the government’s take-over of private schools — including Catholic schools — on the island of Ceylon. A bill putting management of private schools in the hands of the government has already passed the House of Representatives and its approval by the Senate is a foregone conclusion.

Education Minister Baduddin Mahmood announced the government’s intention of introducing the second bill for complete nationalization of the schools. The first bill passed the House by a vote of 101 to 44.

This new blow to the nation’s private schools fell while Ceylon’s Catholic Bishops were trying to fend off the older one. It came despite mass meetings of protest throughout the island and numerous editorials condemning the government’s moves to capture the old one. It came despite infiltration in Colombia.

Pope John XXIII has congratulated the Free University here in Bogota has been a “Red college” and that the Curia came early for anticommunists here in recent weeks.

Archbishop Concha emphasized that “a Catholic can never be a communist or ally himself with communists.”

Meanwhile, the Bishops of Columbia have called on the Catholics of strife-torn Colombia to put the social teachings of the Church into practice to halt the inroads of communism.

Columbia Archbishop Warns Of Inroads By Communists

BOGOTA, Colombia (NC) — Archbishop Luis Concha Cordoba of Bogota has called on the Catholics of strife-torn Colombia to put the social teachings of the Church into practice to halt the inroads of communism.

The Archbishop spoke in a pastoral letter, the third to be issued on social conditions by Church authorities here since September. He said the two earlier joint pastoral of the Colombian hierarchy urged social justice and land reform.

The letters have been released against a background of economic distress, strikes, demonstrations and repeated outbreaks of violence in this South American nation, plagued until recently by more than a decade of civil warfare.

Groups of communists and followers of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro have clashed in the streets here, and anticommunists here in recent weeks.

The Archbishop noted in his pastoral that since “very few Catholics accept the true nature of communism . . . many let themselves be led astray by the unscrupulous promises of the tricky communists.”

“RED COLLEGE”

The prelate also pointed out that many Catholics here were ignorant of the Church’s social teachings. He said:

“There are many who think and say that in the face of social problems the Church speaks only of resignation and hope for a life after death. Nothing could be more wrong.

“The Church . . . affirms that to live in a Christian manner and practice virtue, a minimum of temporal well-being is indispensable. It has cared greatly about improving the lot of the poor. History can prove this.”

Archbishop Concha emphasized that “a Catholic can never be a communist or ally himself with communists.”

Meanwhile, the Bishops of Colombia have called on the Catholics of strife-torn Colombia to put the social teachings of the Church into practice to halt the inroads of communism.

NEW ORLEANS, (NC) — Catholic schools in Orleans parish — county — will be integrated "if and when" integration becomes effective in public schools, Archbishop Joseph P. Rummel of New Orleans has declared.

Archbishop Rummel said the integration of Catholic schools will take place "only when public school integration has been effectively carried out."

He also directed that special prayers for "divine guidance in this most momentous moment" be recited after low Masses in all churches of the archdiocese.

The Archbishop's statement, in a telegram to all pastors and the principals of non-parochial elementary schools, came at the battle public school integration neared a showdown here.

Archbishop Rummel promised in 1960 that Catholic schools would be integrated only after public schools.

Two days after his latest statement, four Negro girls entered the first grades of two New Orleans public schools.

The New Orleans School board, which ordered integration, clashed head on with the State Legislature, which had fought to block integration through a series of last-minute moves. Despite an order from Federal Judge J. Shibly Wright, the legislature directed "arguers at arms" — most of them state police — to prevent desegregation. However, Federal marshals accompanied the Negro students into the schools. They were backed up by city police on hand to restrain angry crowds of whites.

RECEIVE ORDERS

The principals of the two elementary schools involved received immediate orders from state legislature to close the schools, but refused to comply.

Mgr. Lucien J. Caillouet, Vicar General of the New Orleans archdiocese, said that Archbishop Rummel would stand on the telegram if he sent to pastors and would take no new action until the question of public school integration has been settled more definitely.

The Legislature also proclaimed a state-wide public school holiday and sought to get itself in charge of New Orleans schools. But neither move was immediately effective in stopping integration.

UNDER STUDY

The school fight had seemed inevitable since last May, when Judge Wright ordered New Orleans public schools to integrate one grade annually, beginning with the first grade this year. State officials have been seeking since then to halt integration.

WASHINGTON (NC) — Work of the Catholic Church in this country moved forward soundly in many directions in the last year.

This was reflected in reports submitted by departments and bureaus of the National Catholic Welfare Conference to the Archbishops and Bishops of the United States at their annual general meeting here. The NCWC is a voluntary organization through which the Bishops of the United States deal with matters of common interest on the national level.

Pope John XXIII sent an expression of his "paternal gratification and encouragement for the zealous enterprises" of the U. S. hierarchy. Archbishop Karl J. Alter of Cincinnati, chairman of the NCWC administrative council, reported to the meeting. The message was sent through Dominican Cardinal Tarsia, Papal Secretary of State.

Archbishop Alter also reported that Marcello Cardinal Lamberti, Secretary of the Sacred Congregatory of Catholic Education in Rome, had expressed appreciation of "the great and successful efforts that the Hierarchical colleges to solve them.

COPIED ELSEWHERE

It was noted in connection with this report that there are now "episcopal conferences" in 41 countries round the world, and that most of them are patterned after NCWC.

Establishment of the Latin American Bureau in NCWC was the "most significant development of the past year," Archbishop Alter said.

Through this bureau, the U. S. hierarchy "cooperates with the papal program to aid the Church in Latin America."

The NCWC Social Action Department emphasized its effort to bring Christian social principles to bear upon "the great social problems of the day."

Using the papal social encyclicals and the statements of the U. S. Bishops as "the principal tools of its trade," the department sponsored writings, talks, conferences, short-term schools and pamphlets, and worked with other groups to advance the ideals of justice and charity.

Catholic education in the United States grew vigorously in the last 40 years, the NCWC Education Department reported. This is the period over which the department has been making studies. It noted also that, coincident with this growth, many and varied activities in the field of general education have touched upon Catholic educational work at many points. These have included the increased interest shown in education by the Federal Government and states and actions and proposals by private agencies.

