Population Of Diocese Soars To Record 391,560

Continuing its amazing record as one of the fastest-growing in the United States, population of the Diocese of Miami soared to 391,560 in 1962.

That figure represents an increase of 37,097, or 10.5 per cent over the 354,463 reported for 1961.

These statistics are revealed in the Official Catholic Directory for 1963, just published by P. J. Kenedy & Sons, which also shows large increases in the number of parishes, schools, priests, Sisters, teachers, seminarians and students under Catholic instruction.

Miami was among 119 Dioceses and Archdioceses which reported advances during 1962 to bring the total Catholic population of the United States to a record high of 43,851,538.

The Diocese of Miami was surpassed only by the Diocese of Tucson, Ariz., which showed an increase of 55,309, or 18 per cent, to a total of 362,000. During the same period, the total population of the state of Arizona increased by 265,800 from 1,296,271 to 1,562,061, while that of the 16 counties of the Diocese of Miami increased by 74,885, from 1,796,315 to 1,941,200.

The 1962 Catholic population of 391,560 for the Diocese of Miami does not include any of the estimated 100,000 or more Cuban refugees living here, about 80,000 of whom are Catholics.

The Official Catholic Directory reports a total of 82 parishes in the Diocese of Miami, as compared with 73 in 1961 and 53 in 1958.

There are now a total of 110 diocesan priests and 73 religious priests, or a total of 183. In 1961 there were 165 and in 1958 there were 86.

Brothers now serving in the Diocese number 68 and in 1961 there were 61.

The number of Sisters in the Diocese is now 756. The 1961 figure was 674 and that for 1958 was 536.

New York (No) — Catholics in the 50 states, including those within the diplomatic and other services abroad, number 43,851,538, according to the 1963 Catholic Directory.

The new total represents an increase of 10 percent, or 909,639 over the 1962 total of 34,951,899.

The diocesan church statistics, with some exceptions, include all parishes, missions, and religious communities within the jurisdiction of a bishop or of a territorial abbate.

The new total of 1,472,678,700, of which 1,139,920,314 is for the United States, is 10,776,628 higher, or 10 percent, than the 1,362,902,072 reported in the 1962 directory.

The increase of 10 percent is the same as the increase of 10 percent reported in the 1962 directory for the United States.

Progress of religious instruction to children under religious education, in religious vacation schools and other classes, is evidenced in the 1963 reports of 11,190,900 high school pupils and 2,990,424 in elementary grades, for a total of 14,120,324 public school children receiving religious instruction, indicating a number of 297,802 pupils, or 7.5 percent per cent.

A total of 10,003,907 American youths in all grades are under Catholic instruction — an increase of 521,012, or 5.5 percent over comparable figures for 1962.

Four new special and five less general institutions bring the number of Catholic hospitals to 946. Bed capacities have increased from 617,973 beds, and the 135 special hospitals accommodated 11,606.

Marriages increased by 625, or 9.9 percent, to 6,723,220, while deaths increased by 922, or 12.4 percent, to a record number of 6,764,466.

The full-time teaching staffs of all educational institutions under Catholic auspices have increased by 7,530, to a record total of 183,338, comprising 11,749 priests, 11,051 lay brothers, 5,462 Brothers; 103,434 Sisters and 62,671 lay teachers, an increase of 1,363 more priests; 44 more Brothers; 1,472 more sisters; 270 more lay teachers than a year ago.

16 NEW SEMINARIES

New educational institutions include nine diocesan and seven religious orders. New seminaries established during 1962 are: the Archdiocese of Windsor, London, under construction at Boynton Beach. «

There are now two colleges in the Diocese of Miami — Barry College for Women, Miami Shores, and Biscayne College for Men in the Golden Glades area of Miami, which was built and is being operated by the Augustine Fathers. It opened its doors to its freshman class last September and will add a second class in September of this year; a third class in 1966, which will complete its fourth class in 1968.

MARYMOUNT COLLEGE

The third institution of higher learning in the Diocese will be Marymount College for Women, at Boca Raton. It is now under construction. The Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, will conduct the school. Offering medical, legal, engineering, secretarial and science courses, with a Liberal Arts background, the new college will open its doors in September of this year.

Buenos Aires Unrest Fibres Again Despite Prelate’s Plea

Buenos Aires (NO) — Unrest has risen again in this city shortly after Argentina’s Cardinal said that frequent resolutions can push the country to “the edge of the abyss.”

Interior Minister Enrique Raúl ordered the arrest of more than 50 persons on the charge that they are “Marxist-Leninists” and a danger to the nation’s security.

A Ministry of the Interior communiqué said that those arrested were “Frigisteras” — followers of Kogelo Frigerio, a close adviser and personal friend of deposed President Arturo Frondizi.

Rauch said that the charges against those arrested include dealing in contraband goods, fraud and misuse of public funds.

Earlier, Antonio Cardinal Caggiano, Archbishop of Buenos Aires, said: “Revolution, which may be lick in very exceptional cases, cannot become an almost ordinary means which, by frequently repeated attempts, pushes the nation to the edge.

ROOF COATING by EXCLUSIVE SILICONE

“More and more home owners,” says Vance Murray, “are realizing the inherent value of Murray Roofing’s air quality roof coating Roof White Supreme.

“And our process of siliconizing each job with the miracle water repellent SILICONE manufactured by General Electric not only offers a longer lasting and more beautiful white roof but waterproofing as well for better roof protection.

“A complete ‘Murray Process’ on a tile roof consists of: high pressure cleaning to remove not only dirt from the roof but also all of the mold and fungi from the pores of the tile.

“Then a plasticized white cement sealer, which has been waterproofed and fungicide, is applied. The roof is hand-sealed by racket in the sealer covering the butt ends of every horizontal line of all the tile, including the hip and ridge tile. In addition, the core tiles around the bottom edge of the roof are sealed.

