Pope Praises Peace Efforts Of UN

VALE CITY (NC) — Pope Paul VI said in receiving the Secretary General of the United Nations that the Holy See regards the U.N. as the fruit of a civilization for which the Church provided the basic principles.

The Pope received U Thant in private audience for a half hour and praised the U.N. for its efforts for world peace. He spoke in English.

At a press conference the same evening, U Thant answered questions by newsmen concerning Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, Primate of Hungary, and the claims of Vietnamese Buddhists that they are being discriminated against by a government controlled by Catholics.

TALKS WITH POPE

He said that in his talks in early July with communist Hungary’s Premier Janos Kadar the question of Cardinal Mindszenty had come up. He declined to comment on the details of the talks but said he has hopes that the question of the Cardinal, who has been living in asylum at the U. S. legation in Budapest since 1956 — “will be solved with the passage of time.”

He also declined to say whether or not he had discussed the Cardinal’s case during his visit with Pope Paul.

He was asked if the question of Vietnamese Buddhists had come up in his talks with the Pontiff. He answered:

“It is obvious that I cannot reveal what I talked about with Pope Paul. But I can say that the developments taking place in the Republic of South Vietnam are very disturbing.”

The U.N. “is a historical reality of too great importance to leave us indifferent to this meeting with you,” Pope Paul had told U Thant earlier.

“The Holy See, which you are visiting today in Our humble person,” Pope Paul continued, “holds a very high conception of that international organization. It considers it to be the fruit of a civilization to which the Catholic religion, with its driving center in the Holy See, gave the vital principles.

LUAGS UN

“It considers it an instrument of fraternity between nations, which the Holy See has always desired and promoted, and hence a brotherhood intended to favor progress and peace among men. It considers the United Nations as the steadily developing and improving form of the balanced and unified life of all humanity in its historical and earthly order.

Calling attention to the multiple and diverse ideologies of those belonging to the U.N., the Pope said the “Catholic Church regards them with due consideration.”

The invitation was sent by the Holy Synod of the Russian Orthodox Church. FORMER GEORGIA BISHOP PAPAL NUNCIO TO BRITAIN

Archbishop O’Hara Mourned

London (NC) — Archbishop Gerald P. O’Hara, American-born Apostolic Delegate to Great Britain, died here Tuesday, July 16, following a heart attack at the age of 66.

Prior to assuming his post here in August, 1954, Archbishop O’Hara had served as the last papal representative in communist-ruled Romania from 1947 to 1950, and as Apostolic Nuncio to Ireland from 1951 to 1954.

During his three years in Romania he protested continuously against communist attacks on the Church. On July 4, 1950, he was expelled from that country and eight days later was given the personal title of archbishop.

In 1951, he was appointed Apostolic Nuncio to Ireland, where he later received an honorary degree from the National University.

In 1955 he was appointed Apostolic Delegate to Great Britain, which also included duties as papal representative to Malta, the Bermudas Islands and Gibraltar. In 1958 he became the first papal representative to visit the Houses of Parliament here in more than 400 years.

Before joining the papal diplomatic corps, the Archbishop was active in setting up and aiding the Catholic Committee of Action in Ireland, and was a member of the Irish Catholic Economic Congress.

The people of the Diocese of Miami have never needed to be prodded to generosity in participating in this collection in the past. As a result, God has blessed them by prospering their projects here at home in an extraordinary way. In gratitude therefore for all His blessings, and as a pledge and guarantee of our love and loyalty to His Vicar on earth, I know I can count on you to be as generous as your means will allow in this year’s special Peter’s Pence collection.

Pope’s Pence Expresses Loyalty, Devotion To Pope

To the Priests, Religious and Faithful of the Diocese of Miami:

Time out of mind, Catholics the world over have been called upon once each year to demonstrate their love and devotion to our Holy Father, the Pope, through a collection familiarly known as the Peter’s Pence.

I think I need not remind you that this year’s collection takes on a special significance. This is because it comes as our first opportunity to indicate in a tangible way our in- tense loyalty to a newly elected Vicar of Christ. Pope Paul VI, no less than all his great predecessors, must continue to meet the pleas which rise from the poor and oppressed of many nations. In addition, he must reconvene the Second Vatican Council, to which Catholics and non-Catholics alike are more and more looking as to the beginning of a fulfillment of Christ’s prophecy of one flock and one shepherd.

The people of the Diocese of Miami have never needed to be prodded to generosity in participating in this collection in the past. As a result, God has blessed them by prospering their projects here at home in an extraordinary way. In gratitude therefore for all His blessings, and as a pledge and guarantee of our love and loyalty to His Vicar on earth, I know I can count on you to be as generous as your means will allow in this year’s special Peter’s Pence collection.

Imparting to you my paternal blessing, I am

Very sincerely yours in Christ,

Pope’s Pence Expresses Loyalty, Devotion To Pope
Pope speaks 5 Languages At First General Audience

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope Paul VI gave the first general audience of his reign to more than 7,000 people in St. Peter's Basilica and spoke to them in five languages, including English.

"You are the first to offer to Us this meeting of a beautiful and numerous multitude which reflects in its number and even more in its variety that which makes up the catholicity, that is, the universality of the Church," the Pope said to his visitors.

Pope Paul was carried in from the side aisle on his portable throne. He cleared the main altar of the Church, as he moved slowly he lifted his arms high in blessing to those on both sides of the aisles. They returned his gesture with warm cheers and applause.

IDENTICAL SPEECH

After he left the portable throne he mounted the steps of the altar and took his place on the throne.

"And the second impression is that of brotherhood, which joins all of you here with the single bond of faith and charity. In regard to this St. Paul also teaches us: 'All are one in Christ Jesus.' (Galatians, I, 28)"

"We wish We had the time and means to salute each group and every person but it is not physically possible. We limit ourselves to use those languages which We can to give a paternal greeting."

BLESSINGS U.S. GROUP

After finishing his formal speech the Pope read out the list of the Italian and Spanish pilgrims present. His first greeting was to the participants in an international Dominican congress of the nuns who have been meeting in Rome. Among mentions of each group Pope Paul was cheered, most loudly by a group of about 500 Italian soldiers, who sent up a shout and then three cheers that filled the vast basilica.

Mgr. William Carew, of the English desk of the Secretariat of State, read the names of the American and English-speaking groups present. The first of these were the priestesses from the North American College, who were to be ordained on the following day.

Pope Paul motioned to Monsignor Olivi to bend over, and gave him the following message to be translated into English: "The Pope wishes to give to all of you His special blessing." Among the other pilgrims mentioned was an Italian-American one from Boston, and the Pope again interrupted to recall that he had visited Boston three years ago and that he extended his special blessings to the group from that city.

