5,000 Urged To Volunteer
Four Hours For Our Faith

(Pictures, other stories Pages 3, 13)

"Four Hours — For Our Faith!"

That is the appeal which will be made next Sunday to every adult Catholic at every Mass in every Church and Mission in the Diocese of Miami.

It will be a call for volunteers — at least 5,000 of them — to play a vital part in the 1961 Diocesan Development Fund Campaign. They will be asked to spend four hours eating at the homes of their neighbors and friends on Sunday, Feb. 19, which has been designated by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll as "Stay-at-Home Sunday."

On that day, the army of 5,000 or more men and women will make personal visits to the homes of the more than 70,000 Catholic families throughout the 16 counties of the Diocese of Miami. They will explain the purpose and the need of the Diocesan Development Fund in providing those essential facilities so necessary to enable the Diocese to keep pace with the rapid growth of all South Florida.

The 1961 Development Fund Campaign will have for its objective the achievement of these purposes:

• A permanent Dining Hall building with complete kitchen facilities for the young men studying for the diocesan priesthood at St. John Vianney Seminary.

• A new and adequate home for dependent children.

• A Diocesan Laymen’s Retreat House.

For those who volunteer next Sunday, a series of training meetings will be held at convenient locations throughout the Diocese during the week of Feb. 6. They will be asked to attend only one meeting, at which time they will be instructed in the new methods of food solicitation to be used for the first time this year.

There will be no solicitation of funds next Sunday. Priests will talk about the Diocesan Development Fund and ushers will distribute volunteer worker cards.

Relief Program at Centro Hispano Catolico

As the number of Cuban refugees seeking aid at Centro Hispano Catolico continues to soar, it was reported this week that large numbers of them are now seeking asylum in Broward County.

According to the staff of the St. Vincent de Paul Store, located at 38 NW Seventh Ave., in Fort Lauderdale, nearly Cuban families are becoming frequent callers at the salvage center opened for the benefit of poverty-stricken persons.

Many items of children's and adults' clothing have already been distributed, they said, as well as food for homes. Most have visited the store at the suggestion of Catholic friends in the area.

NUMBER NOT KNOWN

Although the number of refugees in Broward County is not known, estimates range as high as 10,000. Some 150 Cuban children are attending Broward schools and many, it has been reported, come from families nearly destitute.

Meanwhile at Centro Hispano Catolico increased nursery facilities have made possible the daytime care of some 60 boys and girls ranging in age from one to three years.

All are the children of parents who are already employed or seeking employment. They are brought to the Centro at 8 a.m. and in many cases remain there until 3 p.m. when parents return to take them home.

Hot lunches as well as mid-morning and mid-afternoon refreshments are served and small cots are provided for afternoon naps.

Donations of clothing received from local parishes, individuals.

Relief program at Centro Hispano Catolico is aiding hundreds of Cuban refugees daily. Scenes like this are typical as Cuban Catholics seek food, clothing, jobs and medical services.

Cuban Children

The New York Times, in a dispatch from its Havana correspondent, quoted Castro as saying that 1,000 youths will come from the Soviet Union to work on the farms and that 1,000 Cuban youth will be sent to the agricultural cooperatives of the Soviet Union.

Meanwhile, the children of parents who have been converted into Red robots, at the proper time they will be returned to Cuba and other countries to serve as elite shock-troops in the conquest of all Latin America which the Soviet has been planning.

The program follows the exact pattern, used by Russia during and after the devastating civil war in Spain from 1936 to 1939, according to Mr. X. Beginning in 1937, large numbers of children, estimated at well more than 4,000, were withdrawn from Spain and sent to Russia, he said.

Some were sent willingly by families opposed to Generalissimo Franco, Mr. X explained, in an effort to spare their children the horrors of war. But many also, he said, were seized bodily from orphanages, schools and other institutions.

Converted Into Red Robots

Then, 16 years ago, the International Red Cross was asked to conduct an investigation in 1963. Many of the former Spanish children, then grown to young adults, were located, and four ships were sent to Russia to bring them back to Spain.

New Orleans Protests

Castro Rule In Cuba

NEW ORLEANS (NC) — The Cuban flag is flying a half-staff in front of City Hall to show that citizens here are not happy with the way things are going under Fidel Castro.

Mayor deLesseps S. Morrison said the flag was not removed from the row of flags at City Hall because it is only Cuba the people do not like — not Cuba in general. The Mayor also said a Cuban flag has been flying in New Orleans since May 7, 1860, the date an expropriation sailed from the city to aid in liberating Cuba from Spain.

"It was too late. The Soviet had done its work well and thoroughly," Mr. X recalled. "They were more communist than the communists themselves. They were such wild rebels that they even caused trouble for their Red masters."

When first back in Spain and reunited with their families, Mr. X said some of them denounced and vilified their mother and father in the worst language. And, of course, they despised Spain.

"So, they returned to Russia. That was in 1958. Now, 24 years after they first were taken from Spain in 1936, they are 35 to 45 years of age and many of them are the accepted by the technicians and scientists arriving in Cuba to carry out the mission for which they have been so well-trained.

"And in exchange, Castro is sending a new bumper crop of juvenile grist for the communist mills."
Four Get Red Hats Bringing College Of Cardinals To 85

By MSGR. JAMES L. TUCKEY

VATICAN CITY (NC) — With the imposition of the Red Hat and an act of reverence their new titles, the new cardinals showed themselves "fearless even to the shedding of blood," four Princes of the Church were added to the College of Cardinals.

It was the fourth public consistory in the reign of Pope John XXIII, by which he brought the number of his college of consultants to 85 and the number of U.S. cardinals to six.

The four cardinals created were: Joseph Cardinal Ritter, Archbishop of St. Louis; Jose Cardinal Quintero, Archbishop of Caracas, Venezuela; Luis Cardinal Concha Cordoba, Archbishop of Bogota, Colombia, and Giuseppe Cardinal Ferretto, Assessor of the Sacred Congregation.

At the first four consistories the Pope addressed the cardinals. He spoke of his hopes and fears at the beginning of the new year.

