Catholic Population In Diocese Now 354,463

Catholic population of the Diocese of Miami increased by 22,775 over the previous year; and 18,825 more than in 1958 when the Diocese was created.

These facts as well as other statistical information revealing the continuing growth and development of the Diocese are shown in the Official Catholic Directory for 1962 just issued by P. J. Kenedy & Sons, publishers.

The Directory reports a total of 73 parishes in the Diocese. Since it was printed, however, four new parishes have been erected, making a total of 77. At its creation in 1968 there were 50 parishes in the Diocese.

There are now a total of 97 Diocesan priests serving in the Diocese along with 56 religious priests, making a total of 153 priests as compared with 140 reported in 1961.

Bishops now serving in the Diocese number 61. This is 29 more than the 22 last year.

An increase of 111 over the past year brings the number of Sisters in the Diocese to 674, as compared with 583 last year. The Sisters now in the Diocese represent 39 different communities or orders.

MORE SEMINARIANS

The number of seminarians now studying for the Diocesan priesthood has risen to 259, which is a gain of 55 over the 204 reported in the 1961 Directory. Of the 259 young men, 164 are studying in the Diocese’s own St. John Vianney Minor Seminary and 68 in other seminaries in the United States and abroad.

In September, one class of seminarians will transfer from St. John Vianney to the new St. Vincent de Paul Major Seminary now being constructed by the Vincentian Fathers at Boynton Beach.

The Directory lists only one college — Barry College for women with an enrollment of 790. Soon, however, there will be another — the new Biscayne College for men.

Increase Prayer In May For Council, Pope Urges

VATICAN CITY (NC) — The clergy and faithful of the world have been asked by Pope John XXIII to increase their prayers for the success of the Ecumenical Council in the month of May.

Pope John has also told the faithful that the establishment of just relations with their fellow men is part of the necessary climate for a fruitful council. Though not clearly specifying it, he seemed by this comment to be referring to racial conflicts in various parts of the world.

His appeals were contained in an Apostolic Letter, Ecumenical Council published here.

The increased prayers in May were sought, the Pope said, "in order that this great event (the council) may constitute a new Pentecost and prodigiously upon the earth, the Pontiff said, "there is no place for concession or compromise, but for the work of unity which is the work of the Church."

The council, which is due to convene on Oct. 11 is a continuation of the mission of Christ upon the earth, the Postulat said, explaining: "Jesus is present in the Church and continues His mission on earth; we are summoned to point to Him as the way to salvation."

Non-Catholic Observers To Attend Vatican Council

By JAMES C. O’NEILL

ROME (NC) — Non-Catholic observers at the forthcoming Second Vatican Council will not be limited to formal sessions, but will be able to attend the plenary sessions.

Augustine Cardinal Bea, S.J., head of the Vatican Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity, told more than 60 representatives of the world press that the Holy See will invite to the council those non-Catholic observers "who want to be invited."

Cardinal Bea was guest of honor at a luncheon given by the Foreign Press Club of Rome less than a week after his episcopal consecration by Pope John XXIII.

Still Under Study

Cardinal Bea made it clear that non-Catholic representatives at the council "will have broad possibilities of studying and following the work of the council, according to Cardinal Bea. These possibilities evidently will not be limited to assisting at the solemn sessions in the presence of the Pope, in which there is no further discussion, but in which those themes which have already been discussed and approved in preparatory sessions are simply read out and formally voted on.

Efforts Questioned

Questioned whether there was any news concerning a possible meeting between Pope John and Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople, Cardinal Bea said relations between the Patriarch and the secretariat are excellent, but any meeting between the two spiritual leaders depends on their own negotiations rather than on the secretariat, he said.

Cardinal Bea also was asked whether there are any plans for considering the formalization of relations between Catholicism and Judaism. He replied, "it is a subject which has already been looked at by the council, but which has not been put to the vote at this time."

"The potential strength inherent in Christian unity is such," the Cardinal indicated, that a united Christian effort might make possible solutions to the present problems of nuclear weapons, disarmament and peace.

In his response to questions the Cardinal made no bones about the difficulties involved in efforts toward unity. He stressed in particular the difference between concessions which could be made in favor unity.

Practical concessions, in such fields as forms of worship, language, customs and traditions, he said, could be dealt with individually. But as for matters of doctrine there is no place for concessions," because "the Church has received its teachings from Christ."

Catholic Schools 'Strong,' NCEA Delegates Declare

By JOHN J. DAILY JR.

DETROIT (NC) — The Catholic Schools of the National Catholic Educational Association are strong, but they face today are victims of depersonalization, many raised in homes which are no more than big telephone booths.

Archbishop Paul J. Hallinan said "uprootedness is a phenomenon of the big apartment building, the stylized suburbs, the faceless factories and the mechanized office buildings. "These are the places from which students are victims of depersonalization, many raised in homes which are no more than big telephone booths."

The prelate spoke to the National Newman Club Chaplains Association meeting here at the 59th annual convention of the National Catholic Educational Association. The Archbishop is a former Newman Club Chaplain.

He called upon the chaplains in their educational programs on non-Catholic campuses to teach others in Sister Forma- tion colleges.

"For too many homes," he told a dinner meeting, "have become large telephone booths where we make arrangements to go out; too many jobs are only occupations devoid of craft, pride and principles."

"The student who lives in such a home, looks ahead to such a job, is hardly a suitable recipient for truth. Where the treasure is, not only the heart, but the mind is — and the treasure today is in earth-bound security, soul-centered advancement and man-made decisions."

Newman teachers, he said, must expose for colleagues the possibilities of the Mystical Body of Our Lord as a plan of life.

CBS Program On Abortion Insults The TV Audience

It is difficult to refrain from wrath in commenting upon the insidious television program carried over the Columbia Broadcasting System's network last Saturday as part of the series, "The Defenders." Silyly titled "The Benefactors," it was a cold-blooded, crassly legal appeal for legalized abortion, outlawed in all 50 states.

So objectionable was it considered in advance of its presentation that all three of the program's regular sponsors withdrew their support, that the estimable Bruden and Williamson; the Lever Brothers soap manufacturers and Kimberly-Clark paper products. To its discredit, the Spidel was hand first to carry on.

CBS said the program was not condemned by the National Association of Broadcasters and refused to drop the play but did give it a "golden hour" of its own.

This designation of its show, about a "dedicated" abortionist and his "grateful" victims, was flushed without warning, in most instances, into the living rooms of decent families at an hour on Saturday afternoon when teenagers and smaller children were watching the television screen.

Without going into the gruesome details of the seductively advertised program, the high light proved to be in the eloquent pleas of the great "Defender" that the abortionist was being tried "by law, by man's law, not God's."

That incidentally, was the only mention in the hour-long program of God, freedom, or religion.

(Oh, yes, there was an Irish washer-woman type of character introduced as one of the jurors who did say that "it's a right to destroy a mortal sin," but he was never heard from again to explain why, in the end, the "dedicated" abortionist was found guilty.)