Similar lists were read by Spanish and German prelates of the Secretariat of State, Auxiliary Bishop of Glasgow, Archbishop Cathbert O'Gara, C.P., Archbishop John P. Cody, two Spanish prelates, Bishop Miranda of Mexico City; a Spanish prelate; Archbishop Celestine J. Danilone, Camerl., N.J.; Bishop Ernest J. Primeau, Manchester, N.H.; and a member of the Scotch hierarchy.

of so many races and states in a single organization "is a fact which the Holy See considers as corresponding to its concept of humanity, and included within the area of its spiritual mission in the world."

HUMAN RIGHTS

Pope Paul recalled that the formation of such an organization as the U.N. was "desired" by Pope Benedict XV, its fundamental criteria were "traced" by Pope Pius XII in two messages, and its importance was "underlined" and its perfect functioning encouraged by the late Pope John XXIII in the encyclical Pacem in Terris.

"We, therefore, derive conclusion from your visit," he told U Thant, "and We avail ourselves of the occasion to renew the expression of Our esteem and of Our hopes for the fundamental program of the United Nations, especially in regard to elimination of war, the assistance of developing peoples . . . and the safeguarding of the rights and dignity of the human person."

The Pope concluded by expressing "good wishes for a just prosperity of the great organization of the United Nations, and for the happy success of its activities."

After his audience with the Pope, U Thant visited Ambrose Cardinal Cicognini, Papal Secretary of State.

Free Elections Asked For Captive Nations

NEW YORK (NC) — Rep. William G. Bray of Indiana said here Russia should be asked to give the captive nations free elections to set up the kind of government they wish.

The Congressmen spoke at a flag raising ceremony at the headquarters of the Assembly of Captive European Nations, worker, the laboring man, has become very difficult, very arduous. If formerly the language one used with workingmen could be simply good-humored, brotherly, ordinary, based on the advice that every priest can draw from his background and experience, the language that must be used now has become a very sensitive matter.

"The working world has become so importante for the fate of our country and of Christian life in our nation."

"Therefore, the contact between the priest and the working world should be studied with the situation and the need demanded by a real specialization, if one wishes to give efficacy and impact to what one is going to say."

Pope also spoke to other leaders of Catholic Action organizations visiting Rome. He reminded teachers that their work is not "just any occupation," but involves the task of "opening fresh intelligences, of opening the dialogue of truth with young minds."

BRAZILIAN CARDINAL URGES IMMEDIATE LAND REFORM

DONN (NC) — Both the people and Bishops of predominantly agricultural Brazil want land reform, and they want it now, Jaime Cardinal de Barros Camara has declared.

The Archbishop of Rio de Janeiro also told a correspondent of KNX, German Catholic new agency, that immediate reform to all Brazil's millions of impoverished and landless farm workers is possible without the constitutional amendments that leftist are calling for.

The Cardinal noted that the Brazilian Bishops have formally called for land reform. But he stressed that he is not in favor of taking properties from private owners and paying for them in long-term government securities, as has been advocated by some backers of reform. He said:

"In view of our inflationary economy, this would be irresponsible. Such a procedure is not only unfair, it would also postpone the solution of the agrarian problem, since the constitution would first have to be amended to provide for payment.

"On the other hand, it is indeed quite possible to carry out effective land reforms at once within the framework of the constitutional provisions now in force."

Brazil's leftist are trying to tie land reform to constitutional changes that would limit the rights of private property. This effort has led to fears that such changes may endanger other present constitutional provisions, which include many hard-and-fast Catholic gains such as anti-divorce laws, religious instruction in schools and chaplains for Brazilian armed forces.

Cardinal Camara pointed out that land reform must be carried out "in accordance with conditions in Brazil." He emphasized that there are enough unused government-owned land to make agrarian reform practical right away without constitutional changes. He said:

"The government is the largest landholder in Brazil and, although not all of the land belonging to the government can be exploited at once, it is true that there are many tracts of land which can be divided up immediately. It is simply not true that the land the government owns is not suitable for agriculture."

EXPERT CONFIDENT COUNCIL WILL ACT ON JEWISH TIES

CINCINNATI (NC) — A priest expert on Christian-Jewish relations said "there is very reason to hope that the council will have something to say on the ties that bind Christians and Jews together."

Msgr. John Oesterreicher said that these ties "are of a daily ecomoncal nature since both Christians and Jews consider themselves, and are, sons of Abraham."

The monsignor is director of the Institute of Judaeo-Christian Studies at Seton Hall University, South Orange, N. J., and a member of the Vatican Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity. He made his statement during a visit here.

He said that "at no time was there contemplated or drafted a more condemnation of anti-Semitism by the (Second Vatican) council."

"The Church has denounced anti-Semitism several times in the past," he continued, "and these denunciations stand. They will remain in force. The council, however, as envisaged by Pope John, and equally, I am sure, by Pope Paul, is not to issue or reiterate condemnation but to make Catholics everywhere see the great problems of today in a fresh and positive light and in the spirit of dialogue and friendship between Christians and Jews."

"The Christian-Jewish relationship is further one among heirs . . . of a basically common heritage, the heritage of Holy Scripture," he stated.

"The recent popes — Pius XI, Pius XII and John XXIII — referred more than once to this kinship and its several implications. If the council lasts long enough to take up . . . many of the issues the Church and the world face today, it will not bypass the spiritual bond — so I sincerely hope."

Msgr. Oesterreicher said "no one knows what the council will decide on this or any other matter . . . but there is every likelihood that the Second Vatican Council . . . will promote the spirit of dialogue and friendship between Christians and Jews."

He noted, according to press reports, Augustin Cardinal Bea, S. J., president of the Unity Secretariat, had discussed in his first audience with Pope Paul "the state of Catholic-Jewish relations."

"Relations here do not mean diplomatic or political relations." Msgr. Oesterreicher stressed, "but bonds of the spirit, bonds of love, bonds that are of the highest order though they must, of course, be tested in everyday life."

Haitian Civic Officials Held In French Priest’s Murder

SANTO DOMINGO (NC) — A French priest has been murdered in Caracol, a village on the northern coast of Haiti, according to reports reaching here.

The priest, named Le Scao and aged about 50, was killed with a machete in his second floor bedroom, the reports said.

Information on the incident is incomplete because the regime of President Francois Duvalier tightly restricts communications, it was noted here.

The mayor and village police chief of Caracol and another near were arrested for complicity in the murder, according to information reaching here, and have reportedly confessed to the murder.

It was said that Father Le Scao, a priest of the Cap Haitian diocese, was well liked by the people of Caracol, but did not get along with the local officials.

According to reports, Father Le Scao was a parish priest in the nearby village of Trou on June 24. He returned to Caracol in the evening, and it is reported that the accused were then hiding in his home.

The next morning, the Caracol police chief went to Trou and told the priests there that Father Le Scao had been murdered. This was the first public knowledge of the murder.

