Second Session Of Vatican Council Opens Sunday

To the Clergy and Laity of the Diocese of Miami:

Pope Paul VI has officially called the second session of Vatican Council II which opens Sunday, Sept. 29th. When you read this letter your Bishop will be in Rome awaiting the opening of the 2nd Session.

In his first public statement after his election Pope Paul declared that His Pontificate would be prominently concerned with the continuation of the Vatican Council, originally convoked by the beloved and greatly lamented Pope John XXIII. "This will be," he said, "the principal task for which we intend to spend all the energies which the Lord has given to us."

In a recent letter addressed to all the Bishops of the world (the Fathers of the Council), the new Pontiff recalled the purposes of the Council as stated by John XXIII. "The Church," he said, "must be made to appear in its personal vigor, as the light of salvation for all." A few days ago — Our Holy Father again expressed the hope that "the Council would result in the hastening of the union of separated brothers with the Catholic Church and bring about the promotion of peace and spiritual prosperity of humanity throughout the world."

I call your attention to the fact that while the general Sessions of the Council were suspended last December, the work of the Council was not interrupted. Many special commissions have not regularly studied the changes and amendments proposed by the Bishops, either at the First Session, or submitted in writing since December. The Bishops have the sole right to vote during the Council, and the Decrees of the Council will be finally promulgated by the Holy Father. However, all should be vitally interested in the proceedings of the Council since all of you, with the Pope and the Bishops, constitute the Church of Christ. During the past several months, I have made known to you that it is your right to suggest subjects for the consideration of the Council Fathers at the 2nd Session. Many of our priests and laity have done so.

There is every reason to believe that the proceedings of this Session will be of special interest to all, and that you will follow with great concern the reported deliberations. Our Diocesan paper "The Voice" has sent Monsignor James Walsh to Rome to report in detail the events as they transpire. His special articles will give much background information that will enable you to have a better understanding of the questions under deliberation, and thus enable you to discuss with your neighbors in a more intelligent way these important matters that will be of interest to so many.

The Rev. David Hefner, Diocesan Director of Radio and Television, will be in Rome next week and will endeavor to bring to you, by way of weekly television programs on film, events as they are happening during this historic Council.

The success of the Council will depend not on the deliberations of the theologians, canonists and historians, nor on the discussions of the 2500 Bishops whose experiences cover the five continents of this earth. The success of the Council will ultimately come from the light and strength given to it by the Holy Spirit. It is for this reason that all can participate personally and actively in the Council.

Recently Pope Paul invited "not only the Bishops but also the Clergy and the Christian people, to pray for the Council and offer their works of piety for its success." He asked especially for the prayers of the sick, the infirm, the aged and little children. I am asking the priests of the Diocese to include in all their Masses, special prayers for the Holy Spirit and that at the conclusion of every Mass the faithful recite, together with the priest, the prayer to the Holy Spirit:

"O Holy Spirit, Spirit of Truth, come into our hearts. Shed the brightness of Thy light on all nations, that they may be one in Faith and pleasing to Thee, through Christ Our Lord. Amen."

I ask that the prayer written by Pope John XXIII for the success of the Council be offered daily in our schools and, wherever possible, by all the members of the family each day.

I urge in the words of Pope Paul VI that all "willingly perform voluntary mortifications and pardon offenses received" and "give their Christian charities as a form of good works, naming especially those that help the poor and the sick."

I suggest, too, that when the opportunity arises you call to the attention of our separated brethren the desire that they too continue their interest in this Council Session and ask of them a fervent prayer for its success.

Finally, an act of a frequent prayer that I may, under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, fulfill the responsibilities of a Father of the Council.

Fraternally and sincerely yours in Christ,

Pope Paul To Decentralize Roman Curia

VATICAN CITY (NO) — On the eve of the opening of the second session of the Vatican Council, Pope Paul VI announced he will simplify and decentralize the Roman curia, the body. He will centralize the Roman curia, the second session of Vatican Council II which opens Sunday, Sept. 29. The above picture taken during the inauguration of the first session shows the nave of the Basilica specially adapted to the purpose of the meeting. Archbishops and bishops, in white copes and mitres, are assembled in tiers of seats extending from the front doors to the center of the Basilica. Mass is offered daily at altar erected in center aisle.

COUNCIL DROPS SECRECY RULE

VATICAN CITY (NO) — The rule of secrecy will be lifted for the second session of the ecumenical council in regard to discussions on the council floor.

In a new plan for press information expected to be announced shortly, the rule of secrecy will apply only to what takes place at meetings of council commissions and also for speeches and remarks of those council Fathers who express the wish that their remarks not be given to the public.

The Pope outlined some of the reforms:

- Members of the curia will be recruited on a "super-national" basis. At present its membership is predominantly Italian.
- Members will receive what the Pope called an "ecumenical" education in preparation for the curia work.
- Local bishops will take over functions now performed by the curia which can be handled more efficiently on a local basis.
- Local bishops may be brought into the curia.

Pope Paul stated:

"And We shall say more: Should the ecumenical council show a desire of seeing some representatives of the episcopacy, particularly priests who di-

The Pope spoke in the Hall of Benedictions over the front perch of St. Peter's Basilica. Members and workers of the Curia— from cardinals to typists— filled the vast room, which is as long as St. Peter's is wide. Members and workers of the Curia. He turned then to the ecumenical council now under way. He said it had been desired by the Curia itself, “a Pope to whom in fact the spontaneous acclamations of the public voice apply the Gospel words about the forerunner of Christ: "There was a man sent by God whose name was John."

The Curia must "live" this council, he said.

The Pope said that he has made Pope John’s heritage his own, and that he is making of that heritage a "program for the exercise of the Pope’s apostolic activity."

He emphasized several times that perfect unity of minds must reign between the Pope and his Curia.

"We are certain that no hesitations regarding the chief desires of the Postuff will ever come from the Roman Curia: that the Curia will never be suspected of any differences of judgment of the feelings with regard to judgments or feelings of the Pope," he said.

He spoke of the "immediate adherence and absolute obedience" which the Pope relies on from the Curia to carry out his mission.

"And it is this essential relation of the Roman Curia with the exercise of the Pope's apostolic activity which in the justification of the Church itself," he said.

He described the role of the Curia as "a hearing and interpreting the voice of the Pope and at the same time not letting him lack any useful and objective information, any filial and well-considered advice."

Criticism of the Roman Curia comes chiefly from the Curia itself, he said, adding that such criticism is "providential."

"We must accept the criticisms that surround us, with humility, with reflection and even with gratitude," he said. "Rome has no need to defend itself. It has always had a triple security: self-trust, the Holy Father himself and the Curia itself."

A WOMAN knelt in the streets of Rome and said, "June 2, 1963, the good Pope John was dead."

With his death the work of the Second Vatican Council came to an abrupt halt. Without a Pope there is no council. He is its president, he alone can approve its decrees. "I hope I will live to see the end of the council," Pope John had said the previous December, but if not "there will surely be another pope." Who was this new Pope to be? Would he recall the council? Disband it? Postpone it? How soon could the work begin under a new pope? The most optimistic said "six months." Others said "a year." Meanwhile all eyes focused on Rome.