Marking the 50th year of its operation, the NCWC Legal Department reported another "tremendous news year," surpassing any that has gone before. The Press Department said its News Service, which has been called "by far the most comprehensive worldwide Catholic press agency," met the challenges of a very busy year by expanding its network of correspondents at home and abroad, and by strengthening its bureau in Rome.

The interests of religion, morality and religious institutions are impinged upon by public questions at many different and unexpected points, it was indicated in the report of the NCWC Legal Department.

SECULAR THRUST

At the same time, persons and dedicated to the absolute separation of church and state are energetically challenging laws and customs in which the state cooperates with religion in any way. There is evidence of a "considerable thrust emerging," the report said.

The National Council of Catholic Men reported that last year's activities featured a continued growth in the field and a reorganization aimed at greater efficiency at its national headquarters. It reported numerous new affiliations.

The National Council of Catholic Women reported 96 new affiliations joined the federation during the last year. This brought the total number of affiliations to 12,478. Step toward a more intensive programming within the organization were indicated.

IMPRESSIVE GROWTH

The NCCM and NCWC make up the NCWC Department of Lay Organizations.

The NCWC Youth Department, reporting impressive growth in the year attributed it to two factors: the increasing role organizations plays in the United States and an appreciation of the value of youth development programs. Diocesan and parochial affiliations with the National Council of Catholic Youth increased "significantly," it was stated.

A total of 51,300 persons were involved in 45,800 cases handled by the NCWC Department of Immigration, its report said. The department reported that the U. S. State Department is helping it with its appeals for persons trying to get relatives from Iron Curtain countries to the U.S. The State Department accepts the appeals from the NCWC department to transfer to authorities in Communist countries.

Community Action Urged

To Halt Paperback Smut

WASHINGTON (NC) — The National Office for Decent Literature suggested that distributors and publishers of paperback books cooperate in a program of self-regulation aimed at halting the flow of objectionable publications.

The NODL, in its report to the annual meeting of U. S. Bishops, stressed that local distributors "must ultimately be the community force that will rid the ranks of objectionable publications."

The report was submitted by the Episcopal Committee on the NODL, whose chairman is Archbishop William E. Counihan of Milwaukee.

The report stated that "prudent community action" is the "most efficacious" approach to the problem of objectionable literature for youth.

It said it based its opinion on "the complained extremely liberal attitude of the higher courts toward obscenity cases... the comparative lack of new and effective legislation on the state and local levels, and the striking down by the courts of some existing legislation."

A Work Of Mercy

A year ago when Catholic Relief Services, through our Most Reverend Bishop, appealed to the people of the Diocese of Miami for clothing and equipment to be sent to the needy abroad, no one dreamed that within less than a year many of our people would find themselves the victim of a disaster and in grave need of help.

When hurricane Donna cut a destructive path through MacDowell, Catholic Relief Services to their accustomed quick and merciful way, sped several tons of much needed supplies to one own people, most likely many of these who a year ago themselves contributed to the needy in Europe and elsewhere.

The memory of this is so fresh that as the next collection on Nov. 20 approaches, it is safe to say that our people will be more generous and thoughtful of the homeless, sick and ill clased than ever before. The suffering and want witnessed locally by us recently exists in many places in the world and to a more serious degree.

At the same time we are now well aware of another area of great need in our midst, namely, among the exiled Cubans. There are daily proofs of great hunger among many of the exiles who lack homes, friends and money. We are asked to give them food, specifically canned goods, that can be easily and quickly distributed to those in need. There is no need to emphasize the urgency of this matter and the value of such a work of mercy.

What Can Be Done?

In recent days in Cuba the Church, the professions and the schools have felt the straining effects of increased communist pressure.

Attested at the exodus of doctors, lawyers, dentists, engineers and other highly trained citizens, Fidel Castro felt it necessary to urge professional men and women to pledge themselves not to leave the country.

Villa Nevada University which has been a center of anti-communist activity is under fire for expelling pro-Castro students whose assignment apparently was to stir up trouble. Private schools continued to close or be harassed. Such schools, the government activity is under fire for expelling pro-Castro students.

The Archbishop of Santiago in a third pastoral letter solemnly warned his people that they must prepare themselves to fight communism, and not merely wait for help from the United States.

He urged the people to be "integrally Catholic," to put their faith into practice, to face the battle.

"Let Us Thank God"

One often hears the complaint that the spirit of our Thanksgiving Day seems as far removed from the spirit of the early colonists as they are actually separated from us in time.

Perhaps it is only a footnote in history that the Pilgrim colonists in the year 1623 survived a winter of extreme want and hardship and then went on to a good great harvest when not only put nourishment in their bodies, but courage in their souls.

These men and women, prepared to fight for survival, fortified by trials, found no reason to boast of their own deeds. Admitting their weakness instinctively they turned to God for help in their struggle against the elements and human enemies. And when success came, when hope reared and the earth bore fruit, they turned to thank God with fervent hearts.

When we turn back the pages of history we can see how there was a gradual change in this attitude of dependence and gratitude. It is not to our credit that with our growth as a nation, our astonishing inventions and great strides in science, we should feel less and less dependent on God.

Too many nowadays do not associate America’s greatness with God at all. They treat democracy as a project of strictly human effort, conceived by brainy men and preserved by the courage and altruism of citizens.

How different from this complacent strutting was the prayerful, grateful, humble attitude of the colonists, and such leaders as Washington, Lincoln. We are in graver danger today than we realize if we divorce God from our American way of life.

If we realize that American greatness is due primarily to God’s goodness towards us, we will celebrate Thanksgiving Day and respond to the needs of those in distress, and there other instances occurred, causing a flurry of excitement, but never gaining popular support.

Henry Adams, in his "Home Life," said: "The Church; no religious lay instruction takes away the rising generation; the civilfuneral and cremation at death will rob them of their last claims. The progress will soon have transformed the Church and the papacy.

Thus cremation became an effective tool of militant unbelief. It merited the name of "extreme manifestation of the condemnation of the Church."

Then we are now well aware of another of the 20th century a flood of propaganda against cremation because, as the Fathers of the Church pointed out, all respect was due to bodies which in life were Temples of the Holy Ghost and would again rise to life by the power of God.

