Pope Voices His Sorrow Over Terrorism In Congo

VATICAN CITY (NO) - Pope Paul VI expressed his sorrow over the attacks on Catholic and non-Catholic missionaries in the Congo and his weekly general audience.

The Pope told the thousands of people gathered in the Vatican’s Hall of Blessings that “a special suffering makes us sad and thoughtful. It is caused by news of the acts of terror which are taking place in a young and great country which is most beloved to us, the Congo, with Leopoldville as its capital.”

Pope Paul lamented the terrorism which, he said, was “directed against persons and institutions of a missionary origin, and not Catholic alone, in that land which owns the missions all that it possesses of what is most generous, most advanced and most human - its recent accession to modern civilization and to national unity.”

Pope Paul expressed the hope that the terrorist attacks would be ended soon “for the honor of that beloved nation.” He urged all at the audience to “beware the memory of those who have been murdered in this sad tragedy, to console our missionaries in their trials and sufferings by your solidarity and to pray so that order, concord and peace may be restored to the Congo and may reign everywhere in the world.”

Earlier the Pope had noted that those who had come to the audience experienced the meaning of the phrase “ubi Petrus ibi ecclesia” (where Peter is, there is the Church).

Over Terrorism In Congo

Florida, the faithful will be provided with the opportunity to assist at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass in the afternoon or evenings on weekdays through permission of Bishop Coleman F. Carroll.

In a letter to pastors this week, Bishop Carroll pointed out that “the recent Constitution on the Liturgy, promulgated by the Second Vatican Council, Dec. 4, 1963, noted that ‘The aim and object of Apostolic works is that all who are made sons of God by Faith and Baptism should come together to praise God in the midst of His Church, to take part in the Sacrifice, and to eat the Lord’s Supper.’

“In order, therefore, to allow the Faithful to draw from the Blessed Eucharist the grace they need in their daily lives, I hereby permitting the celebration of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass on weekdays during Lent in all churches and missions of the Diocese between the hours of four and eight in the evening. On these days when holy Mass will not be offered, Holy Communion may be given to the Faithful between those same hours.

“I suggest that they be given ample time to receive the Sacrament of Penance prior to the celebration of this Evening Mass or the reception of Holy Communion. These permissions conclude the last three days of Holy Week.” Bishop Carroll concluded.

As Catholic families enter the period of fasting which marks the Lenten season they are reminded of the words of Pope St. Leo who said, “The chief thing in fasting does not consist of fasting alone; it will not profit us to deprive the body of good if the mind is not recalled from wickedness.”

Cardinals Reportedly Meet On Pope-Orthodox Parley

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Twenty-seven cardinals met here in what was described as a "general plenary congregation," details of which were shrouded in secrecy.

The ceremony is designed to recall the words of the priest Simon in the temple who recognized the Christ Child as the Messiah and hailed him as the "Light of Nations." Pope Paul told the assembly he would send the candles to various parts of the world to remind those who see them of the light of Christ. "Christ is indeed the light of the earth, the light of the Church," he said. "And it is to give to ourselves, to give to others, to everyone, the joy of fixing their eyes on this one light of salvation that we, happy to receive these candles from your devoted hands, send them into the world so that wherever they are pleasingly received, the benign light of Christ may shine ever more."

"As the prayer of today's liturgy says: "So that, enlightened and instructed by the grace of the Holy Spirit, we may truly know and faithfully love."

Ideal Of A United Europe Warmly Praised By Pope

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope Paul VI has praised the "ideal of a united Europe.

He has also defended the Church's right to judge politics according to the moral law.

"The Pope made both points in addressing leaders of the International Union of Young Christian Democrats.

He told them he was glad to see them "because you are now bending your lofty thoughts and your youthful vigor to the ideal of an integrated and united Europe. It is worthy of you. It merits engaging your hearts and firing your enthusiasm. It represents the happy ending of an unhappy story: the nations of Europe must no longer have any pretext for setting themselves against one another.

BISHOP’S APPEAL

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll has set a goal of $1,500,000 for the 1964 campaign. Making a personal appeal in a letter printed in brochures being distributed in every church, the Bishop of Miami declared:

The dependent children and young people, the aged and infirm among us — these never cease to be the responsible concern of all who wish to love and serve God perfectly. In his name, then, I once again confidently invite you to assist me in improving and expanding our facilities for their proper training and adequate treatment or care.

"Your accomplishments of the past four years tell an exciting story. Your goal of $1,000,000, . . . your goal of $1,500,000, have been set and achieved through the voluntary assistance of a great many friends of the Diocese. It is to the nation and to the world, in the Flame of the Lord, that your heart's desire must be known through recent surveys carried out throughout the world. mas the Advent Wreath becomes the center of home devotion and during the Lenten season the wreath should be the focal point. On Ash Wednesday, observed as early as the fourth century, a family devotion should express the spirit of the season and reflect an appreciation of the symbolism of the vision of Christ, the Light of the World, in the flame of the candles.

On the evening of Ash Wednesday, the ritual of the burning of palms kept by the family since last year, may be performed as the family gathers around a crucifix. The Gospel or Epistle for the day should be read and the prayers led by the father of the family.

Six tall blessed candles around the crucifix may be lighted by one of the children and after the singing of a hymn one of the candles is extinguished by one of the children to indicate the approach of the Passion of Christ, the approach of Good Friday darkness. While the other five candles remain burning the Father leads the family in prayer.

On the second Sunday and during the following week two candles are extinguished and the veil removed.

The small shrine then remains dark until a larger and more beautiful single Easter Candle is lighted and placed before the cross on Holy Saturday.

The Pope was given an enamelled silver platter of modern design and a signed picture of the Chancellor. The Pope also gave the Chancellor a rosary for his wife.

After the audience the Chancellor visited Amleto Cardinal Ciocognati, Papal Secretary of State, who later returned the call. The Pope also briefly received German newsmen accompanying the Chancellor.