“The roof is then pressure coated with Roof White Supreme, the longest wearing, plasticized coating known in the roof coating industry. It is heavily fungicide to withstand the drilled growth of mold and mildew, with built-in water-proofing.

“Then to repel the penetration of water through the tile, the entire roof area is then siliconized with General Electric (liquid glass) silicon, saving the roofing held from the tile from rot and deterioration by keeping the roof dry, yet allowing the roof to breathe.

“Murray also applies their exclusive process to gravel roofs using ‘Roof White Supreme’ and General Electric (liquid glass) silicon.

“Roofs given the exclusive siliconized finish carries a 3-full year unconditional guarantee. With a five year warranty. We feel the length of guarantee given on our product, the confidence of the company in the products use and the skill with which they are applied says Vance Murray. That’s why Murray Roofing uses only Name Brand Products that have been proven nationwide.

“Murray Roofing also specializes in all phases of roofing such as whether it is small roof repairing or complete re-roofing. Murray’s experienced crews and radio dispatched trucks to handle any job, large or small.

“Free estimates are given. You may call O.S. F.73-3511 for the South Duke and Perrine area or F. 16, 5063 for central and North Duke areas. Murray Roofing offices are located at 875 S.W. 129th St. and at 940 N.E. 9th St. South Florida.”

Visiting Theologian Talking Nonsense/ Says Bishop Ahr

SPRING LAKE, N. J. (NC) — Bishop George W. Ahr has criticized "a particular European theologian" for speaking in the United States on matters "out of his field" and "talking nonsense.

The Bishop of Trenton did not mention Father Hans Kueng of the University of Tuebingen, Germany, by name, but it was clear that the Swiss theologian was his subject.

Father Kueng, who advocates broad reform in the Church, spent five weeks in a cross-country lecture tour during which he has discussed the Church and freedom.

"OUT OF FIELD"
Bishop Ahr spoke at the annual spiritual directors' dinner of the Monmouth County Holy Name Federation here.

“We have been getting a lot of advice from a particular European theologian on how to run the Church, on what is wrong with the Church,” he said.

“His gentleman made his reputation by writing a book, which many consider a classic, on Karl Marx, Protestant theologian. This makes him an authority on Karl Marx, not on how to run the Catholic Church, and, therefore, when he tries to tell us how to run the Church and what we should do, he is out of his field,” the Bishop said.

Bishop Ahr said he recognizes the knowledge, experience and prudence of the theologian.

The prelate said there have been “contradictions” in some of the reports of the theologian’s remarks. He also said that some of his remarks are not understandable and the reason may be that they are nonsense.

“TALKING NONSENSE”
Referring to Father Kueng’s remarks about “the nature and the immature of the Church or the freedom and the unfreedom of the individual,” Bishop Ahr told his audience:

“If you do not understand this, don’t worry. There is a tendency when someone comes from the other side and talks in a language that we find a little foreign or domestic, no matter how the public agency is.

“We are getting a lot of advice about freedom,” he said. “We are told that we should be free from the Index of Forbidden Books. We ought to be free from previous censorship of books. Maybe it is true that the Index needs a little revision. Perhaps it is also true that some people with proper safeguards can read some things that are on the Index without personal harm to their spiritual lives.

"ON CENSORSHIP"
But we were told during the council that the Church should be pastoral in its activity and must assume and exercise material love for all of its children. It seems to me that our young people and a lot of older people need a lot of pastoral care by way of the protection which is afforded by the Index of Forbidden Books against the assaults on their virtue and on their Faith.

"It will always be necessary for the Church to warn her children, even in particular, about some things that are dangerous to Faith or morals.

“When we come to the question of censorship, we are faced with a problem. It is not easy to do away with it. Let anybody write whatever he wants and publish it. The reason given is that censorship discourages scholarship. I submit to you, gentlemen, that any Catholic scholarship that is afraid of the scrutiny of the legitimate authority of the Church is not worth encouraging.

“The Bishop is the only divinely appointed teacher of the diocese. And while the Bishop is not interested in the legal profession, he has a personal responsibility to see that nothing contrary to Faith and morals is legally sanctioned in his diocese. After error has been printed it is too late to prevent a great deal of harm. It is far better to see that it is not printed at all.

“Much more could he said but it should be clear from this that I am not being disturbed by the things you hear and read regarding what the council will do or what the council should do.

“In the last analysis the Holy Ghost and common sense will prevail, and the Church will survive both her apparent friends and her avowed enemies. In the meantime, perhaps you will understand the need to continue very fervent prayers to the Holy Ghost for the success of the council.”

Suppression Charge Untrue, Catholic Univ. Trustees Say

WASHINGTON (NC) — The board of trustees of the Catholic University of America has said widespread charges of suppression at the university are untrue and unwarranted.

The board, in three resolutions, also said that administration officials acted within their authority in excluding four theologians from a campus lecture series.

The board said that “clear evidence” submitted to it showed that “the charges given widespread publicity purporting to describe abuses and suppression at the university . . . are untrue and unwarranted.”

The four are: Fathers John Courtney Murray, S.J., and Gustave Weigel, S.J., both from Woodstock (Md.) College, a Jesuit seminary; Father Godfrey Diekmann, O.S.B., liturgical scholar and editor of Worship magazine; and Father Hans Kueng of the University of Tuebingen, Germany.

The charge was referred for trial to Parish segregation leader Leonard Mack enroth, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in nearby Belle Chasse, La., against Leonard Henry Mack enroth. Father Eicimovich said Mackenroth blackened his eye while protesting a racially mixed retreat for a First Communion class.

The charge was filed by Father Frank Eicimovich, S.V.D., pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Belle Chasse, La., against a white parent who last year during a protest over joint religious instruction for white and Negro children.

The Birth Pill Still Immoral

If free publicity makes an author happy, then Dr. John Rock must be having very merry days indeed. He is a Catholic with a good reputation as a gynecologist. He is also engaged in a full breakdown on this almost miraculous growth of the Church in this new diocese in the past few years. Read it and share the conviction that the grace of God has indeed been active in our midst.

