Ground Broken For New Major Seminary

Vincentians Begin Building At Once

BOYNTON BEACH — Ground was broken here Tuesday for the Seminary of St. Vincent de Paul which will be the first major seminary south of Washington in the southeast section of the United States.

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll officiated at the ceremonies, assisted by Vincentian Fathers of the Eastern Province of the Congregation of the Mission, who will build and conduct the new seminary.

The Very Rev. Sylvester A. Taggart, C.M., Provincial Visitor of the Eastern Province, came to South Florida from Philadelphia accompanied by Father John P. McGowan, C.M., first consultor and Father Othelius Ryan, C.M., treasurer.

A "SOLEMN PRIVILEGE"

Other out-of-state guests present were Burke Weigel of Urbana and Branty, New York City architects who have recently been awarded a certificate of merit by the New York State Association of Architects for their design of the Seminary of St. Vincent de Paul, and Harry Brady, a representative of John McShain, Philadelphia, noted builder, under whose direction the National Shrine of St. Philip Neri will be erected in Washington, D.C.

"The formation of a priest is the making of a masterpiece," Father Taggart told those present. "The masterpiece of canvas and pigment will be the new seminary, the last step in the formation itself. This is the solemn privilege and duty which the Vincentian Fathers have upon themselves. We promise God our wholehearted, our most generous efforts in the privilege which is ours in the making of masterpieces, future priests."

A seminary was defined by Magr. William Barry, P.A., as "a great seedling ground. Here will be a great monument, a great seedling ground of the Church and of Our Blessed Lord," Msgr. Barry said, emphasizing that the clergy and faithful of the Diocese of Miami and in all dioceses throughout the Free World will pause tomorrow to rejoice in celebration of a double milestone in the life of Pope John XXIII — his 80th birthday and the third anniversary of his coronation as Supreme Pontiff.

"At a time of fear and crisis, nations of the Free World will pause tomorrow to rejoice in celebration of a double milestone in the life of Pope John XXIII — his 80th birthday and the third anniversary of his coronation as Supreme Pontiff."

At the ceremony, Monsignor Barry said, "I emphasize that the clergy and faithful of the Diocese of Miami and in all dioceses throughout the United States special Masses will be offered for the intention of the Holy Father. They will be attended by large numbers of worshippers, including children of the Catholic schools."

The ceremonies were attended by the entire student body and faculty of St. John Vianney Minor Seminary which comprise the Miami Diocese and the entire student body of the University of Miami, which is also staffed by the Vincentian fathers.

The Holy Father has recovered completely from a slight illness that had confined him to his apartment two days last week. Last Sunday at noon he appeared at the window of his library to give his usual noon-time blessing to the crowds in St. Peter's square.

FULFILLING PLEDGES TO DDF

PERRINE — The first shovel full of earth to break ground for a new and modern St. Joseph Villa was turned by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll Monday on property adjoining Holy Rosary parish.

Priests, religious and laity from parishes in the Greater Miami area joined a group of dependent children and the Sisters of St. Joseph of St. Augustine who staff the home in witnessing the ceremonies. Also present were the student body and Sisters of St. Joseph of Baden, Pa., from Holy Rosary School where residents of St. Joseph Villa will attend classes after the completion of the new home.

In a brief address Bishop Carroll commended the Sisters of St. Joseph of St. Augustine for their work on behalf of the children during the past 15 years and urged the faithful in the Miami Diocese to support and encourage interest in the welfare of children cared for under the direction of diocesan Catholic Charities.

The new St. Joseph Villa which will be erected with funds donated to the Diocesan Development Fund by the faithful throughout the 16 South Florida counties which comprise the Miami Diocese, will replace the former quarters of the home located in a 15-year-old building in the northwest section of Miami and which has already provided a haven for hundreds of children of all ages.

Continued growth of the Diocese demands that additional facilities be provided for its dependent children who through no fault of their own find themselves separated from parents and relatives. The new home, which will be built at an estimated cost of $400,000 will provide an environment similar to other homes in the area and children now residing at the Villa and those who will be cared for in the future will find a loving home in beautiful and modern surroundings.

Designed by Miami architect Murray Blair Wright, the new St. Joseph Villa will consist of three buildings and plans provide for a chapel to be erected at a future date.

A reception room, office space for the administrator and secretarial work area plus two parlors, clinic and housekeeper's living quarters will be provided in the main building. The dining room will comfortably accommodate 64 persons and a large living room will be equipped with a fireplace. Other facilities included in the main building are kitchen, laundry, storage room and reception factory for the Sisters.

An H-shaped one story cottage with gable roof will contain two separate wings each providing bed space for 17 children. Also included in each wing is a combination living and play room, parlor, serving pantry, small laundry and isolation ward containing four beds. A large recreation area is provided on the exterior.

LARGE CROWD of priests, religious, laity and children from Holy Rosary School attended ground breaking ceremonies for the new home construction of which will begin immediately, Bishop Carroll praised the work of Sisters of St. Joseph of St. Augustine who staff the home.

NEW ST. JOSEPH Villa buildings in Perrine will include an administration building, bedroom wings and a two-story convent for the Sisters of St. Joseph of St. Augustine who staff the diocesan home for dependent children. The new Villa designed by Miami architect Murray Blair Wright will accommodate 34 boys and girls who will attend nearby Holy Rosary School.

Catholic, Anglican Prelates Cite ‘Increasing Friendship’

LONDON (NC) — Two of England’s foremost churchmen, one Anglican and the other Catholic, have asserted that the ancient enmities between the two communions have all but disappeared.

Anglican Archbishop Geoffrey Fisher, former Archbishop of Canterbury, said that the old “iron curtain” between Anglicanism and Catholicism has now gone.

Catholic Archbishop John C. Heenan of Liverpool said that as a result of the visit Archbishop Fisher paid to Pope John XXIII last December, “a great outburst of friendship” has arisen between Catholics and non-Catholics in England. He said the Anglican Primate’s courtesy call was “one of the most powerful gestures made for centuries.”