Then there was the pusillanimous defendant himself who said he only wanted to be understood because there was "a gap I decided to fill" since "somebody had to make it safe to have abortions" and asked how bad laws are changed because "we must change the laws on abortion."

He also described the charge on which he was being tried as merely a "termination of a pregnancy," and when asked if he was destroying human life, replied simply, "Perhaps. There is no organism, but it is a human being." No.

What is the teaching of the Church in regard to abortion? Briefly, it is this:

ABORTION: The intentional expulsion of a fetus from the womb if that fetus is unable to live outside the mother's body. If the expulsion is accidental and unintended, it is usually called miscarriage.

"The intentional expulsion of a fetus that cannot live outside the uterus, no matter what the reason may be, is a serious sin of murder, since the fetus is a human being. All who have a part in procuring an abortion are automatically excommunicated from the Church.

To close on a more pleasant note, we might call attention to the St. Vincent Home for unwed mothers, conducted by the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, at 1125 Biscayne Boulevard. The Sisters in charge will tell you, "There are no bad girls here; they all have their babies." They have made a mistake, they have repented, and they are forgiven.

For it was God who created their babies and endowed each with an immortal soul, and many such there are today in the Kingdom of Heaven, including one, a native of Lima, Peru, who is an altar server in the Church will convene next Sunday as St. Martin de Porres.

That, let us pray, might inspire CBS to grant St. Martin equal time to that given to those who so flagrantly advocate the 20th Century's 'slaughter of the innocents.'

Florida and Catholics were looked upon as an inept minority.

A few of the figures tell an eloquent story of growth. Pabst Bros. in operation in the Diocese were numbered 7. In the Census of 1975, 27,775 Catholics, including 745 adult converts, in the past year bring the total Catholic population to 54,603. There are 35% of the total, a stunning 1,700 in the National Seminar and 28 in other seminars throughout the U.S. and Europe.

Nationally also, the Church is presenting an image of vigor and strength. In the past 10 years, for instance, the Catholic population has increased by twelve and a half million or 49.9 for a grand total of 83,976,000. In the past year alone, the increase amounted to nearly 900,000. There are now 50,187 priests, the highest on record, working in the U.S. It is astonishing to know that since 1858 seminarians and novices in this country have increased from 311 to 545. Adult converts for the tenth year are in excess of 125,000.

Such figures necessarily encourage and hearten to do during these dismal years when threats of nuclear war and total destruction can no longer be called idle boasts. Here are the welcome signs of the Church's vitality in this era also re-

The council's record indicates clearly that it has stimulated the beehive activity and the no-nonsense approach to the business of the Church. It has often been said that Christianity bestowed on wom-

How To Fight Internal Communism

This is the eighth in a series of 10 articles on the nature of the Communist regime in the world today with special emphasis on the most effective and intelligent response to the challenge for Americans.

From Communism: Threat to Freedom by Father John F. Cronin, S. S. Available at the St. Paul Catholic Book Center, 2700 Biscayne Blvd., Miami.)

By FATHER JOHN F. CRONIN, S. S.

Our warning so far has been against a disproportionate concern over the danger of internal subversion to the neglect of the far greater danger of world communism. It is appropriate now to examine what we can do to become and remain alert to any dangers posed by the Communist Party, U.S.A., together with its fellow travelers and dupes.

In any combat, one of the first rules is to know your enemy. For accurate information on current Communist activities, the safest source is found in the reports and hearings of the anti-Communist Internal Security Subcommittee and the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Know Your Christian Symbols

ROOT OF JESSE

O Root of Jesse, A Standard to the peoples; Before Whom kings and creeds groan, To Whom all nations shall appeal, Come to deliver us; please do not delay.

The great "70" Assyrians came at Vespers on Dec. 29 in Isaiah addressed to Christ, soon to be born on Christmas Day. This symbol of Christ is derived from the words of Isaiah:

"And there shall come forth a rod out of the root of Jesse (David's father), and a flower shall rise up out of this root." (Isaiah 11, 1)

St. Ambrose' interpretation of this prophecy is: "The root is the family of the Jews; the stem is Mary; the flower of Mary is Christ."

Isaia went on to prophesy (11, 16): "In that day the Assyrians shall stand for an ensign of the peoples; and him the Gentiles shall brood, and his sepulcher shall be glorious." Here the Messiah is identified with the root out of which he is risen. In the Apocalypse (22, 16) Christ reveals Himself: "I am the root and the offspring of David, bright and morning star." "I am the root of Jesse, who standeth for an ensign of the people; the family of the Jews; the stem is Mary; the flower is Christ." The root is the family of the Jews; the stem is Mary; the flower of Mary is Christ.

The present concentration of the Communist Party is on civil rights and peace. They use the civil-rights theme against any restrictions or regulations that hamper their activities. These include laws against subversion, congressional investigations, and restrictions of their rights to speak.

The peace theme takes advantage of reactions to nuclear testing, or pacifist (other than dead), and the real fear of a war that would destroy civilization.

The groups in the United States that should be most alert against attempted infiltration are your friends, citizens, and the like, those who care for peace, and defenders of civil liberties.

TO PUT REDS IN GOOD LIGHT, CUBAN PRIEST SAYS

Castro Puts Off Persecution Of Church

Cuba's Red regime has ceased its public persecution and ridicule of the Church and her clergy in an attempt to create a more favorable attitude in other countries. Cuba is now planning a full-scale campaign of infiltration. But vigilance should not deteriorate into hysteria.

The heads of government; or groups as subversive and infiltrated. Something should be done out to the uninformed and the emotionally unstable.

The Communist Party will try increasingly to use non-Communist clergy to create an informed public opinion. Our civil rights and liberties must be preserved.

Our schools, colleges, and universities should promote a second and factual study of communism. Certain the academic world is not doing its full duty if it neglects such a vital sphere of contemporary history. If scientific and accurate information is not available, then the field will be left to the uninformed and the emotionally unstable.

To be preserved.

In all such cases, this is the important question to raise when subversion is alleged: Is the information based on current facts, or is it merely a digging up of old positions subsequently discovered?

In the present climate of opinion, there is little danger that the Communist Party will achieve its goal of influencing American public thinking toward Soviet goals. It will not be able to shape the policy of our government. So long as we are alert and informed in carrying out our duties as citizens, our nation is safe from internal subversion.

NEXT WEEK: Need For Eliminating Corrupting Practices.
Blessed Martin de Porres Will Be Canonized May 6

On the baptismal certificate of the little colored boy, born and baptized on Nov. 9 of the year 1579, Father Juan Antonio Pacheco wrote the words, "father unknown."

But the child named Martin had a well-known father, the Spanish knight and colonel Juan de Porres, eventually gave his son a name. On May 6 the Church is giving him a new name, St. Martin de Porres.

Martin was born in Lima. His mother was a freed-woman from Panama, probably a Negress but possibly of Indian stock. The union between the Spanish knight and the former slave was not a marriage in the sacramental sense, and after the birth of a second child (a daughter), Juan left his illegitimate family in Lima and went to Guayaquil, Ecuador.