Moreover, the Directory figures for the nation at large this year show the thrilling vitality of the Church as she lists increases in almost every category of her life and mission. In 1910 there were 14 million Catholics in the nation. But in the last 10 years alone, there has been an increase of almost that many, 0.3 and 0.8 million. The membership until now over 43 million are listed as members of the Church.

At 403,000 priests, over 1,770,000 and nearly 12,000 Bishops indicate a continued growth of the Church. However, the critical state of the economic crisis is still with us as proven by the fact that while 1,300 priests were ordained, nearly half that number 763 died in the past twelve months.

We cannot read and ponder such statistics without a deepening of the conviction that the grace of God has indeed been active in the Church in our country. Such an image of vigor and strength cannot be traced to the talents and energies of our leading and cooperative lay people but rather to the wisdom and goodness of God.

In a recent book, “A Nation So Conceived,” these two Protestant scholars have analyzed the encyclical and by the “vigor of its thrusts.” But even the boldest of its pronounced, he suggested, “may provoke more astonishment than they deserve. In a serious century merchandising of mankind, history stand behind them.”

A Temptation Our Ancestors Didn't Have...
By Father LEO J. TRESE

There is one source of temptations against faith which we as Catholics do not need to fear today. Our ancestors did not have to face it.

This is the ever-present and ever-expanding frontier of scientific knowledge. Only in the last hundred years has the world realized we are not alone in this vast universe. It is true that many of our species may be too puny to notice us, but what if they are the same type of fellow whose distress we could lend His divine hand to the working out of another day with equal mercy? Why has this always been a solid conviction in Christian teaching?

First, because prayer of petition is a fact in this life where we can easily lose sight of the time of prosperity, namely, that we are creatures "by His own being" dependent upon the resources and mercy of one Supreme Being. How quick we are to forget that not one simple thought, word or action, indeed not even our breath, is not being watched over without willing cooperation of God.

Lincoln stated that some men had become too proud to pray until they were in need of it. One man wrote that "The West, the West, the West," is the same type of fellow whose face against a white pillow wears that most bewildered look in the hospital. He had to learn the hard way that even an invisible bug can put a strong man on his back and make him realize his dependence on God and on others.

This objection sounds shockingly logical at times. God is indeed aware of each human being's need and because of His infinite love He will extend His merciful help. Why then tell Him what He already knows? This is not only in the grave problems of life, but in even the apparently insignificant test of every day.

Well, the compelling reasons for begging Divine help lose none of their force simply because God realizes our poverty and longs to aid us.

Long before our country was in turmoil, the Civil War. Both sides had learned by the end of their respective Civil Wars that only those who had learned to hate and pagne of the people would fail in their efforts; so let us pray with such earnestness that I felt that I must put all my trust in Almighty God.

ANCIENT QUESTION

Lincoln's insistence on the importance of prayer or petition has come to mind again not only because of the centenary of the Civil War but also because of the Armageddon time in which we live. Never before had I prayed with such earnestness. I felt that I must put all my trust in Almighty God.

It came about as a result of a speech given at a convention in New York in order to raise money to save the city from the hay fever that was raging, leading him to proclaim "a Day for Prayer and Humiliation." From that time on, May 3, is observed as a national day of prayer and humiliation.

Lincoln warned, "We have forgotten God...We have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving, too proud to pray to the God that made us.

IN LETTER TO CONVENTION DELEGATES

Pope Praises CPA's Valuable Service

MIAMI BEACH (NO.—Pope John XXIII has expressed his warm commendation and gratitude for the valuable service which the Catholic Press Association and its members are rendering to the Church and her divine mission.

His praise is in a letter to the delegates attending the CPA convention here of the association of Catholic newspapers and general publishers in the United States and Canada.

The letter was written by Archbishop Cardinal Cushing, Papal Secretary of State, to Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of San Francisco, episcopal chairman of the Press Department, National Catholic Welfare Conference.

The complete text of the letter follows:

“Your Excellency, the Sovereign Pontiff, Pope John XXIII, has graciously instructed me to convey his paternal greetings to the Catholic Press Association of the United States of America

In a letter to Lloyd Anderson, president of the CPA, President Kennedy said he was particularly pleased the convention is “focusing its attention and experience on the problems confronting our neighbors in Latin America, to whose swift and effective progress the United States has firmly committed itself.”

Referring to CPA-sponsored seminars in Latin America and on-the-job training provided for Latin American journalists in the U.S., the president said: “It is encouraging to learn that the Catholic Press Association has pioneered in efforts to provide training and other assistance to struggling publications and journalists in Latin America.

It is through a combination of U.S. governmental and private initiatives, he stated, “that we hope to help bring to the countries south of our border a growing sense of prosperity, democracy and freedom without loss or sacrifice of the rich spiritual and cultural traditions of which they are justly proud.

Your more than 300 member publications have an unusual capacity to reveal to their millions of readers the nature of the social revolution in Latin America and the efforts which we must make in common to realize new opportunities for this hemisphere.”

Pope Theme Pleases Kennedy

MIAMI BEACH (NO.—President Kennedy has expressed his pleasure at the attention focused on Latin America by the Catholic Press Association and in the program of the CPA’s 53rd annual convention.

In a letter to Lloyd Anderson, president of the CPA, President Kennedy said he was particularly pleased the convention is “focusing its attention and experience on the problems confronting our neighbors in Latin America, to whose swift and effective progress the United States has firmly committed itself.”

Referring to CPA-sponsored seminars in Latin America and on-the-job training provided for Latin American journalists in the U.S., the president said: “It is encouraging to learn that the Catholic Press Association has pioneered in efforts to provide training and other assistance to struggling publications and journalists in Latin America.