Given Title

Archbishop Fisher — who on his retirement last May 31 was created a life peer and given the title Baron Fisher of Lamphill — spoke on the new friendship at a diocesan conference at Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

Two days earlier he had told a meeting of the (Protestant) British Council of Churches here that “the Church of Rome has become an ally instead of an enemy.”

In his Newcastle talk, he said:

Human Mileage is the greatest value that can be built into a tire ... extra quality that makes the tire last longer, extra safety that makes you last longer, too! Think how often you bet on the power of your tires to stop in time. One Angelic Bishop that Protestants should make pilgrimages to Tyburn, site of many of the executions of Catholics under Henry VIII and Elizabeth I, and that Catholics should make similar pilgrimages to Smithfield, where many Protestants were burned at the stake during the reign of Queen Mary.

Archbishop Heenan said this suggestion of acts of reparation for the evil things that had been done seemed “to mirror the ecumenical movement as such, expressive of a real intention to increase communication between peoples of different faiths” — the Viet Cong — to wage a war of subversion and terror.

The accusation was made in a note to the International Commission for Supervision and Control in Vietnam (ICC), which was established by the Geneva Conference in 1954 when this former French colony was divided between the Red-dominated north and the pro-Western south.

The note was submitted in answer to an ICC request for evidence to support the South Vietnamese claim that communist Viet Cong rebels were responsible for the kidnapping, torture and death of Vietnam’s liaison officer with the ICC, Col. Hoang Thy Nam.

The ICC request was made following its vote that it has power to look into charges of communist subversion in South Vietnam. The three-power commission — made up of representatives of Canada, India and Poland — recently reversed its earlier stand and decided by a two-to-one vote that it has such power.

The delegate from communist-governed Poland cast the dissident vote.

The South Vietnamese note was sent to the ICC while Gen. Maxwell Taylor, personal representative of President John F. Kennedy, was here on a fact-finding mission to study ways of dealing with the stepped-up Red guerrilla offensive in South Vietnam.
125,000 At Peace Rally Told Of Power in Prayer

WASHINGTON (NC) — The dedicated purpose to sustain peace through prayer is of vast and urgent import to all peoples and all nations if we are to be spared from thermonuclear Armageddon," Francis Cardinal Spellman warned here.

More than 125,000 persons gathered at the base of the famous Washington Monument heard the Archbishop of New York deliver the sermon, a rally which climaxd a six-week Washington archbishop's crusade of prayer for peace.

At a specially erected altar Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, Apostolic Delegate to the United States, offered a Low Mass. Archbishop Patrick J. O'Boyle of Washington, spoke briefly following the Mass. Prior to the Mass the Rosary and a prayer for peace were led by Auxiliary-Bishop Philip M. Hannan.

"For two decades communist-promoted crises, in nearly every country of the globe, have been ominous testimonials to the fast approaching possibility of the death-day to world freedom and peace, until today we face the fantastic, but fearfully realistic threat of annihilation," Cardinal Spellman said.

"You are the physical as well as the spiritual symbol of the miraculous, indomitable power of perpetual prayer implemented by the strength of people 'united by common principles and purposes," he told the assembled thousands.

"And, spiritual strength garnered by enduring, practiced faith, and constant, devout prayer is as necessary as military might in the battle for freedom. But we cannot be free unless we survive, and the gruesome competition for nuclear superiority, if pursued, can only end in the total destruction of mankind."

"And it is my fervent belief that only if America is united in mind and heart in a prayerful partnership for peace can we survive Moscow's mad determination to conquer or carbonize the world, a gruesome plan mapped out with precision decades ago; a plan we are now experiencing in its near-to-final chapter, which includes pollution of God's very air and earth which are the common property of all people now alive and of all generations yet to be born," Cardinal Spellman said.

Role Of Catholic Schools Increasing, Educators Told

NEW ORLEANS (NC) — Father Richard Kleiber, superintendent of Green Bay, Wis., diocesan schools, has been elected president of the Department of School Superintendents of the National Educational Association.

The election took place here during the annual meeting of the group, whose host was Archbishop Joseph P. Rummel of New Orleans.

The Archbishop, in welcoming the educators, told them that the importance of U.S. Catholic education is recognized more widely today than at any time before. He pointed to a "phenomenal growth in Catholic enrollment and support for Catholic education in the United States as a leader among nations."

"Whether we like it or not, our enemy is deadly serious and playing for keeps," he said.
United Fund Needs Our Help

The familiar symbol of the United Fund has been flashed before our eyes repeatedly in recent weeks to help every citizen remember that Sunday, November 5th, is the annual day of giving generously to help many agencies in our community.

The theme this year, "Pledge enough to help enough," serves as a reminder that the funds collected can go a long way to enable many charitable organizations to function more effectively for the over-all well being of many citizens.

Instead of many separate public campaigns to help support the 30 agencies actively maintaining the health and welfare of many local people, the United Fund has been designed in a single swift campaign: "to serve the best interest of all givers."

Needless to say, this is a community project that deserves the wholehearted support of all people.

Happy Birthday Pope John

Long before Pope Pius XII lay dying, Catholics and non-Catholics alike accorded him the title of "his holiness." When finally the Pope met to choose the next pope, most people had a certain sympathy for the unknown man, not only because of the massive burden to be placed on his shoulders, but because of the "handicap" usually associated with one of low birth. The new pope was, in every sense, many years to come.

The ground-breaking of the Seminary of St. Vincent de Paul was a unique success story, and will be told as such on this occasion. Its significance is already sensed by everyone to some degree, although its full meaning will not be impressed on us until six years hence when the first graduates of St. John Vianney Minor Seminary will leave St. Vincent's to be numbered among the priests of God and after them, God grant, a long unwavering line of priests will flow to serve the Church in this area.

For many generations to come, the Catholics of South Florida will be grateful to God for the foresight repeatedly shown by His Excellency, Bishop Carroll, in seeking by every means to provide priests for the future.