WITHIN 15 DAYS the answers started coming. The largest conclave of cardinals ever assembled elected Giovanni Cardinal Montini of Milan to head the Church. He chose the name Paul VI and on the very day of his election pledged that "the pre-eminent part of our pontificate will be the continuation of the Second Vatican Council, on which are fixed the eyes of all men of good will." This was June 21. By July 3, the world discovered that the new Pope shared the urgent, vital yearning of Pope John for the council and Church renewal. The postponement was not months or years, only three weeks. The council would reconvene on Sept. 30.

THERE WAS NO time to lose. In Rome the Central Coordinating Commission resumed its work. At the end of the first session Pope John said: "A good beginning has been made." But, he added "the work that awaits us is of the greatest importance." Part of that work he assigned to the Central Coordinating Commission. In the interim between the two sessions these 13 council fathers were charged with re-examining and perfecting the projects presented to the council. The stress to be on the pastoral rather than the doctrinal; coordinate, compress, clarify as much as possible, but there were their instructions. Pope Paul added three cardinals to help expedite the work.

NOT ONLY in Rome did the studies begin. Throughout the world in the 16 months between sessions all the bishops returned to their books. Back in early February Pope John wrote each bishop. He asked them to study, to research, to discuss the projects coming up at the next session.

IN THE INTERIM the council changed too. Most important: Pope Paul VI, the new presiding officer. He replaces Pope John as, what one observer called, "the pivot of the council." Over 60 council fathers, including four cardinals are dead. Some held posts in the working commissions. Pope Paul set about to replace them. Heading his list of appointments are not replacements but three new members added to the council's Board of Presidents. These prelates preside at the day-to-day sessions, regulating speeches, holding votes, running the meetings. His appointments: Chicago's Cardinal Meyer, Poland's Cardinal Wyszynski, and Genoa's Cardinal Siri.

PRAYER FOR COUNCIL BY POPE JOHN

O DIVINE SPIRIT, Thou who, sent by the Father in the name of Jesus, dost assist and infallibly guide the Church graciously pour forth upon the Ecumenical Council the fullness of Thy gifts.

O Teacher and Comforter, come in sweetness to enlighten the minds of our Bishops who, responding to the call of the Supreme Pontiff in Rome, are to gather in solemn session. Grant that this council may bring forth abundant fruit; that the light and strength of the Gospel may radiate ever wider throughout the human community; that the Catholic religion and its missionary impetus may take on new vigor; that there be deeper knowledge of the teachings of the Church and healthful progress towards a more Christian way of life.

Most sweet Guest of our souls, confirm our minds in truth and make our hearts ready for obedience, so that decisions of the Council may find us generous in accord and prompt in fulfillment.

We pray to Thee also for the sheep that are no longer of the one fold of Jesus Christ; may they who rejoice to bear the name of Christian be at last restored to unity under one Shepherd.

Renew in our days Thy wonders, as in a new Pentecost; and grant that Holy Church, gathered in one same heartfelt prayer around Mary, Mother of Jesus, and under the guidance of Peter, may spread the kingdom of our divine Saviour; kingdom of truth, of justice, of love and of peace. Amen.

POPE SEEKS HARMONY BETWEEN GOVERNMENT, BUDDHISTS
Conciliation Urged On Vietnam

FRIBOURG (NC) — Pope Paul VI has sent a letter to Archbishop Pierre Ngo Dinh Thuc of Hue, Vietnam, calling for further efforts by the Church and Buddhists to conciliate the government-Buddhist clash in that southeast Asian nation.

Archbishop Thuc was in Switzerland for a brief visit before going to Rome for the ecumenical council's second session. While here, the Archbishop complained at a press conference about what he called unreliable press reports on the situation in his country and said that the Church in Vietnam should not be held responsible for the actions of the country's government.

In his letter Pope Paul said:

"We have followed with fear and anxiety the news that has come to us on the special situation in your country in recent months and on the bloody events that have marked it.

"We are consoled by the fact that the Catholic Church in Vietnam has kept itself outside the conflicts of a political order, as its mission requires, and has undertaken and will continue to undertake, through its bishops, priests and faithful, so many attempts at conciliation by calling the attention of the government and citizens to the value and efficacy of the principles of justice and evangelical charity as a guarantee of peace and progress for all."

Pope Paul also urged Vietnamese Catholics to work even harder to bring internal peace back to their country. He told them:

"A most ardent desire also arises in our heart that every undertaking of good will suitable and proper to the accomplishment of such a good be fruitful and lastingly asserted so that all may enjoy their common individual and social rights in peace."

The same letter was sent to Archbishop Thuc by Paul Nguyen van Ninh of Saigon and released in the Vietnamese capital several days before a copy reached Archbishop Thuc here.

Kremlin Now Cannot Ignore Church, Vatican Daily Says

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Soviet Premier Nikita Krushchev’s son-in-law asked for an audience with the late Pope John last March because the Kremlin has learned that mortal forces, particularly the Church, cannot be ignored. That is the opinion given by the Vatican City weekly, L’Osservatore della Domenica, in an editorial commenting on the recent Russian Moscow broadcast in which Alexei Adzhubei talked about the audience. The editor of the Soviet government daily, Izvestia, said he talked about peace with Pope John, and added that the Holy See is being forced to take a strong stand for peace by the “demands of millions — strong masses — who otherwise would begin breaking away from the Vatican.”

The Vatican City weekly stated: "The Kremlin rulers have re- alized so many forces and particularly the Church — even though they have no divisions — have a weight that cannot be neglected."

Therefore, L’Osservatore della Domenica continued, the Soviet chieftains have decid- ed that “it is wise to take these forces into account, to study them and grab opportunities which situations offer in turn to them in their own advan- tage."

"It is for this reason that Mr. Adzhubei came to John XXIII."

"And the Pope received him in the hope that the "new po- litical realism" of Moscow could be extended somehow to Catho- licism, for which many years have suffered under grave and un- j u s t restrictions in the U.S.S.R. That is all."

"But the communists feel the need to justify themselves. They discover a changed attitude of the Church toward peace and attribute it to the indirect but powerful influence of the proletarian movement."

This, the Vatican City weekly said, is "a truly Marxist kind of logic. There is no objective positive fact — political, economic or so — that is not due to the act or indirect influence of commu- nism, which always wins, especially when it loses."

The editorial took issue with Adzhubei’s statement that Catholicism is an ideology "extremely hostile to us in communists."

It stated:

"The problem must be put in opposite terms. Communism is a form of atheistic materialism which mounts an im- possible war against religion with the declared intention of destroying it."

"The pretext that, in the face of these intentions, which unfortunately have been confirmed by facts, Catholicism should remain indifferent is to say the least, excessive."

"Communism’s real aim, the editorial concluded, is to ren- der the Church useless, to make it a ‘Church no longer Catho- lic, no longer the force which forms consciences, men and history.’"

Adzhubei says Krushchev Sent Him to See Pope John

ROME (NC) — Nikita Krushchev’s son-in-law stated on his first trip to Italy since his fa- mous meeting with Pope John XXIII last March 7 that the Soviet Premier himself sent him to visit the late Pope.

But he added that the visit was his own idea. Alexei Adzhubei also remarked that the Soviet regime is looking to "extend some kind of influence over the Catholic Church toward peace and the development of this line indicated by his predecessor.”

Adzhubei, editor of the Soviet government daily newspaper Iz- vestia, was speaking to a report- er of the Rome daily Il Messa- ggiore aboard a Soviet yacht in the Bay of Naples.

