The peoples of the Latin American countries are not going to sacrifice their liberty, God-given freedom, and their Catholic faith for the "phony political and economic system" now prevalent in Cuba, Richard Cardinal Cushing predicted here.

The Archbishop of Boston and close personal friend of the Kennedy family preached the sermon during a Memorial Mass for the late President John F. Kennedy offered Sunday evening in Bayfront Park by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll.

More than 4,000 Cuban refugees crowded the outdoor amphitheater to listen as the Mass celebrated in their behalf on the anniversary of the late President's visit last year to Miami to review the Cuban invasion brigade 2506.

BOUNTIFUL PROGRAM

Relating to the congregation his personal impressions of the late Chief Executive, Cardinal Cushing emphasized that President Kennedy presented new frontiers for the people of the U.S. at home and for the world at large.

Despite the fact that all the progressive legislations introduced by President Kennedy has not been approved by the present Congress, the Cardinal said, "the day will come when in our one country, all of these programs will be put into effect if we are going to save this nation under God."

"He promised military aid to nations that were weakening under pressure of communist propaganda," Cardinal Cushing said. "He promised material aid to underprivileged nations and gave to Latin America the greatest constructive, the most bountiful program, the most bountiful, most beautiful program that any president ever presented to that part of the western hemisphere. It is known as the Alliance for Progress."

"Under that program," the Cardinal continued, "the U.S. is committed to give billions of dollars over a period of years to all the countries in Latin America on the condition that the heads of those countries change an unjust social order and at least begin to inaugurate a demo...

WHEN HE ARRIVES IN HOLY LAND ON PILGRIMAGE

By JAMES C. O'NEILL

VATICAN CITY (NC) — An enthusiastic welcome will be accorded to Pope Paul VI throughout his entire Epiphany pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

According to Vatican officials who returned just before Christmas from checking arrangements for the papal tour, officials of both Jordan and Israel are extending every possible courtesy to make the Pope's Jan. 4 to 5 visit memorable and smooth.

Plans for the three-day period were shifting and changing continually as various organizations, institutions and government departments presented new suggestions and petitions to Pope Paul for inclusion among his stops during the unprecedented pilgrimage.

Nevertheless the general outline of the papal agenda are more or less set. The plane bearing the Pope, and approximately 30 other dignitaries is scheduled to land at Amman airport in Jordan at 1 p.m. Jan. 4. Its arrival will be greeted by a 21-gun salute.

Pope Paul, Patriarch Meeting Announced

ISTANBUL, Turkey (NC) — The Orthodox Patriarchate of Constantinople announced (Dec. 30) that Patriarch Athenagoras I will meet Pope Paul on the Mt. of Olives of Jordan-held Jerusalem.

It was also announced that the Patriarch will leave for Jerusalem, Jan. 3, did not give the date of the meeting.

While the Pope is still on the plane he will meet Archbishop Lino Zanini, Apostolic Delegate to the Holy Land, Jordan's Ambassador to Italy, Edmund Rock, who is a Catholic; and the chief of protocol of the Jordanian court.

KING'S WELCOME

Waiting at the foot of the stairs of the plane will be King Hussein, together with members of his court and senaturs and deputies of the Amman district. To cut down the number entitled to greet the Pope on his arrival, the Jordanian government has decided that senators and deputies are to greet Pope Paul in their own districts as the Pope passes through them.

The King and the Pope will stand while the royal Jordanian military band plays the...

Huge Welcome Awaits Pope Paul in Holy Land

The Pope and his party will continue their tour to Megiddo, where Israel's President Shimon Shazar will be on hand to receive him personally at 8:30 p.m. The arrival is to be heralded with a fanfare of bugles, and the Pope will be given a guard of honor. Premier Levi Eshkol, Deputy Premier Mordecai Vilk and other government leaders will join the President in welcoming the Bishop of Rome at Megiddo. So will the father of the new papal envoy, accredited to Israel, led by the dean of the diplomatic corps, who drives with carpets belonging to the Pope. The others are the Ambassadors of Italy, Belgium, France and the Netherlands.

TO VISIT NAZARETH

President Shazar is to welcome the Pope in Hebrew and present him a specially designed commemorative medal.

The Megiddo meeting is to last 20 minutes, the Pope moving off for Nazareth at 9:15. At 9:45, in the presence of the Mayor Bsh Bai, and Melkite Bishop Georges Hakim of Annaba, Nazareth's Deputy Mayor, Catholic bishop, lining the way to the Grotto of the Annunciation in Nazareth, the diplomatic corps, their families, and 100 others are to be entertained.

The Pope is to celebrate Mass at the altar in the grotto — the feast is that of the Holy Name of Mary — and then to go to the Terra Sancta monastery nearby for breakfast. Then he will return to the Nazareth Hotel and church for a brief visit.

At 11 o'clock, Pope Paul leaves Nazareth for Mount Tabor, where he will celebrate the feast of the Transfiguration of the Lord. Twenty minutes later, he departs for the Sea of Galilee. He is to arrive at Tagba at 12:45 for another brief Mass before places close to the Sea of Galilee. He is to arrive at Tagba at 12:45 for another brief Mass before

TRIP TO BETHLEHEM

Quarter after one in the afternoon finds the Pope at Capernaum, where the house of ancient synagouge Jesus spoke the words: "I am the bread of life." After 30 minutes in Capernaum, Pope Paul is to go straight to Mount Zion, reaching the Church of the Dormition, which will be given a guard of honor. On the same square, there will be minutes of prayer.

Then the Pope leaves to return to Jordanian Jerusalem, Israel's only Catholic city, Mandelbaum Gate at 7:00. President Shazar, Premier Eshkol and the government's diplomatic corps, their families, and 100 others are presented to the Pope in a special ceremony after Mass.

The ceremony will be held in the square in front of the church of the Nativity, where an unusual tree stands, a replica of the ciborium. The town mayor will deliver a speech of homage, and the Pope in turn will deliver a major discourse. Then he will return to Jerusalem and form there drive to Amman. His plane is due to land at Rome's Ciampino Airport at 1:30 that afternoon.

Reports from the Holy Land say the weather has been very pleasant and there is hope that it will hold for the papal visit.

Press arrangements in Jordanian Jerusalem include a Catholic Office of Information at the Franciscan Custody of the Holy Land.

Israeli Rabbi Is Criticized For Refusing To Meet Pope

JERUSALEM, Israel (NC) — Two Israeli cabinet members have sharply criticized Chief Rabbi Israel Meir Lau for his refusal to meet Pope Paul VI during his January visit here.

Chief Rabbi Nissim told Religious Affairs Minister Zerah Warhaftig, who asked him in the government's name to take part in the official welcome for the Pope, that he would not meet the Pontiff unless it went first to the Chief Rabbinate.