In all of the years, five encyclicals within a relatively short period of time and countless other activities that most people have not heard of, Mr. John XXIII, 261st successor of St. Peter and chosen the name of John, has spoken of the Church in a ground-breaking ceremony and the country.

On his birthday we pray fervently that Almighty God might bless Pope John XXIII with many years of fruitful ministry.

The familiar symbol of the United Fund has been flashed before our eyes repeatedly in recent weeks to help every citizen remember that Sunday, November 5th, is the annual day of giving generously to help many agencies in our community.
The anniversary of the coronation of Pope John XXIII has turned much attention not only to that remarkable man, but to the unbelievably long line of his predecessors. John the 26th pontiff to sit in the Chair of Peter. Most likely during the reign of most of the Popes, Peter there have been prophets who predicted that the papacy was about to come to an end.

The enemies of the Church, in every century have indulged in such wishful thinking. Surely when Peter hung upside down on his cross, his executioners believed the trouble some, sinister leadership of the Christians was finally broken for good.

In fact, such must have been the sentiments of emperors and willing hatchet men for the first several centuries when so many of Peter’s successors shed their blood for the faith.

TRENDED CONSTANTLY

When the barbarians overran the Roman Empire and made it their own, non-believers and the true Pope was reigning, so that the position of Supreme Pontiff could not with their physical might.

Yet the so-called bad Popes have turned out to be half our glory and shame. Our shame, because it is sad to notice that ambition and greed can work their ways into the most sacred places. But glory, too, because perhaps nothing proves so impressively that the Church is really in the hands of God and that even the gates of hell will not prevail against it.

Seeing some of the evidence of unorthodox among a few, a very few, of the popes, many of the early Protestant leaders took this as a sign that the papacy was about to disappear. John Fox, for instance, predicted the end of the Popes would come in 1669. Joseph Mede disagreed with him as to date only, and he stated the end would come in 1696. Joseph Mede agreed with him as to date only, and he stated the end would come in 1696. Joseph Mede disagreed with him as to date only, and he stated the end would come in 1696.

The Calvinsist leader, Jurieu, missed his first guess, 1689, then generously gave the papacy another 20 years. History remembers him mainly because of his burn gummies, as he owes much to the papacy.

GIVEN PREDICTION

When Pius VI was in chains, Milne tells us, and Rome was possessed by French atheists, anti-Catholic leaders rejected hysterically at the "final defeat" of the papacy.

Just imagine the astonishment of any one of those anti papal sects of past centuries, if he had been given a preview of what has taken place in this century alone with regard to the Popes. Instead of the papacy being forgotten except by students of history, it is more vigorous and respected than ever before.

We read the incredible story of Empress Theodora imprisoning Pope Silverius for life. Now and then a false claimant to the papacy seemed to be abated. But the Apostolic succession continued.

END PREDICTED

There were some who went further: that the church would disappear. No, in the Church's history, not all had been set against it. When Pius VI was in chains, Milne tells us, and Rome was possessed by French atheists, anti-Catholic leaders rejected hysterically at the "final defeat" of the papacy.

But the so-called bad Popes have turned out to be half our glory and shame. Our shame, because it is sad to notice that ambition and greed can work their ways into the most sacred places. St. Luke, who was a doctor of medicine before he heard and answered the call of Christ, reported an inspiring fact in his Gospel: "And everybody in the crowd en- closed to come in touch with Christ, for power was going out from him and healed any- one." (Lk 4:19)

"Father Killian"

What wonders happen when the sick of body and soul came in contact with the healing power of the sacred humanity of Jesus Christ! As they came in touch with Our Savior scales fell from unseeing eyes and unbelieving eyesight drank in the beauties of the flowers and the fields, the faces and features of loved ones. Music and laughter sounded in ears that had not as yet heard. "Speechless tongues broke out into song and praise of God. Paralyzed limbs began to quiver with life and lifeless muscles received back their vigor and strength.

MORE PRIESTS, RELIGIOUS NEEDED

Campaign For Vocations Starts

God has blessed the Diocese of Miami in the short three years of its existence with a great increase in vocations but as parishes are created and new facilities are built there is an ever-increasing demand for more and more priests and religious.

That was the message delivered this week by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll to a meeting of the newly-formed Priests' Vocation Committee. It marked the beginning of an intensive campaign for vocations in Diocesan schools which will continue throughout the school year rather than being limited to March, the traditional vocation month.

Bishop Carroll appealed for the establishment of a tradition of diocesan vocations. Until recent years, he pointed out, the small resident population made it necessary that vocations be sought in the north and in foreign countries. Now, however, with the population growth and the large percentage of young men born in South Florida, the tradition of diocesan vocations must be nurtured and developed since the need of the Diocese for priests will continue for some years to come.

Father James J. Walsh, Diocesan Director of Vocations, outlined the program which will begin immediately and will be carried out with the assistance of the 32 members of the Priests' Vocation Committee, representing all deaneries in the Diocese. Highlights of the program are:

- The immediate activities will be directed to the boys. Another program for girls will be organized later.
- Representatives of the committee of priests will speak in every classroom from the 7th grade through high school in the Diocese within the next six weeks. They will not address the entire student body but will speak to each class individually and encourage questions by the individual boys.
- Interview cards will be used. In the past two years these have proved invaluable to the Vocations Office in supplying information early on those boys who already have made up their minds to be priests and those who need spiritual direction to come to a decision.
- Pupils will be invited to mail to the Vocations Office a postal card which will be given to them to seek more information about the priesthood, to receive a newsletter to be published or to indicate interest in making a Vocation retreat or day of reflection.

Brother-principals of all Diocesan high schools also attended the meeting.

Members of the Priests' Vocation Committee present were:

whom the new major seminary is named, Monsignor Barry said:

"Here today he projects himself to this spot in Florida and his sons are here and exemplifying his charity."

In closing he paid tribute to the outstanding accomplish- ments of Bishop Carroll since his installation as first Bishop of Miami three years ago, and declared that the Bishop has the complete admiration and sup- port of all of the faithful and priests at all times.