Police in Trou questioned the chief and then went to Caracol. On their way, they arrested a man wearing a bloody shirt, who reportedly admitted being an accomplice and said that the police chief and the mayor had instigated the murder. On reaching Caracol, the Trou police arrested the accused and said they found wearing a bloody shirt.

According to the reports, an attempt is being made to implicate the U.S. government in the murder by spreading rumors that the U.S. arranged it to stir ill will between France and Haiti.

Cardinal Says Church’s Plan Encourages Chilean Farmers

WASHINGTON (NC) — The Cardinal told the Washington News Service that the Church’s renewed vitality has been aided by a number of friendly gestures on the part of the country’s communist government. He said that last year Catholic priests had reordered the life of the Church as a result of the ecumenical council last October and that the government had allowed the College of Hungarian churchmen to take part in the ecumenical council.

Meanwhile, it had been reported from Vienna that a Hungarian government leader, Deputy Premier Gyula Kallai, told newsmen there that Hungary will approve the naming of the Holy See of Bishops to fill Hungary’s vacant dioceses.

Pope Aids Needy Of World Through 'Peter's Pence'

Next Sunday, Catholics the world over will offer Pope Paul VI what is known in this, the 31st year, as a material gift, not a spiritual bouquet.

Perhaps the image of the Holy Father in the minds of most people is compounded entirely of spiritual realities. We reach that in his hands are the instruments of the Kingdom of heaven, that he is primarily concerned with the salvation of souls. However, Pope John did much to make this image more accurate so that he could properly be deeply concerned with the material and social problems of all his children, and indeed, of all people everywhere.

The world seems now to understand that the solicitude of the Vicar of Christ on earth for our well-being always reflects the interest of the Eternal Father Who is anxious "to give us this day our daily bread."

For many generations it has been a custom for Catholics everywhere to contribute to Peter's Pence so that the Holy Father may have a fund available to come to the aid of the needy in various parts of the world. This is made possible on so vast a scale because Catholics everywhere have already been exceedingly generous in using this means of lessening the burden of the Holy Father. Peter's Pence places in his hands the equivalents of medicine, clothing, food and other necessities.

Perhaps for most of us this collection for Peter's Pence will represent the first opportunity to express in a concrete way our loyalty and cooperation to our newly elected Holy Father. It is an emotion quite personal to Peter's Pence. It is called on world leaders "to face squarely the real dangers of nuclear warfare is waiting anxiously the final solution." Everyone who has been apprehensive about the grave dangers of nuclear warfare is gazing anxiously the final solution of the meeting between Western and Soviet negotiators in Moscow. We do go to press, reports from the meeting are somewhat strange and perhaps encouraging, since they underline the good humor of the participants and the air of optimism is noticeably missing during past discussions of this controversial subject.

People everywhere have been disillusioned in the past after discussions on nuclear banning. It became obvious that Russia indeed wanted the ban, but only for her enemies and not her friends. Today this situation may be different. Surely the fervent prayers offered all over the world at that time have helped set the stage for the present discussions. We can only hope and continue to pray that reason and common sense may prevail for the good of mankind.

TV Movie Ratings Laundered

The Voice is pleased at the response it has received for the publication of the Legion of Decency ratings for the motion picture scenes shown morning, afternoon and night on television screens throughout the Diocese of Miami.

The number of letters, particularly those from young mothers, indicates a genuine and intense interest in safeguarding the moral welfare of our children.

To those who say they watched a "little late movie" maybe in 1943 or 1953 and saw no danger in it, let us remind them they have grown 10 or 20 years older since those days — and wiser, perhaps.

Can you imagine what the effect will be on a child born 10 years from now some of the filth being portrayed on our movie screens today?

Standards of living may change, but standards of decency and morality — never!

Pope Paul VI Will Keep The Same Coat-Of-Arms

ROME (NC) — Pope Paul VI has decided to retain the same coat-of-arms he had as the Cardinal-Archbishop of Milan.

A pontiff is free to choose whatever coat-of-arms he wishes when he assumes the title of Peter.

The Pope's coat-of-arms depicts six mountains in silver and three fleur-de-lis in sapphire on a crimson field. It does not have the motto that it had while he was a Cardinal: "Insemine Domini" (in the name of the Lord). The papal crest traditionally bears no motto.

The mountains on Pope Paul's coat-of-arms represent his family name, Montali. The fleur-de-lis symbol is the Trinity.

Pope John XXIII also retained his cardinal's coat-of-arms when he was chosen pontiff.

Pope Paul VI appeals "to men of good will" to promote "peace, social justice and freedom throughout the Diocese of Miami."

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Beides being the Supreme Pontiff of the Universal Church, Pope Paul VI also is the head of a small city-state that is in some ways, a small town and in others like a nation.

As Sovereign of the State of Vatican City, the Pope rules over a territory of 100 acres that has a 14-man fire department that fights fewer than one fire a year, a police force and a jail that rarely houses a prisoner.

But Vatican City has an army — its own customs police and even its own money, prints its own stamps, issues its own passports.

Established in 1929 as a result of the Lateran Treaties between Italy and the Holy See, Vatican City has about 1,600 citizens. It has all the facilities that any normal city has: a post office, grocery store, pharmacy, clinic, printing shop, bookstore, newspaper, bakery and so on.

And it has a number of civic features that are superior to other cities. Its parks and museums are unrivaled. Its library is unique.

It has studies for the creation and restoration of mosaics, tapestries, paintings and furniture that are the envy of specialists throughout the world.

Like sovereign nations, the Vatican has its own police, air force, air defense and its own passports. It mines for minerals and has gold reserves. It prints its own stamps, issues its own money, its own passports.

The Vatican has the right, according to the Vatican City!!, to establish its own naval fleet, to create or declare war, and in others like a nation.

Church Alone Has Means To Happiness

By MSGR. JAMES J. WALSH

Whatever direction the "Aggiornamento" in the Ecumenical Council next September will take, one thing is certain: the "bringing up to date" of the Church will not involve any change in the ancient Christian formula for happiness.

It's a very broad statement. The Church, alone has the means to happiness. This is not a new concept. The Church has been pointing out the way to lasting peace since the day of its founding. And in the last analysis, we might say that it has always been the sole mission of the Church to lead men to happiness by teaching them how to know and to love God.

In so doing the Church carries out the mission of Christ Himself, Who is called the Prince of Peace. At His birth the angels announced Him as a "Prince of Peace." A few hundred years later His death Christ gave peace as His legacy to the Apostles: "Peace I leave with you, My peace I give to you."

OFFERING TO GOD

And every Christian knows, the death of Christ was an offering to God in order to obtain the peace of everlasting peace for all men. It was to bring this universally sought gift of peace to the people of all nations that Christ sent His Apostles and His successors to the ends of the earth.

Hence, bringing happiness to men is the business of the Church. Has it lost this mission in our time? Has modern man new needs beyond the powers of the Church to satisfy?