Noting that Dutch Catholics at the conclusion of Sunday Mass always sing a hymn asking God's blessing for the Queen, it said: "We hope that the Christians of The Netherlands will always sing a hymn asking God's blessing for the Queen."
LACK OF SPACE CALLED A CRITICAL PROBLEM

Catholics Face Decision On Schools, Survey Says

DETROIT (N) — Catholics must decide what kind of schools they want, and for whom, the director of a nationwide study of Catholic grade and high school education said here.

Reginald A. Newlin, heading up a three-year study financed by the Carnegie Corporation, disclosed preliminary statistics which showed that only 18,000 out of 1,800,000 Catholic students are in public schools and that Catholic education seems to be shifting emphasis from the elementary to the secondary level.

He also said Catholic schools have turned down 188,000 students in 1962 for lack of space. In addition, he said, a "significant number" of parents do not attempt registration for their children because they are convinced the youngsters would be turned away.

Newlin told 2,000 teachers and administrators attending the Detroit Archdiocesan Elementary Institute that the 5,483,268 students enrolled in Catholic grade and high schools represent only 41 percent of those eligible.

He predicted that the percentage will turn out to be lower when his staff develops an "eligibility figure" based on the number of infant Baptisms in the United States since 1944.

Newlin reported that in September, 1962, Catholic elementary schools turned down 102,000 or 16 percent of those applying while secondary schools rejected 81,700 or 32 percent.

Reports have been received from 9,451 elementary and 2,675 secondary schools. Questionnaires have been completed by 103,779 or 96.6 percent of the elementary school teachers and 25,308 or 84.9 percent of the high school teachers. Another questionnaire dealing with what parents expect of Catholic schools has been filled out by 24,000 people, and in-depth studies have been conducted in the school systems of 13 representative Catholic dioceses, he said.

Among new developments indicating the quality of Catholic education, he said, are:

1. — A serious amount of experimentation, adoption and adaptation of new methods; staff utilization.
2. — Growth of the nongraded elementary school.
3. — Sensible use of television in elementary and secondary schools, both broadcast and closed circuit.
4. — Teaching of the modern mathematics.

— Expanded use of language laboratories.

He also reported "some interesting, though not necessarily the most important," findings of the Catholic schools study to date. They include:

— Of the 9,451 reporting Catholic elementary schools, 23.6 percent are supported by full-time non-teaching principals.
— The ratio of lay teachers to religious teachers is 1 to 3.34 in elementary schools and 1 to 2.64 in secondary schools.

College Tax Credit Loses

WASHINGTON (N) — The Senate defeated by a 48 to 47 vote, following sharp exchanges in debate, a proposal to permit those paying for college education to subtract a portion of the expense from Federal income taxes.

The plan was put forward (Feb. 4) by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut as an amendment to the Johnson administration's $11.6 billion tax cut bill.

The Johnson administration fought the proposal vigorously, claiming it would be too costly. Three of the Democrats who supported the bill with Ribicoff voted against it — Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and Frank E. Moss of Utah. Their votes would have secured its passage.

Senators Holland Smithers of Florida, voted against it.

The vote upheld an earlier vote in the Senate finance committee which rejected the Ribicoff amendment after hearings. Treasury spokesmen say its cost of $750 million a year now is put forward with many banking institutions and facilities from which to choose — why not?

Lent Reminds Us Of Eternal Obligation To Do Penance

Ash Wednesday is another reminder that we have entered Lent, a time when we believe is destined to be considered of historic proportions. We are given an opportunity to receive Holy Communion daily in the afternoon. This is a time to reflect on the value of prayer and penance, which we consider so serious that many people choose to observe Lent in a rigorous manner, with love and patience. And she reminds us that the Catholic Church and missions between the hours of 4 and 8 in the evening.

A universal call to prayer and penance. She points out certain practices involving fast and abstinence which she considers so serious that no one should neglect them. These cerebrals English involves the teaching of the Holy Sacraments and the daily Mass and Holy Communion. It is a religious duty for all people, including those in the home, acts of charity towards our neighbors.

It is very fitting then that our Reverend Bishop is making use of facilities recently granted him by the Holy Father to encourage daily Mass during Lent. His Excellency is permitting the celebration of the Holy Sacraments on weekdays in all parishes and missions between the hours of 4 and 6 in the evening. Where Mass is not possible, at least the faithful will have an opportunity to receive Holy Communion daily in the afternoon.

The duty of prayer and penance will always face us, no matter where we are or how long we are away. Lent gives us an opportunity to focus on the importance of prayer and penance and to reaffirm our commitment to our faith.

Religion Still Worries Reds

Recent persistent rumors indicate that the traditional “hot and cold” attitude of Russia towards religion within its borders may now be shifting again to the policy of open persecution.

Newspapers stated that an official Soviet publication described a war on religion as an “urgent ideological task.” The report quoted a propaganda expert as saying, “We cannot and do not have the right to wait until surviving elements (of religion) disappear by themselves under the influences of our modern world.”

Communist Russia’s official has been at war with Christianity since 1947. The red leaders have committed unbelievable atrocities and killed countless people, religious and laity, in their frantic attempt to legislate God out of existence. She has extended this same cruel unrelenting policy to other nations.

There is no man or a woman in Russia under 50 who has not been taught in the communist, anti-religious regime, and educated in the arguments of atheism and Godlessness. Isn’t it very significant that just after nearly a half century of professional and religious attacks, the red leaders are still worried about religion and must again turn new forces on the “urgent ideological task”?

It is surely significant. It points up the fact once again that the spirit of religious liberty in the air these days, the fervent prayers the world over for unity among religions obviously must be penetrating the iron curtain. The knowledge of this should certainly deepen our sympathy for the people enslaved in red countries and increase our prayers for their spiritual and material welfare.

De Gaulle’s Lone Wolf Role Perils Whole Free World

By Father JOHN B. SHEERIN

President De Gaulle has up the ante again. Just at the moment when we were enjoying a “no-war” in the cold war, he informed us that he is recognizing Red China. Why is this a bad thing? Because at least 12 other French-speaking nations will take his cue and recognize Red China.