Foreign Minister Gideon Meir — the leader of the big right-wing party of the government coalition — told a Mapai party meeting that the Chief Rabbi's attitude was "narrow-minded politics." He promised to take up the question with Chief Rabbi Lau, a frequent critic of the government, after the Pope's visit.

Israel Foreign Minister with portfolios, told the same meeting that Chief Rabbi Nissim was "believing the Chief Rabbinate."

Meanwhile, Premier Levi Eshkol asked three opposition parties — the Mapai, the Liberal party and Agudat Israel, Orthodox Jewish religious party — not to boycott the issue of the Pope's meeting with President Shimon Shazar at Megiddo in Parliament.

During the meeting, President Shazar plans to meet Pope Paul twice during his visit. Jan 5 visit here, once on the Pontiff's arrival in Israel at Megiddo and again before his departure in Jerusalem. The parties have protested that the President and Pope should meet only in Jerusalem.

Pope Paul is not entering Israel in Jerusalem, it is believed here, because of the ninety minutes character of his visit to the Holy Land. It is believed that his entry here would be the issue of the Pope's meeting with President Shimon Shazar at Megiddo in Parliament.

"Eccumenical Peace," Urged By Patriarch

ISTANBUL (NC) — Archbish- "Eccumenical Peace," Urged By Patriarch

ISTANBUL (NC) — Archbishop of the Greek Orthodox Church, issued a Christmas message (Dec. 25) in which he declared that "all churches of East and West should strive wholeheartedly for this holy peace an actuality."
To All Nations

On December 4, 1963, the world took a new look at the papacy. Pope Paul VI, calmly and solemnly announced he was going to become a pilgrim to the Holy Land. Because, he said, he was convinced that "prayers and good works are necessary" if the Vatican Council is to succeed in its job of renewal.

EACH POPE is a successor of St. Peter. Pope Paul, the 261st, picked a unique way to demonstrate it. Peter came to Rome from Jerusalem his martyrdom in Rome.

A PILGRIM is a wanderer with a purpose. A man who goes to see with his own eyes the holy places where his Faith has roots. From the days of the Apostles, Christians have set out to Jerusalem, Special laws allowed them to pass through battles and warring countries.

CHURCH RELATIONS with the world have entered a new era today. The papal flag no longer represents a small armed kingdom in central Italy. It represents a spiritual kingdom without boundaries. The last Pope to leave Italy, Pius VII, left as Napoleon's captive in 1809. In 1964 an air corridor is cleared for Pope Paul's plane. The Israeli Cabinet sets up a special committee for the visit; King Hussein of Jordan offers the hospitality of his palace; Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople speaks of the hope for a spiritual summit and all of the Christian world prays for Unity.

IN HIS PILGRIMAGE, the Pope, like Peter and Paul before him, goes as "a witness of Christ." They traveled in the first century; he goes in the 20th.

IN JERUSALEM Pope Paul will pray in the Garden of Gethsemane, walk up the winding road to Calvary, offer Mass at the Holy Sepulcher where Christ rose from the dead. He'll visit Bethlehem and Nazareth and hear the Sea of Galilee. In a significant stop he'll celebrate Mass at the Church of the Annunciation; to bring Christ to men in the Eucharist in the same place Christ first came to men in Mary's Womb. Each place, he said, will be a place of "prayer, penance and renewal." (left) Today, although Jerusalem is a divided city, it is a symbol of unity. Men of all faiths call it holy. Muslims believe it is the site of Mohammed's ascent to Allah. Jews pray here near Solomon's Temple and go to see the stone where God asked Abraham to offer his son. Christians of every kind come to be in the land where Christ was born. (Center). New Pope Paul comes on pilgrimage. But there is more in this pilgrimage than the first papal airplane ride; more than a courtesy visit with Orthodox leaders; more than the Pope's leaving Italy. The Pope's plane marks a new era for the Church.

VATICAN CITY (NC) — On the first Christmas of his pontificate, Pope Paul VI celebrated three masses for people of all social levels, visited sick and deformed children and preached the gospel of peace.

At midnight, the Pope celebrated his first Mass in the Piazzale church for the diplomatic corps at the Holy See at an altar facing Michelangelo's immense fresco of the Last Judgment. At 8:30 a.m., he was driven to the working class Rione district of Pietralata for his second Mass, and at 11:30 a.m. he celebrated his final Mass for 10,000 people in St. Peter’s basilica.

Throughout his entire commemoration of Christmas, the Pope stressed the theme of peace and its intimate connection with the birth of the Prince of Peace.

The most tumultuous moment of the day occurred as Pope Paul arrived at the Piazzale district, where thousands had turned out under glovered skies to welcome him. From the balconies of the concrete, low-cost, state-built apartments hung makeshift Vatican flags of gold and white.

As he stepped from his car, the Pope was greeted by Luigi Cardinal Traglia, Pro-Vicar General of Rome, and by parish priests of the district. The Pope was presented with numerous gifts of flowers and spiritual bouquets. One little girl handed him a live, kicking white lamb.

At three Masses on Christmas Day, the Pope was greeted by Luigi Cardinal Traglia, Pro-Vicar General of Rome, and by parish priests of the district. The Sistine chapel at midnight was filled with a quiet crowd of diplomats, their wives and children. The congregation answered the prayers in a dialogue Mass, while the Sistine choir sang.

To the population of the working class Rome district of Pietralata was both “very true and very beautiful” for them that Christmas in the Pietralata district was both “very true and very beautiful” for them.

Throughout his entire commemoration of Christmas, the Pope stressed the theme of peace. He said:

“Christmas is the feast of peace — the peace of God, peace in our consciences and therefore peace with our neighbor. If this becomes a social phenomenon, if it should spread in families, in cities and in nations, men indeed would become brothers and the face of the world would be changed.”

At his third Mass of the day, Pope Paul was carried into St. John Lateran Basilica by lifting it up above his head to show it off.

The Pope delighted all around him. Thousands remained standing outside the church as Pope Paul was carried Mass for people of all social levels, visited sick and deformed children and preached the gospel of peace.

BUILDING STARTS ON SCHOOL FOR RETARDED CHILDREN

Marian Center Groundbreaking

op Carroll told the hundreds of priests, Sisters and laity present. "It is a step wherein we make an effort in a serious way to bring to all of God's children that to which they have a right — a truly Catholic education."

"It is our responsibility to do everything we can for those children," Bishop Carroll said, emphasizing that in past years the mentally retarded had not been provided with the care and medical attention they should have had.

Expressing his gratitude and the gratitude of the faithful in the Diocese of Miami to the Sisters of St. Joseph Benedict Cottolengo who dedicate their lives to the care of mentally retarded persons of all ages, Bishop Carroll noted that in Turin and other areas of Italy, the Sisters' care for mentally retarded from infancy to death.

Terming the site of the school "ideal," Bishop Carroll told the outdoor congregation that because of its proximity to Biscayne College, Barry College and the Sunniland Center, the school will "have a tremendous potential not only for the care of mentally retarded children but for the training of individuals" to assist the Sisters in the program. He emphasized that the beginning of the program must be attributed to the prayers and generosity of the faithful.