Among his anxieties, he said, are the continued persecution of the Church in many parts of the world, the restrictions on Catholic education in various countries, the growth of materialistic ideas and continued obstacles to peace. He said that his hopes are placed in the coming ecumenical council, the things he saw in his recent series of visits to the North and the Holy See and the benefits that the four new cardinals will bring to the Church.

The second step in the elevation of the new cardinals took place with the calling of the semi-public consistory. The newly named cardinals presented themselves in the Consistorial Hall before the Pope and the College of Cardinals.

TRADITIONAL CEREMONY

Only by one in order of seniority, beginning with Cardinal Ritter, their names were announced by a Papal Master of Ceremonies. Each in his turn, as his name was called, advanced to the papal throne, knelt before the Pope and kissed his hand and his slipper in sign of reverent obedience.

Then the Pope, assisted by the Prefect of Ceremonies, Msgr. Enrico Danze, placed the scarlet mozzetta, a shoulder cape, on the shoulders of each cardinal and the scarlet biretta (square cap) on his head.

Immediately after this the cardinal bore his hand, stood and once again kissed the Pope's hand.

CARDINAL RITTER SPEAKS

During the ceremony Cardinal Ritter, the senior of the new cardinals, spoke on behalf of the Pope. He said that in raising two prelates from Latin America, one from the U.S. and one who has served as secretary of the Pontifical Commission for Latin America, the Pope was paying a special honor to the Church in the two Americas.

The Pope replied that the presentation of the birettas to the cardinals was to indicate "to the community of nations which, without distinction of age and color, sit beside each other in the Sacred College."

The ceremony ended with the Pope giving his apostolic blessing to all present.

For the public consistory the brilliantly lighted interior of St. Peter's basilica was filled with an estimated 26,000 faithful. A band played as the entry of the Pope into the basilica, borne on his portable throne.

COLORFUL RITUAL

The new cardinals' arrival began one of the most colorful spectacles in the Church's ritual.

The Pontiff embraced each new cardinal and exchanged a few personal words of greeting. Then the new cardinals took their places for the first time with their elder colleagues, sitting and placing their scarlet birettas on their heads.

The new cardinals once more approached the papal throne, "time to receive the Red Hat."

Placing the cowlless red felt hat, called the "galero," on the head of each, the Pope said:

"For the praise of almighty God and the honor of the Apostolic See, receive the Red Hat, the special badge of the rank of a cardinal. By this you are to consecrate your hearts to God in the service of His Church..."

Jungle Doctor' Of Laos, Dr. Tom Dooley Dies At 34

NEW YORK (NC) — Dr. Thomas A. Dooley, who devoted his life and fortune to combating communism through medicine in the jungles of Laos, died of cancer in Memorial Hospital here.

Death came the day after the doctor marked his 34th birthday.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, visited the doctor at the hospital on his birthday. The priest commended Dr. Dooley on his accomplishments and bestowed his blessing. Other than members of his family, the Cardinal was the only visitor permitted to see the doctor.

Dr. Dooley was born in St. Louis and attended the University of Notre Dame. He served for two years as a Navy captain during World War II, after which he enrolled at St. Louis University medical school. He graduated in 1943, rejoined the Navy for his internship.

He served atologist Muong Sing, Laos, in 1958.

In August, 1958, it was discovered that Dr. Dooley had cancer of the chest. He returned to this country and the hospital here where he underwent an operation for removal of the cancer. After a brief convalescence, he returned to Laos and continued his work until last December, when pain from recurrence of the cancer forced his return to the hospital here.

Ceylon Catholics End School Sit-In

COLOMBO, Ceylon (NC) — Ceylon's Catholics, at the request of their Bishops, are ending their all-in occupation of Catholic schools which have been faced with government seizure since Dec. 1.

The Bishops said that they were placing their faith in the government. They said that they were "most willing to accept a national system of education provided the government insured our Catholics that no harm would thereby befall their religious interests."

Ceylon's new leftist government is headed by the world's only woman Prime Minister, Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike. It pushed through legislation to take over most of the nation's 7,500 private schools in mid-November.

Stop Anti-Catholic Drive, Bishop’s Letter Asks Trujillo

MEXICO CITY (NO) — The Bishops of the Dominican Republic have sent Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo a letter placing responsibility for the "current anti-Catholic campaign" at his doorstep.

The letter, couched in diplomatic terms, spoke of the "deterioration" in Church-state relations in the past year. It went on to speak of interference in ecclesiastical affairs, "slander," "measures against religious education and Catholic schools," and hurting priests and Religiouss from entering the country.

The Bishops’ letter was presented not to the President of the country but to Generalissimo Trujillo, who has maintained his tight rule over the nation for over three decades. The six Bishops told the dictator that "because of your indisputable authority you are the only one who can end the current campaign against the Church.

The Bishops’ letter was read over the Trujillo-controlled Radio Von Dominicans, which previously had been a major factor in the propaganda campaign against the Church. The fact that La Von Dominicans broadcast the letter was seen here as an indication that General Trujillo is actually seeking an amicable solution to the dispute with the Church.

The Dominican radio station, in presenting the Bishops’ letter, first read an answering letter to the Bishops signed by both General Trujillo and President Josquin Bispitero. It promised a let-up of the entry restrictions against priests and Religiouss and in the fight against Catholic education.

MEXICO CITY (NO) — Pope John XXIII has urged Catholics in communist-controlled North Vietnam to be watchful and strong and praised them for keeping their Faith despite persecution.

Pope John spoke in a letter to the Bishops and Catholics of all Vietnam, southeast Asian nation divided in 1955 between Red rule in the North and a pro-Western regime in the South. The letter was written in connection with the establishment of a Vietnamese hierarchy in both parts of the nation last November.

The Pontiff at that time set up three archdioceses — one with its See city in Hanoi, the national capital and 17 dioceses. Of the 19 Ordinaries named, 17 are Vietnamese.

POPE NOTES GROWTH South Vietnam has an estimated 1,300,000 Catholics in a total population of nine million.

Although hundreds of thousands of Catholics escaped from the communist North during 1954 and 1955, there are still over 350,000 of them there, served by about 200 priests, all Vietnamese. The South has more than 1,300 native priests.

Pope John noted that the Church in Vietnam has grown from 120,000 Catholics at the beginning of the century to 1,300,000 in 1961, and said he hopes the erection of the hierarchy will spur the nation's priests and lay men to be more conscientious and zealous in fulfilling the duties of their religion.