Because his move will make it possible for Red China to unseat Nationalist China in the Security Council! Because De Gaulle’s independent diplomacy and action are causing another dangerous rift in the Western Alliance.

It has had news for a reason more frightening than anything of the above. The shadow behind De Gaulle is the shadow of nationalism. It was nationalism, that spawned the bloody wars of the last century and caused another dangerous rift in the Western Alliance.

He seems to be doing his best to reverse the situation by getting his own way in the world and showing his independence by snubbing the United States. His grand design is to restore French prestige throughout the world. What’s wrong with nationalism? There’s nothing wrong with it as long as it is balanced by due respect for other nations.

Nationalism is a virtue but it becomes a vice when it interferes with the welfare of the world community. Pope Pius XII insisted that the Catholic doctrine on civil society has always been based on the principle that the nations, in keeping with the will of God, form together a community with a common aim and common duties.

Lenten Jewels

whose high purpose is to foster vocations to the priesthood, are extremely scarce in the Caribbean and in Latin America generally, he can find it in the fact that Venezuela is in the same district as the Churches of San Juan, Miami, Palm Beach, Broward and Indian River.

These Venezuelans in Serra are acutely aware of the problems in their country and throughout Latin America, problems emphasized because of the shortage of vocations. They understand better than we that the Church in her teachings of the Gospel, in her insistence that the dignity of human beings be respected, in her plan for social justice for all levels of people has the only remedy for the critical condition of these potentially great countries. They have become convinced moreover that the real spiritual and social priority of this third world and be brought to the people at all without the help of priests.

These men of Serra by their prayers and dedicated activities under the guidance of their Cardinal and Bishops are doing something positive about it, and what they are about is good news for all of us.

While the world is speaking of the grave necessity of reform in South America these men started the reform with themselves. Nearly all of the 30 members have made the Cursillo, and as such, integrated members, they are deeply involved in the work of the Church and in the problems of their country.

News about Latin America is often bad and depressing. This news of the successful men in the first Serra Club in Venezuela is an encouraging sign that positive good is being accomplished.
Compromise Won't Help Unity Cause

TRUTH OF THE MATTER

By MSGR. JAMES J. WALSH
Contribution Series on Unity

We have been trying the past few weeks to outline the attitude of the Church towards the Ecumenical Movement, the driving quest for unity among religious bodies. In doing so, we have come to grips with a question close to the ideas expressed by Augustus Cardinal Bea, since as chairman of the Secretariat of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, he can be expected to feel the minds of both Pope John and Pope Paul on this delicate subject.

Cardinal Bea stated that our attitude towards the Ecumenical Movement ought to be understood as a natural expression of the fact, namely, that unity already exists in the Catholic Church, that unity is still to be achieved with non-Catholic Christians, and finally — the point to be touched on today — that this unity must come about, not by force, but by the free acceptance of union with the Catholic Church.

Obviously the use of pressure, force or threats is altogether out of the question, for this would constitute the very act of faith which a person makes in the teaching of the Church demands freedom.

In the presentation of this draft on Religious Liberty to the Council Fathers last November, in the words of Joseph de Sacredt and answered this very question. He stated: "What is the reason of faith why non-Catholics can be forced by no one to admit the Catholic doctrine in their countries? This reason is found in the very nature of the act of faith. For this act, on God’s part, is supernatural gift which the Holy Spirit most freely gives to whomsoever wills to take it, and on man’s part, it is in itself an act of faith which a person makes in the teaching of the Church demands freedom.

Pope Presses People's Role In Worship

Churches’ worship, with an understanding of its “strength and inner value.”

(3) Finally Pope Paul settled the new cases anticipated the reform of rites and services: immediate publication of liturgical sacraments of Confirmation and Matrimony during Mass – with the imposition of ashes and the reading of the gospel, the nuptial blessing even at marriages celebrated without that office. To suppress parts of the daily office of prayer, in the case of household prayer, without waiting for the revised texts.

Some specific directions given by the Pope insist on more serious steps to be taken without delay:

Establishment of diocesan liturgical commissions to promote understanding and active participation in the public worship by the people.

The homily preached at Mass in which “the mysteries of the Faith, the saving work of Christ, and the guiding principles of the Christian life are expounded from the sacred text” – recommended by the council to be a part of any and every Mass – required, as of Feb. 16, at every Sunday and holy day Mass when a congregation is present;

The teaching of the liturgy in seminaries and similar institutions to be authorized according to the council’s legislation.

Because the Second Vatican Council has not yet determined whether liturgical “cultural” or “baptismal” conferences or bodies of bishops in the different countries, the Pope gives specific rules:

Such bodies, organized on a national basis, must include all bishops of dioceses, and may include coadjutor and auxiliary bishops. The enactment of decrees requires a two-thirds vote by secret ballot.

COUNCIL AUTHORITY

The importance of this rule lies in the authority conferred by the council itself upon such bishops in matters of discipline, especially in the introduction of the vernacular language into the liturgy. The final papal directive is added, that translations of Latin liturgical texts be submitted to Rome for approval.

It is only natural that most attention should be concentrated on the future reforms upon the commission set up to revise the rite of Mass and the sacraments, and upon the new changes which become effective without delay. Dramatic changes are in the eye, it is true, but harder to propose, as Pope Paul and the other bishops have for many years been broad programs for study, instruction, education and formation.

Just as there is no waiting for the future, the Pope says, the immediate task is to put into effect immediately – as the constitution itself requires – all liturgical program be revised for the next scholastic year.

The council has called for a thorough reappraisal of the teaching of dogmatic theology, Scripture, spiritual theology, and the whole body of liturgical theology, unified in the exposition of “the mystery of Christ and the liturgy,” which has been celebrated in worship. The liturgy, which is faith in action, is to have new emphasis in the seminary program of studies and in the seminary life of prayer.