The first phase of construction for the Marian Center will be a convent for the Sisters designed to accommodate 26 nuns. A part of the convent will be used temporarily to house approximately 10 severely retarded children. The second building to be erected will provide a provisional chapel and classrooms.

FAMILIES OF CHILDREN who will attend the Marian Center, first of its kind in the state of Florida, listen as Bishop Coleman F. Carroll explains the need for new and up-to-date facilities to care for mentally retarded children in the South Florida area.

FIRST SHOVEL full of earth for the construction of the New Marian Center for Exceptional Children is turned by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll, assisted by Sister Lucia, superior of the Sisters of St. Joseph Cottolengo, who will staff the Center.

New Marian Center — A Gift For God’s Most Beloved

Significant and appropriate indeed is the fact that the Diocese of Miami has broken ground and begun construction for the new Marian Center for Exceptional Children during this holy Christmas.

For the Christmas period is the season of Children, from the feast of the Birth of the Christ-child, when the Shepherds came from the hills to adore Him, to the Feast of the Epiphany, when the Magi came from the East, bearing Him gifts.

Truly is the new Marian Center a gift to those who have been called the most beloved of all God’s children — the innocents mentally retarded.

The Marian Center will mark the expansion of a coordinated and well-defined program to meet the special spiritual and physical needs of these children. Until now, the Morning Star schools in various parts of the Diocese have been alone in carrying forward this work.

Just two months ago, 11 Sisters of St. Joseph Benedict Cot-tolcage came to Miami from Turin, Italy, to begin preparations for the opening of the Marian Center, which they will conduct. Founded by the Italian Saint, St. Joseph Benedict, the Sisters of the community are all professional nurses and teachers who have received training in special education, with particular emphasis on the mentally retarded, to which each Sister dedicates the first period of her religious formation.

Since the mentally retarded were among the very first to be cared for by St. Joseph Benedict, they are considered a special mission of the Sisters and the most modern methods are employed in their care and instruction.

The Marian Center for Exceptional Children will be built with funds contributed from the Diocesan Development Fund Campaign. Everyone who was a donor in the past and will be in the future campaign may take a special pride and experience a feeling of great satisfaction in the realization that they have helped answer the appeal of Our Lord Himself when He said: “Suffer the little children to come unto Me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of God.”

‘Feast Of The Epiphany’ To Be Observed Monday

The Feast of Epiphany which will be observed Monday, January 6, commemorates the visit of a god to earth. Epiphany united three major elements: the baptism of Christ in the Jordan, the adoration of the Magi, which forms the main object of the celebration in the Latin Church, is symbolic of His Revelation in the whole of the Gentile world. Known in Spanish as “El dia de los Reyes,” the feast of Epiphany is traditionally a time when Spanish-speaking families exchange gifts in remembrance of the Adoration of the Magi at the crib in Bethlehem. In many homes, small children place their shoes on a window sill or doorstep, believing that the Three Kings will fill them with toys and candies.

John Kennedy’s Contribution To Catholicism In America

By Fr. ANDREW M. GREELEY

As the pain the whole nation feels over the death of Presi-dent Kennedy slowly begins to subside, the task of evaluating his contribution to the history and development of our republic commences.

It is too soon yet to attempt any kind of profound or definitive evaluation of the “Kennedy Years,” but it seems safe to say that when an attempt is made, it will certainly be the history of the Kennedy Catholicism.

At first, such a statement may seem strange. While no one ever questioned the sincerity of the late president’s faith, there were many people who felt that he leaned over backward to avoid any signs of partiality toward the Church. Indeed, he was frequently criticized by certain Catholic jour-nals on this point. What the complainers seemed to have forgotten was that appearances of favoritism — especially on the delicate school issue — would have been an unmitigated disaster for the Church.

NO DIVIDED LOYALTIES

Part of the Kennedy contribu-tion surely came from the fact that as the first Catholic president he was not an alien to the Church. A Catholic could serve as president and feel no pull of divided loyalties. It is no ex-aggeration to say that perhaps for the first time in the history of the United States, a Catholic’s worship of marionettes.”

Moreover, it is true that the real contributions of John Kennedy to American Catholicism did not have to do with the Church’s image of itself. They exerted a tremendous influence on the masses and if they begin to act insensibly, perhaps the masses will follow suit.

They must be told that life is not the Hollywood after another. If brainpower is our greatest natural asset, as President Kennedy contended, we cannot afford public idols who are rushing us into bankruptcy by way of childish stupidity. It doesn’t make sense.

Some Hollywood Stars Need A Lesson In Acting Human

By Father JOHN R. SHEERIN

President Johnson has signed a bill providing more than a hundred million dollars for Federal aid to education. I wonder if any of the money will go to improve depressed areas in Hollywood? President Kennedy never used to have a special sense of superiority. He dep ressed areas. His con- viction was that all poverty spawns illiteracy and illiteracy breeds misery.

If you have seen the back-woods Tobacco Roads in upper New York State or in Faulkner country in Mississippi, you will know how pathetic illiteracy is to the shambles it is made out of marriage.

The subhuman wrecks of hu-manity wander about the countryside like beasts, leaving behind them the broken hearts and fatherless children. The diseased mind is pitiful to watch but I think it is greater heartache to see people who are absolutely devoid of intelli-gence.

To get back to Hollywood, I would say that some of the best known stars in the film colony seem to be quite unreligaous. (Some, but not all — by a long shot.) Their marital habits are altogether another matter.

I can understand an apostle of Christ who thinks that his natural talents exempt him from the laws that bind ordinary mortals. His moral rebellion at least has a certain deliber-ate purposefulness about it.

But this is not true of the antics of the characters in the Burton - Taylor - Fisher affair. Their behavior seems to me to be unreasonable. There is an old expression, “None so happy as he who doesn’t even see to be happy.” But, I sometimes wonder if Hollywood lawyers are ration- al. These legalists insert a “moral clause” in the contracts of certain stars. According to a recent UPI dispatch, President Johnson can lose a million dollar acting job for throwing paper on the sidewalk.

Deirdre Day could get into trouble with her producer for pop-ping bubble gum. The explana-tion for these weird con-tracts in the land of make believe is that “moral clauses” such as these tend to cut nightclubs flat fights and sag fabric of public morals.

However, these “moral clauses” are not quite as daftly as the Burton-Taylor-Fisher trio. As the Hartford Courant editorial of Dec. 18 said, “Let us face it, many of the characters in this little game of marital musical chairs are nothing but children, the product of pass ing age and the American pub-lic’s worship of marionettes.”