It is through a combination of U.S. governmental and private initiatives, he stated, “that we hope to help bring to the countries south of our border a growing sense of prosperity, democracy and freedom without loss or sacrifice of the rich spiritual and cultural traditions of which they are justly proud.

Your more than 300 member publications have an unusual capacity to reveal to their millions of readers the nature of the social revolution in Latin America and the efforts which we must make in common to realize new opportunities for this hemisphere.”

White-Tite Repeat Business Shows 'Number One' Ranking Is Desired

REPEAT BUSINESS from satisfied customers is the finest recommendation of value anyone can have. "We’re showing many different pictures of homes which have roofs coated by us four, five and six years ago," says Jesse J. Scalzo, White-Tite president.

"We want you to see this "Living Proof" of White-Tite durability. One example is shown in the recent, unretouched photo above. The flat tile roof of the home of Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Merrill, 870 N.E. 75th St., was originally cleaned, sealed, and coated with White-Tite in November, 1958. In February, 1963, they again contracted with White-Tite to clean, give free brush seeding and give two coats of lasting White-Tite to the flat tile roof. They still are pleased with then White-Tite job. This is the process and coating which has been tested on thousands of roofs throughout South Florida — not just in a laboratory." The White-Tite process has been developed and perfected over a period of 16 years by Jesse J. Scalzo.

White-Tite founder and president This is not a "Johnny-Come-Lately" company which has roof coating only as a sideline . . . this is our only business. Castro's communism is the source of political instability, militarized rebellions, and terrorism throughout Latin America, Dr. Medrano pointed out while Angel del Cerro warned that "Catholics have no alternative but to come forth to lead the necessary and profound changes which must urgently be brought about in this continent to redeem the oppressed." A plea for a coordinated effort to help Catholic journalists carry the truth to Latin America was made by Angel S. Suárez, director of Information Catolica' now published in Miami. The Catholic press in Latin America is fighting a heroic battle for it lacks the resources to oppose the present influx of communist propaganda," he said.

CATHOLIC COMEBACK

The present Catholic comeback in Latin America will prevent a communist takeover of that area, a priest authority who was discussing the American problems told the convention.

Father John J. Considine, M.M., told a general session that the present Catholic "resurgence" in Latin America will contribute just that a moral election of strength to the anticommunist forces in Latin America as to frustrate the Reds in their plans for a continental takeover.

The director of the Latin American Bureau, National Catholic Welfare Conference, asserted that when this century ends, the Reds will have to consider of all the work that the Reds have done in Latin America will be shown above.

"Following the Crio Conference," Father Considine continued, "the Church began a continental overshuing of the ecclesiastical territories. After Rio in 1955 the ecclesiastical divisions totaled 373 dioceses and other territories. At the beginning of 1963 this number had risen to 531, an increase of 40 percent." The Archbishop Philip J. McGucken addresses convention.

PRELATE LAUDS CPA COUNCIL COVERAGE

Because of the secrecy of the council session and the briefing of the initial monograph, the press releases, "It was perhaps inevitable that some of the reporting and the guessing would be unfortunate, to put it mildly." "Some of the magazine articles which were widely read had all the fascination of a naughty novel," he stated. "A number of our people thought that the writers of these articles must have had access to material that was not made available to the Catholic journalists. Suddenly, certain weekly magazines and national circulations were decorated with halos as eminent theological journals. Such naive faith was placed in their reports that a Catholic writer abroad could lament what appeared to him to be a scandalous spectacle of hostile encroachment between Catholic bishops polluting the sacred atmosphere of St. Peter's with ‘odium theologorum.'"

"After I read this product I wondered if he was writing about the same ecumenical council at which I had been present. So I suggest that you do not feel sad that the releases you received lacked the spicy details which gave certain articles an unseasonable pungency. In looking at the council, your role is not that of creators of fiction." Looking forward to the council's second session, opening on Sept. 8, Archbishop McGucken said: "The Catholic journalist, because of his background of knowledge and practical contact with the activities of the Church, is prepared to set the pace for the representatives of the secular press. He is not likely to fall into the temptation of looking for "blocks" among the councilors, or a split between lovable liberals and repulsive reactionaries."

In covering the council, the Archbishop continued, Catholic journalists will not look upon it as a political or economic convention, but as "a great religious event." They will, therefore, avoid sensationalism and flappancy and write with reverence and respect about the sacred matters treated and about the high office of the personalities involved, he added.

The Archbishop asserted that "the heart of the mandate given by the Vicar of Christ to newspapers is enshrined in Archbishop McGucken's phrase 'You are at the service of truth.'"
MIAMI BEACH (NC) — The second session of the Second Vatican Ecumenical Council, opening next September, would contribute more solid material accomplishments and "more satisfactory news coverage," Catholic editors and publishers were told at their annual convention here.

Frank A. Hall said the next session of the council will move at an accelerated pace, and that it is possible that "one complete session of the council will move in anticipation of this new challenge."

He added that the N.C.W.C. News Service, of which he is editor-in-chief, has been engaged in making suggestions "toward greater freedom in reporting." He pointed out that "everyone was treading on uncharted ground" at the first council session, and that, faced with this problem, the Vatican "sought to provide press aids that were never before even attempted."

For its own part, Mr. Hall said, the News Service will face the second session with virtually the same veteran staff it had at the first session, but augmented by several writers and advisers. He said it plans another preliminary series, which proved so popular last fall, and that this time it will contain analytical articles dealing with "interesting and challenging topics that the Council Fathers will discuss in this session."

Hall said it is not possible at this time to go into specifics about suggestions for more freedom in coverage made "from this and other countries," but that "it is definite that the Co-ordinating Commission of the council's press office in Rome. Msgr. James Tucek, director of the English-language section of the council's press office, said that "it is definite that the Co-ordinating Commission (of the council) is making a comprehensive study and that this is at the direction of broader news coverage."