REARED IN POVERTY

Martin was reared in poverty in the little house on the Street of the Holy Spirit where he was born. Although the son of one of the ruling class, as a half-caste the child was looked into a low level of Lima’s society.

It is told that even in his poverty, the child Martin gave what he had to the poor, and that this generosity brought blows to him from the rulers of Lima’s society.

Two years later, however, the father had to move to a high government post in Panama. He found it too difficult to raise his half-breed children with him, so he left Juana with his uncle in Guayaquil while Martin returned to his mother in Lima.

TAKES VOWS

In Lima his mother apprenticed him to a barber-surgeon. He learned not only how to cut hair but how to draw blood (a standard medical treatment of those days), care for wounds and prepare and administer medicines.

At the age of 15, Martin applied to Lima’s Convent of the Holy Rosary for admission as a member of the Dominican priests. He received the habit of a Dominican tertiary, white tunic, black scapular and black cloak. Nine years later he was ordered to enter the more dignified state of member of the First Order of St. Dominic as a lay Brother with solemn vows.

Martin spent about 45 years in the Convent of the Holy Rosary, it was his home until his death on Nov. 3, 1639. Accounts of his life in the Dominican house tell, side by side, of lovely work in kitchens, laundry and infirmary, and of occasions that lift him into the air, heavenly lights filling the room in which he prayed, and instantaneous cures of the hopelessly ill. There is even mention of bringing the dead to life, and of instantaneous transoceanic trips to help those in need.

Martin’s charity extended to the beasts of the field and even the vermin of the kitchen. He excused the depredations of rats and mice on the ground that poor little things were underfed. He kept a refuge for cats and dogs at his sister’s house.

He founded what is believed to be the first public orphanage in the New World. Generous himself, he inspired such generosity in others that he became a formidable fund-raiser by obtaining the equivalent of thousands of dollars for each of the numerous doweries that he gave to poor girls to enable them to marry or enter a convent.

The former president of the United Nations General Assembly, Vicente Andres Belaunde, summed up Martin’s role in subsequent history. "Martin de Porres is the enduring answer to race prejudices," he declared.

"This man of the highest moral perfection, this example of the most perfect type of mestizo in America, was not the product of the race which is considered superior, the dominant race. He was a mixture of two, that he might be the living symbol of the nobility of colored and understanding."

Martin was beatified in 1837.

SUMMER CABANAS at
COCOA BEACH & ORANGE COUNTY

La Salle was opened last year at the invitation of Bishop Coleman F. Carroll by Christian Brothers from their schools in Cuba. Next year's expansion is due to a changeover from the Cuban province to the American province, according to Father Claude Brubaker, supervising principal of LaSalle. The agreement enables the transfer of Cuban Brothers to northern schools to aid in the teaching of Spanish and allow others to open schools in Puerto Rico and Santo Domingo.

Brother Patrick received his doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania and is a full-time professor at LaSalle College in addition to his duties as Dean of Resident Students. His previous experience includes a year of theological training in Rome plus many years of teaching in diocesan high schools in Philadelphia, including eight years at West Catholic High School where he was guidance director.

The newly named principal recently spent a week in Miami and met with Bishop Carroll. He and Father Brubaker, discussed the school's program with Mage, William McKeever, diocesan superintendent of education and Father R. Reardon, assistant chancellor. He also did diocesan plans for the expansion of the LaSalle-Inmaculata Academy facilities.

Father Brubaker said there are already 160 students registered for the four freshman classes beginning in September plus transfer students in other grades. The school will graduate 20 to 25 students this year. It will be the first graduation of the co-institutional Immaculata and LaSalle institutions.

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (NC) -- A Catholic Bishop and an official of the National Education Association debated in favor of Federal aid to education at the spring seminar of the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors here at Pennsylvania State University. Bishop John J. Wright of Pittsburgh united with John M. Lumley, director of the NEA's division of Federal relations, in advocating such aid, while John E. Harmon, assistant manager of the education department of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, strongly opposed Federal aid to education.

Traditionally, the U.S. Catholic Bishops had been opposed to Federal educational aid. Bishop Wright said, but now the situation has changed. Some Bishops still are opposed, he said, while the opinions of others range all the way in favor of "much aid.

The Bishop emphasized that the issue affects between five and six million Catholic school children in the nation. He said many Catholics take the position that their children are entitled to be included in any Federal aid to education program.

The controversial issue should be viewed on the basis of what is good for the nation rather than on the argument that Federal aid to Catholic schools would weaken the Constitution, Bishop Wright said. Lumley said large sums already have been disbursed from Washington and "it is not a question of whether we are to have Federal aid, but how to have it.

He then told the editors that the U.S. Chamber of Commerce is opposed to Federal aid for education on the ground that such aid would lead to Federal control of schools. He said, "The Chamber's position is that we are as well off in education today that we don't need Federal aid at all.

FROM BISHOP IN SERRA CLUB CONTEST

12 Vocation Essay Winners Get Awards

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll presented awards Thursday to six boys and six girls who were first prize winners in the annual Vocation Essay Contest sponsored by the Serra Clubs of the Diocese of Miami, representing Miami, Fort Lauderdale, the Palm Beaches and Indian River.

Reflecting the widespread interest in vocations throughout all of South Florida, the students came from 11 schools in all parts of the Diocese. Guests of the Serra Clubs at the luncheon held on the roof of the Columbus Hotel were parents of the boys and girls and principals or teachers of the schools they attend.

Each prize winner received a missal engraved with his or her name and each school they represented was given an engraved plaque.

Bishop Carroll praised the Serra for their work in fostering vocations generally and in particular for conducting each year the Essay Contest which has for its purpose the arousing of interest among as many as possible in the priesthood and the Sisterhood.

"NEED IS GREAT" Bishop Carroll declared. "It is a gift, however, which has to be recognized and the Essay Contest focuses the attention of hundreds of our young people and directs their interest toward answering just one question: 'Does God want me to be a priest?' or 'Does God want me to be a nun?'

"There are enough vocations, if they are answered, but unfortunately too many fail to recognize the call of God or may turn away from this great honor. There are many influences responsible for this, among them the materialism in the world itself; improper companions, and, unfortunately, the opposition of parents themselves, who fail to provide proper conditions in the home which are ideal for recognizing God's call.

In this Diocese and in many parts of the world, particularly in Latin America, the need is greatly evident for more priests and more Sisters. Parents and teachers can help greatly in seeing to it that there are enough young people to fill that need, and with their help, I am sure we will achieve this end and that benefits will be measured only in the next world."

DIFFERENT TOPICS

Father James J. Walsh, director of vocations in the Diocese, also spoke in praise of the Serra Clubs activities through our South Florida. President James McLaughlin, of the Miami Club, president, and Thomas Maddox, Jr., secretary, presented the prize winners to the Bishop.

Contestants in each grade from the Seventh through to the Twelfth wrote on different topics. Those for the boys were: "What is a Diocesan Priest?" "Is God Calling You?" "The Diocesan Priest — a Missionary at Home?" "The Need for Vocations in the Diocese of Miami" "The Missions in the Miller Seminary" and "The Joys and Personal Benefits of a Priest."