But it is too early to attempt to answer that question. It is much too early to attempt to interpret the “Kennedy Years” but it seems safe to say that there will be no unmitigated disaster for the Church.
The Spirit Of Ecumenism And The Jews

By Mgr. JAMES J. WALSH

Speaking with keen disappointment because the Ecumenical Council did not issue a statement on the Catholic attitude towards the Jews, the "Jewish Floridian" recently asked, "Who is the spirit of Ecumenism set forth by the Second Vatican Council?"

This is a rather strange question. For one thing it takes for granted that Jews are part of the Ecumenical movement, a claim that many Christians for good reasons consider highly debatable; and it further implies the failure of the Council to make a proposition in favor of the Jews that is sufficient proof that the spirit of Ecumenism has suddenly died, a judgment which many would consider rather premature.

It needs to be pointed out that Ecumenism began and has continued as a movement that embraces Protestants, Orthodox, and Catholics. In its original and current meaning it represents the ardent efforts of many in each of these groups to bring about eventual unity among all Christian religious bodies.

Only in a very broad sense were non-Christians proposed as part of the scope of Ecumenism. In 1960 at New Delhi a statement was issued against anti-Semitism by the World Council of Churches. However, so far as the Catholic Bishops in the Council have not reached this matter on the agenda, although it was obvious they were of two minds on the matter.

Some thought that a declaration on the Jews should be included as Chapter 4 in the second part of the Ecumenism, thus stretching the movement to its broadest possible scope in a general aim to promote good will and understanding among all men. Others were as definitely against such inclusion of the Jews in a schema on Christian Unity while urging the Council to make a proposition on the Jews in another manner.

Archbishop Casimiro Morcillo of Spain said that it is "inopportune to treat in this schema of the Jews, brothers of Christ by the flesh and our brothers. They and others who adore the true God should be treated in the schema on the mission or in the schema on the presence of the Church in the world." The Ecumenical movement "favors different concerns for Christians and for non-Christians even though they may be the sons of Abraham."

Be that as it may, let's get back to the question: Has the spirit of Ecumenism come to naught in this second session? The "Jewish Floridian" lumped Protestants with themselves in sharing "deep dissatisfaction." And in a sense this is true because Many Protestant leaders had hoped for the debate on religious liberty before the end of the second session and its necessary postponement because of the lack of time disappointed them, which is understandable. It disappointed a lot of us, too, but that is no reason for the "prophets of doom" to discredit the considerable progress of the Council as a whole.

One who is critical of the Council's delay in taking up the proposition of the Jews ought to consider the possible harm that could come to Christians living in Arab states. The Bishops in the Middle East have looked forward to the Council as a means to help them combat anti-Semitism, to declare the position of Christians concerning the Jews. They and others who proposals for the Jews and the Christians, before any such statement was made.

For weeks before the matter came up in the Council, newspapers in Arab states were quoting comments like this: A Council proposition on the Jews would be taken as an indication of an abandonment of the State of Israel by the Holy See.

Bishops who live and work in that area (some of them are from the United States and Europe) expressed fear of harm to Christians in these areas should a statement be made now by the Council. They have noticed that the expression "of the Jews in the same a 'tionalist' urge.

It struck us as a little disillusioning that the fear of retribution by Catholic Bishops of the East could be brushed off as unreasoned fear. A feeling exists that the Jews have the right to deplore the delay in conciliar action that is taking place in the name of Jews, but obviously he is not living in Antioch where the Jews have recently been the victims of persecution.

Therefore any just criticism of the Council's action in Chapter 4 certainly should not be limited to the wishes of propaganda. It would be a pity to make a judgment or even to form one's opinion that there is no hope for the future or that the Council is not interested in the Jews, but obviously he is not living in Antioch where the Jews have recently been the victims of persecution.

The Cardinal goes on to say with regard to this matter that "The Jews of our time are faced with a proposition that has been committed against Christ, so far removed are they from those ancient times when the time of Christ the majority of the chosen people did not recognize the people in condemning Christ... if therefore not even all the Catholics recognize the Jews as their brothers. They and others who propose a problem which, if the Holy Spirit is truly intimately united to his soul, therefore the First Confession of the return of grace and have also an emotional problem such as to cause depression? Doesn't the emotional problem imply a spiritual problem?"

which introduced the subject to the Council Fathers last November 19.

He asks at one point why it should be considered "a great mystery if we come up in this question of the Catholic teaching on the Jews."

His reply centered on the fact that Council's delay in taking up the claims of that Propaganda did not have an unfortunate effect that the Council's delay in taking up the claims of that Propaganda did not have an unfortunate effect among Jews. Hence in the Cardinal's analysis, the effects of Hitler's racial laws and his clever arguments against them which "often professed a Christian truth", are a much more cogent reason for the possibility of anti-Semitism today among Christians than any possible religious reason, such as the cogent reason for the possibility of the Church's relation to the Jews.

Further on, in speaking of our need to imitate the ardent charity of Our Lord and the Church of the First Century the Cardinal warns: "In saying this we do not mean to state or to hint that anti-Semitism could not originate in a religious source, namely from what the Christendom has done to the Jews."

We know very well that anti-Semitism may be so immediately misguided. It is understandable. It dismaying that the fear of retribution by Catholic Bishops of the East could be brushed off as unreasoned fear. A feeling exists that the Jews have the right to deplore the delay in conciliar action that is taking place in the name of Jews, but obviously he is not living in Antioch where the Jews have recently been the victims of persecution.

If therefore not even all the Catholics recognize the Jews as their brothers. They and others who propose a problem which, if the Holy Spirit is truly intimately united to his soul, therefore the First Confession of the return of grace and have also an emotional problem such as to cause depression? Doesn't the emotional problem imply a spiritual problem?"

"All I ever get are bit parts!"

The communique from the United Secretariat ten days before the Council's talk developed this point even more in these words, "... the responsibility for Christ's death falls upon all mankind. It was to avert even for the sins of every man that the Son of God willingly offered Himself on the Cross. The part the Jewish leaders of Christ's day played in bringing about the Crucifixion does not exclude the guilt of all mankind. But the personal guilt of these leaders cannot be charged to the whole Jewish people either at this time or today. It is therefore unjust to call this people 'delicate' or to consider it 'corrupted' by God.

In summing up, the Catholic attitude towards the Jews which obviously Cardinal Bea hopes the Council will adopt as its own official declaration next September, he stated: "If and when therefore some or many Jews do this or that one of the things of which they are accused, Christians will be mindful of the example of St. Paul. He, while violently at- tended by many of the Jews, indeed publicly denounced his persecutors who were inter- ested in either his freedom to announce the word of the Lord or the freedom of men to believe the Gospel. At the same time however he testified that he loved them so ardently that he would wish to be 'ma- thema from Christ' for them. In such fashion therefore, the children of the Church also should make vigorous use of the peaceful weapons of truth, charity and unselfishness, which weapons are surely most effect- ual."

Are Emotional Problems Also Spiritual?