The Vatican Council was the dominant event, but only one that helped to make the last 12 months probably the greatest year ever for Catholic news, Hall stated. He cited the enormous activity of Pope John XXIII, who was chosen by secular editors to be the outstanding personality of the year. The varied acts of the Holy See, the great variety of Catholic stories that developed in all parts of the world, and a year packed with news in the U.S. The News Service met this challenging year, Hall said, by supplementing its regular volume of news stories with an extraordinary number of "special analytical articles and series of articles to give readers a deeper perspective of events affecting the Church throughout the world."
'Lay Must Help Bishops To Run Church'

CUHNING IN 12,000-WORD PASTORAL LETTER SAYS:

BOSTON (NO) — The lay Cardinal has an obligation to help the Bishops in running the Church, Richard Cardinal Cushing says in a 12,000-word pastoral letter issued here.

"Along with the members of the hierarchy, the laity are to be considered corresponsors for the Church," the Archbisho of Boston says in the letter, entitled "The Church and Public Opinion."

The letter discusses public opinion within the Church and outside of it; the role of the hierarchy, clergy and laity in this sphere; and resources for assisting public opinion.

Cardinal Cushing defines public opinion as "an existent and visible force within the Church which consists in the confidence of many individual opinions on those matters which touch upon the Christian life."

"Since the lay person in the Church brings with him his own abilities and talents," the Cardinal continues, "these in a particular way should find constructive expression. The scientist, the scholar, the teacher, the doctor, the lawyer, the public servant, all the rest, have something to say which can make the Church a more effective instrument of grace for the good of soul. When these voices are silent the Church suffers from their loss and the Christian has abdicated his responsibility toward the Kingdom."

He makes clear, however, that he is speaking only of professional people, because "all in the Church give of their wisdom and it is often 'out of the mouths of babes' that the Lord speaks to his people."

"Within his competence," the Cardinal states, "the lay person has an obligation to make himself heard and a right to expect that his opinions will be treated with respect and his influence accepted when it is constructive and helpful."

As for the Bishops, the Cardinal says, they are obliged to preserve "without change essential Christian doctrine," but "they must encourage public opinion, and the private judgment in which it originates, within those wide boundaries where its contribution will be helpful to a fuller understanding and a broader application of the Christian message."

Among the clergy, the Cardinal states, "discerning minds will continually survey the contemporary scene and with special sensitivity assess the changing needs of the faithful."

Mrs. U.S.A. Looks To 'Greatest Moment'

By MARJORIE L. FILLYAW

The new Mrs. U.S.A. has traveled more than 12,000 miles, been honored in 22 states, and received many lavish gifts, including a trip to Europe, but the "greatest moment" in her life will be when her daughter is received as a novice this summer by the Felician Sisters of the Province of Detroit.

These are the words with which Mrs. Lila Masson of Betterdon, Mich., who this week relinquished her 1962 title of Mrs. America, expressed the joy and happiness which is shared by her con- vent-brother, Cleve, and their two young sons, at the prospect of having a daughter devoting her life to the service of God.

Attending final competitions conducted here last week for 50 state contestants seeking the title of Mrs. America, Mrs. Masson's chief function was to crown the new titleholder. The occasion will always be a memorable one because 18-year-old Diane, now a postulant, received an unexpected and unusual permission to join her family for the two-week vacation here, which was one of the awards given Mrs. Masson a year ago.

RADIANT FACES

Rev. Bnrd Mother Marie Alexander, Mother General of the Felician Sisters, who staff St. Joseph Hospital in Port Charlotte, recently arrived from Rome for a visit at the Provincial Motherhouse in Livonia, Mich. She granted permission for Diane to come to Miami Beach with her family accompanied by Sister Theresa, community supervisor for the 48 schools staffed by Felician Sisters in the Archdiocese of Detroit and a member of the Archdiocesan Council of School Supervisors.

Relaxing in one of the spacious cottages provided for them at the Golden Gate Hotel here, with the young postulant and her companion who assisted daily at Mass during their stay, Mrs. Masson recalled that their daughter, "has wanted to be a nun since she was a very little girl. We have grown up with the idea - Diane entering a convent," she said.

"When she became a postulant last January, we felt, as I imagine most parents do, that we were losing a daughter; but after we visited her for the first time and saw the radiant faces and happiness of the sisters, we are so happy and contented. It rubs off on you, you know," Mrs. Masson explained.

"DIVINE PLAN"

"God has His own divine plan for us all," she continued. "If a son or daughter has a vocation, it would be a terrible thing to try to stop them, I know, and I wouldn't have it on my conscience."

Remembering that Mother Mary Landine, provincial superior told them they were "not losing a daughter but gaining 80 daughters," the Massons have recently purchased an acre of property in Redford Township on which they are building a new and larger home which will be open to the sisters for picnics and gatherings.

Cleve Masson, formerly a Baptist, embraced the Catholic Faith when he and Lila were married 21 years ago in St. Mary Church in Redford.

Their two sons, Thomas, 14 and David, 10 are students at St. Valentine parochial school there and aLO serve as altar boys in the parish church. Mrs. Masson is an active member of the League of Catholic Women, St. Joseph Auxiliary which assists the Little Sisters of the Poor, St. Valentine Altar Society and several civic clubs. She also does volunteer work at St. Mary Hospital, an institution operated by the Felician Sis- ters at Livonia.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

The Redford Women's League, whose principal project is aiding mentally retarded children, was responsible in urging Lila Masson to enter the contests for Mrs. America in 1961. "I was delighted when the Felician Sis- ters at St. Valentine School responded so enthusiastically and were so interested in the contest," she said explaining that the competition is not a bathing suit and beauty contest but is judged by homemaking ability, pose, personality, ability to meet people and by the contest- ants contribution to their church and community.

When Mrs. Masson was awarded the title of Mrs. America she entered the fi- nals as Mrs. Michigan. This year, another Catholic is Mrs. Michigan," Lila pointed out referring to Mrs. Paul V. Rahaley of St. Monica parish, Detroit who is the mother of four children, president of the St. Monica Parish Mothers Club and the founder of the St. Joseph Auxiliary. Mrs. Rahaley also serves as Public Re- lations chairman for the De- troit Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women.

