DDF Volunteers To Call At All Homes In Diocese

"Stay at home Sunday — and open your door and your heart to the volunteer workers for the 1964 Diocesan Development Fund Campaign." That is the appeal which will be made next Sunday, Feb. 16, from the pulpits of every church and mission in the Diocese of Miami.

Directed to every wage-earner among the more than 600,000 Catholics in the Diocese, the appeal will ask their generous support of this year's drive, for which Bishop Coleman F. Carroll has set these goals:

- Construction of the Marian Center for Exceptional Children, ground for which was broken recently.
- Building of a Geriatrics Center to care for the elderly poor and to be completely equipped and professionally staffed to study the diseases of the aged.
- A home to care for teenage boys made dependent through no fault of their own to complement the new Bethany Residence for dependent teenage girls.

Methodist Bishop Wishes Catholics Success In Drive

Exemplifying the true spirit of ecumenism, an outstanding Methodist bishop has congratulated the Catholics of South Florida for their generous support of the charitable projects and institutions of the Diocese of Miami.

Bishop Fred Pierce Corson, president of the World Methodist Council, also said he would offer prayers for the success of the 1964 Diocesan Development Fund Campaign.

Bishop Corson spoke at the regional DDF dinner held last week at the Breakers Hotel, in Palm Beach.

The Methodist leader, who is also a resident bishop of the Methodist Council in the Philadelphia area, described the second session of Vatican Council II, at which he served as an observer. He told of his great admiration for the late Pope John XXIII and for his successor, Pope Paul VI, with both of whom he had private audiences.

He described early steps toward achieving unity and said that in his opinion, perhaps in the distant future, reunion between Catholics and Protestants would be achieved.

IMPORTANT GAINS

The Church has gone far, he added, to be in the "iron air" of which Pope John spoke, and already, at least, Catholic and Protestant spokesmen are beginning to be able to communicate.

Welcoming Bishop Corson's remarks, Bishop Coleman F. Carroll said that if it had not been for Pope John's inspiration and leadership, the Methodist prelate never would have thought of addressing a Catholic gathering, nor would it have occurred to Catholics to invite him to speak.

In a commencement address where he was awarded an honorary doctorate of letters by St. Joseph's College, in Philadelphia, late October, Bishop Corson declared that if Pope John had been pontiff in 1518, Martin Luther probably would not have left the Church, and that if a man of his spirit and charity had been pope in 1546, Henry VIII probably would not have left the Church.

He described early steps toward achieving unity and said that in his opinion, perhaps in the distant future, reunion between Catholics and Protestants would be achieved.

MOVES TO UNITY

Referring to the movements toward Christian unity, Bishop Carroll said:

"It is not possible to predict when all Christian churches will be united by bonds of love and mutual purpose, God has said, "\( \text{He will unite them.} \)"

He spoke of ecumenical councils and said that the Church has great hope in the Ecumenical Council's constitution on the liturgy, which is still in process.

"This constitution is in accordance with the text of the motu proprio of Pope Paul VI, entitled "Sacred Liturgy," on implementing the decrees of the Council. It is in accordance with the text of the Constitution on the liturgy and advance the liturgical apostolate."

Paul VI Admonishes: Think About Wonder Of Papacy

VATICAN CITY (NC) — In his weekly general audience in the great hall above the porch of St. Peter’s, Pope Paul VI asked the thousands present to think about the unique nature and wonder of the papacy.

In the course of the audience, in which he singled out for praise the White Fathers of Africa, the Bishop of Rome said: “Who is the pope?” He immediately cautioned them to look beyond the person of Giovanni Battista Montini to concentrate their thinking “on the thought of the Lord, Who Himself chose to define the person whom He selected as the first of His apostles by function and by mission.”

Pope Paul noted Christ reposed the name of Simon — the birth name! — and instead called him Peter — “the name of office.” The Pope then said that it is “evident that Jesus gave His chosen one a particular virtue and a particular office, endowing the one and the other in the image of stone, of rock, that is, of firmness, of stability, of solidness, of immobility and of indefectibility, both in time and in the vicissitudes of life.”

The Pope told his listeners that “the thought of the Lord is most clear, and it is which gives the papacy its unique nature and its wonder.”

For those who have some of the fragility of human things, For those who have some knowledge and some experience of the fragility of human things, the words of Jesus to Peter appear thus, (showing) His divine daring which triumphs over human weakness and which challenges the frailty of constructions built in the sands of time. It is a miracle of equilibrium, of resistance, of vitality, which finds its explanation in the presence of Christ in the person of Peter.”