Referring to communist domination in the North, the Pope declared:

BE SOUND IN FAITH

"We express Our paternal affection to all of you ... but particularly to those who are in difficulties, signing you with the words of the Apostle Paul: Be watchful, be sound in Faith, be made strong."

"We must always thank God for you, O brothers, as is indeed right, because your Faith is in constant and admirable development. The charity of each one of you toward the other increases in such a way ... the Church in the Church of Christ because of your constancy and your faith in the midst of all kinds of persecutions and afflictions, which you bear so that you may be considered worthy of the reign of God for which you suffer."

Pope John concluded: "We also ardently wish that Vietnamese Catholics, respecting their holy pastors, may distinguish themselves by their respect for the lawful authorities of their country and may contribute in an outstanding way to real and effective social progress in the country, being particularly worthy of merit in civil life as well. The Christian must, in fact, be a very good citizen and make himself esteemed as such."
A CLU Maps Policy To Bar State Aid To Private Pupils

CLEVELAND (OH) — The American Civil Liberties Union in Ohio is studying a proposed policy statement favoring denial of tax benefits, including auxiliary aids, to children in non-public schools.

The proposed stand is stated in a pamphlet which has been distributed by the Toledo chapter and is now being studied by the Ohio ACLU's new Church-State committee for possible statewide distribution. It was acknowledged by Mrs. Vivian Donaldson, ACLU executive secretary here. The pamphlet seeks reversal of U.S. Supreme Court decisions which permit certain tax-paid benefits, such as textbooks and school bus rides, to be given to children enrolled in private, non-profit schools.

"WALL OF SEPARATION"
The pamphlet comes on the heels of the announced goal of the 1961 ACLU program in the church-state area which reads: "New court cases will challenge the constitutionality of the use of taxpayers' funds for sectarian school textbooks; opposition will continue to religious instruction in the public schools."

The pamphlet charges that the "wall of separation" between Church and State has been breached and the principle of separation is being violated daily.

CATHOLICS OUTNUMBER MICHIGAN PROTESTANTS

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (IN) — Catholics now outnumber Protestants in Michigan for the first time, the Michigan Pastors conference was told. Persons without church affiliation total more than both combined, or 57 per cent.

Catholics totaled 22 per cent as against 18.9 per cent for Protestants and 1.4 per cent for Jews and all other religions.

Newspaper Says 'Adult' Movies Harm Children

LOS ANGELES (IN) — The menace of smutty so-called "adult" movies is that they are seen by a largely non-adult audience, the Los Angeles Times declared in an editorial.

The Times announced it has established an advertising department committee to screen movie advertising copy and reject material which is "lewd, suggestive or otherwise undesirable."

The Editor's Comment

Be An Alert Catholic

The month of February is dedicated to the Catholic Press. It focuses attention on all Catholic publications — newspapers, books, magazines, pamphlets. The theme of the month is: "Alert Catholics read the Catholic Press."

A moment's thought will convince one of the aptness of this theme. The lukewarm Catholic who allows his viewpoints and judgments to be formed entirely by secular reading will not have the mind of the Church, either in dealing with his own spiritual problems, or in understanding the moral crises affecting society. He will not be alert to the dangers arising from indifference to God, nor will he be aware of the Church's many projects, however, we expect the Catholic press in one form of expression or another, to put Christian doctrine in understandable language, to analyze today's problems in the light of God's revelation, to point out the errors in current public thinking, to answer charges against the Church, and so on.

The popes have constantly emphasized the importance of Catholic reading. Especially have parents been urged to counteract the harmful influences of certain books and magazines which are available to their children by providing the best in Catholic literature for them.

It is gratifying to know that the people in the Diocese of Miami have given wholehearted support to The Voice and have indeed made it possible for us to provide a paper of interest to the whole family. In this Catholic Press Month we pledge and in our efforts make of The Voice the kind of publication our people have a right to expect. We do so with full confidence that we shall continue to have in the future the same warm, generous cooperation of the past.

Light Of The World

On Thursday, Feb. 2, the feast of the Purification, candles will be used throughout the year in churches and homes will be blessed in all churches of the Diocese.

The feast is in observance of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary, according to prescriptions of the Mosaic Law, 40 days after the birth of Christ (Lev. 12:4), and the presentation of Christ in the Temple (Luke 2:22-33).

One of the most commonly used sacramentals of the Church, the candle symbolizes the light of Christ, Who is the Light of the World. It is pure as the goal of the greatest intention of the Redeemer. The wax signifies the soul of the divine and human natures of Christ unit in one Divine Person, are symbolized by the flame of the candle.

When the Church gives us a candle on Candlemas Day, she tells us again: "Receive this burning light and guard the grace it represents to you."

A Call For Reverence

Apparently older people have always considered the "younger generation" as lacking in reverence. Whether their opinions may be called a lack of reverence, perhaps in times other than our own, reverence among the young was more commented on because reverence was cherished more dearly by people in general.

Nowadays, and to say, the lack of genuine reverence is not limited to youth. It is common among people of all ages in the exact properties of which religion and its conceptions are lacking among them. For reverence is that precious quality of soul which is nourished by nearest to God and to His Church.

The antiphon to the cynical attitude of irreverence today can be found only in the renewed appreciation of God's love and of our supernatural destiny. No one can seriously ponder the meaning of God without understanding the sentiment of respect for His greatness. And to reflect that this same Lord of the Universe has destined each of us to live immortal lives in His Presence. This is to win back that respect for the dignity of our souls.

Irreverence is so commonly taken for granted, we must actively strive to shun its influence and give to reverence the dignity it deserves.

Latin America Now Benefits By Church's Many Projects

By JOSEPH BRENG

The potential of Latin America for the future is gigantic as to stagger the imagination.

The region's undeveloped natural resources are tremendous and the population is soaring toward the 600 million mark.

One of the gravest questions confronting mankind today is: will Latin America's enormous power in coming years be at the service of good or evil; of God or anti-God; of man or anti-man?

DANGEROUS SITUATION

The situation is dangerous enough to make one shiver; and yet it is richly promising.