How many centuries hence after cremation had little or no place among the customs of civilized nations, Christianity everywhere burned the burning of bodies as unnatural destruction of the soul.

Why the change in attitude today? We have to go back a few generations to learn that the revival of cremation was due mainly to the efforts of men who were seeking to destroy belief in the Christian truths and customs.

TRUTH OF THE MATTER

Cremation is Centuries Old

Yet Ads Call It ‘Progress’

By FATHER JAMES J. WALSH

It is quite a grisly subject, this matter of burning dead bodies, but one that needs to be discussed. Cremation has become another odd object of modern advertising which can give even a passing thinker a certain appeal.

Advertising has made many people consider cremation as a mark of progress, a scientific improvement over the old, "painfully realistic" method of burning bodies which was peculiar to the 20th century.

The fact is that before Christianity began, the funeral pyre had its place in ancient history. From earliest years, the Church had reason to forbid the practice of cremation because, as the Fathers of the Church pointed out, all respect was due to bodies which in life were Temples of the Holy Ghost and would again rise to life by the power of God.

"You can put another temple into the tomb," said Cardinal De la Salle long ago.

"Let us not have the bodies burned. We will burn the flames. Let us have the souls preserved, and not the bodies."

The question to ask is, Why? Why cremation? Because it is the dwelling place of the soul and the resurrection of the body.

One should not be moved by the appeal of the modern cremator. These men are not believers, just people who can use the body for some other purpose.

One should be moved by the appeal of the Christian. He is an owner of the body, and is not about to hand over his body to the grave without a fight.

The Church will allow cremation only where the need exists.

OSS OF UNBELIEVERS

A popular review at that time stated: "Cremation takes the family from the people and the Church; no religious lay instruction takes away the rising generation; the civilfuneral and cremation at death will rob them of their last claims. The progress will soon have transformed the Church and the papacy.

Thus cremation became an effective tool of militant unbelief. It merited the name of "extreme manifestation of the condemnation of the Church."

Then we are now well aware of another of the 20th century a flood of propaganda against cremation because, as the Fathers of the Church pointed out, all respect was due to bodies which in life were Temples of the Holy Ghost and would again rise to life by the power of God.

How many centuries hence after cremation had little or no place among the customs of civilized nations, Christianity everywhere burned the burning of bodies as unnatural destruction of the soul.

Why the change in attitude today? We have to go back a few generations to learn that the revival of cremation was due mainly to the efforts of men who were seeking to destroy belief in the Christian truths and customs.

ATTACK FAILED

In France in the 19th century there was an attempt to popularise cremation as an impressive celebration because it is the dwelling place of the soul and the resurrection of the body.

That attack failed. Here was another odd object of modern advertising which can give even a passing thinker a certain appeal.

One should not be moved by the appeal of the modern cremator. These men are not believers, just people who can use the body for some other purpose.

One should be moved by the appeal of the Christian. He is an owner of the body, and is not about to hand over his body to the grave without a fight.

The Church will allow cremation only where the need exists.
The Issue That Will Not Die

By FATHER JOHN J. SHEEIN

Now that Catholics have survived the barrage of anti-Catholic propaganda let us move on to the next avenue of recent political campaign, it might be a good idea for us to look at a second discipline of this material. Much of it is old stuff, such as the bogus K of C oath.

A skeptical attitude is old stuff in a new form. A century ago, there was talk of the Vatican sending agents to the White House. General MacArthur, the high ranking military official, was Catholic, hence Vatican - dominated immigrants invading our shores was overwhelming the native Protestants.

The latest version of that story, as one who was there, was that President Kennedy would break down our immigration laws and let loose waves of Catholic refugees and immigrants upon the country.

Food For Refugees—Clothing For Needy

Lucie counties will use St. Anatasia parish, Fort Pierce.

In the West Coast Deanery, pastors will forward their canned goods to St. Francis Xavier Church, Fort Myers.

In Monroe County, the provi-

s will be sent to Sacred Heart, Homestead.

DEPEND ON CHARITY

In making the appeal for canned goods, Father Reilly said Cuban refugees "are depending on our charity for their very existence. Most of them are our brethren in the Faith," he pointed out. "They are displaced, penniless, jobless, bereft of every material comfort."

Usable clothing will be collected from Nov. 20 to 27 with each parish as its own collecting point. Donations will be forwarded directly to the New York warehouse of the Catholic Relief Services — National Catholic Welfare Conference. CRS is the U.S. Bishops' world-wide relief agency.

Father Reilly said that "light, flimsy materials are of little value to people overseas." He gave priority to such items as men's suits, men's work clothes and children's wear. Items that are contributed should be clean, mended if necessary, and ready to wear, Father Reilly pointed out.

STATE OF DISASTER

The extensive charitable program of CRS benefited the Miami diocese directly this year when hurricane Donna ripped through the southern part of Florida. When state of disaster was declared, CRS rushed two tons of clothing from New York and promised whatever medical supplies were needed.

Archbishop Karl J. Alter,

chairman of the administrative board of NCWC, autori-zed a contribution of $25,000 to needy persons in the strick-ed area.

The clothing collection will be conducted in the nation's 16,000 parishes, according to Bishop Edward P. Swanson, executi-tive director of CRS.

PREVIOUS YEARS

Clothing is forwarded to more than 50 countries of the world through the CRS. Ships and airplanes carry the garments and shoes to foreign cities where they are distributed through mission centers and relief stations.

Blankets and bedding supplies are given to poor families as well as to hospitals and institutions for the destitute.

The relief agency estimated that clothing collections of the previous 11 years produced some 120-million pounds of usable supplies with a value of $140-million.

MAJOR DISASTERS

During the past year the CRS has taken part in relief work in connection with major disasters in several countries.

In March, following earthquakes in Morocco, the agency made deliveries with part of a shipment of 450,000 pounds of clothing, shoes and blankets to Morocco as part of the CRS regular aid program to that country.

In May and June it was estimated that CRS supplies to Chile, struck by earthquakes and tidal waves, were worth more than $2.5-million.

Shortly after hurricane Donna

homeless in Puerto Rico, the agency was on the scene with nearly four tons of medicines, clothing and blankets.