Keep Devotion To Our Lady, Pope Advises Seminarians

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope Paul VI told students at Rome’s major seminary that they must never let their devotion to Our Lady flag and must become aware of “the relationship between the Madonna and our individual souls.”

Pope Paul left the Vatican to celebrate a 7 a.m. Mass in the seminary chapel devoted to Our Lady of Trust. He took the opportunity to praise Marian devotion enthusiastically. He said: “The panoramic vision of theology centered in the humble Handmaid of the Lord must never disappear from our spiritual eyes... We must first honor the most holy Madonna before we invoke Her. Our piety, the faithful pupil of tradition, must preserve its full objective expression of worship and imitation before assuming the subjective expression of praying for things for our comfort and benefit.”

In prayer to Our Lady, the Pope said, Christians “celebrate in her the mysteries of the Lord and venerate her greatness and her privileges, praise her beauty, admire her goodness and study her virtues and example.”

The Pontiff said that the “modern development of Marian piety must for us follow this furrow which the most ancient and authoritative tradition of the Church offers to the spirituality of the Christian people. Thus by honoring Mary we arrive at the discovery of heragogical action in the economy of salvation and particularly her action of intercession.”

Pontiff Voices Affection In Letter To Patriarch

ISTANBUL (NC) — Pope Paul VI has sent a letter to Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople (Istanbul) expressing his esteem and affection for the Orthodox leader.

The letter was presented to the Patriarch by Archbishop Francesco Laronze, Apostolic Delegate to Turkey. It recalled the meetings of the Pope and the Patriarch during the Pontiff’s pilgrimage to the Holy Land in January.

After reading the letter to the Orthodox Holy Synod here, the Patriarch praised the significance of the Jerusalem meetings for the whole of Christianity and spoke of the “illustrious and luminous” personality of the Pope.

Later, the Patriarch declared that Pope Paul is a great pope and said he hopes to see him again in Rome.

The Patriarch spoke at an Orthodoxy ceremony to pray for unity on the eve of religious meetings. He addressed the Pope’s trip to Jerusalem, delivered a tribute to the Patriarch.

Patriarch Athenagoras invited those present to recite the Our Father in Greek and Latin.

The Orthodox leader said in his sermon, referring to his meeting with the Pope: “We forget the evil of the past and we turn toward the future, the near future; the future, the near future; the future, the near future; the near future.”

The Pontiff said that “the unique sacrifice of Christ leads us in Jerusalem, this new gesture of friendship strengthens further the links which Providence permitted us to form in a much happy and exceptional circumstances.

“May God grant that abundant graces for the whole Church may be the fruit of this contact between the ancient Church of Rome and the venerable Patriarchate of Constantinople.

“This is our dear wish, the realization of which we entrust to the Father of Light and to His beloved Son, Jesus Christ, in whose charity we renew to the Holy See by the Patriarch affection here today is already a first fruit of Jerusalem.

“Yes, it is a great and important thing that we find ourselves united in this church to pray to God and in the Mother of God on the vigil of the feast of St. John Chrysostom, whose feast we celebrate.”

The ceremony was concluded by liturgical chants. But before leaving the church, the Patriarch said: “Pope John was a great pope. Paul VI is another great pope and we hope to meet him again in Rome.”

Pope Paul’s letter to the Patriarch referred to visits of Orthodox Metropolitan Athenagoras of Thyatira, who was sent to the Holy See by the Patriarch in early January. The letter said:

“Our gratitude is due to Your Excellency for the visits that you paid us. We are pleased to pay back this payment in the form of a letter. We shall be pleased to receive you again in the land of Rome. We shall do so with joy and gratitude.”

It makes good sense to accept the fact that it will take more than one man to replace you, so no one person should make any important decision regarding your estate. If you consult your lawyer and name Mercantile National Bank of Miami Beach as a trustee for part or all of your property, you will enjoy the dependable collective judgment of successful business men—our Trust Committee and Trust Officers. President Asks All-Faiths Prayer Center In Capital

WASHINGTON (DC) — President Johnson said here that separation of Church and State has been a boon to the nation "because men of state have not separated themselves from church and faith and prayer." Mr. Johnson, speaking at the annual Presidential Prayer Breakfast sponsored by International Christian Leadership, also urged establishment here of a "fitting memorial to the God who made us all."