The western world, now prospering, must move to help Latin America.

The people there are overwhelmingly Catholics; but they have not been conscious, generally, for religious practice or religious literacy.

PRIEST SHORTAGE

They have suffered for many years from a serious shortage of priests; and without priests, religion languishes.

The faith, however, is deep and strong. It is brave and sacrifice. It runs all though the fabric of life. It needs only awakening, inspiration and direction.

Out of these neighbor nations of ours there can arise apostolical activities that will astonish the world.

Anything that anybody can do to contribute to the right future for Latin America will prove, in the long run, to be a great service to all mankind.

Pope John has created a pontifical commission for Latin America to assist the region in the vast strides forward which it must take.

The American and Canadian bishops, in consultation with those of Latin America, are extending strong and helpful hands.

Before long, the first contingents of Pope's Volunteers — laymen and laywomen — will be going from North America to offer their skills and energies to Latin American lay movements.

American and Canadian Catholicism will contribute funds to create seminaries in which Latin American young men will study for the priesthood and learn the principles of social justice which the region desperately needs.

The Confederation of Latin American Christian Trade Unions has pledged itself to work hard for land reform and for free associations in which farmers will obtain the rights to which they are entitled.

Castroism is a present menace; but it can be overcome. Latin American must be shown to cooperate with these revolutionaries in order to achieve social justice.

The evidence is that the revolution was not communist in the beginning. In fact, the revolution succeeded was to find competent leaders of labor. He had the support of the peasants among Castro's supporters. His revolution was decidely a middle class revolution. He did not have the support of the peasants and the city working class. He had the support of the people with money who disliked Batista. You didn't have the labor unions represented among the bearded soldiers in the hills in those early days.

As a matter of fact, one of Castro's problems after the revolution succeeded was to find competent leaders of labor. He didn't know where he couldn't find them in his own ranks and had to turn to the communists to furnish them. Why so many middle class Cubans among Castro's supporters?

The reason was that it was the middle class that suffered most from the tyrannies of the Batista crowd. You find显视ers stealing the children of the poor in order to fleece their parents of ransom money. According to the commissar regime was out to fleece the Cubans who had money. They raided the customers and the beggars everywhere.

The truth of the matter is that something went away between the time the revolution began and the time when Castro is tied up hand and foot in his Soviet overlord. Not only American newspapermen in Cuba but also the majority of Catholic bishops on the island were surprised by the sudden change.

It would be helpful to know what was responsible for the change. But that is hardly the case since many cubans are such an irrational and volatile people. But the important fact for us to realize that there are budding revolutions all through Latin America today and they are not yet under the direction of the communists.

The Soviets are busy as beavers in the vast continent to the north of us today, trying to work their way into the revolutions that are getting under way in South America as they did successfully infiltrate the Castro uprising. It's not too late to cooperate with the communists so that they will not be diverted from their true course.

Cardinal Calls School-Aid Plan 'Thought Control'

NEW YORK (CNS) — Millions of parents would be called upon to surrender freedom of mind and religion to share in the Federal aid to education program suggested to President Kennedy, Francis Cardinal Spellman charged here.

The Archbishop of New York said on a keynote task force's proposal for $5.8 billion in Federal assistance exclusively to public grade and high schools as a discriminatory program that Congress would not enact.

The Cardinal said that if Congress adopted the task force's proposal, it would be engaging in "thought control" because a child would be compelled to attend a state school as a condition for sharing in education funds. URGES STUDENT AID

He argued that the government — as it has in the past — can give aid directly to students of church-related schools and not violate proper Church-State relations.

The Cardinal said that denial of Federal funds to children whose parents exercise their right to send them to church-related schools is a denial of the purpose of the first amendment of the constitution which seeks "to protect the individual person from government repression."

"Such legislation would discriminate against a multitude of America's citizens because their parents choose to exercise their constitutional right to educate their children in accordance with their religious beliefs," he said.

ENDANGERS FREEDOMS

"Under these proposals, parents would be compelled to surrender both freedom of mind and freedom of religion in the education of their children as a condition for sharing in Federal education funds, in direct violation of the liberties guaranteed by the First Amendment to the U. S. Constitution," he said.

The Cardinal read his prepared remarks at the final re- port meeting of a New York archdiocesan drive for $21 mil- lion for education. He told the meeting that the drive was undersubscribed by $12 million. The proposal for four years of large-scale aid to public schools was made by a six-man task force named by President Ken- nedy. The group was allocated a $9.3 billion program, of which $5.8 billion would go to states for the purpose of public elementary and secondary schools.

OPPOSES AID

Pr i v a t e, nonparochial schools would share in the prop- erly on the college level. They . . . aid to public schools.

Cardinal Spellman said that in view of the communist threat and the United States' need to train every American to his highest potential, he finds it "unthinkable that any Ameri- can child be denied the Federa! funds allocated to other children which are necessary for his mental development because his parents choose for him a God- centered education."

DIRECT GRANTS

He added that Congress would not pass such legislation.

"As an American whose loy- alties have been challenged only by communists," he said, "I cannot believe that Congress would accept the proposals of the task force and use economic compulsion to force parents to relinquish their rights to have their children taught by their faiths."

"I cannot believe," he con- tinued, "that Congress would discriminate against Lutheran, Baptist, Catholic or Jewish parents — Americans all — in the allocation of educational funds."

Congress, he said, can sub- sidize children and students with- out subsidizing the schools. "It is a matter of record that pro- grams of direct grants to stu- dents and children attending church-related schools do not breach the wall of separation of church and state," he said.

The Cardinal cited the GI Edu- cation Bill, which allowed vet- erans to choose their schools and the War "Orphans' Inde- minal Assistance Act of 1950, which permitted children of fat- hers killed in combat to use the Federal money given them at the college of their choice."

The Cardinal noted that the Kennedy task force suggested a flat grant of $20 annually to parents for each school age child.

"By denying this measure of equality to church-related school children and their parents, he said, "the task force proposals are blatantly discriminating against them, depriving them of freedom of mind and freedom of religion guaranteed by our country's Constitution. Their first amendment adoption was objected to the individual person from government repre- nation . . ."