VICTIMS BENEFIT

By mid-September the agency had sent more than 200,000 pounds of foodstuffs and 5,000 pounds of clothing to victims of floods in the Philippines.

Victims of communism and other exiles and displaced persons have benefited through the work of CRS in Europe, the Far East, Near East and Africa.

Catholic Relief Services is receiving many requests from African missionaries for "remains and piece goods" for use by natives in areas where western-style clothing is not worn, according to Bishop Swanstrom.

He said however that "the most urgent need center about blankets and bedding, men's work clothing and shoes and clothing for infants and children."

President Kennedy, in his call for a world-wide relief agency, said that "the world is united in its desire to help our brothers in the Faith." He quoted the words of a halted missionary, Father Clifford King, S.V.D. He vowed to aid "the victims of poverty, disease, disaster and war as well as the victims of ignorance and oppression."
Fight Communism, Archbishop Again Tells Cubans

Red Hecklers Try To Stop Reading Of Pastoral Letter

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — Santiago’s archbishop has denounced communism for the third time since Premier Fidel Castro came to power almost two years ago.

Although Archbishop Enrique Perez Serantes did not refer specifically to communism in the Castro regime, organized groups of Castro hecklers tried to prevent the reading of the pastoral letter. They crowded into Santiago Cathedral and sang revolutionary anthems and songs at which the pastoral was read.

The 70-year-old prelate’s letter, entitled “Rome or Moscow,” exhorted Cuban Catholics to rely on their strength as “good soldiers of Christ” in the battle against communism. It was read, a pro-Castro official said, “as an attempt to create division among the faithful.”

Archbishop Perez Serantes saved Fidel Castro from a firing squad when he was about to be captured by pursuing soldiers of Fulgencio Batista in 1953. He welcomed Castro’s forces into Havana as Rome’s representatives. That was the first prelate in the island publicly to denounce communist infiltration of Castro’s government. That was in May of this year. In October, Archbishop Perez Serantes accused the Castro regime of trying to destroy Catholic influence in Cuba and replace it with communism.

While the Archbishop’s latest attack on communism was being read in Santiago’s cathedral, members of the civilian militia which Premier Castro has marshaled in Cuba drilled ostentatiously in the square outside.

They used weapons recently delivered from communist Czechoslovakia.

The militia men have been armed with automatic weapons, light machine guns and samurai swords provided by the communist government.

The German-speaking Conference of Teachers’ Unions denounced Archbishop Perez Serantes as a “traitor” and said he had “_pixilated” Cuba. The Vatican recently released shows Pope John XXIII on the eve of the second anniversary of his coronation. He is shown at his throne, wearing a tiara crown and his most formal robes. Cuban Women Give $10,000 To Assist Refugees At Centro

More than 200 Cuban Catholic women from Miami and the Palm Beaches have joined the program inaugurated by the Diocese of Miami to provide immediate aid for refugees from the regime of Fidel Castro in Cuba.

Organized under the title of "Seccion Cubana Centro Hispano Catolico" with the approval of Bishop Coleman F. Carroll, the group was host to hundreds of Cuban and American women from South Florida at a luncheon-meeting held Friday at the Fontainebleau Hotel, Miami Beach.

Mrs. Alfonso Fanjul of Palm Beach, president, presented a check in the amount of $10,000 to Bishop Carroll for relief work among Cuban refugees at Centro Hispano Catolico, the diocesan Spanish center established more than a year ago at 130 NE Second St., in downtown Miami.

The donation, she said, marked an initial effort on the part of the auxiliary to provide food, clothing, housing, education and employment for the island refugees and called for volunteers to assist at the Centro Hispano Catolico which is staffed by the Sisters of St. Dominic of St. Catherine de Ricci of Albany, N.Y., and Dominican priests from the Province of Spain.

During the meeting plans were discussed for a benefit dinner-dance which Seccion Cubana will sponsor on Dec. 21 at the Versailles Hotel.

According to Mrs. Manola Santeiro, also of Palm Beach, vice president of the organization, the dinner party will be held on the opening night of the Versailles Hotel show which features top talent from Cuba. Michael J. McLaney, producer of the "Extravaganza Latina," musical revue, will donate all proceeds to the Cuban relief program, she said.

NEW SUPERIOR of the Spanish Dominican Fathers at Centro Hispano Catolico is Father Armando Tamargo, O. P., right, shown during Seccion Cubana meeting with Father Angel Varela, O. P., and Mrs. Victor Pedrosa, of the new auxiliary.

FIRST MEETING of Seccion Cubana was held recently at the Fontainebleau Hotel. Those at the speakers' table included Msgr. William Barry, P.A., Mrs. Alfonso Fanjul, president; Bishop Coleman F. Carroll and Mrs. Manola Santeiro, vice president of the new group to aid refugees.

Church Extends Helping Hand To Migrant Workers

With more and more migrant workers arriving in the Diocese of Miami for seasonal harvesting, the Church is increasing her efforts to administer to the material and spiritual needs of its “transient parishioners.”

Because many of the migrants are of Catholic background, the diocese “takes a particular interest in their welfare,” according to Father Hugh J. Flynn, director of the Spanish-speaking apostolate of the diocese.

Already at work serving the migrants is a team that includes four priests from Spain, nine Sister of St. Joseph, and a handful of lay people who assist the program in a variety of ways.

Transporting children to Mass each Sunday is just one phase of the effort to serve the migrants. In the Perrine and Homestead areas, two parishes have pooled their personnel and facilities in order to transport the children to Mass and drive them to religious instruction during the week.

In other farming areas of the diocese, parishes are cooperating to meet the annual challenge which arises when Catholic migrants settle in remote camps and farm shelters. The Church goes directly to the transients in the person of priests and Sisters familiar with the problems of laborers on the move.

Soon the emigration will reach its peak. The camps will be visited on a daily basis instead of three times weekly which is now the case.

In addition to the school buses now in operation, additional buses will be chartered to take the migrants to Mass and to carry the Sisters and children to their classes.

CHILDREN of migrant workers who live in the Perrine area are transported by bus each Sunday to Mass in Sacred Heart Church, Homestead. Volunteer driver Mrs. Martha Shorter (shown above) operates a bus loaned to the project by Queen of the Holy Rosary parish, Perrine.