The girls wrote on "Missionary Activities of Sisters in the Diocese of Miami" "Is God Calling You?" "The Rose of Sisters in the World of Today" "The need for Vocations to the Sisterhood in the Diocesan" "Life in the Novitiate of Religious Orders of Sisters" and "The Joys and Benefits of the Sister."

of Cleveland who served as a Naval chaplain during World War II, Monsignor Gallagher served as director of Youth Services for the diocesan Catholic Charities in Cleveland from 1948 to 1961 and was also director of St. Anthony House for Boys there. In 1961 he was a member of the executive planning committee for the White House Conference on Aging and from 1965 to 1968 was chairman of the program committee of the National Conference of Catholic Charities. He was named secretary of the National Conference last September.

Enriched with funds donated to the Diocesan Development Fund the home consists of three buildings including facilities for 10 boys and girls. It replaces the 15-year-old building in the northwest section of Miami which has already provided a haven for hundreds of children of all ages. According to Father Bryan O. Walsh, director of Catholic Charities, the children will move into their new home immediately after dedication.

An H-shaped one-story cottage with gable roof contains two separate wings, each providing bed space for 16 children. Included in each wing is a combination living and play room, parlor, serving pantry and small laundry.

An infirmary providing space for four beds located between the girls' and boys' wings. Bedrooms for the Sisters of St. Joseph of St. Augustine who staff the home are situated between the dormitories and built-in closets and desks are provided for the boys and girls.

A beautifully decorated chapel is located in the main building as well as administrative offices, large living room and reception rooms.

Pilgrimage Film At Boynton Beach

A film presentation and a talk on the Diocese of Miami pilgrimage to Europe and the Holy Land, scheduled to leave New York July 28.

During the four days spent in Rome, the Diocese of Miami pilgrims will have more than half of that time available for private excursions into the past and present of Christianity, and it is improbable that anyone would miss seeing the catacombs, subterranean witnesses to the bloody beginning of the Church.

Architects have estimated that if the Rome catacombs were placed in a straight line, they would extend 600 miles and many of them believe there remain more catacombs not yet discovered.

These underground burial chambers of the early Christians have been glamorized in books and drama as hidden places where the persecuted Christians hid from the fates designed by the Romans. However, many historians say it is evident that the Romans must have known about the catacombs for it would be impossible to take so much dirt from under the earth and keep it hidden. Yet, they do not rule out the possibility that they were used for such reasons from time to time.

In the catacombs of St. Callixtus lie the bodies of the martyred popes of the third century. The crypt is decorated with inscriptions and frescoes uniting the Eucharistic sacrifice with those of the Old Law. Also, these catacombs are decorated with examples of primitive Christian art which has preserved throughout the centuries.

Throughout the catacombs, there is constant evidence that the language of the Church was not hidden. Yet, for it is used for most of the inscriptions. The word itself means "down by the hollow."

“A strong family life indicating respect for the older generations and a concern for younger members of the family is prevalent among the international visitors to our country. Discussion with them as to the source of their strengths and sharing with them our own information and methods for improving family life could be a real source of profit for all,” members were told.

Concern for the religious and material needs of the aging was expressed by the membership who urged a study and discussion of the background papers from the 1961 White House Conference on the Aging. Units of the Council were also encouraged to intensify their efforts to promote safety programs and to participate in Civil Defense training.

A goal of the Council, resolutions stated, is to be “well-read, well-informed, and ever vigilant” in the fight for decency in TV, motion pictures, radio and the public press.

“Be especially vociferous,” delegates were told, “in letting our state legislature and local officials know that we deplore the flood of indecent literature and immoral movies that are undermining the morals of our youth.”

Delegates to the convention also voted to join other groups in their communities in working for social improvement; to increase membership in the Council; and to promote readership of The Voice.

DCCW To Study Catholic Education

A study of the role of Catholic education in the American educational scene and its contribution to society will be undertaken by members and affiliates of the Miami DCCW during the coming year, according to resolutions passed by the Council while assembled for its fourth annual convention in Palm Beach.

“Some five and a half million children, of which approximately 31,000 reside in the Diocese of Miami, attend Catholic elementary and secondary schools in the United States,” resolutions stated, pointing out that the public schools system and the Catholic school system are partners in serving the nation by training children to be informed and responsible citizens.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. H. J.G. Eisner of St. Thomas the Apostle parish, national vice-chairman of organization and development resolutions also pledged the membership of 94 affiliated groups throughout South Florida to “constantly and earnestly pray for the success of the forthcoming Ecumenical Council and its deliberations.”

“Our Holy Father, the report said, “is exerting much effort to bring about greater unity among Christian people. We will further support him in these efforts by expressing a true Christian charity towards all men, praying that God may give them the grace to one day walk in His footsteps.”

Members also reiterated their wholehearted support of the work of the laity apostolate and voted to encourage and inaugurate retreats and days of recollection and to study well formed programs of leadership training throughout all phases of the Council. They also urged earnest consideration to the strengthening of family life emphasizing that “it is the God-given responsibility of all parents to instill in youth respect for the moral law and to guide them in its observance.

“Prayerful consideration to the choice of a proper vocation must be the dedicated responsibility of all members of the family, both parents and youth. “A strong family life indicating respect for the older generations and a concern for younger members of the family is prevalent among the international visitors to our country. Discussion with them as to the source of their strengths and sharing with them our own information and methods for improving family life could be a real source of profit for all,” members were told.

Concern for the religious and material needs of the aging was expressed by the membership who urged a study and discussion of the background papers from the 1961 White House Conference on the Aging. Units of the Council were also encouraged to intensify their efforts to promote safety programs and to participate in Civil Defense training.

A goal of the Council, resolutions stated, is to be “well-read, well-informed, and ever vigilant” in the fight for decency in TV, motion pictures, radio and the public press.

“Be especially vociferous,” delegates were told, “in letting our state legislature and local officials know that we deplore the flood of indecent literature and immoral movies that are undermining the morals of our youth.”

Delegates to the convention also voted to join other groups in their communities in working for social improvement; to increase membership in the Council; and to promote readership of The Voice.

CAUTIONED BY DCCW MODERATOR

Guard Against Over-enthusiasm

Women must guard against “over-enthusiasm” which results in impatience and intolerance with the work of both the clergy and laity of the Church. Members of the Miami DCCW were told during the first session of their fourth annual convention.

Father David J. Heffernan, pastor of St. Lawrence parish, North Miami Beach, and diocesan moderator of the Council gave the keynote address to the convention which had as its theme “... For They Shall Be the Children of God.”

“In the course of daily living and working, both at home and in our parish,” Father Heffernan said, adding that “they are always waiting for help. As the Christ-bearer, the priest becomes the sinews and muscle of the Church in discharging the heavy burden of responsibility.”

“Presidents of anything from parish groups to large countries are the first to say for criticism,” Father Heffernan continued. “Every housewife knows the creative effort required to do the m e a n s , room color schemes, children's outfits, decorating plans, and the multitude of disciplinary questions that dog a tiring day.”