He said such a "center of prayer open to all men of all faiths at all times" in the nation's capital would testify to the fact that Americans are "a good and God-fearing people."

"The government cannot and should not sponsor this project with public funds," Mr. Johnson said, urging those present at the breakfast to seek voluntary contributions to such a project.

More than 1,000 national leaders, including cabinet members, congressmen and others turned out for the occasion. Major figures present included Chief Justice Earl Warren and Speaker of the House John McCormack of Massachusetts. Evangelist Billy Graham was the principal speaker.

Mr. Johnson said that since he became President "prayer has helped me to bear burdens too great to be borne by any man alone."

After addressing the men's breakfast, the President dropped in on a women's breakfast also held in the Mayflower-Hotel.

He told the women:
"I believe, as I know you believe, that our children should be taught to pray; but I know, also, I believe, as I think you believe, that this teaching is sacred to every home and to every heart of the average American family — that we may, as a nation, be just in our strength, wise in our actions, and faithful in our trust," he said.
10,000 DDF Volunteers To Call

the campaign, workers in some parishes already have visited their neighbors, but these calls will continue Sunday and, where necessary, next week.

Preliminary reports from the advance gifts phase of the campaign have been most encouraging, according to Father Neil J.
Flemming, Bishop's representative and coordinator. He has expressed great confidence that the drive will meet with success in every parish because the people of the Diocese realize the urgency of the needs of the young and the aged and their responsibility to help meet them.

Paying tribute to the people of the Diocese, Bishop Carroll, speaking at a series of regional meetings held during the past several weeks, declared:

"To meet the demands that have been imposed upon the Diocese, there has been required on the part of many,
ever a period of five years, great sacrifices and fervent prayers to bring about that which has been achieved in this area, all for the good of the Faith.

"I believe there is not another diocese in the country that can surpass the achievements that have been accomplished here because of your dedication and devotion."

NEW MARIAN CENTER

Foremost in Bishop Carroll's appeals has been that in behalf of the new Marian Center, the school for exceptional children, which will be staffed by the St.
Joseph Cottolengo Sisters, whose sole work is the care of retarded boys and girls. Eleven of these Sisters have come to the Diocese from Italy.

"When we talk about the needs and sacrifices involved in this problem," the Bishop said,
"I cannot help recalling the scene at the airport in Milan when these Sisters were leaving their homeland. They were willing to do this for you and for me that they might come to our assistance in solving our problem."

Referring to the importance of the establishment of a center for advanced study of geriatrics and the care of the aging, he said that "there is probably no other place in the United States where this is so serious a problem as it is in South Florida."

DEPENDENT BOYS

Speaking of the need for a home for dependent boys, the Bishop said that the residence will provide protection for boys who are on the streets and dependent through no fault of their own.

The final two regional meetings of the campaign were held this week. One was for the Cathedral group, held Tuesday night, and the other for the Indian Creek region.

Methodist Bishop Lauds DDF

It is our own way and time. We all may die in this faith, not having entered into the fulfillment of the plans of Our Lord for unity.
But that should not deter us."

As president of the World
Methodist Council since 1961,
Bishop Corson has been leader of more than 46 million Methodists in some 70 countries in a worldwide program of evangelists and church unity.

Other speakers at the Palm Beach DDF dinner included
Mrs. Julia Lewis and Sir Irwin
Walker, Knight of St. Gregory.
Mrs. Lewis, widow of the late Papal Count Frank Lewis, is the mother of Philip J. Lewis, Serra Club district governor, and Edward Lewis, Palm Beach
chairman of this year's DDF drive.

Mr. Walker, who spoke on the accomplishments of Bishop Carroll since the Diocese of Miami was created five years ago, had served as Palm Beach area chairman in previous campaigns and is credited with playing a major role in the success of all them.
Mass Unchanged For Awhile

Whoever goes to Mass next Sunday expecting to find some revisions in the Liturgy will be disappointed.

There are indeed certain liturgical norms due to go into effect on Feb. 16 as a result of the recent motu proprio of our Holy Father. While these do affect the administration of two of the sacraments in some degree, they are not an important country. The mass of the vernacular in the Holy Sacrifice will be increased somewhat, but this is not all. Sunday’s march to every Catholic home is intended to bring the sense of providing a home for dependent teen-age boys and to help in setting up Newman Centers close to colleges and universities in southern Florida.