All this stems from the council’s recognition that it “would be futile to entertain any hopes of realizing its purposes “unless the pastors themselves, in the first place,” become thoroughly imbued with the spirit and power of the liturgy, and undertake to give instruction about it.”

Irrespective of reforms a church can not come, the immediate need is education and participation – beginning with “priests, both secular and religious, who are already working in the Lord’s vineyard” and the candidates for the sacred ministry in seminaries and other places of study.

Only this can bring to pass the hopes of the Church, as the Pope has expressed by the Pope and by all the bishops: “Participation by the Christian people as a whole in this chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a redeemed people” (1 Peter 2:9, cf. 2:4-6) in their right and duty by reason of their Baptism.”

Judeo-Christian Teaching Called Answer To Extremism

Liturgy becomes official or effective in the same period before the council’s document be put into effect immediately – as the constitution itself requires – all liturgical program be revised for the next scholastic year.

The council has called for a thorough reappraisal of the teaching of dogmatic theology, Scripture, spiritual theology, and the whole body of liturgical theology, unified in the exposition of “the mystery of Christ and the liturgy,” which has been celebrated in worship. God Love You
Most Reverend
Fulton J. Sheen

The Council will remind the Catholics of the Western World that the Missions are not foundlings to whom we give our own flesh and blood whom we serve before we please ourselves. The Council, furthermore, will recall the words of Our Lord to His Church in which He united two ideas that may not be divorced: One: “I have come not to minister unto, but to minister” — this means Mission. The other: “And to give My life for the Redemption of many — this is Mission. Mission is service of others; Passion is the crucifixion of self for others. Our Lord interwove the Church and the Crucifix, the Body and its surrender in love, the source of Divine Power and the love by which that power is surrendered to others.

In the Missions, the Church can present itself to the world only as a servant, not as lord; only as giver, not as receiver. Its symbol is the towel with which its Divine Founder girded Himself to wash the feet of His Disciples and mail it to Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen, National Director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, 360 Fifth Avenue, New York 10001, N.Y., or your Diocesan Director, Rev. Neil J. Church In Reforming Must Stress Essentials – Cardinal

MUNCH (NC) — Julius Cardinal Delpovery said here that the Church must seek always to interpret itself in line with a spirit of peni ncence and emphasis on the essentials — on Christ, holiness, the liturgy.

The Archbishop of Munch and Freising spoke at ceremonies marking the 10th anniversary of the Lutheran-Catholic Academy. He said that the reforming Church must always have an eye for the present. In this connection he said the Church must always have an eye for the present.

“We are aware today,” he said, “that the Lord’s word and salvation are effective in many ways and degrees outside the Catholic Church as well as within.”

Dogma “is not simply identical with divine truth,” he said, “but is always knowledge expressed in human concepts.”

Concerning the Catholic Church’s approach to other Christian churches, Cardinal Delpovery said without sacrificing essentials to be revised in truth in a way that does not offend those who are not in full communion with us.

“We are aware today,” he said, “that the Lord’s word and salvation are effective in many ways and degrees outside the Catholic Church as well as within.”

Judeo-Christian Teaching Called Answer To Extremism

PORTLAND, Ore. (NC) — Commitment to social progress and Judeo-Christian teaching is the only effective longrange answer to communism and extremism of the radical right, participants in a conference on “Communism, Extremism and the Churches” agreed.

William C. Sullivan, assistant director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington, told some 1,500 persons attending the conference that it is the churches’ task to produce “a moral, rather than political or economic challenge.

Msgr. Thomas J. Tobin, vicar general of the Portland archdiocese, represented local Catholics.

Msgr. Tobin stressed that “many things the communists condemn in our society must be condemned and many things they want to achieve should be avoided.”

Some specific directions given by the Pope insist on more serious steps to be taken without delay:

Establishment of diocesan liturgical commissions to promote understanding and active participation in the public worship by the people.

The homily preached at Mass in which “the mysteries of the Faith, the saving work of Christ, and the guiding principles of the Christian life are expounded from the sacred text” — recommended by the council to be a part of any and every Mass — required, as of Feb. 16, at every Sunday and holy day Mass when a congregation is present;
Aids To Understanding The Lenten Fast And Abstinence

If you are from 7 to under 21 years of age:
You may not eat meat on any Friday or Ash Wednesday.
You may eat meat as often as you wish on the other days of Lent, excepting Ember Wednesday and Ember Saturday, when you may eat meat only once a day at the principal meal.
You may eat between meals.
If you are from 21 to under 59 years of age:
You may not eat meat on Ash Wednesday or any Friday.
On the other days of Lent you may eat meat only once a day at the principal meal. You may not eat between meals.
You may have one full meal and two light meals each day.
If you are 59 years of age or over:
You may not eat meat on Ash Wednesday or any Friday.
You may eat meat as often as you wish on the other days of Lent, excepting Ember Wednesday and Ember Saturday, when you may eat meat only once a day at the principal meal.
You may eat between meals.

Soup or gravy made from meat may be eaten only when meat itself may be eaten.
Liquid refreshment such as milk and juices may be taken between meals.
The sick are excused.

Sunday is not a day of fast or abstinence.

On Abstinence

Everyone over 7 years of age is bound to observe the law of abstinence.

Complete abstinence is to be observed on Fridays, Ash Wednesday, Vigil of the Feast of the Immaculate Conception (December 8) and December 23 or 24.* On days of complete abstinence meat and soup or gravy made from meat may not be used at all.
Partial abstinence is to be observed on Ember Wednesdays and Saturdays and on the Vigil of Pentecost. On days of partial abstinence meat and soup or gravy made from meat may be taken only at the principal meal.

On Fast

Everyone over 21 and under 59 years of age is bound to observe the law of fast.
The days of fast are the weekdays of Lent, including Holy Saturday (until mid-night), Ember Days, the Vigil of Pentecost, Vigil of Immaculate Conception and December 23 or 24.* On days of fast only one full meal is allowed. Two other meatless meals, sufficient to maintain strength, may be taken at any time to meet one's needs, but together they should not equal another full meal. Meat may be taken at the principal meal on a day of fast except on Fridays, Ash Wednesday, Vigil of the Feast of the Immaculate Conception and December 23 or 24.*
Eating between meals is not permitted, but liquids, including milk and fruit juices, are allowed. When health or ability to work would be seriously affected, the law does not oblige. In doubt concerning fast or abstinence, a parish priest or confessor should be consulted.