By FATHER LEO T. JENSEN

"GOD'S WORLD"

EPISODES

All of us at times experience minor physical illnesses such as colds, headaches, of upset stomach. So also most of us at times experience minor emotional episodes - brief periods of depression or anxiety when there seems no perceptible reason for our low spirits. When such emotional episodes are severe and prolonged, they are symptoms of an illness which calls for competent medical help — usually the help of a psychiatrist.

Prayer and the sacraments are not intended to be tools of physical or mental therapy. They can provide us with the fortitude to bear our suffering until relief can be found, and the grace to offer our suffering in union with the Cross of Christ. Jesus was depressed, too, as He wept over Jerusalem, as He sweat blood in Gethsemane, as He cried out on Calvary, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?"

LATIN AMERICA WON'T FOLLOW CUBA, CARDINAL CUSHING SAYS

4,000 Hear Cardinal At Kenneth Mass

Cardinal Cushing said, "I think that those of us interested in the Church in Latin America, should have a more realistic idea of the future of Latin America is bright.

"We are not over the bump of the problems," Cardinal Cushing warned. "Nevertheless if I find that the people in America, Ecuador and Peru where I have over 100 missionaries are under the auspices of our Missionary society of St. James the Apostle, they are not going to sacrifice their liberty, God-given freedom, their love for their Madonna and their Catholic faith for the phony political and economic system now prevalent in Cuba."

Declarating that he was the first one in the U.S. to publicly brand Castro as a communist, the Cardinal declared that he was "criticized from one end of the U.S. to the other made much for TV and radio network in this country, I was flooded, "he recalled," with the most expensive and brutal threats to avert the moderate invasion at the Bay of Pigs a few years age failed as some say because Jack Kenne- dy's administration did not sup- ply the air arm of defense that was expected. All I know as far as I can give you knowledge on the subject of that kind in that Jack Kennedy as President of the United States assumed full personal responsi- bility for the action that was taken. And I know also that there were over 900,000 expertly trained Chinese Marines, you might call them that without any assistance to our armed forces in the U.S. ready to move somewhere into Latin America, and that this would have opened up another war front," the Cardinal declared.

"And as the money you have made it thirty." He will say: "I was naked and you clothed me, to his Vicar on earth, Pope Paul VI.

"And now you have nowhere to lay their heads."

"The Church has great diffi- culty in Latin America. In 40 years you could have one- half of all the baptized Catholics on this earth in the countries in that part of the western hemi- sphere. I for one am optimistic with regard to the future," the Cardinal said.

Mass For Handicapped

NORTH PALM BEACH — Some 100 shut-ins who normally are unable to assist at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass in their parish churches participated in Holy Mass offered especially for their intentions Sunday, Dec. 22, at Our Lady of Florida Monastery and Retreat House.

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll gave the blessing with the relic of the true Cross at the conclusion of the Mass, as well as the papal blessing of Pope Paul VI.

"You are sharing intimately in Christ's Passion today by your suffering," the Bishop told those in attendance, urging them not to look upon their afflictions as a burden but as a part of Christ's Cross being carried in the world today.

The second such Mass sponsored by the Passionist Fathers was offered by Father Cyril Schweinberg, C.P., retreat director. The sermon was preached by Father Theophane Maguire, C.P., former editor of The Sign magazine.

Members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society and Knights of Columbus in Palm Beach County parishes provided transportation to the retreat house chapel.

A total of 1,800 men, women and children were "guests" of Camillus House for Christmas dinner. This compared with some 1,200 who were served on Christmas of 1962.

In addition, some 2,907 persons were given meals at Camillus House on the Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday following Christmas.

Brother David Keane, R.G.S., superior of the Little Brothers of the Good Shepherd who operate Camillus House at 726 N.E. First Ave., said a total of 47 turkeys were donated for the Christmas dinners and these were cooked by the Americas Hotel and Jacques Bakery, 1900 Alton Road, Miami Beach, which is operated by Fred Grimmig.

Brother David Keane, R.G.S., of "guests" formed earlier and were a lot longer this Christmas than last. He said he noted there was "a lot of good feeling and many, many more thank-yous this year than in previous years."

Brother David said he especially wanted to thank all of the many housewives, church groups and other individuals who donated food for the Christmas meals.
REQUIEM FOR MOTHER JOSEFINA

Cloistered Nun Dies In Exile

Uprooted from her cloister by Fidel Castro and banished to Miami in July, 1961, Mother Josefina of St. Teresa was laid to rest at the age of 79 in Our Lady of Mercy Cemetery.

At a funeral Mass celebrated by Bishop Patrick Shanley, O. C.D., at which Bishop Coleman Carroll delivered the sermon, and later at the graveside, she was mourned by the nine other cloistered Carmelites who came to Miami with her, all of them without shoes for their feet, after they had been expelled from their native land.

By reason of authority granted from the Vatican, Bishop Carroll had granted the nine Carmelites permission to leave their Miami cloister for the first time to attend the funeral Mass and the burial.

Sister Josefina, who was baptized Margarita Parduas Castro, was born in Camagüey, Cuba, on Jan. 2, 1883. At the age of 22 she went to Spain and entered the novitiate of the Carmelite Sisters of the city of Valdés on April 22, 1913. That convent is the fourth foundation of the great Carmelite, St. Teresa of Ávila.

Eight years later, in the company of five more Carmelites nun, she returned to Cuba at the request of the late Bishop Valentinio Zanaria, of Cienfuegos, also a member of the Carmelite order. Sister Josefina was one of the founders of the convent Santi Espiritus, which 33 years dedicated as a Carmelite cloister on April 22, 1923.

While in the convent, Sister Josefina had held all the offices in the community and was its Priora for 12 years, having been elected four times.

After the 10 Sisters had been expelled to Miami, they resided in the Carmelite cloister at 2423 SW 4th St. The Carmelites who survive her said she was greatly loved and admired for her endurance during their trials and for her kindness and smiling spirit. She prayed constantly for the Bishop, priests and other religious and for the laity in the Diocese of Miami in gratitude for the help and many acts of charity she and the other Carmelites received during their exile here.

The Mass was offered for Father Sweeney last Tuesday morning at Sacred Heart Church.

Ordained in 1940, Father Sweeney was one of the most widely known Passionist missionaries along the Atlantic Seaboard. He had preached many missions in various parts of Florida.

Priest Accused, Laymen Beaten In Vietnam Terror

By Fr. Patrick O'Connor

Saigon (NC) — A Vietnamese priest whom this correspondent interviewed recently in a country village was accused by high officials six days later of slander the government. The priest had given information about the Buddhists' attacks on Catholics in his parish.

In another parish Catholics, beaten until they could not walk, were warned by their attackers not to talk under pain of being shot.

The official news agency, Vietnam Press, has published nothing yet about the ill treatment of Catholics in central Vietnam which began more than five weeks ago. A Saigon daily, Viet Hao, published a front-page article on Dec. 18, voicing a "cry of alarm to the government" over the situation.