Most Reverend Fulton J. Sheen

It is not often we think of the "shameful" sufferings of Our Lord, but Scripture speaks of Him that way:

"Let us fix our eyes on Jesus, the origin and crown of all Faith, Who won His prize of blessedness endured the Cross and made light of its shame. Jesus: Who new sins on the right of God's throne."

Part of this shame was twice being stripped of His garments. He Who clothed the illies of the field had not wherewith to clothe Himself; He Who clothed the lepers with new skin appeared on the Cross, in the language of Isaiah, as "a leper"; He Who made coats of skins for Adam and Eve when they were naked in the Garden was stripped of His seamless robe.

And yet how difficult we find it to strip ourselves of the least of our luxuries, to wound ourselves for the sake of Christ and the spread of His Church. Only through such acts of self-denial will the spiritual life grow within us, for no one ever rises from one level of life to a higher level without some kind of death to that which is below. Every morning of life must put us on a fresh battlefield; every evening must see the sun set on some vanquished hour or stolen desire.

Won't you strip yourself of just a cigarette or a coke or a candy bar a day to bring the Gospel to the world's unbelievers, who, if placed in single file, would circle the earth thirty times? By offering up the sacrifice of not rejoicing them and giving the equivalent of that daily act of denial to the Holy Father's own Society for the Propagation of the Faith, you will be buying sulphur for a leper in Africa, a home for an Arabian orphan, something to eat for a child in Oceania. We look forward to hearing from you — and so do they!

Unity Called Top Issue Of Century

By MSGR JAMES I. TUCK

VATICAN CITY (NC) — World hopes for Christian unity, sparked by the charity and courage of Pope John XXIII, will find no cause to fail in the reign of Pope Paul VI. Within the orbit of the Second Vatican Ecumenical Council, the numerous public pronouncements made subsequent to the last Cardinal Congregations, further demonstrate an open, charitable, yet realistic approach to what he himself has called "the very difficult and complex question.

"ACQUIT HOPE IGNITED"

Shortly after Pope John announced his intention of concealing himself in the Church, Bishop who has had this joyous light" of Pope Paul, he visited the world's Roman Catholic leaders in the world attended to take part in the preparatory council of the upcoming council of desire.

"TRUE FRATERNITY"

Cardinal Montini, Pope Paul John himself speaking, and it should have been encouraging to all of us. The Pope's address was a call to "seek no more" psychological and internalized peace, and of sincere prayers, in the name of Christ, let us go on a new way toward peace and unity. "HAPPY SOLUTION"

Speaking at Mendola Pass, Italy, September 14, 1963, Cardinal Hinsin's intelectuals on Aug. 16, 1960, Cardinal Montini was long in hopes but short in optimism.

After indicating the problem of the ecclesiastical movement has been the a "major shift in the theological and of Christians as 'the greatest development in recent years.'

"GOAL: UNITY"

Without the participation of the Roman Catholic church, he said, there was 'a certain un- of a division between Christians.'

He said the faith and order movement was to seek creativity to find new ways of cooperation with Roman Catholic theologians.

Bishop Tomkins said it is the primary responsibility of the to remind the World Council that 'cooperation is not enough.'

"The full unity of all the Church's provinces' faith should be our final goal," he added. This he said, "may be achieved only in an existing and held in all divisions and of the World Council, Dr. Outler described the change in relations among Christians of different denominations as a shift from "ecumenical dialogue."

Thus, he said, the purpose of the meeting here is "not to dis- but to exchange ideas, to seek and celebrate our agree- and to express our unity and graci- out our century while regular dogmatism has turned our tortured world into a snake- pit," he said, Christian church- men are learning "at least a lit- to work together in a new spirit of mutual recogni- and dialogue."

Dr. Outler said that up to now the concept of study and dialogue has succeeded well among "professional theolog- and has emerged as an episodic mass conferences.

He said the meeting here was "not an experiment to test the meth- odology's practicality among larg- er ecumenical bodies."

He said the purpose of dele- gate should be to make it possi- ble to say that "at Montreal we were enabled by the guid- ance and power of the Holy Spirit to reduce the area of our disagreement on the one hand, and on the other to expand the outreach of ecumenical dialogue in and between the churches.

PONTIFF'S PAST STATEMENTS INDICATE

Pope To Foster Unity Efforts

"Please note that when We call you toeddy to the unity of the Church, We are not inviting you to a strange home, but to your very own, the home of our Father. . . . We desire nothing more. We pray nothing more from you: save your salvation and eternal happiness."

Cardinal Montini's lack of op- timism was born of humility. In his Lenten pastoral of 1960 he wrote:

"The problem of unity will "very probably not be brought to a solution. Perhaps we have not yet merited such a miracle, but the ecumenical council may pre- pare the way for the desired solution. In any event, it will be a preparatory council and a council of desire."

TRUE FRATERNITY

"We must desire . . . the long desired and final peace, for the reconciliation of unity of Christians around Po- te. . . . We must desire to think and to live with Him! We must desire to live in peace with him and to respect the separated Christians who pre- serve themselves at the door of their own house, the Catho- lic Church."

"We must desire to better understand and appreciate the religious patrimony which is true and good in their religious patrimony. We must, in fact, love and pray that the council will remove the ob- stacles which stand in the only way to a felicitous encounter, that of the faith, that is, of the truth and reality of the only religion of Christ."

NORTH MIAMI — A committee to campaign against indecent literature has been formed by members of the Holy Name Society of Holy Family parish.

36,000 Cuban Exiles Resettled In CRS Program

More than 36,000 Cuban refugees have been resettled by the Miami office of Catholic Relief Services NCWC since the resettlement program for the exiles began Feb. 1, 1961.

According to Hugh McLoone, director of the CRS office in the Cuban Refugees Emergency Center located in the Freedom Tower, his office last week arranged transportation for 534 refugees to other parts of the United States.

Although the flow of exiles has slowed to a trickle, he said, Catholic Relief Services still averages several hundred persons weekly in their resettlement program.

The total number of Cuban refugees resettled since 1961 by Catholic Relief Services, Church World Service, International Rescue Committee and United HIAS is 47,702.

More than half of the 812 refugees resettled last week were sponsored by Catholic Relief Services.

Cardinal Spellman Decrees Discrimination And Violence

NEW YORK (NC) — Francis Cardinal Spellman told a Harlem audience that racial discrimination is an outrage and that the nation must have civil rights legislation.

The Archbishop of New York, who got enthusiastic applause from an audience of about 500 at a civic ceremony, added, however, that legislation is not the complete answer to race injustice.

"We need civil rights measures enacted into law; but we also need the attitudes of justice and charity to be applied by everyone in our society to the concrete problems of housing, employment and education."

"This is the challenge which 1963 has set squarely before us and it must at all costs be faced and solved," he said.