“Any president or chairman accepts the responsibility not only to lead their groups but to help them do a better job,” the priest said.

“Women are the only ones doing their own job better than they do. It is the spirit that makes us feel that our way is the best way, that we are right and others are wrong, and that we ourselves are the only ones doing anything about God's will. Too much over-enthusiasm makes us impatient and intolerant.”

Decisions which must be made without too much time to think or without anyone to advise must occur daily in everyone's life, Father Heffernan said.

It is not the mission of the Church to think or without anyone to advise must occur daily in everyone's life, Father Heffernan said. Decisions which must be made without too much time to think or without anyone to advise must occur daily in everyone's life, Father Heffernan said.

Faith Meanir
True Charity

Religious beliefs may become meaningless unless they are expressed through personal service in discharging the corporal works of mercy. A social service worker told hundreds of women attending the third-day meeting of the Miami DCCW.

“The Catholic Charity That Women Can Do,” was outlined for delegates by Mrs. Jeanne Niemoeller, family welfare worker at the Miami Catholic Welfare Bureau, one of two agencies open to South Florida by women of the Church.

“We, the lay apostolate, must become the sinews and muscle of the Church in discharging the corporal works of mercy,” Mrs. Niemoeller told. “For much too long, our good intentions have come to naught because of the heavy burden of responsibilities. We need to be guided by the principles of our religion.”

In his address at the closing

Commending the Miami Coun-

the past four years, Bishop Carrell emphasized the necessity of a strong and concerted effort in the fields of spiritual development, and social action. He urged members to participate in the campaign against obe-ture, movie films and TV and advised them to become well

the education of their children, pointing out that Catholics should concern themselves with public school as well as Catholic school education.

\“There are today in the U.S. nearly six million Catho-

\“Even if no Catholic children attended public school we still have the obligation to concern ourselves with their operation—we help materially to support them and the student products that come from the public school will undoubtedly greatly

Mr. Fitzgerald declared.

\“Since the government cannot compel all parents to send their children to public schools, only by making improved secular education available in all compettent schools, public and private,\”
Mr. Fitzgerald told delegates.

Sonotone has done it again with the "WISP-EAR," the world’s smallest hearing aid, hardly noticeable. It weighs only 1/5th of an ounce (including tiny battery inside) and is so small it’s hardly noticeable.

The "WISP-EAR" can help 7 out of 10 persons with hearing losses. Slips in and out of your ear so easily — behind the ear, nothing on the neck, nothing down the back, nothing on the ears. It's worn inside the hollow of the ear.

Women Lead War On Smut, Delegates Told

Although they are frequently blamed for contributing to a general decline in manners and morals, women throughout the United States are responsible for the massive attack now being conducted against indecent literature and films. Delegates to the Miami DCWW convention were told during closing sessions.

"Women are blamed in part for the moral laxity which is interfering family life and which sociologists connect with an alarming rise in juvenile delinquency," Mrs. Howard Doolin, public relations chairman of the South Dade Deansely declared.

"Some specifically blame women for the breakup of the homeLdeting that they are not making sufficient use of their intelligence in rearing their children as they shift moral as well as educational and religious responsibility onto Church and school."

"It is true that American women are much less prudish than their grandmothers," Mrs. Doolin continued, "but simply because they have lost that prudery and because they can discuss moral issues instead of sweeping them under the rug does not mean that they condone the decline in manners and morals."

The "WISP-EAR" is ideal for those who "hear but don’t understand." As small as a dime, it is light as a nickel.

Always Be Fishers Of Men, Head Of CCD Urges Laity

"Catholic men and women are committed necessarily to an apostolate of instruction by word and deed and must be at all times "fishers of men,"" the diocesan president of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine told sessions of the Miami convention in Palm Beach.

"We don't go in much for conviviality on church premises or head-shaking at the church door on Sunday. Catholics instinctively tend to dissociate their social and religious life. And perhaps to a degree this is a good thing. But as result of this spirit of isolationism and introversion, most Catholics are reticent in talking about religious matters.

"Although most of us are glib and voluble on topics of the day..."
CATHOLIC EDUCATION provides a topic of interest for Msgr. William F. McKeever, diocesan superintendent of schools and Mrs. J. Ehlers, left, retiring president of the Miami Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, and Mrs. Stuart Godwin Jr., corresponding secretary of the North Dade Deenay.

"We also quizzed several college and university teachers on their thoughts about students who come to them from parochial schools," Mrs. Godwin stated. "The consensus was that the child with the parochial school education in primary and secondary grades seemed better prepared for the extra self-discipline needed during a college education and were more soundly prepared in some of the old-fashioned fundamentals."

Most of the parents hoped that as a result of the religious training which their children had learned not only for God but also for parents, teachers, and contemporaries.

"If you want the answers to God, could offer just "a little something more than the parochial or diocesan centers of education.

Results of the poll were revealed during opening sessions of the annual convention of the Miami Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, Mrs. Stuart Godwin Jr., corresponding secretary of the North Dade Deenay, conducted the survey to provide background material for a forum on "Catholic Education."

She told delegates that one of the most inspiring answers came from a non-Catholic mother who said that as a result of the Sisters, in dedicating their lives to physicians, attorneys, and architects. In most instances they resided closer and more conveniently to public schools than to parochial or diocesan centers of education.

Molded Salad Tastes As Good As It Looks

By FLORENCE DEVANEY

A sunny-looking salad is especially appealing for spring entertaining, particularly when it tastes as good as it looks.

A pleasing choice would be this molded vegetable medley. The clear coolness of the unflavored gelatin allows the vegetables' natural colors and flavors to come through.

For extra piquancy, serve the molded vegetable medley with a dash of Tabasco and chopped green pepper, stuffed olives, celery, sweet pickle and onions have been added.

Another time make the blue cheese ring mold and fill it with luscious red ripe berries, pineapple and mandarin oranges.

Make this salad well in advance because it's a creamy mold and needs long chilling. But that's one of the nice advantages of molded salads — they can be prepared a day ahead freeing you of much of the last minute mealtime rush.

Included in the recipes below is one for a cheese ring.

MOLDED VEGETABLE MEDLEY

1. No. 2 can peas
2. Envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1½ cups hot vegetable liquid
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup mild vinegar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 cups chopped celery
2 cups thinly sliced radishes

Drain peas well; reserve liquid. Add water to drained liquid to measure 1½ cups; heat. Soften gelatin in cold water. Set cup in small pan of hot water over very low heat until gelatin is melted. Chill until almost firm. Chill remaining clear gelatine mixture until firm. Unmold and place radish roses and crisp greens around mold. To make garnish, press upright in mold this slices of radish to form "flower;" place several slices of stuffed olives in center.

BLUE CHEESE RING, FRESH FRUIT

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1½ cups hot water
1 cup cream
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup lemon juice
1 No. 2 can pineapple tidbits (10% syrup or cheese
Pineapple chunks
Mandarin oranges
Whole strawberries
Salad greens

In metal cup, soften gelatin in cold water. Set cup in small pan of hot water over very low heat until gelatin is melted. Mash blue cheese with fork and mix with cottage cheese, sour cream, mayonnaise, salt, lemon juice and one-half cup syrup drained from pineapple. Slowly blend in melted gelatin. Cool until slightly thickened; fold in well drained pineapple. Spoon into rimmed eight inch (one and one-half quarts) ring mold. Chill firm at least four to six hours. This is a soft creamy mold and needs long chilling.