DEED PRESENTED

The deed to the property on which construction will begin immediately was presented to Father Taggart by Bishop Car- roll who commented on the work of the clergy in the Diocese of Miami saying, "I have been supported in every single ef- fort 100 per cent by the finest, most enthusiastic, most zealous group of priests I know of anywhere."

Bishop Carroll was joined by Bishop Patrick Shanley, O. Carm., and Bishop Ed- uardo Martinez y Dalmau, C.P., in giving a blessing to those assembled.

Included were members of the Florida Serra Clubs, representa- tives of the Miami Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, and laity from parishes throughout the diocese. Also seated on the speakers' platform were Msgr. Patrick J. O’Dempsey, V.O., Msgr. James F. Enright, Msgr. Jeremiah P. O’Maloney, Msgr. John J. O’Looney, Msgr. Row- an T. Ratstatter, and Father Joseph M. McLaughlin, pastor of St. Mark parish, in which the new seminary will be lo- cated.

Expected to be completed within a year, the new seminary will open in September of 1962 with complete facilities for 150 young men taking their ad- vanced studies for the priest- hood.

It will then be possible for young men aspiring to be priests in the Diocese of Mi- ami to complete their entire course of studies leading to ordination without leaving South Florida. They will have four years of high school work and two years of college at St. John Vian- ney Minor Seminary and then move on to the Semi- nary of St. Vincent de Paul for six years of preparation including two years of philos- ophy and four years of theol- ogy.

The seminary will be built on an 80-acre tract one mile east of the Sunshine State Parkway in Boynton Beach. The property has a frontage of one-half mile on Military Trail and extends for more than a quarter mile to the west.

The building will be an extensive operation centering around a large Chapel build- ing. Included will be an ad- ministration wing with a fac- ulty residence for priests as well as residence wings for students.

A gymnasium, field house, student activity building, swim- ming pool and athletic fields will also be provided.

The Vincentians of the East- ern provinces have recently completed another seminary in Albany, N.Y., for the educa- tion of priests to serve in 13 dioceses of the northeastern section of the U.S. Known as the Seminary of Our Lady of the Angels, it opened for classes in September.

The Vincentian Fathers also conduct eight major seminaries and 10 minor seminaries in various cities throughout the U.S. In ad- dition the congregation also directs three universities, four high schools, 12 mission houses and a house of study in Washington, D.C. Members also do parish work and carry on other ac- tivities including care of the sick, aged and infirm, of prisoners, orphans and the homeless in many institutions.

In Panama they care for lepers.

They also serve in missions of Mississippi, Texas, Alabama, North Carolina and the Canal Zone, and some members of the congregation devote themselves exclusively to the promotion of novenas in honor of Our Lady of the Mi- raculous Medal.

Seminarians whose studies are advanced in theological, philosophy and theology stu- dents and a classroom build- ing, library, lecture rooms, refectory, kitchen and interior recreation area for seminarians.

A new institution will be constructed and conducted by the Vincentian Fathers and will be known as St. Vincent de Paul Major Seminary.

There was no seminary in the diocese when it was founded in 1936 with Bishop Coleman F. Car- roll as its first bishop.

Bishop Carroll, on May 29, 1960, announced the founding of the Seminary of St. John Vianney Minor Seminary adjacent to Christopher Columbus High School and St. Brendan Church in southwest Miami.

The first floor includes an auditorium, biology and general sci- ence courses, a refectory and dormitory on the second floor. The third floor includes a fourth building which will accommodate 180 per- sons. Study halls, classrooms, music room and administrative offices are also on the first floor. The second floor includes an infirmary, reading room and a dormitory for 56 students.

Both the college building and the extension to the original building were dedicated by Bishop Carroll on Sept. 6, 1960.

The enlarged seminary was able to admit a new class of 60 students in September, rais- ing the total enrollment to 221 seminarians.

The original faculty of five Vincentian Fathers was increas- ed to its present in order that the expanding curricula could be fully staffed by priest-profes- sors.

The next building to be erect- ed was the residence for the Vincentians. Located north of the college building, the resi- dence contains facilities for priests and includes a ch sacristy, reception and recreation ro re, refectory and library.

When the seminary commenc- ed its third year in September, 1961, the number of candidates rose to approximately 100.

A new building, completed in three and one-half months, includes a chapel which accommodates 100 per- sons. Study halls, classrooms, music room and administrative offices are also on the first floor. The second floor includes an infirmary, reading room and a dormitory for 56 students.

The new institution will be constructed and conducted by the Vincentian Fathers and will be known as St. Vincent de Paul Major Seminary.

The Diocese of Miami moved forward this week in overcom- ing one of its major problems, the shortage of priests. When ground was brok- en in Boynton Beach for a ma- jor building.

Commmunist Cuba Saturated With Lies And Terror

The author of the following article - the second in a series of three - is a former correspondent of Noticias Catolicas in Santiago, Cuba, who was persecuted by the government for his news work and leadership of Catholic youth groups. After being granted asylum in a foreign embassy in Havana, he reached the U. S. in September, The third article will deal with Cuba's future.

By FATHER JORGE BEZ-CABERES
S. C. D. R., Miami

Premier Fidel Castro and Red agents have made Cuba the Americas' first communist state by consistently using Soviet-style tactics, combining lies and propaganda with infiltration and terror.

The first big lie came immediately after Castro's forces overthrew the Batista regime in April, 1959. At that time Castro claimed he was leading a revolution based on "Christian humanism" and "democracy."

The vast majority of the people, including the nation's Catholic leaders, hoped that a better Cuba would follow the downfall of the Batista regime and for a time were taken in by Castro's lies.

In the early days of 1960 a number of prominent Catholics played major roles in the new government, including President Manuel Urrutia and Premier Ministro. Other Catholics in top government jobs were fired or resigned under pressure. Most sought asylum in foreign embassies in Havana or left the country. Castro appointed a doctile Marxist lawyer, Ovando Dortorto, to the presidency and himself became Premier.