We earnestly exhort the Faithful during the period of fast and abstinence to attend daily Mass; to receive Holy Communion often; to take part more frequently in exercises of piety; to give generously to works of piety and charity; to perform acts of kindness toward the sick, the aged and the poor; to practice voluntary self-denial, especially regarding alcoholic drink and worldly amusements, and to pray more fervently, particularly for the intentions of the Holy Father.

* Note: The Vigil of Christmas. The Faithful may choose to observe this law of fast and abstinence on either the Vigil of Christmas (December 24) or the day which precedes it (December 23). The time for fulfilling the precept of Easter Communion begins with the First Sunday of Lent, February 16, and closes on Trinity Sunday, May 24.

Opportunities From Vatican Council

Catholic Press President
Cites Most Meaningful Era

The patent task confronting the Catholic press today is underscored by the Catholic Press Association president in the following statement issued in connection with the annual February observance of Catholic Press Month.

By MSGR. ROBERT G. PETERS, Press, Catholic Press Assoc.

Perhaps never was there a day so filled with meaning, so overwhelmed with problems, so constantly faced with change as is today. It is a day in which the Christian as perhaps never before is confronted with opportunities and responsibilities.

In the spiritual area the "fresh air" that was to be the aggiornamento effected by the Second Vatican Council has become almost the wind of another Pentecost. From the liturgy to religious liberty, the areas being covered present possibilities the Christian cannot ignore.

And we speak of the non-Catholic as well as the Catholic — as evidenced by the deep concern of Protestant servers of the council. For the layman, especially, the topics of the day are concerns he cannot rightly shrug off.

In the civil area there are just as many problems whose solutions involve Christian values. The all-important question of peace, the problem both for peace and for war — of nuclear weapons and testing, and the at once promising and ominous challenge of automation — these are all developments with which every Christian must become acquainted and involved.

It was Pope John XXIII who said the Catholic press must give "the innumerable problems posed by present day life... an interpretation according to the valid criterion of the eternal truths which reflect upon time."

The task of the press, then, is obvious.

Holy Name Societies Appoint Representatives For Drive

Parish representatives are being named to spearhead a Holy Name membership drive in the Diocese.

The goal of the drive is 10,000 members.

Edward Atkins, past president of the Diocesan Union of Holy Name Societies, has been named chairman of the drive. William Wolfarth is in charge of public relations.

The membership campaign will last one month and will begin on Holy Name Sunday, March 8, and close on Holy Name Sunday, April 12.

It is being stressed that this is a campaign solely for new members to be registered in the Society. It is not a fund-raising drive to obtain a greater amount of dues on the part of the Society.

“We recognize,” said Mr. Atkins, “that there are many men who are Holy Name men, who attend Mass and Communion monthly regularly, but from whom dues are not collected.”

Mr. Atkins said that the various parish societies are currently appointing special representatives within each parish who will have the responsibility of organizing the membership drive in their own parishes.

Mr. Atkins said these men will be responsible for such things as:

1. The posting of posters publicizing the drive.
2. Obtaining publicity in the parish bulletins and through any other appropriate media.
3. Arranging for a group of men to be available at each Mass on the six Sundays of the drive in order to take applications in the Society and prepare membership cards.
4. Organizing a formal reception ceremony in the church for all new and old members on the closing Sunday of the drive.

MOVEMENT GROWS IN LATIN AMERICA

Miamians Help Install New Serra Club In Venezuela

Diocese of Miami Serra Club representatives took part last week in ceremonies which marked the growth of the Serra movement in Latin America, with its resulting growth of interest in the promotion of vocations to the priesthood.

Presenting the formal charter at a dinner which installed the new Serra Club in Caracas, Venezuela, were Msgr. James J. Walsh, Miami club chaplain; Philip Lewis, of Palm Beach, Serra district governor, and Joseph Fitzgerald, Serra International Trustee.

The Venezuelan Serrans included leaders in government, university professors, doctors, lawyers and other distinguished members. All of them had previously taken part in the Curilla movement, which had increased their interest in the Church and their own personal relationship with God, according to Msgr. Walsh. More than 20,000 men, along with their wives, have become Curillistas in all parts of Venezuela.

Present at the charter dinner were Auxiliary Bishops Luis Henriquez and Ramon Lizardi, as well as Bishop Jose Humberto Cardinal Quinones of Caracas, who was under the protection of the military in his palace as a result of a threat which had been made against his life.

The Cardinal, however, received the entire Serra group, including the Diocese of Miami members, in the morning, and told them about the need for more priests in Venezuela and the hope he entertained as a result of the help of the Serrans.

Communion, within the past year, has not made notable strides in Venezuela as is commonly believed. Msgr. Walsh was told by the new Serra members there. While Fidel Castro still beams messages regularly into Caracas, very few people pay any attention to him now, they said.

Some of the Venezuelan Serrans are actively involved in the program of rehabilitation now under way for the large numbers of poverty stricken people living in unbelievably poor shacks in the mountains surrounding Caracas.

Monsignor Walsh, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Fitzgerald also stopped in Jamaica on their way to Venezuela for a visit with potential members of another new Serra Club being organized in Kingston. Bishop John J. McElvany, S.J., attended the lunch along with laymen, all native Jamaicans, one of whom is a Supreme Court judge, another a Commissioner of Agriculture and another the postmaster.

men of science could do well to turn their efforts toward solving, Bishop Carroll recalled that "only recently the Holy Father made the statement that one-half of the world today is hungry."

"I urge all of you," said Bishop Carroll, "to appreciate the wonderful gifts and the opportunities you have primarily because of the goodness of Almighty God. You should be grateful also to the Sisters and Brothers here who make such sacrifices to give you a wonderful education," and to the people who made the new science building possible.