Refugee Appeals For Aid At Centro Continue To Soar

(Continued from Page 1) and dioceses throughout the U.S. and Canada, are sorted by volunteers and distributed to the needy. According to one volunteer, garments remain on the premises "about 48 hours;" the demand is so heavy. Blankets and bedding were dispensed in large quantities during the recent cold spell.

In order to facilitate the learning of English by the refugees, English classes formerly conducted four nights each week are now taught on only two nights, but for longer hours. The weekly bus fare paid by many of the students was consequently cut in half. Enrollment has increased to 250 and class attendance is more regular, according to Sister Miriam, O.P., superior of the Dominican Sisters of Centro.

As Americans became more aware of the seriousness of the Cuban refugee situation, Franciscan Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, told eastern regional directors of the 1961 American Catholic Bishops' Relief Fund Appeal that the plight of the Cubans is not a "transient" problem.

The Cardinal, who was speaking through the Fidel Castro for contributing $10,000 to aid the refugees, urged that efforts be concentrated on resettling the refugees, some 30,000 of whom are estimated to be in the South Florida area. As a result of the Cuban premier's criticism, the Cardinal said that more tax money had been received for Cuban relief.

Mgr. John J. Filippaci, who represents the Diocese of Miami on Miami's Cuban Refugee Committee, was present at the sessions presided over by Auxiliary Bishop Edward E. Swanson of New York, executive director of Catholic Relief Services N.C.W.C., which has established an office for resettlement work in the Cuban Refugee Center in Miami.

Registration Deadline For Aliens Jan. 31

Aliens in Florida have been reminded by Edward P. Albin, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service that Tuesday, Jan. 31, is the deadline for filing address re- port forms as required by the 1952 Immigration and Nationality Act.

Puerto Ricans Asked To Aid Cuban Exiles

SAN JUAN, P. R. (NC) — San Juan's Archbishop James P. Davis has appealed to Puerto Ricans for support of a new Cuban government established to aid refugees who have fled to this island from Fidel Castro's Cuba.

The Committee for Orientation and Help to the Cuban has its offices in the Catholic Migration Center in San Juan.

"We Cubans are obliged, morally and materially, to be our brethren, who, having lost everything, are in great need," Archbishop Davis said. "They need understanding, the affection born of Christian charity and help to guide them to a place in our society."

Archbishop Davis said that in recent months there has been a steady stream into Puerto Rico of refugees who have fled Cuba.

Cuban Refugees and their problems are discussed by Bishop Edward Swanson, Francis Cardinal Spellman and Mgr. John J. Filippaci during the annual regional meeting of the Bishop's Relief Bureau held last week in the New York Chancery, and Roosevelt Hotel.

A Knights of Columbus council for men who speak Spanish came closer to formation last Sunday at a meeting of 40 persons interested in setting up the organization.

Approximately 10 other men filed applications to join the Order as members of the proposed council which will serve the Spanish-speaking of Greater Miami.

Philbin, pastor of the host parish which numbers about 900 Cuban families, spoke to the men on the spiritual value of K-C council and cited the faith of their strongest bulwark against communism. Also present was Father Julian Macioch, moderator of a committee that has been designated to organize the council.

The committee includes: Luis Ley, temporary chairman; Carlos M. Garcia, temporary secretary; Ralph Aguilera, Miguel Agosain, Julian R. Hernandez, Justo Corripio, Raul Rodriguez and Juan Gil. Refugees Crowd Centro Daily For Food, Clothing

American Catholics through Catholic Relief Services of the National Council of Catholic Women are forwarding medical supplies, clothes and food to aid the thousands of Cuban refugees now living in Greater Miami. Hunger and need are not confined to any age group among the exiles from the communist regime of Fidel Castro. Men, women and children who fled Cuba are all struggling to survive in a strange country. Jobs and food are urgently needed.

Carrying food for his family, a refugee leaves Centro to wait for a bus to take him home.

Without funds to purchase groceries, refugees crowd the hall of Centro Hispano Catolico as hundreds of cartons containing canned foods, milk, and baby food are distributed.

Canned goods are transferred from boxes to bags which refugees bring with them when seeking food or clothing at Centro Hispano Catolico. Some 100 bags of food are given out each day.

Reception room at Centro is crowded daily with refugees seeking advice, spiritual guidance, job information and other aid. More than 175 persons are interviewed every day by the Sisters.

Wearing apparel, donated by parishes and individuals throughout the Miami Diocese and the U.S., is carefully sorted and arranged by volunteer workers at the Spanish Center.

DEPENDENT CHILDREN in the Diocese of Miami will benefit from donations to the Diocesan Development Fund which has as one of its major projects the building of a new and modern home.

ST. JOSEPH VILLA, established in 1945 in a building which formerly served as a private residence, accommodates only 20 children. Located in the northwest section of Miami the building which has served as a small receiving home for dependent children is now inadequate to keep pace with demands resulting from the continual rise in South Florida's population.

ABOUT 12 children can be accommodated in the present dining room at St. Joseph Villa. More than 64 will be served in the dining hall of the new building to be constructed in South Dade.

HOME-LIKE atmosphere is important in the lives of dependent children, who, like all other children need food, clothing and shelter, and respond quickly to love and affection.

HAPPY, NORMAL life is provided for dependent children by the Sisters of St. Joseph of St. Augustine who operate St. Joseph Villa. Sister Louis Gonzaga is shown reading to a small group.

LIMITED NUMBER of outdoor swings and gym equipment is provided on the grounds of St. Joseph Villa. In the new home proposed a large recreational area will adjoin the building.

SMALL CHAPEL in the present home is shared by the Sisters and the children and is inadequate. In the new building the chapel will seat 70 persons and be completely furnished.

'My Husband Is Dating Young Girl'

After raising seven children and 30 years of marriage, my husband has started dating a young girl. I am upset because he evidently thinks he can ignore your feelings now.

FAMILY CLINIC

Years ahead of you, so dress up, widen your outside contacts and appearance? Have you taken each other too much for granted?

Something has gone wrong after all these years and you should seek help from the children, at least, from the five that are married and consequently mature.

What can you do? You say he refuses to consult a priest because he insists he's doing nothing wrong. Since he just laughs at your protests, you'll gain nothing by arguing with him. Under these circumstances, it seems to me you have little choice.