Asked Krushchev’s reaction when Adzhubei told him the de- tails of his visit to Pope John, the editor replied:

"He was happy. It was he who sent me to Rome — he who approved my idea, that is."

Of Pope Paul he said it is "too soon to say anything of this Pope who follows the great John XXIII."

Then he added: "I can tell you only one thing, and that is that we await from Paul VI a develop- ment of that line indicated by his predecessor. Isn’t it per- haps true that the Catholic Church is traditionalistic? Well, our hope is that once it has turned into a new path it can always arrive at a closer and more peaceful human understand- ing, the indispensable ba- sis for relations among oppos- ing ideologies.”

Was Adzhubei thinking of vis- iting Pope Paul?

"That is a question I would call premature and to which I wouldn’t know how to reply, be- cause no matter what a visitor one must be invited. Believe me, that’s the whole point of the gesture.”

Council To Study Role Of Bishops

(The following article highlights the question of the nature of the Church, which is expected to be the first major topic of the Second session of the Second Vatican Council. The question is important to ecclesiology.)

By FR. GUSTAVE WEIGEL, S.J.

Church is always considered in the Church. In Sacred Scripture there is much that has to do with the Ecclesia, the Church. But the Church is always considered in terms of images, no definition is attempted.

The reason for the glaring lack of definition in so important a reality as the Church is that she is a mystery, God, being a mystery, cannot be defined according to the rigors of philosophical definitions. This is a truly true of God. Church. If so council of the past has given us a defining formula, we need not expect one from the Second Vatican Council.

Yet though the Church cannot be defined, much can be known and said about her. During the last few centuries many questions have been raised about the Church and her nature. These questions have been serious and trying. We expect from the present council some answers to some of these questions.

GRASPED IN FAITH

The Church of Christ is one, but it has many dimensions. You can look at her through the glass of liturgy. She can be grasped in faith. Since she is a mystery, cannot be defined, much can be known and said about her. During the last few centuries many questions have been raised about the Church and her nature. These questions have been serious and trying. We expect from the present council some answers to some of these questions.

Much juridical meditation has been made in the past. In some centuries it was the only consideration given. However, study of this kind is superficial and does not satisfy the faith-enlightened mind in its search for deeper understandings of the reality which is so close to us.

Theologians in the last hundred years have been pushing for a fuller vision of our ecclesiastical structure. The time has come to lay down some guidelines and to be expected that the council will supply what is needed.

Pope John XXIII in his introductory exhortation at the first session of Vatican Council II urged the bishops to speak in such a way that the people could understand the doctrines of faith. He wanted something more practical than subtle philosophizing or merely legal outlines.

It is safe to say that in the second session of the council the bishops will earnestly try to follow the advice given by the departed pontiff. We know that they will not answer all the questions which the fact of the Church presents, but there are certain questions which are acute in our time.

TAUGHT US

The First Vatican Council dealt with one facet of the Church. It taught us what the pope's place is in the house of God. Papal primacy and papal infallibility were defined. This brought up the whole question of hierarchy. Yet so little was said about the bishop's place among the People of God. Certainly bishops are more than representatives of the Bishop of Rome. The ancient Fathers clearly saw episcopal power as wider than the exercise of papal jurisdiction. In fact they considered papal prerogatives as an implementation of the apostolic powers.

Certainly the second session of the council will tell us just what a bishop is in the Church and what his function in the Mystical Body entails. Current theologians see the apostolic office not only of local churches but also united around their universal pri- macy that they all together guide the Church universal. This idea must be analyzed and explained. We wait for the council to do so.

In our time we see some clergy at work in the local churches who are not directly under the jurisdiction of the local bishop. These are Religious, members of the old orders and some younger congregations. Known as "directly under the Pope himself.

The relationship between exempt Religious and the local ordinaries is sometimes confusing. It seems to diminish the bishop's authority in his own see. Lines must be laid down so that the bishop's powers are made clear. The question is an old one and goes back to the 8th century. But the growth of the Church in our time and in complexity requires an answer now.

Once more we can look forward to the council for authoritative doctrine on this very important point. Can the bishop toll the exempt Religious working in his diocese how they are to work here and now, or must he wait and see what they will do? The latter hypothesis could produce uncomfortable situations.

WHAT IS ROLE

In our time we have become aware that the Church is a people of God. The laity are the overwhelming mass in the Church. In Greek the word for people is laos, from which we get the term laity. Now just what is the role of the layman in the Church? Is it only a child who does not make moral judgment but does only what he is told by his paternal superiors?

He must have initiative if he is to act effectively as a mature adult member of the Mystical Body. On the other hand, his bishop is in all truth his pastor and his guide. How can lay initiative be reconciled with episcopal jurisdiction. Once more we expect the council to give us sharp and stable light.

The Second Vatican Council will be highly significant for Christian life. Religious, priests, laymen, and bishops will see their existence in a new light.

The relations between one and the other will be clearer, making for more effective cooperation and collaboration. This is highly to be desired because the Church is a living body which is always intensely active. No part of the body is passive. Even our contemplative monasteries and monasteries are not outside of the corporate vitality. They too by their activity, spiritual indeed, serve the Church and her well being.

It is clear that the council by its doctrine and directives is going to rejuvenate the whole Church. We can expect great things.
Christian Family Movement

Belations Board is Dade County's most effective weapon against the policies and further the hopes of his predecessor, it can only the foundation prepared by John.

He made it clear that he is not a leader hurriedly trained and briefed to prevent the momentum of the Council from diminishing. Pope Paul, by most accounts the closest advisor to Pope John. If the conviction has grown that he will continue the policies and further the hopes of his predecessor, it can only be because Paul himself was so often identified with John's plans and views.

His recent decision to "streamline" the machinery of the Council, his appointment of four undeniably progressive Cardinals as cardinal delegates or moderators who will have the task of directing the work of the Council, his willingness to admit certain qualified laymen and small groups of newspapermen daily to the Council chambers are all definite indications of the seriousness of his hand on the helm of the Church.

We should all earnestly renew our promise of fervent prayers that God may indeed fulfill the ardent hope of Pope John to make the Ecumenical Council a second Pentecost that all the peoples of the earth as a result may come to know, love and serve Him as their God.

The Road To Racial Justice

Christian Family Movement

"Armed with the goodwill of the public, the Community Relations Board is Dade County's most effective weapon against the racial strife that has engendered other cities."

So it was pointed out in a Miami News editorial Mon- day. The Dade County board, of which Bishop Coleman F. Carroll is chairman, has worked quietly "behind the scenes," it might be said — with the result that its ac-

Blessed Virgin Offers Man Spiritual Riches, Pope Says

ROME (NC) — Devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mary offers man spiritual riches with which he can face the crises and greatest problems of daily life, Pope Paul VI told some 5,000 members of Marian sodalities.

On his return from his summer vacation at Castelgandolfo, the Pope stopped first at the Rome church of St. Ignatius and then, with the result that his accomplishments can best be recognized by what has not happened, rather than what has happened.

No greater demonstration of the spirit of good-will and determination to achieve justice could have been given than the inspiring memorial procession last Sunday for the innocent young victims of recent Birmingham racial disorders. There were no incidents as 2,000 men, women and children, including 400 whites, marched slowly and quietly along 25 city blocks in Miami. Representatives of all faiths were in the line of march, including Catholic priests representing Bishop Carroll who earlier had said:

"I am convinced that in this way it will be made known that the Catholic Church in South Florida shares in the bereavement which has come to the Negro citizens of the South as a result of the dastardly act committed by those whose prejudices are so blinded as to react so that would be justifiable termed the 'slaughter of the innocents.'"