Unmold by dipping in warm water a few seconds before inverting onto serving plate. Fill center with drained pineapple chunks, mandarin oranges and strawberries. Circle with salad greens. Makes eight servings.
How To Build Character In The Child

How can parents be sure that their children are really learning the right values? My wife and I often discuss this problem because we have seen young people from apparently good homes who give little evidence that they know right from wrong in making decisions. Our children are still quite young, but we also know that character formation begins early. Judging from present trends, our children are going to live in a badly confused world. How can we prepare them to meet this challenge as Christians?

By FATHER JOHN L. THOMAS, S. J.

There are many serious parents who are asking themselves the same question, Lester. They learn from daily experience that people in our society no longer agree on basic moral principles, with the result that conflicting or contradictory patterns of conduct receive equal public approval. Two fundamental distinctions between right and wrong have now become matters of personal preference, while what were formerly regarded as moral absolutes have evolved into convenience ideals, to be aimed at only if the personal cost is not too high.

Christian parents have good reason to be concerned, for they cannot hope to segregate their children from all outside influences; and besides, they recognize that such a type of "hot-honors" training would be no preparation for life particularly in our morally pluralistic society.

Hence, their aim must be to teach principles and to guide the character formation of their children in such fashion that they will be capable of maintaining their moral integrity even though their ideals receive little support from the society within which they must live and work out their salvation.

Boundaries Consistently Defined

How can parents promote the learning of values? In the first place they must keep in mind that the learning of values, like all other learned experience, is a developmental process—a matter of gradual growth. The child is not born with right attitudes and values.

He first encounters them as they are reflected in the gestures, incantations, and examples of his parents. Hence, he wants to be loved and accepted, and he tends to adopt them very quickly. Thus he learns that some actions carry parental approval, while others lead to rejection or a negative response.

As imitation, learning, and the continued testing of parental rules continue, the moral boundaries of the child's world emerge more or less clearly. If he is fortunate enough to have sensitive parents, these boundaries are consistently defined.

Example Of Supreme Importance

He knows where he stands and what he must do to win the approval of the important others in his small world. This does not mean that he will never test these boundaries or even violate them by the open act of disobedience. Rather, his understanding of a general principle is always in terms of a specific situation. For this reason, parental example is of supreme importance.

Thus parents may teach truthfulness as an important value, but if they send their child to the door to tell an unwelcome visitor that they're not at home, the child looks upon such deception as truthful. Parents teach the general principle of universal brotherhood under God, but if they treat others as unequal and make disparaging remarks about members of another race, class, or nationality, the child will generalize the general principle such forms of discrimination.

Moreover, although the child may obey a parental order because he wishes to avoid disapproval or gain approval in a specific instance, he is not always able to maintain the character formation. The child must so identify with both his parents that he wants to conform; that his good behavior is valued because it is expressed in agreement with what he desires. This means that parental authority can fulfill its real purposes only if parents are loved, which is somehow best way of saying that parental authority must be based on love, since it exists for the well-being of the children.

Adequate exercise of parental authority raises serious problems for the modern middle-class father, who tends to spend much of his time away from the home and consequently the rearing of his children almost entirely to his wife. Yet it is not the time spent at home but the image of the parent impressed upon the mind of the child which provides the character formation. Between the ages of five and fourteen, the child is particularly impressionable. Unfavorable impressions now are very real to him and may have serious consequences later.

Copies who have learned to work together and to share authority appear equally loving to their children, though one must be absent much of the time. Fathers who avoid all exercise of authority or are harsh and impassive in giving orders cause children either to identify all authority with the mother or to obey only out of fear.

In brief, Lester, you will teach by what you are. Since growing children look upon their parents as role models, you and your wife have your work clearly cut out for you.

Father Thomas will be unable to answer any personal letters.

White-Tite Roof Coating Guaranteed Two Years: No Interest On Financing

BRILLIANTLY WHITE is this flat tile roof on the home of James Fuller, 5711 Maggiore, Coral Gables, since it was cleaned, sealed and given two coats of White-Tite 12 months ago. Many homes in South Florida have roofs which still look clean and new . . . even though their White-Tite coating was applied as much as five or six years ago . . . with no mold, mildew or fungus on the tile. The exclusive coating White-Tite uses stays brilliantly white for years. In fact, the White-Tite coating is much whiter than the paper this photo is printed on. "Not only is the roof still free of mold and fungus," states Jesse Scalzo, owner of White-Tite, "but the roof still is brilliantly white as you can see. The White-Tite process used on all jobs is exclusive with White-Tite. This process has been developed and perfected over a period of 16 years. This was what is done on the Fuller roof. First the roof was thoroughly cleaned and then the edges of the tile were sealed by our special, exclusive process. The sealing process offered by White-Tite redhinds all low jacket tile and provides better drainage from the roof, as well as giving extra protection against hurricane winds. After the sealing process, two coats of lasting White-Tite coating were put on the entire roof on consecutive days. We are proud of our quality and lasting work. We also feature a three-coat process for gravel roofs, which gives the gravel a permanent bond to the roof. All cleaning and coating work is guaranteed for two years against mold and fungus and we give you a five-year warranty. When White-Tite does the job for you, we will return anytime for the next two years and clean your walks, walls, patio awnings and screens free of charge. White-Tite is the "World's Largest Roof Cleaning-Sealing Coating Company." Jesse J. Scalzo, founder of White-Tite, Inc., has had 16 years of experience in the roofing business. This experience and the reputation of White-Tite, Inc., "guarantees" you the finest roof coating, best service and best value. "You can pay cash or finance your White-Tite coating," Scalzo said. Epiphany School 8th Grader Wins Squires' Spelling Bee

Roberta Becker, eighth grade pupil at Epiphany School, spelled “pseudo” correctly and was declared the winner of the second annual spelling contest for Greater Miami parochial schools, sponsored by the Columbian Squires of Our Lady of Good Counsel Circle, Coral Gables.

Epiphany School took the contest last year also when Christine Eberhart beat out contestants from five schools. This year there were 31 contestants from 17 schools. If the school wins it a third time they will receive a special permanent trophy.

Roberta won a $200 scholarship and a trophy for herself and one for the school, which was accepted by Mother M. Odelia, I.H.M., principal.

Second place trophy went to Linda Rocawich, eighth grade pupil from St. Michael school, who misspelled “pseudo.” Roberta Becker then spelled the word correctly. Kim Karpan, seventh grade pupil from St. Mary School, took third place. It took nearly 850 words and four hours to eliminate the 51 contestants. An estimated crowd of 350 persons watched the spelling bee in the cafeteria of Christopher Columbus High School.