Thanks to the Mother General of the Felician Sisters, Mrs. Masson's term as Mrs. America has been a family affair from beginning to end.

When the idea was first sug- gested the entire family discuss- ed the pros and cons of what would be involved if she were awarded the title. "Diane was then a senior in high school," Lila explained, "and I didn't want to overshadow her activities with mine."

"However, Diane and the rest of the family were eager for her to participate, she added, and after she w as crowned here in 1961 and was obligated to travel throughout the country, Diane postponed her entrance to the novitiate in order to super- vise things and help her dad care for the boys at home."

Although Diane and Sister Theresa for spent quiet, unevent- ful days here, making visits to churches, shopping for souve- nirs to take home, and driving around the South Florida area on sightseeing trips, it was ob- vious that each was proud of 1962's Mrs. U.S.A.

Mrs. U.S.A., Mrs. Lila Masson, left, leaves St. Mary Magdalen Church, Miami Beach, with her daughter-postulant, Diane, and Sister Theresa, C.S.S.F. who joined the family here for the finals of the recent Mrs. America contest during which Mrs. Masson relinquished her title as Mrs. America of 1962.

In a set of "guiding principles" the delegates stressed:

- The spiritual and social plight of the migrant farm worker and his family — a situation that calls for "our establishment of special lay apostolate groups to make spiritual and social aid available to them.

- The threat posed to moral as well as social stability by a growing unemployment problem resulting from automation and from the increasing number of youths and displaced farmers entering the labor force each year.

- The increasing burden of taxation and the "staggering growth of government costs," which impose a "moral obligation" on public officials who should exercise "constant vigilance in the proper expenditure of public funds both at home and abroad."

"PUBLIC IMMORALITY"

In the stand against contraception, sterilization and abortion by states, the convention "guiding principle" condemned the legal acceptance of such as constituting an approved public policy of the state, especially in respect of public aid recipients."

We oppose these and all other denial of the sacredness of human life and the human person, and we call on all governments to dissociate themselves from the public immorality involved in sanctioning such methods," it said.

The "guiding principle" on Federal aid to schools called attention to "the pressure being exerted on parents whose consciences require them to send their children to schools which teach religion in addition to the secular subjects."

"They should not be penalized as taxpayers for exercising their natural and constitutionally guaranteed right to do so, but should be equitably included in the allocation of public monies if any, made available for education. Equal rights for children are as much a matter of just concern as equal rights for racial, economic and religious minorities."

The "guiding principle" on the racial issue cited "the persistence of racial discrimination in our society," saying: "Such a condition insistently requires each of us to bring his own personal conduct into line with the requirements of Christian love and the natural rights of man."

Medical School Aid Bill Has Church-State Clause

WASHINGTON (NA) — The House approved Federal aid for medical and dental schools after adopting an amendment to prevent tax funds from being tied to religion in church-related schools.

The amendment was a threat to functions such as ethics and prayers offered by priests or ministers at the bedside of a critically ill person.

By a vote of 288 to 122 the bill was sent on to the Senate for violation of this prohibition.

INCENSE IS DISPENSED at a flag draped catafalque by Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, who offered a Mass in St. Patrick’s Cathedral for the repose of the soul of the crew of the ill-fated nuclear submarine Thresher. The Cardinal is military vicar of the U.S. Armed Forces.

To Observe 'Mothers Month'

Holy Name Societies Urged

The Diocesan Union of Holy Name Societies has urged all Societies in the Diocese to plan, at a special observance for Mothers Day, Sunday, May 12.

May, the Month of Mary, has been designated "Mothers Month" in a list of suggested program activities for each month of the year released by the Diocesan Union.

Richard Denmore, secretary of the Diocesan Union, said June had been set aside as "Catholic Education Month" and each Society is asked to carry out the theme: "Promotion of Catholic Education."

Mr. Denmore said the societies also are being urged to embrace prayers for vocations.

In a news letter to Holy Name groups the Diocesan Union of-er said in part:

"As we approach the end of another school year, vocations assume a little greater significance as many children are giving this all important matter their most serious consideration."

"The choice of a vocation is probably the most important decision that any of us have made or will make. A vocation is the way we choose to pur-

ose our path to eternal salvation and let us pray that God may bless our Diocese with many vocations to the priesthood and sisterhood, for indeed, what greater blessing can we ask?"

"Many are called but few are chosen. Let us pray the Lord assumption."

Adult registration cards also were presented during the ceremonies to the following adult advisors: Joe Zapia, institutional representative; Larry Dammeling, committee chairman; Jesi Redgway, cubmaster; and Ralph Gomez, assistant cubmaster.

A number of the boys in the Pack are working towards their Parvuli Dei (Little One Of God) award.

In a short talk which he gave on Catholic Scouting, Msgr. Philbin said that the work done in gaining the Parvuli Dei award would make it easier for the Cub, to complete work for the Ad Altare Dei award when they move up into Boy Scout ranks.

The Parvuli Dei medal is given to a Catholic Cub Scout for completing 12 assignments, details of which are contained in a pamphlet available at Scout headquarters at 401 West Olive Ave., West Hollywood.

The assignments include the performance of corporal and spiritual works of mercy, the construction of a shrine, and the making of a log book containing among other things a brief history of the Diocese.

Mr. Borden also reported that two other Cub Scout Packs, No. 11 and No. 416 were presented their annual charters recently in a special ceremony held at the St. Theresa home on Orange Avenue in Coral Gables. The two packs are sponsored by the St. Theresa Home and School Association.

Mr. Borden pointed out that, for any adults interested in Catholic Scouting, a book entitled "Scouting for Catholics" is available at local Scout headquarters, or at any store where Scouting material is sold.