Reports of these outrages are piling up, and Catholics await some corrective action by the government.

BEATEN, BURIED

On Nov. 28, in one coastal parish of the Hue archdiocese, a Catholic was seized, blindfolded, brought out to the sandhills, badly beaten and buried up to his neck in sand. When rescued by a passerby, he could only drag himself along the ground to his house.

Some Catholic village schools have had to close because the children are prevented from attending. A priest in Quang Tri province said: "No one house now. Many afraid to come to Sunday Mass. The dances come to the priest's. The priest dare not visit the people for fear of causing trouble for them."

Outrages that took place a month ago in rural villages are only now becoming known.

On Nov. 12 a band of youths in Van-Quy claimed the right to search Catholic houses, entered the church, ransacked the sacristy, hacked at the altar and tried to pry open the door of the tabernacle. This searching of Catholic houses has been done in some places with the apparent connivance of local authorities.

The searches claim that the Catholics have arms for killing Buddhists or sacks for drowning them. Finding no arms, the raiders sometimes force people by threats and blows to sign confessions or accusations.

In one village north of Hue, a young Catholic was accused of possessing a well to kill Buddhists. To disprove the charge his father publicly drank water from the well. The won was not theretupon released, however.

CHILDREN ARRESTED

Three Catholic children were arrested by local police and held for two days, on a similar charge. They were released only after their mothers had signed documents the contents of which they did not know because they could not read.

Some local officials have themselves invited the attacks and have even taken part in them. On Nov. 20 this correspondent was assured by the then chief of province in Hue that measures were being taken to curb the anti-Catholic campaign. Two days later the province chief's representative, sent to "calm" the people of Cu-Lac, was beaten until he could not open his eyes or speak.

In Cam-La an official charged that Catholics had persecuted Buddhists, and murdered several with Catholic converts to make them apostatise.

The recent convulsions, single out for abuse, threats and blows, are usually poor peasants who never held any office under the former regime and could never have interfered with Buddhists or others. In 13 parishes composed entirely of recent converts, many have ceased, through sheer fear, to practise their religion.

Christian Democrats, Hau Big Year In Latin Nations

NEW YORK — Christian Democratic parties in Latin America enjoyed a banner year in 1963. Venezuela, Chile and Peru were scenes of impressive gains by these parties, in which Catholic influence is strong. In Brazil, Argentina and the Mexican Republic there was also evidence of increasing strength, according to a summary issued here in the Christian Democratic Information Bulletin.

The party in Venezuela captured the most world attention, as it advanced its vote total from 4,000,000 in 1958 to 8,000,000 in December, 1963. The Venezue-lar election was followed everywhere because of the violent attempts to block it by the Castro-backed communists.

In Brazil the Christian Democratic party increased its representation in the federal congress from 7 to 15 members.

In Argentina the Christian Democrats are an important force holding the balance for democracy in the aftermath of the military overthrow of the Bosch regime.

In Peru, the support of the Christian Democrats is seen as a decisive element in the election of President Fernando Bala- nose, and his government includes the Christian Democrats in its coalition lineup.
Two Christmas Days At Pole

BYRD STATION, Antarctica (N.C.) — Francis Cardinal Spellman celebrated two Christmas Days in the Antarctic snowland, offering Masses under the lee for U.S. Navy men and scientists at three different stations and another Mass on shipboard.

Because the International Dateline passes between Byrd Station and certain other American scientific bases in Antarctica, the Military Vice of Catholics in the U.S. Armed Forces was able to mark Dec. 25 a second time here.

The Cardinal flew with the Chief of Navy Chaplains, Rear Adm. Floyd Dreith to widely separated points on this continent which is one-third larger than Europe. As Cardinal Spellman offered Mass at the various bases for Catholic personnel, Chaplain Dreith held Christmas services for the Protestants.

The 76-year-old Archbishop of New York was on his 13th Christmas visit to American servicemen overseas. He offered Christmas midnight Mass in a small dispensary at South Pole Station, man's southernmost outpost in the world. Adm. Dreith conducted Protestant candlelight services in the station's recreation room at the same time.

Afterwards, the two churchmen flew back to McMurdo Station, main American base in Antarctica. There the Cardinal offered another Christmas Mass in McMurdo's Chapel of the Snows, and later joined Chaplain Dreith in having Christmas dinner with the men of McMurdo.

The next day, the Cardinal and the Chief of Chaplains flew the 300 miles here to Byrd Station.

After a brief tour of the Byrd Station ice tunnel, the Cardinal heard confessions in the science building, which was converted into a chapel. After confessions, he again celebrated Mass.

Two Christmas Days At Pole

Throng At Holy Land Masses

JERUSALEM, Israel (NC) — A spirit of anticipation of Pope Paul VI's pilgrimage to the Holy Land on Christmas, 1963, in this divided city.

With the eyes of the world turned here in expectation of the Pope's Jan. 4-6 visit, more than 3,000 Arab Catholics living in Israel passed through the newly enlarged Mandelbaum Gate en route to Christmas Eve services in Bethlehem, where Christ was born.

Christmas is the only time of the year they are permitted to cross the heavily guarded border between hostile Israel and Jordan.

In Nazareth, many thousands gathered for special services. The city's streets were illuminated and decorated while loudspeakers broadcast Christmas carols.

Special prayers were said for the success and security of the papal pilgrimage by Melkite Rite Bishop Georges Makis of Acre.

In Haifa, Christmas Eve midnight Mass was broadcast live from St. Joseph church.

JERUSALEM, Jordan (NC) — Thousands of pilgrims thronged here to celebrate the birthday of the Prince of Peace among the men of war.

Arab Christians living in Israel fled through the historic Mandelbaum Gate on Christmas Eve under the watchful eyes of Jordanian and Israeli troops.

Walking under the muzzle of a machine gun, they passed by barbed wire and sandbags, grim reminders of hostility festering between Arabs and Israelis.

Authorities in Bethlehem estimated that 10,000 were on hand for Christmas Eve ceremonies, and near the ancient Church of the Nativity, on the traditional site of the manger where Christ was born.

The ceremonies began with a procession headed by Latin Rite Patriarch Alberto Gori, O.F.M., of Jerusalem.

A carved wooden figure of the Christ Child was placed in a manger in the stone grotto under the ancient church.

FEAST OF EPIPHANY commemorates the manifestation of Christ as our Savior including the adoration of the Magi at the stable in Bethlehem as shown in the Christmas creche in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel. Spanish-speaking observe the day as the feast of kings and also exchange gifts.

Cardinal Gibbons of Fort Lauderdale, the diocese's only other unbeaten team, does not play until Tuesday when it faces Northeast of Fort Lauderdale.

Gibbons is 4-0 overall and 3-0 in the South Atlantic Conference. The Redskins have been receiving top play from a host of players.