DENIES COMMUNISM

When Red penetration of the government became evident, Castro and his top followers denied they were communists. When he was in the U. S. in April, 1960, Castro repeatedly told the press that he was not leading a communist revolution, that he was maintaining freedom of the press and of religion in Cuba.

Raul Castro, the Premier's brother and a chief of Cuba's armed forces, told civic leaders in Santiago: "I, as a man, tell you that I am not a communist." And Ernesto "Che" Guevara, now in charge of Cuba's economy and its financial affairs, said in a letter to the magazine Bohemia: "I am not a communist, but if I were one, I would not do it."

Despite these denials, exiled leaders of the Christian Democratic party pointed out in June, 1960, that the Communist party was the only political group that could function freely in Cuba. The fact that the Christian Democrats were suppressed and had to speak from exile was evidence of another Castro lie. When he came to power he promised the people in check and punished the Castro regime's tactics of deception and infiltration, proved to be a master of the civil and religious groups. A major Castro stratagem has been to paralyze and repress all public representatives of truly democratic forces and to replace them with Soviet-style "communists," loyal only to the Red regime. Thus, Raul Castro and "Che" Guevara were promoted to posts of great power. So too were Minister of Education Armando Hurt; Roberto Caba, dean of the university students' organization; and Jesus Soto, chief of the workers' organization.

CASTRO'S "VIGILANCE" GROUPS

Cuba's "vigilante" groups, which are organized in every block, denounce anyone who dares to speak of democracy or freedom as "counterrevolutionaries" and "imperialists at arms."

These "vigilantes" - who spied on and denounced their neighbors and even members of their own families - were responsible for the mass arrest of more than 16,000 people after the unsuccessful revolution of Cuba by anti-Castro forces in April. About 70,000 of those arrested at that time are still being held as political prisoners.

Militiamen use the threat of "paradoning" (executions by firing squad) to keep the majority of the people in check and punish all independent leaders.
Accurate News Reporting
Asked Of Press By Pope

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope John XXIII stressed the need for full and accurate press coverage of the upcoming ecumenical council in a speech to 100 newsmen from more than 30 countries.

The Pope also spoke of the importance of Church news in general, noting that it calls for special skills, and expressed his appreciation for the work of many of the foreign journalists who have recently been reporting Vatican events.

He told the newsmen that their main goal should be to report the truth in the interests of human brotherhood.

Pope John spoke to members of the Foreign Press Association of Italy at a special audience marking its 50th anniversary. He told them Second Vatican Council will be so important that the whole world must be accurately informed about it.

HUMOROUS COMMENTS

Pope John received the foreign newsmen in the Vatican’s Consistorial Hall. The Pope sat in an armchair close to the newsmen. He spoke first in French from a prepared text and then informally in Italian for about 30 minutes.

Laughter greeted many of his remarks as he joked about the news profession and his own experience as a writer. He said that the fifth Joyful Mystery of the Rosary – the finding of Jesus in the temple – can be applied to journalists. Smiling as he spoke, the Pope described the scene as Mary and Joseph went into the Temple. There, he recalled, was Jesus surrounded by learned doctors. “And the Gospel tells us,” the Pope concluded, “that Jesus stood in their midst asking questions.”

RECENT IMPROVEMENTS

Pope John said that when he received foreign newsmen about three years ago, shortly after his election to the papacy, he had criticized certain reports of Vatican events. He wanted to “take notice of the recent signs of a praiseworthy concern for precision, dignity and respect in regard to the religious field in some organs of the press.”

This time, he continued, he wanted to “take notice of the recent signs of praiseworthy concern for precision, dignity and respect in regard to the religious field in some organs of the press.”

He said there is a need not only for journalistic talent, but also for competence and knowledge of Church news. These are needed, he went on, “because the Church is a unique institution in the world. Divine and human at the same time, 20 centuries old but ever young. It unstintingly pursues, by means of human activities, supernatural ends which escape superficial observers.”

Pope John told the newsmen that their principal aim must always be to report truthfully.

SERVICE OF TRUTH

“We are and we wish to be, above all, at the service of the truth,” he stated. “You also have this desire, gentlemen, in a very special way, and this is the honor of your profession.”

The Pope said that it is better for a person to remain silent than to spread untrue information, adding that “journalists who report the truth work for human brotherhood.”

“This is so,” he stated, “because error and falsehood divide men, while truth unites them. We desire, gentlemen, that above all you may be good craftsmen of this great ideal of truth and human brotherhood, and We ask God to enlighten you and guide you always in carrying out your beautiful and noble mission.”

The president of the foreign newsmen’s association – Barrett McGurn of the New York Herald Tribune – congratulated the Pope on his 80th birthday in the name of the world press.
Never in history has there been so great a need to keep our Catholic people informed of the grave spiritual struggle being fought on a global basis. Only in the Catholic Press can we get the true measure of this spiritual struggle with the forces of evil; only through the Catholic Press can we hear the complete words of our Holy Father, untainted by editorial slanting; only through The Voice can the voice of the Bishop reach all his subjects. I ask every family to cooperate with his parish priest in his efforts to place The Voice in each home every week.

Personal Acts Of Charity Fostered By DCCW Unit

This is the 11th in a series of articles outlining the aims and objectives of the Standing Committee on Community Welfare, which comprises the Miami Diocesan Council of Catholic Women.

The purpose of the committee is to cooperate with Catholic Charities in assistance to the community in the spirit of St. Vincent de Paul and in the works of St. Vincent de Paul, and to foster such activities among the women of the diocese.

Its functions include recruitment of volunteers, promotion of a close relationship between Catholic agencies and organizations, and the rendering of personal service in parishes and communities.

According to Mrs. William B. Dinsmore, diocesan chairman, a member of SS. Peter and Paul parish committee, Miami, the Miami DCCW has a three-point program this year for its Catholic Charities Committee. The aims are to interest a greater number of Catholic women in personal acts of charity, to encourage women to become members of active charitable societies and to promote a closer relationship between the diocesan office of Catholic Charities and organizations doing charitable work in the 16 counties which comprise the Miami Diocese.