Cardinal Spellman counselled against violence in seeking racial equality. "That is not the American way of doing things," he said. "There will be no room for violence in the South except as a last and desperate method of self-defense."

"Yet, he added, "some Americans who would die today, will not eat together, will not travel together, will not live together."

Baltimore Prelate Restricts Priests In Racial Protest

BALTIMORE (NC) — Archbishop Lawrence J. Shehan has instructed priests of the Baltimore archdiocese not to take part in civil rights demonstrations unless they have obtained permission from him or Auxiliary Bishop T. Austin Murphy of Baltimore.

In a letter to the clergy, the Archbishop of Baltimore hailed the accomplishments of the July 4 interfaith demonstration against the racial policy of Gwynn Oak Amusement Park in suburban Woodlawn.

He said, however, that "with increasing tensions there is danger that what sets out to be a peaceful demonstration may become the probable occasion of incitement to open conflict and violence.

"Nine priests were among the nearly 200 Negro and white demonstrators who picketed the amusement park on July 4. Two priests were arrested, together with clergymen of other faiths. In a demonstration three days later, seven priests led about 150 parishioners on the picketline at the park."

Archbishop Shehan said violence in the quest for racial justice "would be not only harmful to the public good, but also injurious to the cause of racial justice, and fatal to that spirit of charity which is necessary for the solution of the racial problem."

"Therefore," he added, "I am instructing our priests to abstain from organizing or participating in all public "non-violent" demonstrations this fall, except those which have already been previously obtained permission from me or, in my absence, from Bishop Murphy, the Vicar General."
Record Summer Enrollment At Barry College

In contrast to regular sessions where hundreds of young women prepare themselves for business and professional careers, Barry College's summer school is characterized by religious and lay adults interested in furthering their education and knowledge in already chosen professions.

This year's record enrollment of 1,002 undergraduate and graduate students, is an 11 per cent increase over last year's summer sessions.

Included are 280 Sisters, representatives of some 29 religious orders of women; seven Brothers from three orders; four Piarist Fathers, and three seminarians studying for the priesthood in the Diocese of Miami.

Although the liberal arts college administered by the Adrian Dominican Sisters since 1940 naturally attracts many Catholic students, more than 400 non-Catholic graduate and undergraduate pupils are enrolled this summer in the racially integrated classes.

During summer school commencement exercises on Wednesday, July 31, 25 Masters' Degrees and 21 Bachelors' Degrees will be conferred.

High Court Can’t Outlaw God, Serra Told

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —

James Francis Cardinal McIntyre asserted here that the U.S. Supreme Court in its controversial rulings banning prayer and Bible reading in the nation’s public schools attempted the impossible — to “separate truth from the spirit of truth.”

“God is God.”

“God cannot be outlawed even by the Supreme Court. They are only men and God is God,” the Archbishop of Los Angeles told the closing dinner session July 10 of the first intercontinental convention.

Cardinal McIntyre said that the court’s decisions are not based on actual law, but on “psychological interpretations of a pragmatic and secularist philosophy applied in a changing social concept.”

“One might venture to say that the court unduly expanded itself and therefore required 80,000 words to forbid the acknowledgment of the existence of God in public schools,” Cardinal McIntyre said. “It would seem that the real issue is the relation between Church and State in which the court is using the expression compulsory rather than voluntary.”

“Thus, there is confusion and the logical result, ignoring the constitutionality of prayer and Bible reading in the nation’s public schools,” the Cardinal asserted. “They did not forbid the recitation of the Lord’s Prayer; they did not forbid the reading of the Bible in public. They acknowledged the natural law as the law of God.”

“The founding fathers made no attempt to disclaim religion,” the Cardinal said. “They fostered and promoted liberty of its expression but they rejected the domination of any one interpretation of the teachings of God. They did not declare reverence for religion unconstitutional; yet they did up the Constitution which is now interpreted in a contrary manner.”

“The Supreme Court has failed to recognize this distinction. It has confused the fundamental acknowledgment of natural religious truths with individual and group interpretation and the attempt to make the individual interpretation compulsory rather than voluntary,” he said.

“The Supreme Court has failed to recognize this distinction. It has confused the fundamental acknowledgment of natural religious truths with individual and group interpretation and the attempt to make the individual interpretation compulsory rather than voluntary,” he said.

“For the fact would appear to be that the people of the United States have been and are a religious people, a God fearing people, a God worshiping people,” Cardinal McIntyre said. “The present thinking and action of our Supreme Court would seem to constitute a gross diversion of fundamental principle. This diversion portends destruction to the ideal American way of life and it is our prayer that constitutional action will be taken to obviate the consequences of these recent decisions.”
DISCUSS FEDERAL ASSISTANCE TO CHURCH SCHOOLS

Catholic, Jewish Lawyers Debate Aid

BOSTON (AP) — "Government cannot lawfully give direct aid to religious education," a leading advocate of absolute church-state separation said in a debate here.

"But the Church is not seeking direct aid to religious education, only indirect aid to non-religious parts of its school program," a Catholic spokesman answered.

Pfeffer, counsel for the American Jewish Congress, New York, conceded in a debate that the government may constitutionally aid religious schools "indirectly and as a by-product" of other programs.

Pfeffer debated William B. Ball, general counsel of the Pennsylvania Catholic Welfare Committee, Harrisburg, on the subject: "Resolved: That the Federal Aid Bill be Made Available to Church-Related Schools."

The debate was held as part of the 1963 Advance Administration Institute, a seminar for school administrators at Harvard University.

"Direct aid to religious education is clearly unconstitutional," Pfeffer argued. "It is forbidden by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and by laws in every one of the 50 states.

"If by some chance, such aid should be found constitutional at a future date, I think it would be unwise," he said.

There would be two direct results of such Federal aid, he said. They would be: fragmentation of the public school system into Catholic, Lutheran, Episcopalian, and other denominational school systems, and government control of what is now private education.

Arguing for the affirmative, Ball said the Catholic school policies fulfill "public objectives."

Private Pupils' Rights At Issue

CLEVELAND (AP) — The question of rights of children in parochial schools has erupted in three area communities.

In Chesterland, the public school board received a petition signed by 2,107 voters asking that public school buses transport children to St. Anthony Parochial School which would open in the fall in a short but stormy session, the board tabled the request.

In Medina, a request that the school board lease buses — for pay — to St. Francis Xavier parish was originally turned down by the board and now is headed for a ruling by Ohio Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe.

In North Canton, the 13 ministers said that if the state deems tax-paid school buses viable for public schools children, then children attending non-public schools "should not be discriminated against because of their religious creed."

Ministers Back Bill To Give Bus Rides To All Students

HARRISBURG (AP) — Thirteen Protestant ministers have backed a bill to provide tax-paid school bus rides for parochial and other private school pupils.

They said in a letter to Gov. William Scranton that they believe it would be "for the welfare of the state" if the bill is enacted.