The only one of the five honors which can be awarded to deserving high school students is membership in the National Honor Society. Four qualities the individual is judged before he is admitted: character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Only those students with the highest standards are given the honor of membership.

April 18 was proclaimed National Honor Society Day at Cardinal Newman. During the day, over the public address system, the National Honor Society and its requirements were explained by the officers: President, Jane Howley; vice president, Pat Tani; secretary, Marilyn Spragg; and treasurer, Charles Ciravalo. To maintain the spirit of the day, miniature National Honor Society badges were worn by each student.

Each year the Society conducts a drive to raise money to purchase books for the school library. This year a dance during the football season and a bake sale on April 18 were the projects sponsored.

Letter received by Mr. P. Bazin, Air France District Manager:

Dear Mr. Bazin:

I wanted to write to you before this about our wonderful trip just past summer. I always wanted to go to the Holy Land and last summer's Diocesan of Miami Pilgrimage gave me the chance to accomplish this wish. In addition to the spiritual values of being led through the most important spots where Jesus and Our Lord was born, lived, and died, the trip took us to Rome where we had a wonderful audience with the Holy Father and it was planned so that we would be in Lourdes for the feast of the Assumption. To me, the highlight of the Pilgrimage was when we were on the shores of the Sea of Galilee. It is on that very spot that I mostly felt that Our Lord had been... and I had imagined it the way it is.

All the accommodations were good, the hotels were very comfortable and the attendants were more courteous.

I hope that I can sometimes make this trip again, and again I would choose to go by air. It was the first time I flew, and the Air France flights were so wonderful. I wanted to write to you before this about our wonderful trip just past summer.

Sincerely yours,

Miss Carmen Aguiar

ALUMNI

1951 GRADUATES and music majors, Sister Alma Christa, a member of the faculty at St. Patrick School, Miami Beach, and Mrs. Patricia Holdman Johnson, West Palm Beach, entertained alumnae with a piano duet during Family Day observance Sunday.
Isn't it time the Church showed a little more realism in its teaching concerning proper conduct on dates? Much of what we've been taught is based on the premise that Catholic young people today stand in special need of thorough instruction and training concerning acceptable Christian conduct. The Catholic viewpoint receives no support in a secular society that regards the use of sex as a matter of personal option devoid of moral significance as long as it is voluntary.

Although dating customs and practices based on this immoral attitude must be made clear and unmistakable to Catholics, they have been introduced so casually and have become subject to the vagaries of these prime relationships. As you have suggested, Paul, it appears among those religious leaders and teachers who fail to analyze the social environment to which young people are exposed and consequently confuse their teaching to vague generalities or negative warnings.

But it is also evident among Catholic couples of college age when they thoughtfully follow secular patterns of conduct, on the premise that they're not really sure what the Church teaches in regard to such practices.

Not Adequately Communicated

Your request for more realism in the Church's teaching on dating conduct seems to be two different interpretations. Paul. First, you may be implying that the Church's doctrine on dating conduct, that is, the relevant moral principles and norms, has not been adequately developed by moral theologians; or, second, that a satisfactory understanding of this doctrine and its practical implications is not being communicated to Catholic youth. I think your emphasis falls primarily on the second, but both merit some consideration.

In regard to the first, the pertinent Catholic moral principles have been clearly defined. Briefly, it is seriously sinful for the unmarried to engage in the obviously stimulating actions usually called petting. Routine displays of affection such as kissing and embracing also may become highly stimulating either because they are prolonged or because of the manner in which they are performed, and for the unmarried to use them in this way is clearly forbidden.

Second, you are correct in inferring that this doctrine has not been adequately communicated to Catholic youth. There are several reasons. Parents, teachers, and religious leaders frequently forget that the above moral principles make sense only in terms of a real understanding and appreciation of the positive qualities of human sexuality.

Pre-Marital Relationships

Their negative approach often leaves the impression that they are condemning sex rather than its misuse. Further, there is a good deal of buck-passing in teaching young people about sex. Religious leaders insist it is primarily the parents' job, parents want the teachers to do it, and teachers either maintain it is not "their" function or cannot agree when and how it is to be taught.

Yet the solution, of the problem you raise involves more than the adequate teaching of Catholic values and norms. Because our society does not accept the Catholic viewpoint on sex, the entire patterning of pre-marital relationships currently in vogue simply ignores the practical implications of Catholic doctrine in this area. In other words, when young people reach puberty in their early teens and are not socially prepared for marriage until their early twenties, a system of early, intimate and usually unsupervised associations is eagerly promoted or thoughtlessly tolerated through all stratas of society.

If Catholic young people conform to this system, more knowledge of moral principle will not assure their observance. It has always been assumed without question that the observance of chastity necessarily involved reasonable avoidance of the occasions of sin. In short, we certainly need more adequate teaching of basic moral principles, but even this will prove of little value if we fail to develop a more rational social life for our Catholic youth.

Father Thomas will be unable to answer personal letters.
Cinnamon

English poets seem always to have been bathed in Maytime as American lyricists with the base of the moon.

May has always been in England, the season of gayety, and festivity, of "junketing." "Junketing" means just that; in certain sections of England they ate Junkets made of double cream, sweetened with sugar and spiced with cinnamon.

These junkets were carried in picnic baskets and ever since that time a "junket" has also come to mean a pleasure trip or picnic. You can quite easily celebrate a beautiful May day in America by eating junket. Junkets have remained so popular that in our convenience-minded land there's a junket dessert mix from which to whip up this old-fashioned sunny. However, the cinnamon which will make a junket dessert truly authentic is a man know well for centuries before junkets were invented.

In doing research on the junkets of "Merry Old England" home economists of the American Spice Trade Association recently collected a number of other old-fashioned cinnamon-flavored recipes of great-grandmother's day.