ANOTHER BUS covers the farm areas around Homestead, picking up children for the Mass offered especially for Spanish-speaking people. Cosimo Bommarito (left) drives the bus owned by Sacred Heart Parish. Mrs. Helen Burtt (in background) supervises the children.

LISTENING to a sermon in Spanish are youngsters who have been brought to Mass by a lay committee representing Sacred Heart and Queen of the Holy Rosary parishes. When migrants are few, the committee uses automobiles to carry the children.

AT MASS, children are accompanied by Sister Christopher Marie, S.S.J. who speaks Spanish and resides at Little Flower Convent, Coral Gables.

CATECHISM instructions will soon be given six days a week by Sisters of St. Joseph who visit the labor camps. When weather permits, lessons are taught outdoors by Sister M. Imelda, S.S.J.

VISITING the homes of migrants is a regular assignment for Father Estaban G. Boy, a native of Spain, shown above at a farm dwelling near Florida City. Worker Francisco Coronado, pictured with family and friends, has his permanent home in Texas.

REFRESHMENTS are sometimes served after religious instructions have been given by priests or Sisters. Many children receive First Communion during their temporary stay in the diocese. Confessions are heard regularly; spiritual counsel is given in camps.
Forensic League Elects Brother
Brother Edward Lawrence, F.M.S., of Christopher Columbus High School, has been elected first president of the Miami Diocese National Catholic Forensic League.

Other officers are Charles O’Malley, a member of the faculty at Central Catholic High School, Fort Lauderdale, vice president and sister M. Joanna, O.P., of St. Ignatius School, president. Secretary-treasurer.

An initial two-round "warm-up" debate followed the organization meeting in which six schools of the diocese participated.

Represented were Christopher Columbus, Immokalee, Notre Dame, Central Catholic, Archbishop Curley and St. Patrick high schools.

This year’s topic for debate is the strategic problem of world peace. The agenda for the year includes future tournaments in debate, original oratory, declamations and extempore speaking.

Christmas Orders Being Accepted
Operated Non-Profit By The Knights of Columbus
The trend toward dialogue Masses is expected to be accelerated in the Diocese of Miami as a result of the forthcoming convention of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Men.

Father Robert F. Brush, chairman of the Diocesan Liturgical Commission, predicted that "the interest to be generated by delegates in the role of the laity in the Mass ought to produce beneficial effects in the liturgical program of every parish."

Lay participation in the Mass will be the major concern of the convention in Fort Lauderdale on Nov. 27.

FOUR DEGREES

Father Brush explained that there are four degrees of participation. In the first degree, the people make the simple responses such as: Aminon; Et cum spiritu tuo; Deo gratias; Gloria tibi Domine; Laudate; lætate; Hosannah ad Dominum; Dignum et justum est; and Sed nobis non male.

After the congregation becomes familiar with these, participation advances to the second stage in which the people make all the responses that are usually made by the altar boy. This stage may also include the Confiteor and the Lord's Prayer of the people.

In the third degree, the people recite with the celebrant certain parts of the Ordinary of the Mass such as the Gloria; Credo; Sanctus; Benedictus; and the Agnus Dei.

In the final degree, people join with the priest in reciting parts of the Proper of the Mass; the Introit; Gradual; Offertory, and Communion.

ADOPT COMBINATION

Father Brush said that the degree of participation is achieved only by well-trained groups. He noted that in practice, parishes usually adopt some combination of the four degrees as they progress in participation.

In conjunction with any degree, people may recite the entire Pater Noster with the priest. Religious hymns may be sung provided they are considered to be separate parts of the recitation.

Parishes and missions that are still in the introductory stage of the dialogue Mass should spend two or three weeks explaining the purpose of lay participation and the plan to be adopted for training the people, Father Brush advised.

GRADUAL INTRODUCTION

He said that lay organizations might devise one of their regular meetings to a program on the Mass and rehearse their members in participation. Some parishes use the bulletin or newsletter to describe the plan to stir enthusiasm for the liturgy in general.

"The most convincing argument in favor of participation is participation itself," Father Brush said. "While advance preparation is necessary, it is not necessary to delay participation needlessly, waiting for the people to get ready for it."

He said most parishes have considered it advisable to introduce participation gradually, enlarging the role of the laity with each passing Sunday until the maximum is achieved.

"It may be wise to place well-trained individuals throughout the congregation," the priest pointed out. "Their clear, confident participation will encourage and guide the people near them."

Father Brush stressed that every effort be made to make the initial experiences of participation as successful as possible. If the people's first experiment is largely an awkward, mumbling, bumbling affair, he said, it will be difficult to establish enthusiastic participation in the weeks afterwards."

Margaret Sanger To Wait A Year

TUCSON, Ariz. (NC) — The founder and president emeritus of the Planned Parenthood Federation will wait out the first year of President-elect John F. Kennedy’s administration before deciding whether to leave the country.

Mrs. Sanger, a long-time supporter of birth control, said last July in Honolulu that she would “find another place to live” if Mr. Kennedy became President.

But she said in a post-election interview: “I will wait out the first year of President-elect John F. Kennedy’s administration before deciding whether to leave the country.”

Protests ‘Limit Family’ Suggestion

In your article on family income and education, I was completely astounded to read that you would tell a mother to take a job so her children could receive a Catholic education. And just what did you mean by that last sentence about regulating family size? I couldn’t believe my eyes! Is this a new doctrine? We have seven children, and after two miscarriages last year when I asked the priest about regular contraception, he said “God takes care of you.” Don’t you agree?

By FATHER JOHN L. THOMAS, S.J.

The article you mention brought a flood of letters from some sections of the country — as I assumed it would. The reactions varied from mild protest to indignant anger and even more crude scorn. I was told that I was ignorant of Catholic doctrine and the facts of life. It was called “birth control,” is compatible with the law of God. One may even hope (but in this matter the Church naturally leaves the doors open), but in this matter the Church naturally leaves the doors open to medical science) that science will succeed in providing a means of making a reasonable judgment, so that if they marry young and have several children in rapid succession, they cannot foresee the possible need to start spacing pregnancies?