The statement differs radically from a broad condemnation of the bill and its purpose made earlier by the Pennsylvania Council of Churches.

The 13 ministers said that if the state deems tax-paid bus rides vital for public school children, then children attending non-public schools "should not be discriminated against because of their religious creed."

The United States is presently passing through an educational crisis, he warned. In such a crisis, the government should aid all segments of education and at present one-sixth of all American school children are in church-related schools.

This great educational effort deserves recognition and support, he said.

Catholic educators are not asking for direct aid or for support for their religious activities, merely for indirect aid and the support of those activities which fulfill public objectives, he concluded.

Willie Pastrano Talks To HNS

Willie Pastrano, light-heavyweight boxing champion, was the guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Holy Name Society of St. Vincent de Paul parish. Pastrano gave a short talk, and then answered questions on the present-day condition of boxing.

A Swinging Game —

The Score: 26-22

The Holy Rosary girls softball team smashed their way to a 36 to 32 win over St. Vincent de Paul in an inter-parish league contest last week. Joanne Mulligan’s grand slam homer was the deciding stroke for Holy Rosary.

In the other only game played last week, Our Lady of Perpetual Help came out ahead of the Visitation girls by a score of 19 to 11. Carol Vosper hurled the win for Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

League Leaders Stay Undefeated

The St. Peter and Paul softball squad dealt with Blessed Trinity in their usual efficient fashion Sunday, handing them a 14 to 4 loss. The league leaders unleashed a fearful hitting attack in which Freddie Orlig, Henry Budrow, and Dick Holder joined forces for 18 hits, giving pitcher Ray Garcia all the help he needed for the win. Next week, they’ll be at home to take on the St. Timothy nine, who dropped a 5 to 4 decision to Holy Rosary.

PERFECT DAY

The Cathedral pounded out an 18 to 4 win over Our Lady of Perpetual Help, as Wayne Griffin and Paul Michaels went 4 for 4, with Paul picking up 6 RBI’s. Bill Diring was 3 for 4, and Doug Bradley had a perfect day, 3 for 3.

St. Dominic rolled over Immaculate Conception 13 to 7 as Dennis Bald picked up 4 for 4, and Normar Charron and Garry Hinds smashed circuit blows. John Alano lifted one homer and was the leading batsman in Immaculate Conception’s losing cause. In other league play, Holy Family downed St. Lawrence 7 to 1, and Corpus Christi cut slugged St. John the Apostle 23 to 12.

St. James was to have met St. Vincent Sunday, but the contest was postponed until a later date.

The League schedule for Sunday, July 21, is as follows:

St. James at Corpus Christi
Blessed Trinity at Immaculate Conception
St. Rose of Lima at Holy Family
The Cathedral at St. Dominic
St. Brendan at St. Vincent de Paul
Holy Rosary at Our Lady of Perpetual Help
St. Timothy at St. Peter and Paul
St. Lawrence at St. John the Apostle.

Leads in Runners

Bill Zloch, in case your memory needs review, is a pitcher who was named a scholarship after being a basketball star, who also earned a scholarship to the University of Notre Dame this Fall. And is among the nation’s top football players.

Notre Dame this Fall...and is among the nation’s top football players.

Bill earned his No. 2 ranking on the strength of two game-type performances the squad had prior to the annual Varsity-Old Timers game.

In the first, to routed two touchdowns and ran for another while in the second game he scored on a 60-yard opy play with the halfback, threw for another TD and ran a 20-yarder himself.

Bill got to play only a little in the Old Timers game, a situation which he admits disappointed him.

UNDER PRESSURE

“I asked the coaches afterwards and they told me that they wanted to use Dennis Stotz and John Huarte to see what they would do under the pressure,” they’re the two who are fighting for the starting job.

“They said they knew what I could do,” Zloch also found out that college football is a lot different. Everything is done in series, with one play leading to another.

Joining Zloch among the quarter back corps at Notre Dame is Frank Budka, the Pompano Beach High Flash, who has been a good year as a sophomore and was just 20-20 last season.

GOES FOR LONG ONE

Bill has an explanation for this.

“Frank likes to go for the long one and the touchdowns pass all the time. After the defenses learned this, they just dropped back and think he’s realism. This now, and will go for the short ones.”

“Bill, he’s a terrific football player, real good on defense and real good at quarterback.”

Zloch also had words of praise for Ruby McClain, the West Palm Beach Cardinal Newman basketball star, who also earned a scholarship after being picked as the diocese’ top basketball player for two straight years.

GOOD IMPRESSION

“Ruby made a good ‘résumé on the coaches and I’m sure he’ll make the varsity traveling squad this winter.

“However, don’t expect us to see him play too much for quite a while. Almost all of last year’s team is coming back and, at one time, the starting lineup was all sophomores.

“No, he’s got a tough thing to do.”

All three South Florida’s athletes have a “tough thing” to crack, considering the caliber of athletes that Notre Dame draws...but it sure would be nice to see all three make the grade.
The Good Ol’ Summertime

A program of summer activities for young members of Corpus Christi parish attracts about 175 boys and girls daily on the parish grounds.

With the aid of CYO members who serve as counselors and under the supervision of Father John W. Glorie, assistant pastor, a variety of activities geared to the interest of youth is offered Monday through Friday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. for a period of six weeks.

In addition to softball and basketball, two portable swimming pools are available for the youngsters as well as sandboxes. Indoor activities include a wide selection of games, ping pong, and arts and crafts.

Each day a different group of youngsters is transported by bus to swim in the ocean at Miami Beach where they are under the watchful eye of several of the CYO counselors who have volunteered their services in the summer program.
How Late Should Teenager Stay Out During Summer?

Dear Doris:

I will be a senior in high school next year. My father is very strict about my being in the house at night. Shouldn’t I be allowed to stay out late in the summer?

Bob C.

All things considered I think you should be allowed to stay out late during the summer. But how late is later? First, consider when, where and how of the occasion.

Crisp Popovers Add A Festive Touch

For breakfast, lunch or any meal of the day crisp 'n' fluffy popovers add a festive note.

Popovers are simplicity itself to prepare. The ingredients are combined, then beaten thoroughly with an electric mixer or rotary beater until the batter is smooth. Thorough beating assures popovers that really "pop."

Greasé the popover pans or custard cups thoroughly with solid shortening for easy removal of the hot popovers. For extra crisp popovers preheat the pans in the oven while you're preparing the batter; bake the popovers till golden brown, then prick the sides with a fork and continue baking at a lower temperature.

Prepare these Almond Popovers—so good plain or with butter and raspberry jam—then try other variations. The hollow cavity formed inside the popover as it bakes is a natural container for other foods, and its crispness contrasts nicely with softer textures. For instance, bacon popovers filled with crumbled eggs are a special weekend brunch treat.