Coach Tony Licata has five lettermen back but the big surprise has been the play of sophomore Gene Andrews, a 6-6 guard. He scored 27 points in the Redskins triumph over league-rival Jupiter and had 26 against Pace in Gibbons' other league game.

Luiz Alvarez of LaSalle holds the top scoring mark for the diocese with a 26.2 average followed by Butch Stallings, St. Pat's 6-3 center, who has a 24.6 mark.

Other diocese teams due for action tonight are Msgr. Pace, which travels to Jupiter for a South Atlantic Conference game, St. Patrick's, which is host to Boca Raton, St. Thomas Aquinas, which is at North Miami, and an intra-diocese scrap between Cardinal Newman and Chaminade at the South Broward High gym.

Newman is also busy Saturday night with another intra-diocese battle as the Crusaders meet Chaminade at the Palm Beach High gym.

Newman saw its perfect record for the season marred when it lost in the first round of the annual Palm Beach Invitational tournament to Class AA Forest Hill, 71-72.

Check Smith hit for 12 points and Dave McNiece for 12 in the loss. Newman also lost in the consolation finals, 82-55, to Fort Lauderdale.

In taking its lone game, Columbus received 20-point performances from both Jim McKirchey and John Bevilacaqua.

William the Pope stop at Renneh?

WHETHER HE STOPS OR NOT, THE HOLY FATHER WILL NOT BE FAR FROM HERE WHEN HE VISITS US.

WANT HIM TO? We're '64. Week before, you'll remember, is the village now on the site where Our Lord played games when He was a child. Like most Arab villages, it has narrow, winding streets, none of the American conveniences. The Catholics in Renneh, very few in number, are ready to greet the Pope in their own way.

The Holy Father's Mission Aid

To the Editor of The Voice:

With reference to KIT'S current article on the Retirement Mission, I would like to voice my disapproval with the statement that 'the Pope will not come here'. As an American Catholic, I have a deep respect for the Pope and his teachings. However, I believe that everyone has the right to choose where they want to go and what they want to do with their lives. The Pope's decision to not come to Renneh does not reflect on his character as a person.

Sincerely yours,

Sharing Our Treasure

Friends, Books Can Lead Others To Christ's Church

By Father John A. O'Brien

Do you want to share your faith with some churches? You can do a long way toward doing this by living an upright life, and thus letting your friends see the wholesome influence of the Catholic religion.

But don't stop there. Tell them about your own Faith, answer any questions about it, and loan them a few good Catholic books. "Eternal Answers for an Anxious Age" (Prentice-Hall, Inc., Englewood Cliffs, N. J.) will show them how to grow in holiness and love of God.

The Question Box

Why Isn't Pope Holy Day?

By Msgr. J. D. Conway

Q. Why is the great feast not a holy day of obligation? In some of our churches they are not that day, as they should. Even and watchmas.

A. The feast of the Epiphany is one of the most ancient and interesting in the Catholic calendar. We have not observed it, but it seems to have been observed at least by the Fourth Century. The feast was observed earlier in some localities. It comes directly from the Eastern churches, and from the very beginning has been observed on Jan. 6.

The Epiphany comes from a Latin word which means manifestation or appearance. A showing forth. So at various times, in various places, this feast has commemorated different manifestations of Our Lord to the world.

His birth — especially the joyous announcement made by the angels to the shepherds.

The coming of the Magi, led by the Star of Bethlehem, and presenting to the Gentile nations.

His baptism by St. John in the Jordan, when the heavens were opened and the Holy Spirit came down upon Jesus and the Father was heard saying, "This is My beloved Son, in Whom I am well pleased.

The miracle at Cana, when the water was changed into wine and the Father was pleased with the evidence of His wondrous powers.

The feeding of 5,000 people with a few loaves and fishes.

The Transfiguration, when His divinity seemed to show forth in startling splendor.

In the Western churches, especially at Rome, the feast of the Birth of Christ was gradually becoming a holy day of obligation. The choosing of this date seems to have had close connection with an ancient festival, the Winter Solstice, which was held in the Church, and sometimes even in the last days of December. In one area, the feast of the Epiphany was not one of them.

In England, after the restoration of the hierarchy in 1850, only six feast days were kept. The United States wanted only four, but the Holy See would not approve this request. So the Third Plenary Council of Baltimore decided on six — and Epiphany was not one of them.

~MISSAL GUIDE~

Jan. 5 — Most Holy Name of Jesus, Mass of the Lord's Passion. Gloria, Creed, Preface of the Nativity.

They remain tied to the dominant mother by the silver cord on your part, at least in the beginning, but then, humility is one physiological problem but a psychological one, work hard to overcome the insecurities creating extreme feelings of dominance.

Insecurity is almost inevitable until they can map out areas of decision, and as well as decrease your present problem. This may take no small amount of humility to help her feel secure. This may be your case? Are you affectionate, responsive, sympathetic? If she is really overdominant mothers. Such boys rarely mature into adulthood.

Overdominant mothers. Such boys rarely mature into adulthood. Today, it is recognized that what happens in adult life is also important, so all three factors would have to be considered. Some still hold that dominance, extroversion and such are personality characteristics pretty much fixed in the first three years of life and constitutional factors play a part. But it seems more fruitful to assess your wife's dominance in terms of personality need.

Basically, your wife's dominance may be the result of feelings of insecurity. Being insecure, she must assert herself to prove that she is worthy, she is somebody, she will not be stepped upon by others. Unfortunately, this is a recurring one, almost invariable.

If your wife is truly dominant, the results can be most damaging, especially for the children. The late Dr. Edward Strecker, a famous psychiatrist, in a somewhat bitter book, "Their Mothers' Sons" placed the responsibility for many male maladjustments such as alcoholism and emotional disturbances on overdominant mothers. Such boys rarely mature into adulthood. They remain tied to the dominant mother by the silver cord which cannot be broken.

Clues Already Have been Provided

But one need not leap to extremes and make violent assumptions about the result of dominance. The clue to your efforts to change your wife have already been provided. If she is really insecure, and this I am inclined to believe, such feelings will have to be relieved. Since you raised the issue, YOU will have to take action.

First, reassure your wife that she has the right to make a number of decisions among which are those regarding house furnishings, home decorations, meals and child rearing — albeit the latter must be shared to some extent.

Perhaps one of the most basic sources of wife's insecurity in marriage is doubts about a husband's love for her. Could this be your case? Are you affectionate, responsive, sympathetic? The aspect of responsiveness is doing things together. The things you do together can cover a wide range — prayer, recreation, education and mutual responsibility in child rearing.

Students of the family often talk of what they call complementarity needs in marriage. The more a couple have in common — educational level, religious affiliation and such — create a bond. The extrovert is only somewhat less restrained. His behavior is not a difference of kind, but a difference of degree.

She is A Dominant Personality

On the basis of your question, your wife is a dominant personality and, of course, there is ample opportunity for dominant behavior in family life. Certainly you do deny her the right to be this way sometimes about some things. You object to the overall dominance which incidentally forces you and the children into an attitude of submission. This irks you, so you are obviously not the Milquetoast type.