Present for the dedication ceremonies were the entire student body, including the school band and choir, members of the faculties, five monsignori, and many priests and religious from the Diocese of Miami.

The monsignori included Msgr. Peter Reilly, pastor of Little Flower Church, Coral Gables; Msgr. Bryan O. Walsh, director of Catholic Charities in the Diocese of Miami; Msgr. William F. McKeever, superintendent of schools in the Diocese; Msgr. John O'Dowd, V.F., pastor of Epiphany Church; and Msgr. David E. Bushey, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Homestead.

Advanced Placement Pupils Can Get College Credits

(Second in Series)

By Msgr. WILLIAM F. McKEEVER
(Diocesan Superintendent of Schools)
And Father JOSEPH H. O'SHA
(Diocesan Superintendent of High Schools)

In March of 1963, the Quality Education Committee for the Dade County public schools wrote a special chapter in its final report; a chapter that described and recommended something called the Advanced Placement Program.

James B. Conant, former president of Harvard University, and highly respected authority in both science and education, has said, "the Advanced Placement Program is one of the most encouraging signs of real improvement in our educational system."

Last year, five of our diocesan high schools were part of this program, and this year almost half of our high schools are preparing students for Advanced Placement tests.

Primarily, the Advanced Placement Program is the presentation of a challenge and an opportunity to the student who can progress farther and faster in his studies than most of his fellow-students.

In recent times, educators have made efforts to provide the means for a deeper grasp of a subject by the more gifted students. This is called "enrichment." The Advanced Placement Program is enrichment, but enrichment with a special incentive, a special point.

COLLEGE CREDIT GIVEN

The special point about Advanced Placement is that if the successful student receives college credit for this advanced work in three subjects, many colleges will arrange to have the student finish his college course in three years, and complete a year of graduate work in his fourth year.

Basic to the Advanced Placement idea is the assumption that some twelfth grade students can do college freshman work, and that achievement, no matter where or when it occurs, should be recognized and rewarded.

That the idea is solid and meritorious is evidenced by the growth of the program. In the school year 1965-66, the first year of the program, 128 colleges participated. In 1966-67, this number had increased to 765 colleges. Significantly, the outstanding colleges in the country last year were the ones most enthused about Advanced Placement.

Last year, from among all the high schools in the State of Florida, 22 took part in the program. Five of this number were our diocesan high schools. A creditable showing indeed!

LA SALLE SETS RECORD

La Salle High School in Miami had 12 students who took the Advanced Placement tests. Eleven of these received a mark of 5, which is the highest mark possible; and the other student received a 4, which also indicates high honors. This achievement may well be the most successful Advanced Placement attainment in the country last year.

The students from Curley, Columbus, Notre Dame and Immaculata all performed notably. This year several others of our high schools have joined the five already mentioned in challenging the gifted student with the program of Advanced Placement.

The announcement of the High School Administrators whose schools are already in the program, is to make it possible for the capable student to pass three college subjects while still in high school. This possibility is remote, however, unless the advancement of the student begins before he enters high school.

And so an Advanced Placement Program has been begun in some of our elementary schools. Next week, this program will be described.

Invited to attend the Holy Hour are all Catholic Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, and Girl Scouts in the Diocese.

Father Dockrell said a special invitation to attend also is extended to those Catholic Scouts who do not belong to a Catholic Scout unit.

Following the Holy Hour, a meeting will be held for all Catholic leaders of Boy Scout troops to discuss preparations for presentation of the Ad Altare Dei Awards sometime in June in The Cathedral.

The Litany of the Blessed Virgin Mary was recited by Father Hennessy and the members to begin the ceremony. Father Hennessy then gave a brief talk, on how to be a good member of the organization and about the early life of Christ.

After the pins were blessed, each member approached the altar railing to receive his own pin, membership card and a special blessing from Father Hennessy. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament immediately followed.

The pins which the members received are circular, containing on a blue outer rim the inscription "National C.Y.O."

The inner section of gold contains the insignia portraying strength and unity. Parents and relatives were present to witness the induction. The Sisters of St. Dominic also were present.

The C.Y.O. officers are: president, Ron Critchley; vice president, Linda Lustig; secretary, Cheryl Herman; and treasurer, Katy Hood.

Yvonne Forget is social chairman, Viki Jelksy, spiritual chairman and Christine Puiiras, cultural chairman.

Recently, each Catholic school in the diocese of Miami was urged to hold a thanksgiving for the success of Pope Paul VI's pilgrimage to the Holy Land in helping to bring us a step closer to world peace.

At the Convent of the Sacred Heart, the freshman class presented a hands-on science project which was dedicated to the Missions toward Church unity through the ages.

Some of the facets of the subject included: The implications of the Council of Trent, the ecumenical movement, Christ as the bond of union between men and their Creator, heresies and schisms which caused dissent in the Church, the councils and the subject of church unity through the Ecu- menical Council.

On the same day, the official opening of the new gymnasium took place at 2 p.m. with a kick-off assembly launching the chocolate sale drive. The new building includes a gymnasium, classroom rooms, and a science lab.

Clove Is One Of Most Precious Spices

The clove is one of the oldest and most precious of spices. We read of it first, during the 3rd Century, B.C. in China, where it was used as a breath sweetener in court circles.

In Rome several centuries later, spices were demanded not only as a seasoning, but as a heady perfume and a medicine.

In medieval times cloves and other spices were so rare and valuable that they served as a gift from the Emperor Constantine to the Bishop of Rome. A thousand years ago cloves were literally counted out one by one. Eventually, as the age of exploration and international spice rivalry lowered the price of cloves they became available to everyone.

Spiced Baked Limas

Although cloves are still used as an ingredient in antiseptics and germicides, in perfumes, soaps, dentifrices, as well as many tobaccos, this spice is most famous as the flavor enhancer of a wide variety of foods.

Cloves give tantalizing goodness to spiced baked lima beans, for which the recipe follows.