ALMOND POPOVERS

2 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon melted shortening or oil
Blend eggs, milk, shortening or oil and salt. Blend in flour
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon finely chopped almonds
Bake at 375 degrees F. for 20 minutes. Serve with butter. Makes 6 large or 11 small popovers.

VARIATIONS:

Bacon Popovers: Cook 3 strips of bacon until crisp. Drain. Substitute 1 tablespoon bacon drippings for shortening or oil in popovers recipe. Substitute finely crumbled bacon for almonds. To serve, fill baked popovers with crumbled bacon.

Cheese Popovers: Blend 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese or grated American cheese product into egg mixture and omit almonds. To serve, fill baked popovers with applesauce or cooked apple slices.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP

1 can (1 lb and 4 oz) San Marzano tomatoes
2 slices of onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese or grated American cheese product

The seasoned pureed tomato mixture is added to a white sauce to prevent cuddling.

POTATO SOUP

2 cups diced potatoes
1 small onion, sliced
2 cups water
1/2 cup milk
salt and pepper to taste

POTATO ONION SOUP

2 tablespoons minced onion
1/2 cup diced potatoes
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons mushrooms
salt and pepper to taste

Serve hot or cold, as desired.
I have been dating a very lovely girl named Alice for almost seven months and am just about ready to propose marriage. I know all about the responsibilities of bed, board and support, but psychologically what am I getting into? What do I gain? What do I lose? What kind of commitment am I binding myself to?

FATHER WALTER W. IMBORSKI
Family Life Director, Archdiocese of Chicago
(Guest Columnist for Father John L. Thomas, S. J.)

It is understandably difficult to visualize yourself as married and see what changes this will mean in your life, but it is a worthwhile exercise. Let’s look at it this way.

Marriage involves a complete commitment. Marriage is not just sharing love, and resolving issues. Marriage means caring totally for another throughout life.

You are committing yourself to support Alice. Be concerned about her, bring out the best in her, perfect her according to God’s plan, and lead her to heaven.

A Solemn, Formal Agreement

The word “spouse” comes from the Latin “spondeo” which means “I commit myself.” When you marry, you make a solemn agreement by which you gain certain things and give others up.

You give up freedom of choice. As a single person you are free to marry or not to marry. When you marry this choice is expended. You can no longer look over the field.

You give up freedom of action. As a single person you are free to spend your money, use your time, change your job, join the Peace Corps or move to New Zealand. As a married person these freedoms are limited and constricted, ... some even taken away.

In marriage you are committed to and responsible (that is, answerable) for the good of another. You take on a life which means communication, consultation, mutual decisions, and an obligation to consider how your actions affect the partner and the family.

You gain someone who not only loves you, but freely promises to go on loving you and being faithful, caring for you and putting you first, regardless of what happens.

Involves Effort, Work

Commitment in marriage involves effort and work. It means you agree to do certain things and avoid others. By their very nature your wedding vows bind you to make practical adjustments — to live together, eat together, sleep together, speak together, plan together, spend time together, play and pray, to laugh and cry together. Adjustments in marriage are not optional.

When you stand as the personification of Christ’s creative and redemptive love for this person. You have vowed your love in solemn vows, you are responsible for this person forever.
In order to compete against the larger promotion budgets of other markets, many South Florida tourist interests have advocated a special tax on hotel rooms with the revenue to be used exclusively for more advertising and publicity.

A comparatively high tax exists in many countries without deterring tourists, they argue. APA Panama Airlines research files show most Latin American hotels add a 10 per cent service charge to room bills. The additional government tax varies: Lima, Peru — 7.25 per cent; Quito, Ecuador — 10 per cent; Buenos Aires — 18 per cent.

In Europe, the hotel room service charge alone usually starts at about 15 per cent. By contrast, South Florida hotels have no service charge and only a three per cent sales tax.

Units of measurement abroad are often confusing, observes B. Lewis Masin, Travel Inc., Coral Gables. When a woman gains a stone on her European vacation, she may be either engaged or 14 lbs. heavier.

A lady’s size five shoe in the United States is measured as a demoralizing size 38 in Europe, while a man’s size 34 suit is an ego-lifting European size 44.

But although European women are allegedly more subservient to men than American women, there is probably no significance in the fact that the modest size seven U.S. man’s hat is a big size 57 in Europe.

The practice by some hotels, night clubs, and tourist attractions of paying taxi drivers a commission known as “turkey money” is usually very hush-hush and often illegal. But Eleanor Walker, at McCann-Marschalk, Miami, recently discovered a display advertisement in the leading Honolulu newspaper saying, “Tour Drivers — Tourists will thank you for bringing them to Island Fashions — 10 per cent commission for you!”

Financial public relations expert H. Buzz Avrutis, Miller Bacon Avrutis & Simons Advertising, noted that the major tourist attraction in Kotzebue, Alaska, where jade sells for $2.50 to $3.50 a pound, is a 20 ton boulder of pure jade. This treasure is guarded by only a sagging wire fence and a wooden “Keep Off” sign. Mrs. Avrutis is presently vacationing in Alaska.

DOTS AND DASHES — Forrest Crane, who has worked so tirelessly to help develop Fort Lauderdale, reflects that in 1950 the total population of the canal-laced city was only 36,328...Henry Yanis, president of Hollywood Travel (Fla.) authoritatively reports that the small Philippine bands which dominate the tourist entertainment of most of the Orient play authentic Cuban music...Children are enchanted by the gay, brightly colored, circus animal display in the lobby of the Balmoral Hotel, Fu Manchu Restaurant has had the same chef and kitchen staff for 23 years...Joe Dwyer, research director of Harris, Buggeln & Brumby Advertising says one of the surest barometers of a community’s tourist business is its garbage collections.

Auge Creciente de los Cursillos de Cristiandad en Venezuela

"Nunca creí que un movimiento iniciado hace menos de cuatro años pudiera alcanzar un relieve semejante. La cifra de los cursillistas as ciendo actualmente a casi 20 mil y crece a un ritmo de más de 300 por mes," expresó el padre Arrillaga, agregando:

"La recreación de los ambientes y de las estructuras de Venezuela es ya una realidad. El fervorous cursillismo va penetrando en los colegios profesionales, empresas, organismos oficiales y políticos, escuelas militares, y sobre todo en la Universidad.

Coincidiendo con el regreso del padre Arrillaga se está efectuando en el Seminario Diocesano de Miami el octavo cursillo de cristiandad que en poco más de un año se ofrece en esta ciudad. Seis han sido para hombres y una para mujeres.

En el programa de verano se ofrecen de lunes a viernes todos los días unos 175 niños y niñas a los terrenos de la parroquia del Corpus Christi, donde asistió a la segunda asamblea nacional del Movimiento de Cursillos de Cristiandad para mujeres de Venezuela.

Según el padre Arrillaga, "La recristianización de los jóvenes es una realidad. El fervoroso cursillismo va penetrando en los colegios profesionales, empresas, organismos oficiales y políticos, escuelas militares, y sobre todo en la Universidad.