Should You Tell Children?

Your husband's shallow attitude suggests he feels he is doing nothing wrong because he has not yet had marital relations with this girl. He is utterly wrong on two scores. First, the marriage contract binds him to more than the observance of physical fidelity. He has no right to confer on others the right to give or seek those elsewhere.

What is Source Of Trouble?

Getting him to stop this affair is the first step, however. You would do well to consult a counselor in order to find out what you can do. He refuses to consult a priest because he insists he's doing nothing wrong. Since he just

On the other hand, if your husband persists in being a playboy you will have to take a different approach. This may call for a readjustment of attitudes and practices. First, don't lose confidence in yourself. Even in tragic cases when they see them, while others regard them as pathetic.

Etc.

When your husband is out of the question, we must assume that the girl is either bartering her youthful companionship for a price or seeking a replacement for her father.

But such affairs are not merely futile and absurd. They necessarily involve serious violations of justice. The marriage contract confers husband and wife in a sacred, indissoluble union that by its very nature demands a total commitment to mutual support, service, loyalty and love throughout life. Marriage partners are not free to set limits to this total commitment. They pledge to give themselves wholly to each other. They become one. They are no longer their own. Even in tragic cases when consensual love or affection seem impossible, they are not free to give or seek those elsewhere.

Knights Lose To Hialeah, Wallop Key West 51-43

By JACK HOUGHTELING

Archbishop Curley High School’s fine play highlighted last week’s diocesan basketball action as the Knights “almost” beat undefeated Hialeah and then scored their second victory of the year, a 51-43 win over Key West.

In other action, Columbus took it on the chin from Miami Beach, 62-44, and South Dade, 63-30. Central Catholic lost a close one, 74-67, to Norland, 50-48. St. Patrick’s wallop Tavernier 71-20, and St. Ann’s best to tough Riviera Beach.

Central Catholic scored its second victory of the season on Monday as the Raiders beat previously undefeated Pine Crest School by a 49-46 score.

Bill Zloch and Ray Tittel had 17 points each to lead the Raiders to their victory.

This weekend, Curley is at Jackson, Columbus invades Miami Central and Central Catholic visits McArthur, all games scheduled for tonight. Saturday night St. Ann’s goes to Clewiston and Columbus is host to South Broward in its new gym.

LACKED RESERVES

The rapidly improving Curley Knights were four minutes short of the season’s biggest upset as they led undefeated Hialeah by three points. However, with sophomore shooting ace Carroll Williams fouling out, the Knights lacked the reserve strength to hold the lead and dropped a 54-49.

It was the lowest scoring effort for Hialeah for the season. Williams collected 17 points before fouling out while Bob Ryll had 15. Norland, however, outscored the Raiders from the free-throw line, 16-8, to pull out the narrow win.

St. Pat’s had little trouble with the Tavernier team as freshman Bill Dwelling scored 24 points, the highest one-game mark of any Dade County player this year. Tom Blakely, a member of last year’s Class C district champions, hit for 22 points in the Shantrock Cause.

Bill Zloch had 12 and Dan Williams had 17 points each to lead St. Anthony’s in its new gym.

Catholic got 15 points from Julio Le Blanc, the highest output by any Explorers this season but still fell to the tall Miami Beach squad. Le Blanc also led the Catholic scorers in the South Dade game with 11 while Dave Mc-Cummum had nine.

Central Catholic’s Bill Zloch, starting to find the range after a slow start, this season, hit for 20 points against Norland while Bob Ryll had 15. Norland, however, outscored the Raiders from the free-throw line, 16-8, to pull out the narrow win.

Bob Bahman had 12 and Dan Williams had 17 points each to lead the Shamrock to victory over Key West, 51-43, along with Dick Fleming’s 11 and Baldwin’s 10.

In preliminaries to the Key West-Curley game Corpus Christi defeated St. Rose of Lima and St. Theresa’s best Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

COACH TONY LICATA and his leading players hold the championship trophy after St. Anthony’s had won the Broward County Parish Invitational basketball tournament Sunday, defeating Little Flower of Hollywood in the title game.

St. Anthony’s Wins Tourney

FORT LAUDERDALE — Host team St. Anthony’s won the Broward Parish School Invitational basketball tournament Sunday by defeating Little Flower of Hollywood 51-24 in the finals.

Pete Smith and Robert Lipstrue scored 17 points each to lead St. Anthony’s scoring, while Tony Holmman, leading scorer in the first two games, had 14.

Mike Sullivan and Bob Sturges each had seven for Little Flower.

PETE SMITH, one of the St. Anthony’s stars, passes off to Little Flower players close in on him in the championship game. An overflow crowd saw the game at St. Anthony gym.

La Iglesia y el Orden Internacional

Una de los puntos en el que los Papas, principalmente Pío XII, se mostró claro y firme fue “en el llamado de los armamentos”. Pío XII pidió a los Jefes de los Estados que liberaran las naciones de este paso apalabrador y de buscar sin cesar por medio de acuerdos, el desarme mutuo consentido, orgánico, controlado, progresivo tanto como el orden prédact como en el orden espiritual.

Los Papas han proclamado la necesidad de una Organización Internacional de los pueblos para descansar las cues- tas de los conflictos, hacerse cargo solidario; lo que más sufrimientos de la humanidad, luchar contra el hambre, la desesperación, el sufrimiento y la miseria en el mundo.

Todas las naciones deben trabajar conjuntamente para salvar al hombre y para garantizar la pro- gresión en el orden económico, social y espiritual, para que los jóvenes que han obtenido su indepen- dencia. Deben trabajar conjun- tamente para defender y garantizar los valores morales que son la base de la verdadera civiltad y libre el hombre de la humanidad. Cualquiera que puedan ser las deficiencias inherentes a las acciones de los pueblos, son acciones internacionales de las naciones, es hoy en día de una necesidad absoluta para el es- tablecimiento de la paz en el mundo.