Or add a bit of ground cloves to spiced apple charlotte or a special apple sauce date cake.

When you know how delicious ham tastes studded with cloves, it’s not surprising to learn that a few whole cloves give character to a marinaise for pork chops.

Place in an saucepan with cold water. Cover. Bring to boiling point and boil 3 minutes. Remove from heat and soak 1 hour. Cook slowly, 1 hour or until beans are almost tender. Drain off cooking water, measure and add additional water to make 5 cups. Mix in with molasses, salt, mustard, black pepper, cloves, ginger, instant minced onion and garlic. Turn beans into a 3-quart casserole or bean pot. Pour in the seasoned liquid. Cover and bake 2 hours or until beans are tender. Broil bacon well until about half done. Arrange over top of beans. Bake, uncovered, 30 minutes or until bacon is crisp.

YIELD: 12 to 16 servings.

Apple Charlotte

Mix apples with sugar, salt, cloves, lemon rind, orange juice and sherry. Melt butter or margarine and add to bread crumbs. Mix well. Fill a buttered 1-quart casserole with alternating layers of bread crumbs and apples, beginning and ending with bread crumbs. Cover and bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 F.) 30 minutes. Remove cover and bake 15 minutes or until crumbs are brown and apples tender. Serve warm with cream, optional.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Marinated Chops

Combine cloves, salt, thyme, instant minced onion, dry powder, lemon juice and bouillon. Mix well and heat. Place chops in a close-fitting pan. Add marinade. Cover. Let stand in the refrigerator over night or for several hours, turning chops in the marinade 3 to 4 times. To cook: Remove chops from marinade and drain well. Reserve marinade to use later. Roll chops in flour and brown them in shortening over medium heat. Add marinade. Cover and cook slowly until chops are tender, about 45 minutes. Remove chops from pan and thicken gravy using 1 1/2 tablespoons flour to each cup of gravy. Stir in water and cook until of desired thickness. Serve hot.
Women as they resent the brash display of it especially when it acting intelligently and courteously.

This restores the balance. But he may be hard to find, especially if she wants a man who is her intellectual superior. Men might put it, you can't cherish a walking dictionary.

This is not so. Husband-wife relations are one. Don't always know the answer, either to their position as head of the family. They still want to cherish, perhaps it is not so much that men resent intelligence in women as they resent the brash display of it especially when it acting intelligently and courteously.

The very intelligent girl has two choices in seeking a husband. She can look for a man who is her intellectual superior. This restores the balance. But he may be hard to find, especially if she wants a man who is her intellectual superior. Men might put it, you can't cherish a walking dictionary.

But at your age perhaps the only place worse to work, so far as marital chances are concerned, would be a library in a girl's college. Since it is a college, I assume there are no or very few graduate students who would be near your age. The distinction of Harvard men who showed interest in you, mentally speaking, would be looking for a mother for a wife. Obviously this is to be avoided. Even the upper classmen will consider you too young because boys tend to marry girls younger than themselves.

But you needn't desert library science, just desert the type of library in which you are now employed for the kind where you are apt to meet men of your own age. One suggestion is the library of a university which has a large number of graduate students. A law library also seems statistically better. Even a large public library will bring you into contact with a wider age spread of men.

You don't have to depend upon work as a place for meeting a potential partner. What about social activities in your parish? There are Catholic organizations specifically designed for people of your age, as well as the dramatic clubs, and other parish societies. Participate actively in them and you will acquire men friends.

This brings me to the point about which you express the greatest concern and upon which I suspect you place the blame. You have been called "a brain." Somehow or other it appears to alienate boys. At 28 I am beginning to despair of ever getting married. I have a degree in Library science and work in the library of a man's college. I see plenty of men each day, but they are either too young, too old, or already married. In college I had dates, but I heard the boys called me "a brain." Since I don't want to be an "unclaimed treasure," almost any man is beginning to look good. Do you have to be stupid to get a husband?

Well, Clara, you do have a problem, but your anxiety is taking it even worse than need be. It is true that at 18 a girl's chances of getting married are about nine out of 10, but at 28, only one out of 10. But there still is a chance, and it can be better than you think.

The most alarming part of your statement is that almost any man is beginning to look good. Perhaps you can't be so selective as you could have been five or six years ago, but you had better not be completely unselective. Better to remain single than get burned, as you surely will be if you marry just for the sake of getting married.

There are other parish societies. Participate actively in them and you will meet men of your own age. One suggestion is the library of a university which has a large number of graduate students. A law library also seems statistically better. Even a large public library will bring you into contact with a wider age spread of men.

Some might claim that this proves Americans are anti-intellectual but I doubt it. Rather, it upsets the traditional roles of male and female. Despite all the brave talk about equality of the sexes, there are still certain areas of life where men might put it, you can't cherish a walking dictionary.

The very intelligent girl has two choices in seeking a husband. She can look for a man who is her intellectual superior. This restores the balance. But he may be hard to find, especially if she wants a man who is her intellectual superior. Men might put it, you can't cherish a walking dictionary.

Influirá la Escuela Católica en Transformación Latinoamericana

La AMPLIA LABOR DEL CONGRESO INTERAMERICANO DE EDUCACIÓN CATOLICA

“Operación Esperanza”
Para Latinoamérica

PARIS (NC) — El escritor católico francés François Mauriac y el prior del monasterio protestante de Taizé hicieron un llamado para que los latinoamericanos se interpusieran en la escena, difusión de la línea de trabajo, y libertades de enseñanza y enseñanza, informa las conclusiones del VII Congreso de la Confederación Internacional de Educación Católica.

El prior protestante anunció entonces una "Operación Esperanza", lanzada por la comunidad de Taizé como ayuda a sus patrias no solo con el prelado enumera una serie de acciones que estarían a su disposición como cooperativa agraria en tierras de la Iglesia. Al dar este llamado se evidencia que la Iglesia se ha presentado como justa y solidaria con los más necesitados, intentando formar "una auténtica esencia de solidaridad que forme el carácter latinoamericano".