Suggested activities include visits to the sick at home, in hospitals and in institutions; transportation for the aged, blind and handicapped persons in order that they may assist in Mass and other devotions; collect and distribute reading material when visiting institutions and to publicize the great need for homes for children under care of Catholic Charities.

In addition the diocesan council urges all of its members to volunteer their services in the United Fund drive which begins in Dade County Sunday, Nov. 5 and of which the Miami Catholic Welfare Bureau is a member agency.

The intimate companionship that normally can develop only within the family circle constitutes one of the major benefits of marriage. Indeed, when people marry it is primarily this companionship that they seek, while at the same time it furnishes the only adequate basis for the long and exacting task of Christian parenthood.

Hence marital companionship not only answers basic human needs, it is a positive obligation stemming from the very purpose of marriage. Since experience shows that such companionship does not develop or endure automatically, this means that husbands and wives must sincerely cooperate in promoting and fostering it throughout marriage, for despite the special intimacy of married life, it — marriage partners can grow apart as well as together. Some men seek such escapes from home and family? An obvious answer, of course, is that these activities mean more to them than the companionship of their wives and children. This is correct but doesn’t explain very much, for we say, “Wouldn’t you think

Perfíl Humano de Juan XXIII
Reflejado a través de Anécdotas

Por el Padre Juan M. SAENZ

HAY algunas anécdotas que revelan la fe noble y humanizada del Papa Juan XXIII. Aunque muchas de ellas son mías, hubo otros que escribieron sobre la bondad del Papa, no sólo en el santuario, sino en las terrazas de Bergamo, Italia.

Llegaron a Piamonte con sus ropas de domingo. El Nuncio les recibió en la estación. Les presentó al personal de la manutención, los dióceses de ensayo y los convidaron a durmir en un departamento sobre su misma habitación. Al día siguiente, recibieron sus ropas de verano.

El tiempo que el Nuncio Roncalli pasó en el nunciatura de Roma, coincidió casi exactamente con la Presidencia del Papa. Así, la vida pastoral y la vida eclesiástica se fundieron en una sola vida. Si bien en sus anecdotarias no se hace mención a algunos de los papas que le precedieron, no se puede decir que no exista un contacto de alguna índole.

Puede entonces conocer la grandeza de su corazón. Después del almuerzo que se hace en el Estado francés preparó en su honor el nuevo cardenal la diócesis.

El Papa dijo: "El hombre es una criatura a la que debemos dar un carácter de ciencia. La ciencia es la opinión que se tiene de lo que la vida es. Es un apetito de amor, de conocimiento y de abrazar.

La prensa católica francesa se encuentra en esta actitud, porque destruya el 'mystique', que está siendo muy desgastado entre los sacerdotes. En el Papa, se compone la verdadera bondad de un hombre, en el que se reflejan las ideas de un hombre de Dios."

En el discurso que Juan XXIII pronunció en la claustrada del Concilio de 1962, se expresó el deseo de que todos los pueblos de la Iglesia hablen en la misma lengua. "El hombre no es una criatura a la que debemos dar un carácter de ciencia. La ciencia es la opinión que se tiene de lo que la vida es. Es un apetito de amor, de conocimiento y de abrazar."
LA IGLESIA EN CUBA — (II)

LA REVOLUCION, VICTIMA DEL ENGAÑO

Por el Pbro. JORGE BEZ CHABEBE

Para implantar en Cuba la primera República Socialista de la América Latina, Fidel Castro y los agentes comunistas han esgrimido la propaganda y la mentira; cuando se frotan acude, al estilo soviético, a los comisarios y al terror.

Son muchos —incluyendo católicos— los que han caído ante estos maestros del engaño y la traición. Los condenadores se han quebrado con la palabra "revolución" para empujar la dominación comunista de la Isla.

Los patriotas cubanos, que anhelan una Cuba mejor, creen también en la "revolución".

Las primeras grandes men- tiras de Castro fueron "humanismo", "democracia" "libertad con pan".

Había varios católicos seti- rios en los tres meses de la reorganización tras la caída de Fulgencio Batista, entre ellos el primer ministro José Miró Cardona y el presidente Manuel Urrutia. En los ministerios de justicia, trabajo y hacienda, en dirigentes de Acción Católica de amplias filiaciones políticas. Y hasta el primer proyecto de ley de reforma agraria, cuyos detalles serían conocidos una vez que lo apruebe la Santa Sede.

Los periodistas que asistieron a los debates fundamentales de la familia cristiana, su desaparición, su desigualdad, la penetración roja en las dependencias del gobierno, muchos se preguntaban qué quedaba de Cuba de aquellos dias de infancia de la revolución.

En abril de 1959, cuando visitaba a Estados Unidos, Castro repetidamente dijo a la prensa que "no soy comunista". Y el Che Guevara escribió en mayo del mismo año a la revista Bohemia: "No soy comunista tampoco (al fin fin lo afirmaría a los cuatro vientos)..."

Al pasar meses de estas aseveraciones, las escuelas y las universidades estaban dominadas por grupos estudiantiles manejados por los comunistas, y sus profesores y maestros sufrían una purga radical. Todos los grandes diarios habían sido clausurados o confiscados por el régimen, y entregados a propagandistas del marxismo, que también intervenían en la radio y la televisión como anonas expresos.

La hermana Raúl había dicho antes a un grupo de líderes reunidos en Santiago que: "Sólo el Partido Comunista puede desarrollar a cabalidad y con corrupción su propaganda y acción", dijo el grupo.

El régimen de Castro y los suyos va para 34 meses, sin elecciones, porque teme al 80 por ciento de la población que se opone a su gobierno de hambre y opresión.

Cuando se hizo más evidente la penetración roja en las dependencias del gobierno muchos se preguntaban quién gobernaba en Cuba. En abril de 1960, cuando visitaba a Estados Unidos, Castro repetidamente dijo a la prensa que "no era comunista, y citó como prueba el que mantenía relaciones con Rusia y la Unión Soviética..."