Serving as master of ceremonies and presenting the trophy was Leonard A. Burt Jr., chief squire of the circle. John F. Tracy Sr., Knights of Columbus state youth activity chairman spoke after the contest, enumerating the activities and purposes of the Squires, the junior organization of the K of C.

He said the entire spelling bee was organized and conducted by the Squires themselves. The winner, Roberta Becker, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard I. Becker of 6845 SW 57th Terr., Miami. This was the first spelling bee she has entered outside of Epiphany School.

Judges were William Weber, civic cultural counselor, Judge Mallory H. Horton, of the appellate Court of Florida and Brian Daly, news editor of The Voice.

La situación de la Iglesia en Cuba

Siembran en la Niñez Cesa Agresión Directa Crece la Fe del Pueblo

Advierte la Iglesia Ante los Problemas de Guatemala

Primado Polaco Denuncia la Campana Atea

En el Ateísmo

La declaración episcopal fue publicada al reanudarse aquí las actividades de la oposición contra el régimen del Presidente Miguel Ydígoras Fuentes, pasada la tregua de Semana Santa.

Los obispos dan tras pulsos terminantes, "como motivo de los últimos sucesos que han alterado la paz y fraterna convivencia entre los sectores del pueblo".

1. Dentro de la lucha por la implantación universal del comunismo, la Iglesia ha sido señalada como objetivo de inmediata conquista. En conjunto, tanto cristiana como no, no deben esforzarse en el deber de impedir que tal consiparición se realice.

2. El Episcopado es ajeno a cuestiones personales y políticas o partidistas, pero está "obligado a defender la fe y moral cristiana en las instituciones y estructuras estatales y particulares", y llama "persistentemente" a la atención de los fieles para que no apoyen al "sacrificio" moviendo los políticos religiosos para esa misma fe y moral.

3. Es urgente que los católicos cooperen al restablecimiento del orden público, pues aparte de cuestiones meramente locales, la audacia y el arrojo de los fieles para que no apoyen al "sacrificio" moviendo los políticos religiosos para esa misma fe y moral.

4. "En general —reiteran los obispos— todos los obispos deben actuar el principio de respeto a la autoridad legalmente constituída, siempre y cuando no estén dictados de la moral cristiana".

La declaración —firmada por once obispos— recuerda además a los fieles que "en la excomunión decretada por la Santa Sede, quienes den su nombre al comunismo o favorezcan sus planes..."

Varias organizaciones pro-regionales y estudiantes se han unido a los partidos de la opposición para pedir la renuncia del president del ydígoras, por haber permitido electorales, entre otras cosas, que dejen de proceder de diciembre de 1961, y graves abusos de las fuerzas públicas contra personas e instituciones, de los que recaen varias denuncias y quejan serios. Hay también quejas serias por la ineficacia administrativa del gobierno ante la crisis económica causada por la falta de productos del país y los abusos cometidos por los comunistas que han tratado de empeorar la situación.

El domingo 6 de mayo, se el último y Padre Martín de Porres, el mulato peruano hijo de una negra liberta e hijo de un militar español, y que nació en el 1560 ganando celebridad por sus soberbios virtudes.

Martín, que desde los 15 años había ingresado en el Convento de los Padres Dominicos de Lima, donde profesó como hermano legero, pero sólo había dado un ejemplo de vida entregada a los que estaban en la asistencia de las personas mayores, que también siguió el ejemplo de su padre, fue el atleta de los jóvenes, y también a día de hoy sigue siendo el modelo de los jóvenes y es más y más el ejemplo de los jóvenes. Y así se le veía siempre, llevando salud y buena lo espiritual a los necesitados y a todos los hombres.

Desde 1939 Martín es Patrón de la Justicia Social en su natal Perú, por decreto presidencial. El documento galardonar a la fe del pueblo, y se lo venía a todo el mundo, y sus espirituales a todos los habitantes.

Canonizarán al Beato Martín de Porres

St. Martin de Porres

De ese informe cabe destacar los tres puntos principales:
1) la nueva actuación del régimen comunista para con la Iglesia; 2) el efecto que el adoctrinamiento ateo está produciendo en las mujeres cubanas, que día a día se alejan de la Iglesia y se están alejando de ellos; 3) cómo, por el contrario, las personas mayores, recibiendo la orden de hacer tratamiento materialista, intensifican más el alejamiento de la Iglesia y se apartan de las enseñanzas que ella preconiza.

El efecto, según lo dicho por el informante, el régimen comunista de Cuba, que ha sido un conflicto que se ha ido acentuando, es que el camino se ha vuelto más peligroso para esa misión, y para que se respete la libertad religiosa y moral cristiana, hay que defender la fe y moral cristiana, hay que defender la fe y moral cristiana.

"El único remedio es que los fieles, por si solos, salgan a las calles a rezar, en centenares, siendo dispersados por la milicia y muchos de ellos heridos.

El informe de primera mano y de segundo crédito, revela la situación de la Iglesia en su afán de acercar la fe del pueblo. Es doloroso y alarmante ver cómo la juventud va siendo arrebatada a la Iglesia, y, más que en las mentes juveniles, está produciendo en la inmensa mayoría de los jóvenes que se considera como protestantes, la nueva táctica del comunismo, que se manifestó en el último informe publicado. Y así se le veía siempre, llevando salud y buena lo espiritual a los necesitados y a todos los hombres.

Estos informes no se reducen, claro está a los niños, sino que es en el adultos en todos los países comunistas; en la instrucción a los milicianos.

Por lo visto, ya en este campo el adoctrinamiento ateo no está produciendo los triunfos y alarmantes resultados que se han producido en el pasado. Y es que, como es más que notable el que en las mentes juveniles está produciendo, que se considere el ataque a la fe del pueblo. Es doloroso y alarmante ver cómo la juventud va siendo arrebatada a la Iglesia, y, más que en las mentes juveniles, está produciendo en la inmensa mayoría de los jóvenes que se considera como protestantes, la nueva táctica del comunismo, que se manifestó en el último informe publicado. Y así se le veía siempre, llevando salud y buena lo espiritual a los necesitados y a todos los hombres.
Más de Siete Mil Casos Médicos Atiende en Tres Meses el CHC

El dispensario médico del Centro Hispano Católico ha atendido en estos últimos tres meses —enero, febrero y marzo— un total de 7,494 casos, de los cuales corresponden 3,793 al consultorio médico y 3,705 al dental. El Centro Hispano Católico ofrece este servicio completamente gratis a la colonia latina de Miami y en particular a los refugiados cubanos, que en su mayoría carecen de recursos económicos. Para éstos, el Centro Hispano Católico también ofrece los servicios de un ropero así como viveres. En el mes que acaba de terminar, los casos atendidos por la Clínica fueron 1,408 y por el departamento dental 1,052. Además de la consulta a los pacientes se facilitan las medicinas y toda la asistencia necesaria.

Un servicio de inestimable ayuda a los refugiados cubanos, a los que al salir del país el régimen comunista apenas les deja sacar la ropa que llevan puesta, lo constituye el servicio de ropero, que en los últimos meses ha facilitado miles de prendas de vestir en perfectas condiciones.