En la actualidad, un cató- lico no puede estar al margen de los acontecimientos inter- nacionales, ya que en ellos se juega la paz del mundo. Todo- dos podemos ser colaborado- res de este empeño para ob- tener la paz para el mundo, ya que la verdadera paz no nace de un equilibrio de los facutos de la naturaleza de los armamentos. La paz tie- ne un caracter espiritual y es el reflejo de la gracia de la pra- ción, el arma más poderosa para obtener esta paz todos, quien al fin y al ca- bo conduce la historia a tra- vés de las acciones de los hombres y de las poblaciones.

Oro Viejo y Oro Nuevo

Los pensamientos más profundos son los que no pueden expresarse ni considerarse antes de haber experimentado grandes dolores.

La ciencia del corazón extra y sale por las heridas del corazón y los pensamientos más hondos son los que brotan de las heridas más hondas.

Los buenos pensamientos y los buenos sueños son el aroma del alma: no pueden encerrarse del todo, por más que la humildad o la modestia los escondan. En los libros de pensamientos casi siempre se ha de leer algo que el autor no quiso decir. En un libro de pensamientos variados, a todos los lectores gustarán a algunos, pero no a todos gustaran a todos.

Todas las cosas son historia alguna que no se puede vulgarizar: algo que solo la saborea quien ha consagrado la vida. Y este es algo que nadie elegirá, no puede dedicarse a hacer una sucesión de cosas, y cuando uno ha perdido la memoria, sin sospechar la sima que se oculta debajo de esas palabras. La música de los grandes artistas la oyen muy pocos.

Entre los soportes humanos de nuestra fe hoy uno muy débil que hoy querríamos destacar, porque es objeto de constantes discusiones en nuestros días. La Iglesia, en su ca- mino por la historia, conserva todavía un ritmo de bar- caba de hacer ahoristir, de banderías a la derecha y banderías a la izquierda. Cuando da un bandazo a la derecha produce frutos de santidad, en cambio, un man- quíaqui puede admirarse en el maravillosamente desliz de sus san- tos y en el despliegue extraordinario de sus instituciones religiosas, bésicos, culturales y artísticos. Pero la Iglesia tiene también sus banderías ha- cia la izquierda. Son sus pá- ginas negras. En ellas podemos leer que los gastos de la cobertura de Pedro, del amor al dinero de Judas, de la fie- bre de ambición y primeros puestos de los Apóstoles, se reparten frecuentemente entre nosotros. Cuando estos vicios aparecen entre los fieles eris- tianos o entre los seguidores, en vez de hacer ordinariamente, el fenómeno suele traer dos con- secuencias: escafофalo para las gentes sensatas y una, y exce- lente oportunidad para practicar la murmuración en esas cosas. Cuando estos pecados de ambición político, amor al dinero y al botín, cobran sus efectos en esas áreas, debe a sus deberes pastorales tienen por protagonistas a un deslumbrador, obispo, es- te puede admitir que hacen muchos cristianos es realmen- te terroríficos. Los mismos funda- mentos de su fe sufren la escasa impasión y de dimensiones catastróficas.

Entonces hace su aparición entre nosotros un tipo de cris- tiano que cree en Dios, cree en Jesucristo, reza en momentos de apuro ante la Virgen y lleva aún su me- dalla, admira la moral cristia- na, pero no cree ya ni en la iglesia ni en los sacerado- res, ni en su autoridad, no tiene una luz, un punto de referenda en la tempestad de la vida. Pero cuando estos pecados de ambición político, amor al dinero, y al botín, cobran sus efectos en estas áreas, puede a sus deberes pastorales tienen por protagonistas a un deslumbrador, obispo, este puede admitir que hacen muchos cristianos es realmen- te terroríficos. Los mismos funda- mentos de su fe sufren la escas- esa impasión y de dimensiones catastróficas.
Su Santidad el Papa Juan XXIII Anuncia Otra Encíclica Sobre la Cuestión Social

CIUDAD DEL VATICANO, (NC) Su Santidad el Papa Juan XXIII publicará una encíclica sobre temas sociales para conmemorar el cuadragésimo aniversario de la célebre encíclica "Rerum Novarum" de León XIII.

"Nos proponemos —ha dicho el Papa— celebrar el septuagésimo aniversario de un asunto que históricamente y en este momento, en una época de enorme importancia, la publicación de la encíclica Rerum Novarum sobre la Justicia Social y los obreros, por el Papa León XIII.

"Juzgaron tan importante este documento nuestros inmediatos predecesores, Pio XI y Pio XII, quienes celebraron respectivamente el cuadragésimo y quinquagésimo aniversario de esta encíclica".

León XIII publicó su documento el 15 de mayo de 1918. Con las palabras iniciales de "cuarenta años después" (Quadragésimo Anno) Pio XI referendó en 1931 la doctrina denounceda por su ilustre predecesor, para aplicarla a su tiempo. En 1941 Pio XII pronunció el "Exhortatio ad Clericorum Sacerdotale" sobre los mismos temas.

"Nos, por lo tanto, promulgar, para celebrar también la gran encíclica de León XIII", anunciaba ahora el actual Pontífice, "un documento que confirmará, al sumar nuestra voz a la de nuestros ilustres predecesores, la constante preocupación que anima a la Iglesia ahora, no sólo en un u otro de sus sectores, sino en su integridad total, y de acuerdo con las necesidades de los tiempos en que vivimos.

Entre los diplomáticos había enviados de los gobiernos que actualmente vienen atacando a la Iglesia; estaban los embajadores de Haití y de la República Dominicana, encargados de negocios de Cuba. Hicieron acto de presencia los representantes de los gobiernos en destierro de Líbano y de Polonia.

Su Santidad dijo a los enviados diplomáticos que una red de paz consume al hombre. "La Iglesia —dijo— es un faro que guía a todos. "

El Papa Juan no dijo en qué fecha publicará su encíclica, pero es de esperar que coincida con el mes de Mayo, que además celebra la fiesta de San José Oberto.

La "Rerum Novarum" fue dedicada a pedir justicia para remediar la condición miserable de la clase obrera, mediante la aplicación de los principios de libertad, de justicia, de solidaridad e igualdad de derechos humanos. "

León XIII señaló también el deber que tienen el Estado de velar por la justicia social, y el derecho y la obligación de toda la Iglesia a intervenir en las cuestiones morales que afectan a las relaciones obrero-patronales.