A esos meses de estas aseveraciones, las escuelas y las universidades estaban dominadas por grupos estudiantiles manejados por los comunistas, y sus profesores y maestros sufrían una purga radical. Todos los grandes diarios habían sido clausurados o confiscados por el régimen, y entregados a propagandistas del marxismo, que también intervenían en la radio y la televisión como anonas expresos.

CUIDAD DE MEXICO, (NC)— El Consejo Episcopal Latinoamericano reunido aquí se propone formular un programa continental de defensa de la familia.

En una carta a la asamblea de siete días, la Santa Sede señala la importancia del tema y apoya la medida. Su texto fue leído al abrir las sesiones en la sede del Seminario de Misiones Extranjeras aquí.

A ellas asistieron quince delegados, incluyendo los directivos del CELAM, y delegados de la Confederación Episcopal Británica del Caribe y de la Conferencia Episcopal de Centroamérica.

Los directores de secciones del Secretariado del CELAM ofrecieron a los obispos un detallado informe de las actividades del año anterior; muchos de éstas se referían a la lucha por la familia en Américas Latinas.

Empero, la presentación organizada del haggar latinoamericano en sus diversos aspectos correspondió a un grupo de cuatro prelados de Brasil, Ecuador, Perú y Venezuela.

Los pioneros analizaron los elementos fundamentales de la familia cristiana, su desaparición, su desigualdad, la penetración roja en las dependencias del gobierno, muchos se preguntaban qué quedaba de Cuba de aquellos días de infancia de la revolución.

En el curso de la asamblea, los delegados del CELAM se trasladaron a Coeuracav, donde funciona el Centro de Formación Inter-Cultural, encargado de entrenar a los seglares norteamericanos que desean participar en labores de apostolado en Américas Latinas.

las Causas del Comunismo

TEHUANTEPEC, MEXICO (NC)— En una enérgica pastoral el obispo de Tehuantepec señaló como factores del avance comunista:

a) el fraude, la tiranía política y el mal gobierno,

b) el lujo de los privilegiados y la miseria de los pobres,

c) la indiferencia cívica y una educación mal orientada.

En su pastoral, Mons. José de Jesús Alba Palacios escribe:

"Una de las más hirientes manifestaciones de la economía liberal, que no mira a la bien común sino al provecho de unos pocos, de sus propios beneficios, de sus ganancias. "

En la propaganda comunista, es un argumento formi-

God Love You
Most Reverend
Fulton J. Sheen

Shakespeare once said, “The evil men do lives after them.” It might be truer to say that the evil men do finds its way into the columns of the press and the mouths of mouthers. Take a pencil with the number of the Commandment it has broken, that is, write “5” above all stories of murders and muggings, “4” over all items concerning divorce and remarriage, “3” above all robberies and “8” after all the dirty names politicians throw at one another and the speeches of Khrushchev. You will have a page full of numbers.

How the good, the salutary, the patient are ignored! We thank God daily that it is our lot to see the sheep rather than the wolves, to correspond with those who are sealed with the Cross rather than those who are all crossed-up, to be inspired by those filled with the Spirit of Christ rather than the spirit of the world which is at enmity with God.” Would that this side of the world could be known by all.

First of all, over 200,000 missionaries (6,000 of whom are from the United States) are “social martyrs” — they leave family and country to court persecution and blood martyrdom in other lands. Then there is the vast army of the faithful who have such a tender love of the Holy Father that they think of him “first and principally” when they make sacrifices for the missions. There is so much egotism in each of us that the temptation is strong to make ourselves decide where our sacrifices will go. But the hundreds of thousands of faithful who conquer this natural selfishness to make an act of faith in the Vicar of Christ are one of the marvels of virtue in the twentieth century.

No, the world is not as evil as the press records it. Virtue is hidden — hidden as Christ was hidden, in homes like Nazareth, on mountain tops in Galilee, in darkness on a Cross of pain. If ever you become discouraged about the world, come to our office and see the volumes of letters from the faithful expressing humble sentiments like this: “I know The Society for the Propagation of the Faith is the Holy Father’s own society to aid all missionaries and all areas. Kindly give this to His Holiness for he knows better than I the needs of the mission world.” When humility is ascended to, with sacrifice there is goodness to an eminence degree!

Look not, then, to the broken Commandments in the press — they are only a record of the world’s evil. Look to the faithful united in Christ in sacrifice and to His Vicar in love. Part of the world is growing more evil — yes! But a part of it is also growing more saintly. Each Sunday we read Mass for you who read this column, whether you sacrifice for the Holy Father or not. But you will get more out of Calvary re-presented in the Mass if you do sacrifice for his Vicar united in Christ in sacrifice and to His Vicar in love. Everybody in this great wide country of ours knows that Catholics — good Catholics do not eat meat on Friday. And any hostess, endowed with some grace, will know the duty to deceive that name, will be more considerate of her guests than to ask them to violate the laws of their Church and to impose their religious convictions in order to enjoy her party.

It might not be a bad idea, when you are invited to a party on Friday by a non-Catholic, to very politely, in acceptance of the invitation, that it is Friday. And if she should forget and serve meat, I think you should, in all politeness, decline it. You will find that you will which usage gives them, and no marriage. So he is free to make no bones, and make out. A. I think the answer is: Yes. You will find that you will make no bones, and make out. And I do suspect that your friend has not quoted his pastor accurately. In some special cases the pastor might grant a dispensation.

A. Even if we or an angel from heaven should preach a gospel to you other than that which we have preached to you, let him be anathema!” (Gal. 1:8).”

“Through the centuries the Catholic Church has held fast to unity of faith and practice. In that mark is found Christ’s signature upon His Church. With love and thanksgiving I entreat you, my dear reader, to find the one fold with the one shepherd — the one, holy, Catholic, Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ.”

The Question Box

Meat Sandwiches
At Friday Party?