Truly it was a remarkable demonstration of the good faith of the city and county governments and of the people of South Florida as a whole.

Council Involves Whole Church, Not Just Bishops, Pope Declares

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope Paul VI stressed that the ecumenical council involves all members of the Church throughout the world, not just the bishops.

Addressing several thousand people attending a general audience in St. Peter's, the Pope urged them to prepare for the resumption of the council with prayer and penance. He said:

"We must remember always two things: that such an event affects the whole Church, not only the bishops meeting in the council, but also the faithful, and that the successful outcome of the council will depend primarily on the Holy Spirit, to whom we must address our prayers and our good actions."

Have Christian Churches Failed The U.S. Negro?

By Msgr. GEORGE G. BIGGINS

A Catholic layman from the Pittsburgh Archdiocesan Interracial Council has written an article for The Pittsburgh Catholic giving his personal impressions of the Aug. 29, 1963, March on Wash-

"All in all," newspaper reports, "The Negroes won trust in the white man's government and institutions because he does in the individual. Of all whites, Romans all priests, who conduct exclusive and little publicized settlement and work in Negro communities, are most trusted (by 55 per cent of Negroes)."

Given the extent of racial justtice in the United States a century after Emancipation, it is not surprising, of course, that some members of the Negro community should be critical of "what the churches and church related organisations have done thus far to promote the cause" of complete racial equality in every "state and every city."

In my judgment, however, they will be making a serious mistake if they waste too much precious time and energy on sterile and fruitless criticisms of the real or alleged failure of the churches to further the cause of civil rights.

The important thing to bear in mind is that, whatever may have been done or left undone in the past, religious organizations are today more deeply involved than ever before in the struggle for racial justice. And there is every reason to believe that in the months ahead they will play an even more important role in helping to solve the (scandal) of racial injustice. For this we can be very grateful — all of us, Negroes and whites alike.

By Father John B. SHEERIN

The chief topic of discussion at the second session of the Council of the Church, that seems to be the consensus among theologians and bishops, is "The Church":

There will be discussions relating to sources of revelation, on religious orders, to the unity of the faith and the ecclesiology. The bishops will also be asked to see the liturgy of the Mass and to consider the question: what is the Church?

In his interview in Ave Maria magazine, Bishop Basil L. Wright predicted that the bishops would compare their own dioceses with other dioceses, in order to determine the best way to serve the population.

By the time of the third session, the bishops have much work to do, and have said their prayers. They have spent a total of 15 days on the liturgy, six on the sources of revelation, three on the organization, and two on the unity and the Orthodox Churches.

About the Council, when the observers arrived in Rome last October, they came with hope and goodwill but with a certain reserve and without much reason for enthusiasm. They left behind them a certain general feeling among Protestant ministers. There was a feeling that the Church would produce little or no good. When the subject of cooperation was raised, the first barrier was Pope John, a leader of the Church in Scotland. I cannot see any real Protestant church even thinking of accepting such an idea.

In Miami, many ministers were mostly pessimistic in the view of this ecumenical remark: "I don't think the proposal will ever get far. It will not meet with many people in our church body." Another stated, "Reap the church could never be what it should be if it were a part of the protestantism. The Protestants originally broke away from the Church because of their own malpractices. They would still be afraid of such malpractices.

However, a Methodist minister, who represents some of the unsatisfied members of the Church, says that he is encouraged by the interest of the religious leaders in the idea of establishing channels through which the unity of the Church could be explored.

Hardly anyone is unaware of the potential for growth and for the changing attitude in members of most religious bodies. It seems that some will still be generations away. Undoubtedly many obstacles will appear to be mountainous. There are certain to be some misunderstandings and h u r t feelings. But they are few voices yet. It would be most unrealistic not to expect this.

However, at the same time, one year after the Council began, there is much more eagerness to prepare to come back to Rome, and many bishops are religiously preparing to return to Rome, and are actually speaking the praises of Pope John and Pope Paul. A few days ago in the public press, Bishop Fred Corson, president of the World Methodist Council, in commenting on these two leaders said, "In a way the two men complement each other. It was necessary to have a Pope John who could gain the trust of all the Christian world. Now that climate has developed, Pope Paul can provide the kind of leadership that can make this spirit permanent."

When our 22 bishops from the United States left for Rome last October, the president of the Council stated that "The bishops will not come to give hostages away. We have come to help in the preparation of the councils of more rational proposals and deliberations, to deliberate unhurriedly, to express their mature views, and in due time to cast their conscientious vote."

This has proven to be a remarkably accurate statement of the attitude that was to prevail in the Council.
Simpler Rites To Open Council

VATICAN CITY (NC) — The second session of the Second Vatican Council opens on Sunday, Sept. 29, with somewhat simpler ceremonies than those surrounding the opening of the first session last October.

Pope Paul VI, accompanied by the cardinals, is to enter the council chamber in the great nave of St. Peter’s basilica in procession. But the archbishops, bishops, abbots and heads of religious orders will simply enter St. Peter’s and take their places. Last fall all the council Fathers preceded Pope John XXIII in a solemn procession through St. Peter’s square.

The program for the resumption of the council was disclosed in an official summons sent out as is customary, by the prefect of Apostolic Ceremonies, Archbishop Enrico Dante. The opening of the session is set for 8 a.m., Rome time (5 a.m. Miami time).

Inside the basilica, the rites will begin when the Pope kneels at the Altar of the Consecration and intones the Veni Creator Spiritus, hymn invoking the aid of the Holy Spirit. Then Mass will be offered by Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, Dean of the Sacred College of Cardinals. Sept. 29 is Michaelmas, the principal feast of St. Michael the Archangel in the West, and the Mass of the feast will be offered instead of that of the Sunday.

Following the Mass, the Pope is to remove his cope and don Mass vestments. Then the council Fathers will offer their “obedience” to him as he sits upon a throne. Following the profession of Faith, Pope Paul is scheduled to give an allocution. At the end of this talk, he will impart his solemn blessing and the rites will be over.

Pope May Raise Vatican Staff Pay

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope Paul VI has announced that plans are being studied for a possible pay raise for all employees and officials of the Roman curia, the Church’s central administrative body.

The announcement was made informally by the Pope before he read his formal speech to the curia announcing that it would be reformed.

He said the study was being made so that curia salaries would be more in line with Rome’s steeply climbing cost of living.

Council Hall Is Unchanged

For Start Of 2nd Session

By JAMES C. O’NEILL

VATICAN CITY (NC) — The world’s more than 2,000 bishops attending the second session of the ecumenical council will find little changed in the council hall in St. Peter’s basilica.

For the past 10 months the great banks of seats that line both sides of the basilica nave have been blocked from the public, which has been forced to funnel around into the side aisles of the huge church to reach the main altars.

The seats were left as they had been on the opening day of the Second Vatican Council on Oct. 11, 1962, because to dismantle them last December and rebuild them again would be ready to cover the second session’s opening.

Pontiff Cautions Surgeons

On Divine Presence In Man

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope Paul VI has cautioned surgeons to be attentive to the divine presence in man.