"Pero sin duda la tarea apostólica más importante del movimiento cursillista es la que realizan sus miembros de manera callada con su "apostolado espiritual": la conquista de sujetos para los cursos y para una vida de gracia y sacramentos".

En varias ocasiones el movimiento de Cursillos de Venezuela ha cooperado con el de Miami, suministrándole acreditaciones y seguros con experiencia en la obra para la organización en esta localidad. Fueron el padre Cesareo Gil y un grupo de mujeres cursillistas de Venezuela quienes dirigieron el primer Cursillo de Cristiandad para mujeres en Miami hace varias semanas, habiendo cooperado también con anterioridad al desarrollo del programa de la rama masculina.

A través de este artículo se está ofreciendo una visión actual del "Paseo de Milones", escrito por el R.P. John A. O'Brien, profesor de Teología de la Universidad Católica de Miami, sobre el desarrollo de las doctrinas de la Iglesia Católica. Hasta ahora se han publicado más de 800,000 ejemplares de esta obra, que ha sido traducida a diversos idiomas.

CAPITULO VII
La Iglesia Católica: ¿Es Humana o Divina?

La Iglesia Católica de origen puramente humano, o es una institución fundada directamente e inmediatamente por Jesús y encomendada a hablaz el mundo con la autoridad del mismo Cristo?... Esta es la cuestión fundamental que los hombres inteligentes deben resolver en nuestros días. De su resolución se derivarán consecuencias de trascendental importancia.

Si la Iglesia tuvo origen puramente humano, nada de sagrado tiene sus enseñanzas, nada de inalterable sus doctrinas. Más si es de origen divino, sus doctrinas son de una santidad que el hombre no pudo conferirle y su credo no puede mudarlo el capricho humano, pues las verdades que Dios ha revelado, no son para un solo día, sino para todo el tiempo y la eternidad.

A medida que la serena investigación de los lenguajes mil que se han opuesto a su nacimiento y en los obstáculos mil que se han opuesto a su desarrollo, más vivido y explorable se nos muestra su progreso y conquista del mundo.

Cuando mejor comprendemos el verdadero carácter y magnitud de los obstáculos, tanto más los convencemos de que estos son insuperables por el solo ingenio del hombre. Sólo mediante el sobrenatural auxilio y socorro, pudo Dios permitir su nacimiento y en los obstáculos mil que se han opuesto a su desarrollo, más vivido y explorable se nos muestra su progreso y conquista del mundo.

El Obolo de San Pedro

El obolo de San Pedro, día 20, se efectuará en todos los templos de la Diócesis de Miami una colecta que con el nombre de "Obolo de San Pedro", está destinada a demostrar el amor y la devoción de los fieles católicos al Santo Padre, el papa, ayudándolo en su obra de protección a los pobres y necesitados.

El Obispo de Miami, Mons. Coleman F. Carroll, a hacer un llamado a la generosidad de los fieles expresó lo siguiente:

"Creo que no tengo que recordarles que la colecta de este día tiene un significado especial, ya que es nuestra primera oportunidad para indicar de manera tangible nuestra lealtad al recientemente electo Vicario de Cristo. El Papa Paulo VI, no menos que sus grandes predecesores, tiene que seguir enfrentándose con las súplicas que surgen de los pobres y oprimidos en muchas naciones. Adornado de gloria eterna, el papa se alzará como un sol en el firmamento de la cristiandad.

Al establecer la obediencia, pa
da que los jóvenes estudian tes cubanos puedan continuar sus estudios en distintas universidades de los Estados Unidos, la Agencia Católica del Centro de Refugiados ha iniciado un nuevo servicio en favor de los exiliados cubanos.

La oficina del Catholic Relief Services radicada en el Centro de Refugiados Cubanos ha establecido contactos con universidades e instituciones de alta cultura de los Estados Unidos, para promover la admisión de estudiantes cubanos en esos centros.

No se trata de becas ni de regalos, según explicó la Sr. Nelly O'Brien de La Salle, asistente del director de la Agencia Católica. Sr. Hugh McKeon. "Es el apoyo absoluto de jóvenes valiosos para que puedan continuar sus estudios.

Menos a la Juventud

El Padre Eugenio del Busto está dedicado a la juventud, con navidades de decenas de recién electos Vicarios de Cristo. Lebanon: Remembering Pope John XXIII

In SIDON, a city of Lebanon once known as Christ, Christians, and Muslims together attended a memorial Mass July 7 for the late beloved Pope John XXIII. City officials proclaimed a minute of silence honoring his honor and clergy of the two faiths were present at the service, demonstrating dramatically the spirit of fraternal love Pope John so ardently desired.

... Muslims and Christians about equally. The Pope, in 1962, made a historic trip to Lebanon, which has a population of 1.3 million inhabitants. In the city of KOYOUI- TEL, however, there are 800 Catholic... Members of the Greek Melchite rite, they are so poor they may have had to do with a routed rope for food. They cannot come... presents many from attending... Inspired by their Bishop, they are trying to build a modest parish church. It is 17 feet wide. But as most are day laborers and farm hands they can't give enough money to complete the building... $4,000 is needed. Can you give a lot or a little help?

PENNIES FROM RIDGWOOD

"Dear Monsignor Ryan: I am interested in helping the Missions. I have been saving pennies with my mother's and friend's help to try to educate a sister. I am enclosing $0.98 until I can save more. Will you please send me the name of a Sister so we can get acquainted?"

— K. O.T. Ridgwood, N. Y.

10 years old

On the occasion of Pope John XXIII's coronation anniversary, the late CARDINAL MONTINI celebrated a Mass in the Am- erican Rite. The Cardinal of Milan is the successor of St. Am- brose, Father and Doctor of the Church, who originated one of the several rites in the Western Church... Our Association has the care of those 16 countries where Eastern Rites predomi- nate: Iraq, Iran, Ceylon, Malaya, Argentina, Brazil, and Lebanon... Kibehio, India, Ethiopia and others. Our task is to help the priests, sisters and brothers in these lands to grow in holiness and material and mental needs of their people. Your $1 a year membership helps support these religious missions of the Holy Cross, Missions, frequently their only source of daily sustenance.

Will man be on the moon in six years? That target date is still in doubt. But while scientific minds struggle to advance this project, other minds work toward a different goal. Yes, it is... the moon. But as most are day laborers and farm hands they cannot give enough money to complete the building...

STEPHEN MENACHERRY and JOSE FRANCIS AKKARAKAbrose, Father and Doctor of the Church, who originated one of the religions.

"If you do not think it important, next to God's infinite goodness performed in redemption, your light shine before men, in proving holy days... The bonds of our union are... the Communion of Saints. The "Holy Shroud" has been... The "Holy Shroud" has been..."