Finally, I was particularly disturbed by the bitter venom of some respondents. They implied that they had their children only because they were “done to blasphemy,” “illegitimate,” “don’t sound like a priest,” “not in keeping with church beliefs.” I don’t get around much, or travel with the wrong people when I do.

One aspect of the reaction distresses me as a Christian. Many of the respondents assumed that because they disagreed with me, they were not bound by the usual norms of charity and justice. For me, I am puzzled by the tone of some of the letters.

Tackle Unjust Double Tax Burden

Now let us turn to the source of your shock and astonishment. First, there is my answer to the question asking whether a mother might take a job in order to send her children to a Catholic school. Most of the protests to my solution insisted that the mother wants her children to get a Catholic education. Her question is, may she get a job to make this possible?

If you read my answer, you will find that I spelled out rather carefully the conditions under which she might take a job. If the conditions can be met, she is free to make her choice. Securing a Catholic education for her children is a worthy family objective, and she may feel less optimistic than some readers about the long range effects of a secular education.

Also, if you read the article, you will find that I urged parent groups and teachers to avoid the unnecessary, costly practices now current in some schools. A few readers sent itemized accounts of school extra costs. Some suggested tackling the unjust double tax burden carried by supporters of a religious school system.

Greatest Emotional Reaction

But the greatest emotional reaction was aroused by my suggestion that “young couples might give the need for Catholic education serious thought in regulating the size of their families.” The reaction is clear. Following traditional Catholic doctrine as enunciated in canon law, I take it that the primary purpose of marriage is the procreation and education of offspring.

Since the maintenance of our society requires an ever increasing period of formal education, and public schools are religiously neutral or negative, Catholic parents have the right and obligation and to plan for the religious education of their children. The added economic burden this currently involves should be taken into consideration in regulating family size.

Readers who are shocked by the term regulation should none the less understand that the Church naturally leaves the judgment to medical science) that science will succeed in providing a means of making a reasonable judgment, so that if they marry young and have several children in rapid succession, they cannot foresee the possible need to start spacing pregnancies.

Finally, I was particularly disturbed by the bitter venom of some respondents. They implied that they had their children only because they were “done to blasphemy,” “illegitimate,” “don’t sound like a priest,” “not in keeping with church beliefs.” I don’t get around much, or travel with the wrong people when I do.

Holland To Aid Churches

It is expected that the program will call for the national government to pay 25 per cent of the construction costs.

Champion Floyd Patterson Doesn't Forget Old Parish

BROOKLYN (AP) — The champ who doesn’t forget was remembered.

Floyd Patterson, heavyweight boxing champ, was remembered by the Catholic Youth Organization in Trenton, N.J. At a ceremony there before 5,000 persons Bishop George W. Ahr of Trenton presented the champ with the Pro Deo et Juventute medal for God and Youth.

Patterson, who now resides in the Rockville Centre diocese, did not forget his old Holy Rosary parish here in Brooklyn. It was about five years ago that Father Archibald V. McLees, the pastor, gave Patterson religious instructions, and received him into the Church.

On his way back from the Trenton ceremony, Patterson stopped off at his old parish hall, where the annual bazaar was in progress. He found Father McLees in the crowd and presented him with $5,909 for the bazaar fund.

Father McLees introduced the distinguished visitor to the crowd. Patterson, always a man of few words, said: “I'll never forget this parish. I received my instructions and was baptized in Holy Rosary church. I'd like to make this contribution to Holy Rosary church and school.”

Father McLees said it wasn’t the first contribution to the parish from the champ who doesn’t forget.

The chances are your clothes aren’t as awful as you think. They’re just “old hat” to you. But you can give them a lift. Most girls have a talent for fashion. They just need practice. Even girls with a liberal clothes allowance plan and need help. An old dress takes on an entirely different look with a bright scarf or colored belt.

Skirts, blouses and sweaters are a college girl’s forte. If you can hold a needle at all you are a college girl’s forte. If you can hold a needle at all you can be long on fashion. One last tip — looking attractive depends far more on grooming than on a well-stocked closet. A well-brushed complexion and well-brushed hair will eliminate jewelry and save money for more important items.

COLUMBUS QUARTERBACK Jack Ellison rolls out around right end for a 25-yard gain during the first half of the Columbus-Curley game last week at Curleys Park.

Knights Edge Columbus For Title

Archbishop Curley High won the Miami Catholic High School championship last week when the Knights edged Christopher Columbus High 7-6 in a closely fought defensive battle at Curlys Park. The Knights, led by quarterback Thomas Shannon, held the Crusaders to 2-5-1 in their second contest.

The victory over Columbus enabled the Knights to even their two-game rivalry at 1-1 and boost their season's record to 5-3.

LED DRIVE

Tom Shannon, the versatile quarterback led the Knights' victory drive, just as he has been the spark of the Knights' offense all season long.

After the two teams had battled for three quarters without scoring, Columbus suddenly caught fire and started a 60-yard drive. With the ball on the Curley 45-yard line, Shannon passed to his brother, Tom, a halfback, who raced down the sidelines for a touchdown to put the Explorers ahead 6-0. Guard Paul LaPonte's extra point kick was wide.

Curley retaliated in the dying moments of the game as Shannon and halfback Nick Silverio sparked a drive from their own 45-yard line. In six plays the Knights moved to the Columbus 9 where Shannon passed to Silverio for a gain that carried to the Explorers' three-yard line. Touchdown

Two plays later, Shannon plunged over to tie the score at 6-6. Shannon also blocked the game-winning extra point as he used his arm on the option pitch-out to circle right end for the one point.

Columbus Winds Up Season Against Champs, South Dade

HOMESTEAD — Christopher Columbus High ends its 1960 football season tomorrow night at South Dade Beach, the Rebels, who have been the spark of the Knights' season, led the Knights' line.

 Bulls have run up a 5-4 mark and feature a big line plus one of the South's best backs in halfback Tucker Frederickson, a 200-pounder.

Oddly enough, the lone South Broward loss has been by one point at the hands of Archbishop Curley, South Catholic's victim last week.

Rams To Rest Up For Mooney Tilt

PT. PIERCE — The St. Anastasia High Rams take a weekend off as they prepare for their final game here Nov. 24 against Cardinal Mooney High of Sarasota.