Speaking to participants in the 9th International Congress of General and Cardiovascular Surgeons, he said:

“You are the benefactors of mankind when you exercise your profession conscientiously, as we do not doubt it does, to higher and permanent moral laws.”

The Pope said that he is confident that the scientists did not visit the Vatican out of simple curiosity as tourists. He said:

“If our spiritual diagnosis does not deceive Us, it is a secret awareness of the superior value of your studies and especially of your efforts against the physical evils which afflict humanity that brings you here.”

The human body, whose physical and biological secrets the surgeons explore, is a holy place where divinity resides, he said, adding:

“Yes, divinity is there. Be on your guard! Human ways are saturated with the thought of God. Man is in His image. Still more, when grace sanctifies man, his body is not only the instrument of his mind and its organs, it is also the mysterious temple of the Holy Spirit. God ever there.

St. Vincent De Paul Major Seminary Is Blessed

BOYNTON BEACH — St. Vincent de Paul Major Seminary, on Military Trail here, inaugurated classes this week with a pioneer class of 29 diocesan seminarians graduated during the past two years from St. John Vianney Seminary in Miami.

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll officiated at ceremonies of blessing in the classroom wing, seminarians’ quarters and priests’ and students’ refectories which have already been completed and are now in use.

Solemn dedication ceremonies will be held in December when Bishop Carroll returns from the second session of the Vatican Council.

Pontifical Low Mass offered by Bishop Carroll in the temporary chapel marked the opening of the first major seminary in the southeast section of the U. S. It is conducted by the Vincentian Fathers of the Eastern Province of the Congregation of the Mission who also staff the diocesan minor seminary in Miami’s southwest section.

Both Bishop Carroll and Father John McGowan, C.M., first consultant of the Eastern Province who spoke on behalf of the Very Rev. Sylvester Taggart, C.M., Provincial Visitor of the Vincentian Province, termed the opening of the major seminary an “historic occasion.”

“Our thoughts today must first of all be of gratitude to Almighty God Who in His goodness has showered His graces on this Diocese in a very abundant manner,” Bishop Carroll said, emphasizing the rapid rate of growth which is now being experienced by the Church in South Florida.

“In this area of the country so closely associated with South America, this part of Florida is becoming daily more united by Faith with the peoples of the South American countries,” Bishop Carroll said, predicting that “it will continue so that the position of the Church in this area will undoubtedly, not only by numbers, but by reason of its position be very important in the years to come.”

Two years of upper division college work and four years of theology will be provided for major seminarians at the new seminary whose eight-building complex will provide facilities for 150 seminarians when completed.
Dominican Bishop Warns Of Red Threat

SANTIAGO (NC) — Bishop Hugo Polanco Brito has warned that communist infiltration of youth is an imminent danger to the Dominican Republic.

He pointed out that the Church and its members would be the first victims of a communist attack and asked all Christians to face the threat.

He spoke before the staging of an anticommunist strike by store-owners in Santo Domingo, the capital. The strike was 90 per cent effective in some parts of the city on its first day. Stores remained open in working class districts.

The following day, most stores in middle class shopping districts opened, while the large stores in the upper class districts stayed closed.

The strike was called in an apparent effort to force President Juan Bosch into an anticommunist crackdown. Some anticommunist sources indicated that it was also aimed at ousting Bosch.

On the first day of the strike, the government closed three radio stations for inciting business owners to close their establishments and join the strike.

Spiritual Values Stressed By Head Of UN Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NC) — The spiritual values underlying the United Nations charter were emphasized by Carlos Sosa Rodriguez, of Venezuela, new president of the General Assembly, in his first statement to the delegates of 111 nations.

In the great scientific and technological advances of the 20th century, Sosa declared, "the importance of spiritual values has too often been forgotten, and too much reliance has been placed on purely material progress."

"The United Nations charter represents a great effort to repress this imbalance, and if its principles are applied without overlooking the spiritual content embodied in them, great advances will be made toward that better world desired by all men and all nations," he said.

The Assembly president, who has headed the Venezuelan delegation to the UN since 1960, urged that the principles be applied impartially.

"BREED MISTRUST"

"We should not exempt some from what we demand of others," he said, "nor confine in some what we condemn in others: such inconsistencies weaken the moral force of the Assembly and breed mistrust and skepticism."

"The need for the existence of the United Nations, if peace is to be strengthened and a better future ensured for mankind, was clearly emphasized by the late Pope John XXIII," Sosa declared, "when in his encyclical, Pacem in Terris, he stated: 'It is our earnest wish that the United Nations organization — in its structure and in its mission — may become ever more equal to the magnitude and nobility of its tasks and the day may come when every human being will find therein an effective safeguard for the rights which he derives directly from his dignity as a person, and which therefore are inalienable rights.'"

Sosa expressed the view that the recently concluded nuclear test treaty has truly the emergence of new independent states, the UN technical assistance programs and forthcoming conference on trade and development demonstrate that the moral influence of the United Nations is gradually leading the nations toward the practical application of the principles of the charter.

CHOSEN UNANIMOUSLY

The new Assembly president is the fifth Catholic to be elected to the head of the world body. He prayed that God would make him worthy of the confidence placed in him, and told the delegates, who had chosen him unanimously.

"I beseech Divine Providence to enable us to speak to our minds and to our efforts so that, thus inspired and sustained, we may be able to bring about the happy conclusion our appointment calls for, making peace and justice and all nations, and promoting the progress and well-being of all mankind."

The outgoing Assembly president, Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan, spiritual leader of a major Moslem sect, also told the Assembly that he would pray "humbly, sincerely and earnestly that we be granted the courage, strength and vision necessary for advancing the cause of justice, freedom, peace and prosperity for all. All praise be to Allah, the Lord of the Universe."

White-Tite PLAIN TALK ABOUT ROOF COATINGS

Before you have your roof coated, know something about the company.

Find out about the coating, the firm's reputation, their record. White-Tite, Inc., World's Largest Roof Cleaning—Sealing-Coating Company, has earned a reputation for quality materials and workmanship, honest dealings and competitive prices.

This is the process which has been developed during the past 16 years by Jesse J. Scalf, founder and president of White-Tite, Inc.

The materials used by White-Tite are the most durable and beautiful white coatings to be found. This quality coating is made fresh daily in our own plant, according to our own exclusive formula.

We use only nationally known brands. The entire chemical research staff of one of these world famous manufacturers is available for consultation and advice when we need them. White-Tite is compounded by a chemist using many ingredients, including clear, pure vinyl, fungicides, water-repellents and pure white pigments.

This compound gives you a roof paint that sticks to tile and gravel with a permanent bond, is heat-resistant, can expand and contract with the temperature without cracking, resist erosion, stay white and free of mold, mildew and fungus for years and still be self-cleaning and self-breathing.

With all this, White-Tite usually costs no more than competitive coatings.

We do not use any clear, wetary spray on top of our coating because none is needed. Everything needed to give you the finest, long lasting job is in the paint to begin with.

Some so-called "waterproofing" top sprays actually are toxic and can be dangerous to you, your pets and your shrubs.

About this "waterproofing"... no tile made is waterproof nor can any coating be applied which will make it waterproof under all weather conditions. Cement tile, even with "waterproofing" becomes saturated in 20 minutes under heavy water application. Clay tile does so in 2 hours.

Really, it's the built-up roof deck under the tile that keeps the water out of your home. White-Tite protects the roof deck by reflecting heat, its worst enemy.