Seminario de Misa Anual

El domingo 26 de enero se celebró en el noviciado Dominico de Lima, Mons. Fidel Tubino, el séptimo del ciclo de misas anuales que profesamos, y por la Iglesia se ha presentado como “una situación U$? de posibilidades pero también una situación que representan unos 1,300 congresistas, con el tema general de la "Contribución de la educación católica al desarrollo de América".

Las conclusiones, dichos en doctrina y afirmaciones positivas, son el fruto de los debates en que se han desarrollado dos sesiones de ellos en favor de perfeccionar la educación católica, influyendo en un profundo sentido de justicia social, pide Mons. Mauriac y el prior del monasterio protestante de Taizé, Roger Schutz, en las dos jornadas presentadas, que se puedan manejar con eficiencia, al precio de una igualdad real, la aplicación de sistemas educativos, forman, sin duda, el objetivo de la "Operación Esperanza".

A pesar de que el lunes 26 de enero quedará condenado, si bien la publicidad y en el gobierno, se ve sacudido por la transformación, la sociedad, valores positivos colectivos, en la sociedad urbana e industrializada.

Recomendaciones Importantes

- 1. Ante el cambio que hay en nuestra sociedad, es por lo que hay que pensar en la necesidad de que las personas se orienten y se orientan a los valores constructivos de nuestra cultura, formar "una auténtica esencia de solidaridad que forme el carácter latinoamericano".
- 2. Este esfuerzo, con todas las virtudes de la sociedad, tiene que ir en el sentido de, por ejemplo, el alto grado de "organización" al punto de poder mantener una vida apurada y superficial. Ni las fuerzas híbridas que a veces manejan la opinión pública y los gastos del consumidor.
- 3. Aprovechemos, pues, los valores constructivos de Norteamérica en tres categorías diferentes "para efectuar el cambio que necesitamos en Latinoamérica": a) las virtudes que promueven el cambio social; b) las virtudes que promueven el cambio industrial; y c) las virtudes que promueven el cambio en el bien común, la aplicación de las leyes, la moral y las virtudes que son heredades de nuestra sociedad, valores positivos comunes a todos los latinoamericanos.

Suscripción

Se recomienda al final de los estudios, los latinoamericanos hagan un breve curso de reciclaje y aprendan a su patria, su sociedad, para que no se queden con su obra y que se encuentren en el propio casa.

"Estas son las recomendaciones que confía a educadores, familias y alumnos de los Estados Unidos, en espíritu y en espíritu, en espíritu y en espíritu..."

POPE PAUL AND THE HOLY LAND

As he entered the Holy Land, the Pope spoke movingly of his trip: "To our Catholic sons and daughters and to all those who glorify the name of Christians, we say: Enter with us into the spirit of this pilgrimage." Only a few, of course, can make the long trip but in spirit and financially we can help the priests, Sisters and Brothers, the sick, aged and needy of these lands. Our association has been entrusted with this task by the Holy Father.

WAYS TO HELP

☐ HELP A YOUNG GIRL like Sister Alexandra become a Sister. $2 a week for two years will see her through training.

☐ EDUCATE A SEMINARIAN like Jean Manour, He has served for 10 years a year at $500.

☐ FURNISH A CHAPEL with a needed item. Cost: $5 to $25.

☐ BUILD A SCHOOL or CHAPEL. Cost: $2,000 to $5,000.

☐ BECOME A MEMBER of our Association. $1 a year for a single person; $5 for a family.

By SOME IRONY OF FATE, the Holy Land has always known the homeless, the refugee and the wanderer. Is this a Divine design to keep the places specially touched by His love? . . . The PALESTINE REFUGEES today—over one million of them—are as true home- ceders as the Bedouins, and the Pope summed them up last week as: " . . . the homes of El Raguib telling how the Church died and I read his biography of Mary Immaculate. Through God's grace I have already received many more." No sin of man Catholic go to confession without facing death when he does his confession.

The reason for our not receiving Communion from each other is readily apparent if we consider that our offering of Sacrifice together and our reception of Jesus as the fruit of that Sac- rifice is the primary sign of our union in love and brotherhood: with union with Jesus, even as the Apostles were united with Him at the Last Supper, and union with each other as children of the Father to whom we offer ourselves, as one, in Sacrifice.

“True, I encountered unwor- thy men occasionally in the history of the Church but, having started with the patriarchs and judges in the Old Testament, I expected to find imperfect characters in God's kingdom on earth. I started going to the Catholic Church and was impressed with the variety of its membership. "The Episcopalians were all white - do well - dim and spoke English perfectly. But at the Catholic church there were Irish, German and Italian farmers, Mexican day-la- borers and every variety. Even the Sisters were of diverse na- tional origins. What held all these people together? No social, economic or national tie but the spiritual which they found in the doctrine and sacramental life of the Catholic Church."

"I studied the history of the various Churches and found that only the Catholic Church was loyal to Christ and the Apostles. How did the other Churches come into existence? They were founded by man. Rather started a chain re- action by setting up a Church and then in Henry VIII founded the Episcopal Church, John Kime the Divine, and John Smyth the Baptist."

"By what authority did they found these Churches? Simply by their own. This was in clear violation of the authority be- stowed upon Peter by Christ when He said: 'Thou art Peter and upon this rock I will build my Church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it.' Forced to choose between a human founder and a divine Founder, I chose Christ and His Church."

"Upon the completion of in- structions from Msgr. Claud- nel, I was baptised at St. Patrick’s Church and received Pre- paraculum Eschol Lord. Wanting to extend Christ’s Kingdom in the hearts of men, I became a priest in the order of Oblates of Mary Immaculate. Through God’s grace I have already re- ceived some 120 persons into the Faith of Christ and hope to receive many more."
A full bursé comes to $20,000, an amount invested to produce an annual income capable of providing annually for the needs of a seminarian. No matter how small your contribution, it is needed. Help Our Lord to obtain priests for the Diocese of Miami.