But why is your wife dominant? Years ago it was customary to explain everything on the basis of heredity, or the notion that blood will tell. Then it became the style to explain it all in terms of childhood experiences.

Today, it is recognized that what happens in adult life is also important, so all three factors would have to be considered. Some still hold that dominance, extroversion and such are personality characteristics pretty much fixed in the first three years of life and constitutional factors play a part. Basiclly, your wife's dominance may be the result of feelings of insecurity. Being insecure, she must assert herself to prove that she is worthy, she is somebody, she will not be stepped upon by others. Unfortunately, this is a recurring one, almost invariable.

Here Are Oscar' Predictions For 1963

By WILLIAM H. MOORING

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Certain high school drama groups who annually match their Oscar predictions against mine, have challenged me.

They ask me, this year, to "call the shots" before either columnists have sifted the prospects. On the understanding that these are my forecasts of how Hollywood Academy may vote, let me begin with personal preferences, i.e., who those envelopes, is going to be monstrously unlucky for many a hopeful.

The name "Tom Jones" is going to ring momentarily over TV and radio, from NBC to ABC. Vincente Minnelli will do a near perfect job of production and direction. After winning Best Actor and Best Director Oscar status for the film "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," the dynamic "Tom Jones" choral/song/dance extravaganza will hit the airwaves. The Oscar show will have a splashy pre-taped number of the Pope's Pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

But if "Tom Jones" wins, let me say, loudly and proudly, what I have said many times before, "Huston and "The Cardinal" will win. Huston and "The Cardinal" will not win, however, because "The Cardinal," produced by Burt Lancaster, and directed by Huston, is not good enough. This film is not an epic. It is a filament, an almost exquisite, almost perfect, film. But it is no "The Cardinal." Huston will have it coming to him.

The best competitive line-up on the screen, can make this Shirley MacLaine year, with (right) "Irma La Douce." There are "La Dolce Vita," "The Leopard," "The Barefoot Contessa," Patricia Neal ("Hud"), Geraldine Page and, perhaps, "The Miracle Worker." The latter is a film and, of course, "Cleopatra." (306th Century-Fox) festing for a place.

"The lid of the field" deserves a chance, but will not likely make it for "BEST ACTRESS":

The least competitive line-up on the screen, can make this Shirley MacLaine year, with (right) "Irma La Douce." There are "La Dolce Vita," "The Leopard," "The Barefoot Contessa," Patricia Neal ("Hud"), Geraldine Page and, perhaps, "The Miracle Worker." The latter is a film and, of course, "Cleopatra." (306th Century-Fox) festing for a place.

If Burgess Meredith and John Huston of "The Cardinal" assume "supporting actor" status, they must fight it out with Bobby Darin ("Capt. Newman, M.D."). and, most likely, Hugh Griffith ("Tom Jones") who, scoring over "Huston's Harry" in 1960-60, so may be scoring again.

For "BEST DIRECTOR":

keep your eye on Tony Richardson ("Tom Jones"), with Martin Ritt ("Hud"), John Sturges ("Great Escape"), David Miller ("Capt. Newman, M.D."); Elia Kazan ("America, America") and Joseph L. Mankiewicz haring in with, "Cleopatra."

The Singing Nun On TV Sunday

NEW YORK (NC) — The Singing Nun, Loretta, will be featured on a national television program this Sunday, Jan. 5.

Sister Loretta, whose record "Dominique" is the nation's number one hit and has sold 756,000 copies in seven weeks, will appear on a taped portion of the Ed Sullivan Show, CBS-TV 8 to 9 p.m. over Channel 4, WTVJ.

With the elevation of the nun's superior, Sullivan flew to Belgium Dec. 28 to tape the portion of the Dominites' convent at Fichermont.

Sister Loretta, whose real name is Sister Luc-Gabrielle, is a Belgian Dominican nun who teaches at the University of Louvain. For her songs she writes her own words and music and accompanies herself on a guitar she calls Adele.

Her songs, privately recorded as a gift for friends, have been commercially sold in Europe and the United States as an album called "The Singing Nun, Soeur Sourire." The most popular of these, "Dominique," is about St. Dominic.

The Catholic Church is protesting the nun's appearance, calling it an "artificial novelty." The Pope recently issued an encyclical marrying to the "Dance of Death," the "Great Songs of the Church" and "Dominique." The banquet will include coverage, on film and video tape, of the Pope's stay in Jerusalem on Jan. 4 and his visit to Nazareth and the Sea of Galilee on Jan. 5.

The Pope's arrival in the Holy Land will be covered in a 30-minute news extra by the CBS television network to be carried locally on Channel 4, WTVJ, at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 5.

Pope's Pilgrimage Will Be On WTVJ

The broadcast will include coverage, on film and video tape, of the Pope's stay in Jerusalem on Jan. 4, his visit to Nazareth and the Sea of Galilee on Jan. 5.

Stuffed Meat Loaf Is A Pleasing Entree

By FLORENCE DEVANEY

You have stuffed a succulent turkey, a plump chicken, or a thick, meaty pork chop with piquant bread stuffing, and enjoyed the subtle flavor that each gave to the other. But have you ever filled a meat loaf with bread stuffing?

The toasted bread cubes, basis of this stuffing, are seasoned by bits of onion and celery seasoned to a soft translucency in butter.

All the stuffing ingredients are lightly mixed together and spread between layers of a well seasoned meat mixture.

This meat loaf appears ordinary from without, until it is cut and the individual slices reveal ribbons of bread stuffing. It makes a pleasing entrée to serve your family this month to cut food costs.

STUFFED MEAT LOAF

1/4 cup (1 stick) butter
1/4 cup minced onion
1/4 cup diced celery
6 slices toast, cubed
1/4 cup water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Loaf dish, 1/4-quart, 4 servings, preheated 325° oven

In saucepan melt butter. Add onion and celery; sauté until tender. Combine bread cubes and water in mixing bowl; add butter mixture, 1/4 teaspoon salt, pepper, poultry seasoning and egg. Mix lightly but thoroughly; set aside. In mixing bowl combine ground beef, bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt and evaporated milk; mix together gently. Set aside 1/4 cup of meat mixture; pat remaining meat mixture over bottom and sides of baking dish. Fill center of loaf with stuffing; spread reserved meat mixture over top and sides. Cover tightly.

Bake in moderate oven 1 hour. Makes 2 quarts.

Los pueblos de Latinoamérica no pueden olvidar su libertad, si no se lo ailan por el "falso humanismo", que prevalezce en el mundo. Porque no hay libertad con éxito para el hombre, ya que todos los habitantes del mundo son iguales ante la ley de Dios, y al que no recibe la ley de Dios no le puede disculparse, siempre que otro no le reciba la ley de Dios.