"Waterproofing" top coatings keep the roof deck as much as 7% hotter, and often cause the roofing felts to become brittle and disintegrate.

Some so-called "waterproofing" top coats, discuss your problem with a White-Tite representative. He will be happy to advise you on the matter.

Tito Visit To U.S. Outrage, Holy Name Society Is Told

The upcoming visit of Premier Tito of Yugoslavia to the United States was branded a "scandal and an outrage" by Monsignor William Barry, P.A., pastor of St. Patrick Church, in a talk at a Communion breakfast of the North Dade Deaconery of the Holy Name Society.

A total of 250 men attended the breakfast at the Balmoral Hotel last Sunday.

Monsignor Barry called Tito "an integral figure of the Communist conspiracy and for him to be received by the President of the United States is scandal and an outrage to every Christian man in this country."

"We must wake up, we must take stands and we must not be defeated," said Monsignor Barry.

"You are really the key to the whole Church and its success . . . you are really in the forefront of the fight against Communism," Monsignor Barry told the Holy Name men.

Touching on the federal aid to education issue, Monsignor Barry said other countries, among them England, give aid to parochial schools and he could see no reason why the same should not be done in this country.

Father Joseph O'Shea, assistant superintendent in Catholic Education Trends, said no other Church society has had such a profound effect on daily and frequent Communion as has the Holy Name Society and he urged the Holy Name men to "set an example for others" in their daily living.

New officers elected at the breakfast meeting by the North Dade Deaconery were: Francis Coniglio of St. James, president; George Baumgartner of St. Stein, vice-president; Emilie Janelle of St. John the Baptist, secretary; Sam Jones of St. Francis Xavier, recorded treasurer; and Emilie Janelle of St. John the Apostle, marshal.

Bill McCluskey is the outgoing president.

Corpus Christi parish won the attendance award at the breakfast and Blessed Trinity won the percentage attendance award based on the number of men present as compared with the overall membership.

James McCaughan To Head DDF For '64

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll has appointed James W. McCaughan as general chairman of the Diocesan Development Fund Campaign for 1964.

Mr. McCaughan, a member of Little Flower parish, Coral Gables, will succeed Stuart W. Patton, who headed the DDF drive in 1963. Mr. Patton was named as co-chairman of the Advisory Board of the DDF for 1964, along with Frank R. Mackle, who served in a similar capacity this year.

Father Neil Fleming, administrator of St. Lawrence Church, North Miami Beach, will continue to serve as Development Fund coordinator for Bishop Carroll.

At a meeting with the Bishop before his departure for Rome this week to attend the second session of the Vatican Council, arrangements were made for the group to discuss preliminary plans for next year's DDF campaign.

Meanwhile, members of the Building Commission have been consulting architects, contractors and others in preparation for receiving contracts on all the projects which will be made possible as a result of the generosity of the people of the Diocese of Miami in the 1963 Diocesan Development Fund campaign.

Bishop Carroll announced last month plans for the immediate expansion of facilities in the Diocese for the care and education of exceptional children, those mentally retarded. At the same time he said contracts will be awarded this fall for the construction of the Marian Center for Exceptional Children.

The Diocesan Development Fund was launched in 1959, and in the first five campaigns, a total of $5,888,701.67 has been subscribed by the people of the Diocese of Miami with an amazing record of more than 90 per cent to date in cash payments.

In 1959, the total was $706,621.96; in 1960, it was $867,561.25; in 1961, it was $1,180,569; in 1962, it was $2,496,679.74; and in 1963, it was a record-breaking $1,906,067.72.

The Diocesan Development Fund was created by Bishop Carroll for the purpose of making possible the permanent construction required on a Diocesan level because of the constantly increasing needs of the Church in the swiftly growing South Florida area.

TO ASSIST IN DEVELOPING CATHOLIC YOUTH PROGRAM

Dioscore CYO Board Of Directors Named

The newly formed CYO Board of Directors, composed of laymen and laywomen, has been organized to assist in the development of the Catholic youth program in the Diocese.

The board held its organizational meeting last month at the Chancery with Bishop Coleman F. Carroll in attendance.

Also present was Father Walter J. Dockerill, director of youth activities.

Father Dockerill outlined the purposes of the board as:

1. To advance and promote the youth program in the Diocese by building strong CYOs;
2. To help coordinate the whole youth program — not only the high school CYO students but also the young adult groups, the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, junior Catholic Daughters, Columbia Squares, junior Holy Name and all other youth organizations.
3. To make suggestions on how the youth program might be improved;
4. And to help stimulate through the CYO program an increased participation of lay Volunteers, and the development of youth who will be future leaders in their church and country.

Father Dockerill said the board also will aid in furthering the development of the summer camp program at Camp Matecumbe.

The board will be asked, too, to give advice and counsel in coordinating the activities of Catholic youth programs in the parishes.

Pointing out that more than 75 percent of the Catholic youth in the Diocese attend public high schools, Father Dockerill said it is expected the board will prove helpful in strengthening the CYO so that more Catholic youth will be brought into the CYO.

Father Dockerill also noted that only a small percentage of the Catholic youth who attend colleges in the Diocese are able to enroll in a Catholic college. He said the board also would be asked to assist in bringing these youth closer to the teachings of Christ through the CYO.

In outlining the overall objectives of the CYO program, Father Dockerill said that they are mainly broad-spectrum spiritual, cultural, athletic and social.

Taking note of the fact that the CYO Board of directors is composed entirely of lay people, Father Dockerill said this is in accordance with what Pope Paul VI has said in connection with the development of the lay apostolate.

Hialeah—Six monsignori, more than 23 priests, 42 nuns and some 1,300 parishioners filled the new St. John the Apostle Church for blessing ceremonies last Saturday.

Mgr. William Barry, P.A., pastor of St. Patrick Church, Miami Beach, officiated and celebrated the Mass which followed.

Also present were Mgrs. Dominic J. Barry of Immaculate Conception; Mgr. Peter Reilly of Little Flower, Coral Gables; Mgr. R. E. Philbin of St. Michael; Mgr. George Rockett of St. Joseph, Miami Beach; and Mgrs. John O'Dowd, V.F., of Epiphany.

Pastor of St. John the Apostle is Father James Connaughton.

Among civic dignitaries attending were Mayor Henry Milander of Hialeah and Tony Benedetto, Hialeah Councilman, and an usher at the church.

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll sent a message of congratulations which impressed his "pride in your magnificent accomplishment."

Following the ceremonies in the church, the parishioners were invited to a reception in the church, the parishioners and women come to the congre- nation following the Mass, men and women came to the con- fessional and receive God's forgiveness."

Mgr. Barry made reference to St. John the Apostle, after whom the church is named. He said:

"What a mighty congregation this is," said Monsignor Barry.

"In the baptistry," he said, "the young will have God's spirit poured into their souls and here in this church, men and women come to the confessional and receive God's forgiveness."

"I'm sure you will be apostles in your home, in your place of work and everywhere you go. Never has this been more necessary than it is today. The battle can't be lost as long as you have Christ by your side. We must bring peace and holli- ness to the world, in order to save our souls and protect them from slavery at the hands of the enemies of God."

In a short talk to the con- gregation following the Mass, Father Connaughton thanked his parishioners "for the effort and cooperation that made this day become possible."