El Centro regenta un Nursery de familias cubanas refugiadas, donde los niños nacidos en Miami pueden recibir la educación y la atención que se necesita para su desarrollo. En el local del Centro funciona también la Escuela Cubana, de cuya labor informaremos en otra oportunidad.

Tears are generally more often shed for the anguish of the soul than for the pains of the body. The hottest tears come not when a bone is broken, but when the heart is broken.

Many a man who has never seen God in the sunlight of prosperity has seen Him through dreadwof a tear. In the light of a warm fire, Peter denied that he knew Our Blessed Lord; in his tears he rediscovered Him. But there is also a correspondence between tears and joy, for the Psalmist tells us that those who saw in tears shall reap in joy. The last mention of tears in the Scriptures is this:

(Appoc. 21:4)

"She would show me the statues and paintings and then read, pray, and meditate."

SHARING OUR TREASURE

'Ad For Charity Workers Led Her Into the Church

By Father JOHN A. O'BRIEN

Millions of fair-minded non-Catholics are interested in the Catholic religion and would like to know more about it. Most of them have heard something about it, either from personal observation, or from hearsay.

"If I were to give a grief-stricken and desolate. In my grief I turned to God and sought to find in Him the help I so sorely needed. I had been a member of two Protestant Churches but got little from their services and drifted away."

"I remembered how my de- voted Lutheran mother had often taken me as a little girl into St. James Catholic church in San Jose, Calif. She would show me the statues and paintings and then rest, pray, and meditate. I was a very sickly child and I'm sure that some of mother's prayers were for me. The memory of those visits in that peaceful quiet church came back vividly to me, and I longed to learn more about the Catholic religion."

"It was easy to do, how- ever, as most Catholics are so receptive about their Faith. One day I saw the Antonna Registra- tor list an item stating that the ladies of St. Mary's church were to get up fruit for needy families on a certain date and that they would welcome the help of others. So I joined them in the work at the school cafeteria. They were very friendly, and gradually I began to ask questions about their Faith."

"They were all silent and they looked at me rather dubi- ously. Finally one lady told me about an Inquiry Class and the lady in charge of the fruit project invited me to her home and answered many of my questions."

"She loaned me a prayer-book and told me how to say the Rosary. I went in the Inquiry Class, but shortly afterwards was stricken with ap- pendicitis and taken to St. Joseph's hospital."

"When they asked me my re- ligion, I replied, 'Catholic conver- t.' I guess I was pushing things a bit, for that answer brought Father Urban Habsig, O.F.M., to my room. He gave me some books to read and at each visit explained some doctrine of the Faith. After- wards I attended the Inquiry Class and secured a thorough understanding of our Catholic religion."

"I was deeply impressed by the wonderful help toward living the Catholic religion provided by the seven sacra- ment. Though initiated by Christ, these sacraments are to be found in their fullness only in the Catholic Church. They are so many channels bringing the graces and fruits of the Redemption to the re- ceiver. In Confirmation one se- curces pardon for his sins, and in Holy Communion one re- ceives Christ — body and blood, soul and divinity."

"At the end of the course Fa- ther Urban asked each person whether he wished to become a Catholic. I could scarcely wait until my turn came. 'Oh, yes, Father,' I replied. 'I want to receive our Eucharistic Lord as soon as possible.' For many years now assisting at Mass and receiving Holy Communion have been my greatest joy."

"Father O'Brien will be glad to have converts send their names and addresses to him at Notre Dame Uni- versity, 1030 North Chicago, Ind., so he may write them their conversion stories."

I am told that one's character is determined by what he makes his weep. Our Lord wept three times: once because of the death of a friend, once because of the im- pending disaster of a city that knew Him not, once be- cause of the sins of the world. But for what have your tears been shed? Scripture tells us that God gathers all of its tears, as it were, in a bottle, and they will in some way be reckoned in our judgment. Will yours be of joy, for the Psalmist tells us: "Surely He will not always grieve; in His tears He rediscovered Him. But there is also a correspondence between tears and joy, for the Psalmist tells us that those who saw in tears shall reap in joy. The last mention of tears in the Scriptures is this:

(Appoc. 21:4)

Are you ever sad for those who leave the Church? Do you ever grieve because there are not enough churches or mis- sionaries to care for the peoples of Africa, Asia and Latin America? Does it sadden you to know that last year's per capita contribution of United States Catholics to the Holy Father's Missions was only 27 cents? More important, do you put on the mailing list of this bi-monthly publication.

"God Love You is R.J.B. for $10 "Thank you for reminding me how fortunate I am in having a wonderful wife and eight happy, healthy children." . . . to M.J.O.B. for $35 "Please me this as you see fit." . . . to Mrs. J.M. for $32 "This represents part of an estate we inherited. We want to share it with the poor of the world." . . . to D.F.G. for $1 "Enclosed is a silver dollar which should help the needy families on a certain date." . . . to the ladies of St. Mary's church "Enclosed is an item stating that the need of their non-Catholic neighbors and that frequently brings them to embrace our Catholic religion."

"It is said that one's character is determined by what he makes his weep. Our Lord wept three times: once because of the death of a friend, once because of the im- pending disaster of a city that knew Him not, once be- cause of the sins of the world. But for what have your tears been shed? Scripture tells us that God gathers all of its tears, as it were, in a bottle, and they will in some way be reckoned in our judgment. Will yours be for joy or against you?"

"THOSE ARE THE TIMES THAT TRY MEN'S SOULS..."

These words originated many years ago with Thomas Paine and are no less pertinent today. In fact, since the dawn of early age these words would apply with unanswerable accuracy to any given point in time.

The world has experienced, and successfully ridden out, crises upon crisis. Each new crisis must seem singularly trying to its generation; so trying, in fact, that the citizens of the day seriously question mankind's ability to cope with it, and to avoid total destruction.

Today must be counted a trying time; painfully so. But as Paine's day saw an eventual easing of the crisis, so in time will this day.

Easing the pain of bereavement is no simple matter. However, services attended by a trained pastoral staff and designed to ease the burden of the bereaved are available at Van Orsdel, 4200 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, Florida. Where services are complete in every respect, and conducted with reverence and dignity.

Funeral Home in Miami is in charge of arrangements.

Van Orsdel's is Miami's most recommended funeral service

I Convenient Locations — four chapels strategically located for family and friends.

II More experienced — Van Orsdel's conducts more adult funerals than anyone in Dade County . . . and passes savings developed to the families we serve.

III Finest facilities — Van Orsdel's beautiful chapels provide everything possible for comfort and reverent dignity.

IV Finest service — no compromise with quality. Our best service always — to anyone regardless of the amount spent — and we guarantee our service.

V Personal attention — our staff trained to personally handle every problem, no matter how difficult, every detail, no matter how small.

VI Freedom of choice — every family may select a service price within their means — no one has to plead charity to purchase any of our funerals — no questions are asked — and we use no selling pressure.

VII Complete funerals, including burial, cost less at Van Orsdel's — and have for over 20 years.

VIII We offer all families a choice of over 60 different caskets, with the finest of funeral service and facilities . . . complete in every detail, from $145.