Coach Bobble Scott's small squad has turned in another fine season and could go over the .500 mark for the first time with a victory over Mooney, a two-year school which goes through the 11th grade.

Before last week's game with St. Cloud, the Rams had posted a 3-1-1 mark for the season. The best in the school's history was last season's 4-4 mark.

Crusaders Play In Miami Today At Military Academy

A winning season will be the goal for St. Ann's of West Palm Beach as the Crusaders travel to Miami this afternoon to meet the Miami Military Academy squad at the Kaydets field.

St. Ann's, after running their mark to 4-2, has dropped consecutive games to Forest Hill and St. Leo's Prep, the latter by a 13-7 margin last weekend.

Regardless of the outcome, the Crusaders have been a pleasant surprise to Coach Sam Budnyk who took over a young, inexperienced team in their first year as head coach at the school.

OUTLOOK WAS BLEAK

The season's outlook was quite bleak for the Crusaders as chief reliance had to be placed on a host of sophomores just up from the St. Ann's Junior High team.

However, with veterans Bubba Collins, Jay Groover, Bucky McGann, Al Aiello, led by the club, the Crusaders picked up end Barry Gesnithy as a transfer student from Milwaukee and fullback Ric Pechella.

As the young sophomores and juniors improved, despite two opening game losses, the season took brighter. The Crusaders scored victories over Okeechobee School For Boys, Immokalee, St. Anatasia and Cardinal Mooney of Sarasota before losing to the two bigger schools.

A victory over Miami Military will end the Crusaders' season on a happy 5-4 mark.

Raiders In Toughest Test Against Bulldogs Tomorrow

HOLLYWOOD — Ft. Lauderdale Central Catholic will finish its season tomorrow night with probably the toughest task on its schedule as the Crusaders meet South Broward High at the Bulldog's home field.

The Raiders will take a record of 4-3 into the game, the best since 1955 when CC ended the regular season with a 5-3 mark. This year's mark is even more impressive when it is considered that the Raiders dropped their first two, games of the season and now have won four out of their last five.

The one game they dropped since the opening was a 7-6 count to Palm Beach High.

Last weekend, the Raiders required a spectacular 72-yard touchdown pass play from quarterback Bill Zoch to halfback Brian Piccolo to gain a 14-12 homecoming victory over McArthur High with only a minute and a half left to play in the game.

The Piccolo touchdown was his second of the game as he scored earlier when he took a pitch-out from Zoch around right end and raced 31 yards for a 6-0 CC lead. McArthur picked up touch-
Seis Marcas Anticasistmas del Régimen de Fidel Castro

LA HABANA, (NC) -- Tras preguntar ¿es cristiana la revolución social que se está verificando en Cuba?, el obispo auxiliar de La Habana contesta que no lo es.

Obispo. Eduardo Bona Madrid, uno de los arzobispos de la antiguamente Pugilato Católico, señala las marcas "claramente marxistas" del régimen de Fidel Castro.

1. Empieza por borrar el nombre de Dios de la constitución.

2. Crea el odio y la lucha de clases.

3. Llevar al control absoluto del individuo para obligarlo a pensar como el Estado.

4. Ateja a los imperialismos coloniales pero alaba al ruso.

Estas marcas, dice Mons. Bona, hacen parte farse cuenta de lo que es tanto aquel que hablaba del "fantasma" del comunismo, como bastante también para comprender lo inconceible y lo que hace algunos católicos que sigue sosteniendo que ésta es la "la de cristiana de las revoluciones".

El prelado escribe la última edición de la revista franciscana de la Cámara de Representantes define primero lo que es cristiano una reforma general.

"Es cristiano proponer al mejoramiento de los humildes, luchar contra el ávaro, (Fidel) "y eliminar las discriminaciones sexuales de la familia y la sociedad."

"Si de esto se tira el tráfico, los católicos no tendríamos ninguna dificultad para oponer, antes al contrario, sería

"El último en un trabajo laborioso pacífico, ya que estos postulados son grandes y viejos anhelos de la Iglesia de Cristianos".

El papa concluye con esas observaciones de propiedad, y convierte al Estado en supremo dueño de todo.

5. Destruye la fama civil con insultos y calumnias.

6. Ateja a los imperialismos coloniales pero alaba al ruso.

Ustedes, ¿qué le falta a la revolución social que se está verificando en Cuba para ser cristiana? O por lo menos, ¿para no chocar con los principios cristianos? Mons. Bona contesta con seis observaciones.

"En primer lugar falta partir de un concepto espiritualista de la vida y del hombre. Se empeña por borrar el nombre de Dios de la Constitución, y ello se encuentra con las más importantes necesidades materiales y la vida terrena. La religión se tolera como un mal necesario que no se puede suprimir, y lo primero se encuentra con los obispos. Se debe eliminar las discriminaciones raciales. Es cristiano es una reforma general.

"De este solamente se trata que los rebeldes sean más cristianos sin que desaparezca el nombre que aparece en Cuba, sobre la catedral de Córdoba. Agreguemos que se trata con los cubanos que han sido libres de esclavos y ven miedo de los hombres de Dios, profesa la dignidad de la persona humana, y la sociedad, como la familia y la persona.

"Si de esto se trata, es que creen que se trata de un mal necesario y que se puede suprimir, y ello se encuentra con los obispos. Se debe eliminar las discriminaciones raciales. Es cristiano es una reforma general.

Desde la Llanura Analizan

BOGOTA, noviembre 3 (NC).—Se ha dado cita en la capital de Colombia figuras destacadass de la política del Con-tinente para cambiar experiencias y analizar los problemas sociales, económicos y culturales de sus naciones.

El Seminario Interamericano de Derechos Políticos y Económicos, convocado para la Semana de Amigos del País, ha sido en cierto modo un complejo privado a la reciente conferencia de "los 21" que agrupa a políticos económicos y sociólogos del mundo oficial de América.

Más que llegar a un manifiesto conjunto, los organiza-dores procuraron ofrecer una tribuna para el intercambio de ideás programas, soluciones y enfoques de los diversos grupos políticos ante los angustiosos problemas de América.