The floor plan of the new church is in the form of a cross, with the altar in the center. An elaborate glass-sided dome focuses the attention of worshipers on the altar which is located directly beneath it.

St. John the Apostle is the first church in the Diocese of Miami to have the Baptistry located outside the main edifice of the church itself. The Bap- tistry is in front of and separated from the church as is liturgical- ly recommended. This dates back to the early history of the church when the baptistry ceremonies were performed in a separate location near the church.

The new church is aircon- ditioned and seats 1,300 persons. It was designed by Murray Elise Wright.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the church were held last February. The parish was founded in 1961.

LASALLE MEETS MIAMI MILITARY

Curley High Team To Face Hialeah In Contest Tonight

By JACK HOUGTELING

Archbishop Curley High of Miami, off a thrilling last-second win over McArthur High, and Miami Central, a one-sided victory over Fort Pierce Central Catholic, hosts The Voice Of Sports their perfect marks on the top games for the evening.

The only Columbus score came on a 22-yard pass play from quarterback Ralph Spurlock to Jim Cox.

11 Lasalle Boys

Get High Honors

By BOB KOZIEL

This past spring at Lasalle, 11 boys took an advanced Spanish course in preparation for college.

Being equivalent to approximately a second or third year college course, it allows the boys who pass it to apply for a college credit in advance.

The Advanced Placement Spanish Examination was administered to them through the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J.

Eleven seniors and one junior took the test and the results were extremely good. Of the 12, there were 11 who were awarded the highest honors and the 12th boy received a honor.

The Chaminade Academy this past week was the Big Sister Tea given to over 70 freshmen and new students on Sept. 4 to find the Academy remedied. Construction of an additional building is now underway. The new field house, which was completed last May, is now being used by the physical education classes.

We pleased to welcome five new faculty members; Sister M. Adrian, S.S.N.D. who teaches the science classes, and four lay teachers, Mrs. Platt, Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. Ortega and Mr. Ayala.

Election of class officers was held with the following results:

President: Ronnie White, president; Pam Noll, vice president, and Eileen Amoros, secretary-treasurer.

Junior A: Susan Hardy, president; Paula Choffet, vice president, and Eileen Amoros, secretary-treasurer.

St. Thomas which faced North-Central Catholic is at Alva. Fort Lauderdale High.

Also playing last night was St. Thomas which faced North-east High of Fort Lauderdale.

Curley’s thrilling victory came on a last-gasp passing attack as the Knights tied 7-7, moved 77 yards on three passes for the winning score.

LaSalle made its second year of football a smashing success with its win over Central Catholic. Key architects in the Roysals triumph were the brother combination of Bob and Tom Konzel.
Every day during the Second Session of the Second Vatican Council, writers and observers for The Voice are on the alert to report to you all that is happening that affects your Faith, and perhaps the destiny of the world itself.

Msgr. James J. Walsh is the Special Correspondent of The Voice, giving his acute observations and sage opinions on every development, especially as they concern the Diocese of Miami itself.

In addition, The Voice presents the reports of the large staff of writers for the National Catholic Welfare Conference News Service, as well as articles by specialists in many fields.

As the more than 2,000 Fathers of the Council — Cardinals, Archbishops and Bishops from all parts of the world — meet in solemn session in St. Peter's Basilica, you will know what is really taking place by reading regularly every week the news coverage as presented only in your own Diocesan newspaper, The Voice.
Jumbo Pizza Puts Punch In School Lunch

By FLORENCE DEVANEY

The back to school rush brings with it the excitement of new friends, different classes and teachers and plans for school activities for many youngsters.

For the school lunchroom managers in communities large and small, the month of September brings the challenge of planning a menu of appealing and nourishing meals centered around foods students like to eat. The "honor roll" luncheon is guaranteed to meet this challenge.

Besides being "way out" in school lunch popularity each serving of the pizza sandwich featured here provides 11/2 ounces protein-rich food filling.

The delicious ground beef mixture is spread over French bread halves, topped with tomato slices and baked in a hot oven. Then for a final touch of goodness the halves are covered with cheese and baked 5 more minutes or until cheese is melted and pizzas are done.

Include a green salad on the menu and fresh fruit, still plentiful in September. You might finish the meal with baker's cookies or Black Forest cake.

This cake is especially appealing, yet not as rich as it sounds. A simple easy mix layer cake forms the base. Chocolate-flavored custard filling joins the layers and raspberry jam glazes the top giving the cake its tortle appearance.

Here are recipes including the family size recipe for Black Forest cake which enables mother to turn out one "just like the kind we have in school."

We have just moved into a new neighborhood where most of the children seem to be given regular allowances. We have four (9, 8, 5, 3), and up 'till now have just given them money as they needed it. Should we move them over to a formal allowance? I don't think we have as much income as most of our neighbors, and we would probably have to give them less than the neighborhood average.

BY FATHER WALTER W. IMBORSKI
Family Life Director, Archdiocese of Chicago
(Guest Columnist For Father John L. Thomas, J.J.)

These days there are hundreds of millions of dollars possessed and spent by the teenagers of our nation. Every business that offers a product that adolescents might possibly use—from cosmetics to scuba equipment—is reaping a great deal of advertising at them. Your children must be prepared earlier than ever to exercise a sense of responsibility about money.

Each family must establish its own ground rules aimed at giving children a balanced view of money and its use. First, they must know how money is important and necessary and must be handled honestly and carefully. Simultaneously, you must show them that owning everything in sight—every gimerack and gadget—will not bring happiness; and finally, they must be taught generosity and feeling for those less fortunate.

A regular allowance is educational. It helps the child to plan and budget for himself, to develop self-control through saving for specific purchases. It teaches them to do without things when the money is gone.

One of the best things about setting up an allowance is that it requires discussion and may even emerge as a family council. First, with each child, you have to determine clearly just what areas of spending are to be covered by the allowance, and what an adequate weekly amount to them would be.

Expect Some Foolish Spending

In addition to free spending and entertainment, some parents of older children agree that such things as family gifts, church and charitable contributions, school supplies, lunch money, clothing accessories, and other small routine needs must be met out of the allowance. A small child, of course, cannot handle these responsibilities; but as he grows older, one or another can be added and the allowance increased to meet them.

For the young child, an allowance by definition is money that he is allowed to use as he sees fit. When you give him whatever small sum you deem proper, write it off as gone. Take it for granted that at first there will be foolish spending and repeated mistakes. This is no reason to suspend him whatever small sum you deem proper, write it off as just allowance when the child overspends.

Birthday money and other financial gifts should be put away as savings for future and not filtered into the regular allowance. On the other hand, it is unwise to supplement a just allowance when the child overspends.

Wages For Chores Not Good Idea

An allowance should not be regarded as wages for chores. The practice of paying for ordinary household tasks—bed making, laundry, etc.—is a good one. These chores the child must do simply as a member of the community which is the family, as his contribution to good order.

On the practical plane, another good thing about giving allowances is that they can be taken away in whole or in part. If this is done justly and promptly, it can be an effective punishment for certain forms of misbehavior.

Some parents dislike allowances because they prefer a free and easy arrangement with their children. Some few parents dislike them because they prefer to keep their children dependent and on a kind of dole. They use each request for money as another occasion to comment on the child's poor behavior and spend-thrift ways. This is not a healthy arrangement.