There's an old-time rice pudding; crisp, "cinnamon-sugar" cookies; a delectable May-time cinnamon rhubarb pudding. The cinnamon prune bread is ideal for picnic baskets, Sunday morning breakfast or between-meal Enacks. They're not fancy, but ever so good!

Cinnamon has been a round the-world favorite space for more than five thousand years. There are so many things you can do with it. The Indians use it in curry; the Greeks in beef stew; the Viennese couldn't make a good strudel without it.

South Americans add a little cinnamon to braised pork and Mexico has made the cinnamon-chocolate combination famous. Here in the U. S. A. we use cin-namom in so many things that this spice is second only to black pepper in importance on the American spice shelf.

TV SERIES TO SHOW HISTORY OF CHURCH

By RICHARD J. WALSH

Director, NCCM-Radio-TV Department

The documentary film series "I Am With You" represents a high watermark in religious television.

It is an achievement that crowns the 33-year creative relationship of the National Catholic Communication Center and the National Council of Catholic Men in religious broadcasting.

(The four-part series will be telecast locally on Channel 7. WCIT, beginning Sunday, May 12.)

In the fall of 1961, NBC proposed to NCCM another overseas project that would follow the pattern of the highly successful "Rome Eternal" (January, 1953).

NCCM had been considering doing a film on Latin America, Japan, or Africa, but the significance of the Second Vatican Council suddenly dominated the scene.

Accordingly, NCCM proposed a filmed history of the Catholic Church and its ecumenical councils, tracing the movement of the Church from the Council of Nicea to the encyclical of Pope John XXIII.

Despite the fact that such a venture covered 16 locations in eight countries in the Middle East and Europe, NBC responded enthusiastically.

NCCM's executive director, Martin H. Work, and I early listed the aid of Bishop John J. O'Connor of San Mateo University, who had made such a major contribution to the success of "Rome Eternal.

Besides participating in the planning of "I Am With You" as special consultant, he agreed to travel with the NCCM-NBC unit on its 15,000-mile odyssey.

BACKGROUND

In preparing the scenario for the films, NCCM was concerned with providing a historical background as a perspective for a fuller understanding of the Second Vatican Council. But perhaps more important, the occasion of the Council created the opportunity to speak to the central question, "What is the Church?"

It was our purpose, then, not merely to delineate the historical events and personalities of the Catholic Church over the last 2,000 years, but to show that the Church itself is a living organism; that the history of the Church in its councils is the mystery of Christ in His Church.

In each age, in every civilization, for each people, the Church has moved differently and according to that age, to that culture, to that people, in changing its essential being, but always striving to respond to the changing condition of man's life. Ideally, this effort creates a holy tension that produces some of the Church's greatest saints, while failure to respond is some of the Church's greatest problems.

A writer trying to weave the story of 2,000 years through the film in a mosaic of history's fragments was an enormous challenge. NCCM was fortunate in securing the talents of Philip Schuyler, who brilliantly met the challenge.

After some 40,000 feet of film were edited down to 4,800 and the scripts prepared, the work of scoring began. It was most effectively made with word and image by composer Ralph Burns.

When "I Am With You" was first proposed, it was thought by some to be too ambitious. To the National Council of Catholic Men, however, it seemed only fitting that the effort should be made in response to the compelling summons of Pope John, who, in calling the Second Vatican Council, brought the Church to the threshold of a new era that holds the promise of peace to a divided Christianity.

Puntos en Que Se Cimenta el Futuro del Cristianismo en la República Dominicana

EN LO SOCIAL
Entre las obras de asistencia social, quizás la más importante en este momento es la distribución de alimentos donados por una serie de iniciativas católicas norteamericanas. Desde 1993, más de 270 mil personas reciben estos alimentos, consistentes en leche, pollo, arroz, aceite y harina.

LA JUVENTUD OBEERA CATÓLICA comienza a hacer su impacto hacia esta realidad auditiva de maravillas de la fe en la República Dominicana.

"Si la todavia ficil situación de las escuelas parroquiales, si es que aún persiste, va fuera de la norma en la República Dominicana, y de hecho en otras naciones que nos rodean. Es la razón por la cual queremos introducir en nuestra sociedad, quizás la más urgente obra social la Iglesia, mantenga como su más importante y urgente obra social la Iglesia."

"La ley facilitate de la fundación de colegios privados dirigidos por distintas órdenes".

SHARING OUR TREASURE

Magazines Lent By Fellow Newsmen Led To Church

By FATHER JOHN A. O'BRIEN

Do you want to know a simple and practical way of sharing your holy faith with others? "Yes," you say. "Every Catholic would like to know how."...A fellow newspaper reporter...passed on to me pamphlets which quickened my interest in the Catholic Church.

LOGICAL REASONING

"Beautiful examples of logical reasoning, these great works enabled me to see that the Church makes her primary appeal not to the emotions but to the intellect. She asks merely that we face the objective facts and draw logical conclusions. My respect and admiration for the Faith grew apace. Back of Newman's writings was the moving force of his own example..."The Bishop crept had lost its appeal. The denomination is split into two groups: the Fundamentalists and the Modernists..."The formulator's literal interpretation of the Bible is totally unconvincing and...I found it a lovely day to be caught in the rain..."the song says, especially when it is a May shower of graces from such work, and you will know you had a hand..."Those who wish to adopt a sister or SEMINARIAN can..."A fellow newspaper reporter...on the night shift passed on to me copies of Sign, America, and Lake Shore Visitor, and they quickened my interest in the Catholic Faith..."I wrote to you, Father O'Brien, back in the 30's when you were chaplain of the Catholic students at the University of Illinois, and you sent a batch of pamphlets that cleared up many points. I was now ready for Cardinal Newman's "Apologia", "Grammar of Assent" and "Development of Christian Doctrine"..."In my grief I turned in increassingly to God, who blessed me with a call to the holy priesthood. My faith had answered the major problems of life and I wanted to share its divine guidance with others. He that followeth me, said Jesus, "walketh in darkness, but shall have the light of life."