Acudieron representantes de los más diversos partidos, como los conservadores en sus variados matices, los revolucionarios, los demócratas-cristianos, los socialistas de tendencias marxistas y los moderados.

Su plataforma común, sin embargo, fue el anhelo com-partido por todos, de procurar al hombre americano un nivel de vida mejor dentro de una sociedad más justa.

De hecho en la reunión hablaba hombres cuyas ideas signomudebumbas esperanzadas y sedientos de un cambio que trantraformes las llamadas estructuras olíquicas y feudales, en un mundo mejor por más justo.

En el Seminario hablaron, pues, las democracias estalinistas de Chile como Rodolfo Tomil del Perú como Israel Bielich y Javier Correa, de Venezuela como Luis (Luchó) Herrera, y de Argentina como Manuel Ordóñez.

Hablaron también de Brasil como Luís Bosay Luría, de Chile; como revolucionarios como Hernán Siles Zuazo de Bolivia y Ha-mino Priale del Apra en el Perú. De Colombia intervienen, por los liberales Carlos Lázara Restrepo y por las fascistas conservadoras Alvaro Gomes y Gilberto Alzate Avendaño.

Hubo además delegaciones de Canadá, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Estados Unidos, México, Paraguay y Uruguay.

En una de las sesiones del partido hizo una exposición sobre la realidad de América, su jerarquía y en política americana del momento.

Con variaciones que no pueden considerarse fundamentales, esos problemas son: distribución injusta de la riqueza, dominio de grupos económicos privilegiados, régimen de latinundios, golpismo, desnutrición y desamparo de grandes números de personas, falta de capacitación técnica para el trabajo, escasa preparación política y económica de los líderes.

Sains of the Week

Sunday, Nov. 20

Twenty-fourth Sunday after Pentecost. Generally this date is the feast of St. Felix of Valois, Confessor. He was the son of the Count of Valois and was born in 1172. He joined the Cistercians, lived for a time as a hermit in Italy, and upon his return to France met St. John of Matha, with whom he formed the Congregation of the Holy Trinity, dedicated to Rivera Beach. St. Felix is known as the patron saint of musicians and composers.

Thursday, Nov. 24

St. John of the Cross, Confessor and Doctor. He was born near Avila, Spain, in 1542 and was ordained a priest in the Carmelite Order in 1567. In 1591, St. Teresa of Avila, he founded the Discalced Carmelites, and his work was formally approved by Pope Gregory XIII in 1599. He suffered many trials, was persecuted and imprisoned. He died in 1605. He was canonized by Pope Benedict XIII in 1726, and named a Doctor of the Church by Pope Pius XI in 1925.

Friday, Nov. 25

St. Catherine of Alexandria, Virgin-Martyr. She was put to death by means of an engine fitted with a spiked wheel, about the year 305 in Alexandria, Egypt. Her remains were buried in Maximus Dura. According to legend, before her martyrdom she met a young pagan and gave him a gospel of St. Peter, who had consecrated him a bishop. His famous epistle to the Corinthians was modeled on the church in Curitiba.
Actress Replies To Indecent Film Makers

By William H. Mooring

The "scorching" that Loretta Young gave the dirty comics peddler on her TV show awhile back, won the admiration and support of Mothers' groups all over the country. Over NBC, Sunday, Nov. 4, Loretta, who made her first ploe in the movies, took off after shyster film producers who insist in their right to film anything they damn please.

With "The Seducer" a short, sharp script by Pauline Stone and Mike Cosgrove, Loretta again made her TV show into the second in a tale about a sensational moviemaker (John Newland) whose films upholding suicide as a civilized act in a brave new world, led his own ailing daughter to destroy herself. Loretta was splendid as the producer's resourceful wife and Marlene Willis played the unfortunate daughter.

DISPLAY OF COURAGE

It was not so much a great drama as a display of great courage on Loretta Young's part. The Hollywood moguls do not like this kind of thing.

The idea was suggested by a Catholic magazine article: one among many in which the downward Hollywood trend in gladiated crime and immorality has been depicted.

Fortunately Loretta Young, with a philosophical attitude, feels that certain indecent TV show and a well told fortune, is irresistible in regards. I doubt that she would pull the punch even if she were not.

FILM STUDY CLUBS

What are Film Study Groups and special classes intended to accomplish? Who is to guide them? Who is to select suitable books and films for study?

Are the so-called "clubs" intended to develop artistic appreciation only? Or are they, as laid down by Pope Pius XII, "to give right training and education" so that on one hand they can lessen the dangers of moral harm and on the other improve the minds of those who turn to movies and TV for recreation?

The questions occur to me after reading "The Screen Arts," a new book (Shoved and Ward) aimed at students by Edward Fischer, associate professor in Communication Arts at Notre Dame University.

Mr. Fischer observes that "the Church's first interest is in morality." He makes it his task to point out the difference between a picture that is morally and politically subversive, and the screen under false pretenses of Art.

The omission throws Mr. Fischer's book into imbalance as an objective guide to such group discussion as is urged in "Miranda Prometheus." It is a one-sided, top—sided production instead of being, as it might so easily have been, well—rounded and fully packed.

Mrs. Raissa Maritain

DIES IN PARIS AT 77

PARIS (NC) — A funeral Mass was offered for Raissa Maritain, wife of the philosopher Jacques Maritain.

Her husband, who was seriously ill, died in Paris on Nov. 14 in the Maritains' former apartment. She was 77.

Mrs. Raissa Maritain, poet and critic in her own right, was brought to France as a child. She was born in Rostov, Russia, and raised in a strict Jewish Orthodox atmosphere.

She met Jacques Maritain while studying at the Sorbonne, and they worked in 1914. Under the influence of Charles Peguy and Leon Bloy, they were converted to Catholicism and baptized in 1916.

In 1914, Mrs. Maritain and her sister, the late Vera Gurskoff, who was received into the Church at the same time as Jacques and Raissa, accompanied Mr. Maritain to the United States. The Maritains made their home in Princeton, N.J., until 1916, when Mr. Maritain became French Ambassador to the Holy See.

On retiring from that post in 1916, he became professor of philosophy at Princeton University. The couple had their permanent residence in Princeton.

The Requiem Mass was offered in the ancient Church of St. Claudine here.