Allowance can be very good. They are not necessary. But some form of money planning that involves your children is necessary, lest they begin to look upon you as a kind of walking Federal Reserve Bank that meets all needs and never requires any thought or responsibility on their part.
INDIA: SISTER JOHN WRITES

SISTER JOHN OF THE SACRED HEART writes from MELKOM in CHANGANACHERRY Archdiocese in Southern India. A “About fifteen years ago, we started a convent here. A pius group of laymen and women donated a tract of land for a building on it... This was enough for the Sisters then but now we need a wider space. Women in India have to have enough space in the dormitory, refectorium and chapel. The good man has gone to his eternal reward... The Catholics are mostly happy and they INDIA have acknowledged that we have them give them small helps at times.” Sister John asks if we can assist her band of Sisters in building a bigger convent—cost $2,000—and the Archdiocese there warmly welcomes any amount, big or small. It’ll be deeply appreciated.

COUNCIL CONVEYANCES

At the FIRST VATICAN COUNCIL, the Bishops in attendance were often immersed by the imaginative stories about the Council in the London papers. Now as the second session of VATICAN II opens, reporters will probably have developed a keener ability and more efficient machinery for getting the facts straight... Certainly the problems of the missions will be on the minds of the Bishops. Our Association looks after the missionary needs of 18 Near East and Middle East countries. You can help this work along by:

- Taking out a membership. Single person: $1 a year; family: $6 a year. Perpetual single membership: $20 a year; family: $100. You participate in the grace of the Holy Father’s Masses and those of 15,000 priests in the countries entrusted to us.
- Helping build a chapel or school. Cost: $2,000 to $6,000.
- Educating a seminarian like AUGUSTINE or MATTHEW. Cost: $100 a year for six years.
- Training a Sister like SISTER STELLA MARIA or SISTER ANNE XAVIER. Cost: $150 a year for two years.
- Sending a FOOD PACKAGE to a PALESTINE REFUGEE FAMILY. Cost: $10, or a BLANKET: $2. Perhaps you would prefer to help a REFUGEE CHILD’S EDUCATION. Cost: $25 per term.
- Purchasing something to furnish a chapel, from vestments to a sanctuary bell. Cost: $50 down to $5.

POPULATION EXPLOSION. A knowledgeable friend tells me that 50% of all the people who ever lived are living today! This comes from the tremendous increase in births and deaths. You can help prevent this幅 increase in births and deaths by teaching the Bible simply by reading it—especially in English translation. We need the help of scholars who have spent their lives searching the sources, studying the original manuscripts and making use of wisdom of other scholars of all ages.

UNIVERSITY STUDENT ATTRACTION

By Father JOHN A. O’BRIEN

Every month thousands of converts enter the Catholic Church in the U.S.A., and two of them travel the same path. With some... such as St. Augustine, conversion came like lightning from this man or that woman, others, such as St. Augustine, it came with workflows of a FRIEDRICH W. B. S N I D A L. God’s grace works in a mysterious and a transparent manner through many channels, most frequently perhaps through a priest. That’s the all-important contact. This is illustrated in the conversion of Larry Hugg, a life insurance agent in Lincoln, Nebraska.

“...I was reared as a Methodist...”

I had my first and last exposure to a Southern Baptist minister. He spent most of his sermon ranting and raving against the Catholic Church, especially its hierarchy. The differences in the Lutheran and Methodist services were striking. While at the San Antonio Cadet Classification Center I heard my first and last exposure to a Southern Baptist minister. He spent most of his sermon ranting and raving against the Catholic Church, especially its hierarchy.

MISSION TEMPLES

“Later in Savannah, Ga., came my first contact with the Episcopal Church. Its biblical...”

I began to glimpse the enormous differences in the worship and liturgy of the various Protestant denominations. The unity, which Christ said was forever to characterize His Church, seemed conspicuous by its absence.

“Overseas duty enabled me to visit Buddhist and Muslim temples and to get an idea of their religions and services. After leaving the air force I enrolled at the University of Southern Californi... This is illustrated in the conversion of Larry Hugg, a life insurance agent in Lincoln, Nebraska.

“...and the manner of man’s...”

The writer of Genesis never heard of the theory of evolution, but neither did he know that the earth was round. He thought the sky was a big blue bowl, and the stars were pretty Lucy the sky and the earth were round. He thought the sky was a big blue bowl, and the stars were pretty tiny bodies. And in the process he taught some profound religious truths: That there is one God who created the world and its creatures; that the Sabbath rest must be observed. The first two chapters of Genesis are among the most amazing, inspiring and instructive portions of the Bible; and their complete lack of concern for science and history enhances the power of the simple and the force of their message.

The Sandwich Islands are a puzzler, claims ad man Boie Agey. "Almost nobody remembers what they are." The Sandwich Islands were discovered in 1778 by Capt. James Cook and named for his patron John Montague, fourth Earl of Sandwich. But a name change gradually took place during the later half of the 19th century—the Hawaiian Islands, our 50th state.

Many women consider a shipboard cruise the most romantic mode of vacation travel. But Porter Norris of Pan Am Airways reports 70 per cent of their passengers are men, and 35 per cent have annual incomes over $20,000.

Ante el Reinicio de las Sesiones del Concilio Vaticano

Sea el Concilio Otro Pentecostés

La prediccion de que el Segundo Concilio Vaticano se verá como uno de los eventos más importantes en el siglo XX, no se ha visto dada por muchos los pasado año. Hoy hay una actitud diferente a través de todo el mundo.

Mientras casi 3,000 obispos viajan a Roma para la apertura de la segunda sesión, nadie podrá negar que el Concilio es un acontecimiento de primer orden. No sólo para la Iglesia Católica, sino para todas las religiones y todas las naciones.

Uno de los aspectos más aconsejados de este concilio único es el hecho de que a pesar de la muerte de un Papa y la elección de otro, sólo ha habido una demora de 2 semanas para volver a reunirse el Concilio. Este período representa el tiempo inaudito durante el cual las actividades del Concilio, por ley, tenían que suspenderse con motivo de la muerte del Santo Padre.

Esta es una de las indicaciones de que el Papa Paulo fue el mundo como líder único por su propio derecho. Es verdad que el Papa Juan fue antes como un pro-cursuro preparando el camino y que le dejó una notable herencia en cuanto a la unidad y continuidad que se logró en la historia del papado. Sin embargo, obviamente el Papa Paulo lo anda en sus propios pies. Desde el momento en que aceptó la enorme responsabilidad de sentarse en la silla de Pedro, él comenzó a fabricar los cimientos preparados por Papa Juan XXIII.

Paulo, fue en casi todos los aspectos el consolador más cercano del Papa Juan. Si ha aumentado la convicción de que continuará la política y las superación de su predecesor, es sólo porque al mismo se encontraba frecuentemente identificado con los planes y puntos de vista de Juan XXIII.

La reciente decisión de simplificar la maquinaria del Concilio, su sombreador de cuatro cardenales progresistas como moderadores que tendrán el papel de encargar el trabajo del Concilio, su voluntad de adhesión a ciertos principios y a pequeños grupos de periodistas diariamente en reuniones con el Concilio, son indicaciones definitivas de la seguridad de su mano en los rieles de la Iglesia.

Nuestros días desde entonces benigno promesa de plegarias fervientes para que Dios dé a Juan Paulo, la esperanza de que el Concilio Ecuménico un segundo Pentecostés y que como resultado todos los pueblos de la tierra conozcan, amen y sirvan a su Dios.