La "Rerum Novarum" fue dedicada a pedir justicia para remediar la condición miserable de la clase obrera, mediante la aplicación de los principios de libertad, de justicia, de solidaridad e igualdad de derechos humanos.

León XIII señaló también el deber que tienen el Estado de velar por la justicia social, y el derecho y la obligación de toda la Iglesia a intervenir en las cuestiones morales que afectan a las relaciones obrero-patronales.

God Love You
Most Reverend
Fulton J. Sheen

A Bishop on the East Coast of Africa writes as follows:

"When I was a few weeks ago, in our mission station to administer Confirmation, one of the notices read out by the priest during Holy Mass was a request for prayers for one of the school children who the previous week had been killed by a lion. Last week one of our school teachers at another mission came to ask permission to let some of the school children off to help him reinforce the fence around his hut because the lions were bothering him at night. When last week a Father from another mission, who was here on a visit, was delayed on account of the rains, he had to stay the night with an old woman who has been reported along the road which he had to travel to get back to his station.

"With four priests and two lay brothers we have opened a territory of about 38,000 square miles in which 60,000 Masai lead their roaming pastoral life. They are agnostic and totally satisfied with what they have. They mind their cattle and live on the blood and milk of their cows. On long protracted treks through hundreds of miles of wilderness and vast desolate expanses of open prairies, I have visited them, talked with them, tried to establish friendly relations with them — but the only response I got was a cool, condescending conversation about cattle, the weather and the coming independence. As soon as one turns the conversation towards religion, the reaction is the same as that of the old Greeks to St. Paul on the areopagus: "We will hear you about that another day."

"With swarms of flies buzzing around one's head, squatting in a manyatta (a group of eight to ten huts surrounded by a fence) where the cowdung lies one foot thick, one realizes how hard work is among the Massai. It reminds one of similar beginnings by men like Ribeceff and Jogues among the American Indians. We have to start with nothing absolutely nothing: no churches, no schools, no convents, no hospitals, no converts. I did not even find a house for myself on my arrival in my Prefecture. Since there are no Christians, there is no income and any new step we want to take or any venture we want to inaugurate will have to be financed from outside.

Perhaps you would like to make a sacrifice to the Holy Father for this and other missions. You could build a chapel momentarily gift to the poor of the world, in appreciation for a Mass of the Sacred Heart. At the end of each month send your offer to L.A.B. "I am enclosing a money order for $5 for the poor of the world. I am a widow, 75 years old with only my social security for an income, but I want to share part of it for this worthy cause."

Are The Ads Worse Than The Movies?

By William H. Mooring

Again cracking down on "suggestive and offensive film advertising," the Los Angeles Times set up a special committee to screen all theater displays. Other responsible newspapers will likely do the same. As far as this goes, it is fine.

Most of the worst film advertising appeals to foreign and odd-job movies. Not submitted to the voluntary Film Advertising Code, which bars dissemination of salacious ads. However, a few Code-approved film ads have been highly questionable. "

"Where the Boys Are," "Marriage-by-Quarter," "The Grass is Greener" and "Emperor of the North" have featured misleading text or suggestive illustrations. That "The Sundowners," an excellent, family-type picture also has been advertised as if it were dirty drama, solely illustrates the rut into which movie display craftsmen have slipped. Fresh Approaches

Hollywood producer Jerry Wald, pointing out a need for fresh approaches to film advertising generally, offers an award to commercial display students at UCLA. What goes for film advertising, goes also for a lot of display copy used to sell ladies apparel. The way sex is accentuated seems to indicate that only morons are interested in models. One standard of decency for film advertisers and another for industries, is unfair and unrealistic. Even where a film began its latest (and timely) crusade on natty film ads, the Los Angeles Times has run a clothing ad illustrated by a sketch of a woman, nude save for towel, hat, shoes and gloves.

If this had been a layout for a Bardot movie advertisement, would the newspaper's screening committee have thrown it out?

Strength of the Legion

Discussion whether movies ought to be separately classified for children and adults. Bosley Crowther of The New York Times goes out of his way to "settle" in six lines, a point upon which eminent theologians have differed, technically, for at least 35 years.

Crowther writes: "Contrary to some vague impressions, the Legion's condemnation of a film carries no authority to prohibit its showing."

This is ambiguous. The purpose of Legion of Decency ratings is not to prevent the showing of any film. It is to inform Catholics which films they should or should not attend. Still, speaking of the Legion's "C" rating, Crowther adds: "It is a simply a strong advisory."

If he presumes to speak for Catholics, Crowther flies in the face of sound theological judgement.

Sound Opinion

Advising priests as to how they should instruct people regarding the movies, Father Francis J. Connell, in 1946, said condemned movies "must be avoided" by all "under pain of mortal sin." Printed in The American Ecclesiastical Review, this was circulated by the National Legion of Decency, with evident sanction.

Father John C. Ford, S.J., since has questioned whether, technically the Legion's condemnation carries our obligations this far. He has said, however, that each of the Bishops has power in his own diocese, to bind the faithful under pain of mortal sin, to stay away from a film the Legion has condemned.

The intentions of the Bishops in this matter, and of the Legion of Decency which functions under their authority, are clear enough. When the Legion condemns a movie, it is for good reason and we are all expected to stay away from it. Only the intentions of those who would persuade us otherwise are "vague."

The program will open with an educational advance carried by a writer, like her, was enthused over "the great, economic and social revolution" that has been sweeping Russia. "We are almost as chilling as the night," she said. "Sure enough, the imitation country store will be erected for the sale of food and festivities since the Knights of the Round Table sat down to a square meal."

Homestead — When it's ham and cabbage time down south of Miami, the men, women, and children of Sacred Heart parish will be there.

What's cooking is the area's wide circulation. Everyone should know by now that communism's big guns are trained on the fields of propaganda. They love to have others do their work for them. If they can dupes a professor or an expert student into echoing the party line, they are that much ahead.

How can we be so color blind?

Iar's able answer deserves a wide circulation.

No one questions the right of the University of Havana to interview whom it pleases. But what kind of public service do they think they are performing by serving as a sounding board for Big inspired propagandists?

We feel the paper would have a shrewd editorial on the interview and set things straight. Sure enough, there was an editorial. But it was almost as chilling as the coed's chatter.