By MSGR. J. D. CONWAY

Q. Last Friday night I attended a party and the hostess served meat sandwiches. However there was other food, including two salads, three vegetables, watermelon, cantaloupe and dessert.

There were five Catholics present and all of them ate meat, except me. Someone mentioned, too, that it was Friday. One of the Catholics expressed his surprise at my behavior in a similar situation, and the pastor had excused him on the ground that he had not eaten the meat the hostess would have been ok feeding me. If I had not eaten the meat the hostess would have been ok feeding me. I would be better to offend my hostess than my Lord.

A. Your final sentence gives my answer precisely. Besides, there is no reason that you should offend your hostess. Everybody in this great wide

Q. For 72 years I have been a Catholic, and it has long puzzled me how a person MAKES A MARRIAGE. One of your questioners used this expression four times, and I make no correction of it.

A. I presume a person makes his first Communion as he makes his first Confession, makes his Easter duty, makes his meditation, or makes his preparation for Mass.

Words have a meaning which usage gives them, and my dictionary has four columns of variant meanings for the word make: to create or construct, of course, but also to the make friends, make book, make a claim, make a mistake. Can make, some make, make no bones, and make out.

Other languages have similar usages. In German, not only makes his first Communion and his “Easter,” but even makes the background of his marriage. And when the weather is not in Paris, it fail beat (it makes pleasant).
Soviet Film-Makers To Visit Hollywood

By WILLIAM H. MOORING

It is anybody's guess whether the Russian fall-out or the Russian film specialists will be first to descend upon Hollywood. Both are on the way.

An advance party of Soviet film specialists, when they arrive in November, comes at the invitation of our State Department. Later some Hollywood movie specialists are scheduled for Moscow.

This the U.S. State Department, Eric Johnston of the Motion Picture Export Association, and Turner Shelton of the USA call a cultural exchange though everybody must understand it can end up as an American giveaway.

HOLLYWOOD IN FOCUS

Writing Friends

In Hollywood the Russians, trained to the teeth in Marxist propaganda, will with web shoulders and exchange ideas with friends of the Soviet Union already well entrenched here. They will be wined and dined by the Hollywood eggheads. They will gain valuable insights into Hollywood's ideological weakness and technological strength.

Uncommitted countries may well conclude that the USA apathy in Hollywood's film export program little to bat: plenty that is unilateral.

On the other hand, if and when Hollywood film specialists go to Moscow, they will be shown only what the Kremlin decides. They will get scant publicity in the world press. They will find in the Russian studios, no pre-Communist film propagandists with whom to "compare notes."

To make this "cultural exchange" culture, Hollywood ought to send to Russia such dedicated anti-communists as Leo McCarey, John Wayne, Ronald Reagan, John Lee Mahin, Robert Taylor and James Edward Grant, together with the type of propaganda injected into Russian movies, or with a few, who like Martin Berkeley and Edward Dmytryk became disenchanted with the Communist Party and left it to re-dedicate their efforts to Americanism.

SELECTED DELEGATES

Such fellows as these might have a tough time getting into Moscow and an even tougher one getting out.

To make sure that our representatives are as well treated and accurately informed in Moscow as the Russians will have been in Hollywood, we might have to send over such men as Dalton Trumbo, Medrick Young, Michael Wilson, John Howard Lawson, Albert Maltz, Lester Cole and Ring Lardner Jr.

Yet, come to think of it, could these be called representative either of the Hollywood film industry or the American people?

In its fourth month, "La Dolce Vita" is liberally advertised as a film that "Lays Bare the Decadence of our Times!" Does this not find a pledge given to the National Legion of Decency by the Astor distributing company? They promised not to appeal "to prurient interest." They also promised to "recommend the film exclusively to mature, adult audiences."

Many of the ads make no mention that juveniles are barred.

No mold or mildew has formed on this barrel tile roof since the WHITE-TITE process was applied. "Not only is the tiled roof still free of mold and fungus," states Jesse Scalzo, owner of WHITE-TITE,
"but the roof still is brilliantly white, as you can see. The WHITE-TITE process used on all our jobs is exclusive to WHITE-TITE.
This process has been developed and perfected over a period of 15 years."

"This is what was done on the Hodson roof: First, the roof was thoroughly cleaned and then the edges of the tiles were sealed. The sealing process offered by WHITE-TITE rebinds all loose tile and provides better drainage from the roof, as well as giving extra protection from hurricanes. After the rebind, the two coats of a lasting WHITE-TITE coating were put on the entire roof on consecutive days. We are proud of our quality and lasting work."

"We also feature a three coat process for gravel roofs which gives the gravel a permanent bond to the roof." All cleaning and coating work is unconditionally guaranteed for two years against mold and fungus and we give you a five year warranty. A WHITE-TITE roof also will make your home much cooler during the hot summer days. Financing can be arranged with a small down payment. We handle all of our own financing."

Camillus House Needs Food
For Poor For Thanksgiving

Turkey dinners, the traditional meal of Thanksgiving Day, will be served at Camillus House to 1,000 needy persons including men, women and children.

The Brothers of the Good Shepherd who staff the shelter at 720 NE First Ave. are currently begging for turkeys, coffee, canned goods and vegetables which they will prepare and serve on the holiday.

The Brothers regularly obtain foodstuffs through the generosity of hotels, restaurants, bakeries, farms and private donors. The food is served twice a day at Camillus House.

In the past 14 months, the Brothers have prepared 169,000 meals, according to Brother David Keane, B.G.S., superior.

Last Thanksgiving, assisted by 20 volunteers for nearly 16 hours, the Brothers served 686 turkey dinners to the needy regardless of color and religion.

In order to serve 1,000 on Nov. 28, the Camillus staff is increasing its efforts to contact more donors and to obtain the assistance of volunteers in cooking turkeys and gathering and transporting food.

"We feel that God must be very much pleased when His children offer to Him their goods, skills and services in order that His other less fortunate children may be fed," the Brothers said in issuing an appeal for assistance.

Arrangements may be made for pick-up service by calling Camillus House at FR 4-1385.