The practical value of these projects is immediately recognizable. Their pressing necessity is not even a matter of argument or debate. We all know that our communities will be enriched, once these buildings rise from the ground. Even more keenly we can now sense the blessed relief in store for many families unable to care for their little ones or their aged, once these plans are realized.

That this year’s dream will come true, we cannot doubt. The extraordinary generosity of people in the past is by far the best assurance that the Diocesan Development Fund of 1964 will be a smashing success.

Love Your Children By Word and Action

GOD’S WORLD

By Father Leo J. Turee

If you are a parent, particularly a young parent, you may experience a sincere anxiety over your adequacy in the field of child psychology. By considering the following we may arrive at a better understanding of our own questions. It was taken for granted that the Protestant clergyman went on the retreat, not because they wanted to find out if they should enter the Catholic Church, but because they wanted those precious hours of prayer, recollection and discussion to help bring them closer to Christ. Most of them admitted they did not know the meaning of a retreat. Their use of the word appeared to come from ours and does not include the need of silence, much prayer in common with our Catholic vates, meditations given to a group etc.

Undoubtedly they came first of all as persons, which no one can analyze with any more certainty than a guess as to the past and their own admission they wanted the chance to pray and to think, to learn more of Christ, to stand back from their work and to evaluate honestly, to find out how they could love. However even more than this, it seems likely these men were influenced to some degree by the new spirit of charity in the Ecumenical Movement, a spirit which has brought Catholic and Protestant into more intimate contact the past two years. Surely their unprecedented activity in the Ecumenical Monastery for several days of prayer is another proof of the sincerity of the thought foreseen last November in the summary of the schema on Ecumenism, that the Church in Rome that the Council calls on all the faithful to “recognize the signs of the times which indicate that everywhere, under the breath of the Holy Spirit, great efforts are being made by way of prayer, word and action to achieve that fullness of action which Christ has willed.”

In discussing these matters, which are still so new to us, we are going to have to remind ourselves of Pope John’s long, wordy urgings to bring charity and justice to our relations with non-Catholic Christians. And usually in this case charity should take the form of the accent of simple saying, a dainty Protestant is sincere in his convictions and in the position of the other.

CARDINAL Bona once stated that “certainly it better corresponds to justice and Christian charity, and moreover to the reality of facts, to admit...” their good faith, leaving in particular cases the judgment to God alone to specify and give statistics.”

In the light of this it should be obvious that a Protestant minister, after several days of prayer and personal conversations, could leave the “even more ardent Protestant.”

MUTUAL UNDERSTANDING is the first step in the Ecumenical Movement involves the seeking of a fullness of action which means the removal of prejudices, if there are differences in the position of both, if they have been narrow or bigoted. It is interesting to learn that this very point was spoken of by a Protestant scholar in his speech to the American Bishops during the Council. Another speaker Albert Butler spoke of the Holy Ghost beginning “to break down the old, encurted barriers of ignorance, prejudice and enmity that have so long divided up and there has been no division in all of us mutual recogni- tion of the same spirit and a genuine interest in each other.”

These well-known Protestant scholars spent as many hours discussing the problem that the Catholic doctrine and practice as the Bishops did themselves. They saw the same thing in the Basilean and joined with the Bishops in the saying of the Angelus.

After all, it should not surprise us that they remain dedicated, convinced Protestants.

Pope Paul touched on this very idea when he said in his doctors’ or, in the case of our countrymen, “our by the same reason.”

CARDINAL Bona once stated that “certainly it better corresponds to justice and Christian charity, and moreover to the reality of facts, to admit...” their good faith, leaving in particular cases the judgment to God alone to specify and give statistics.”

In the light of this it should be obvious that a Protestant minister, after several days of prayer and personal conversations, could leave the “even more ardent Protestant.”

MUTUAL UNDERSTANDING is the first step in the Ecumenical Movement involves the seeking of a fullness of action which means the removal of prejudices, if there are differences in the position of both, if they have been narrow or bigoted. It is interesting to learn that this very point was spoken of by a Protestant scholar in his speech to the American Bishops during the Council. Another speaker Albert Butler spoke of the Holy Ghost beginning “to break down the old, encurted barriers of ignorance, prejudice and enmity that have so long divided up and there has been no division in all of us mutual recogni- tion of the same spirit and a genuine interest in each other.”

These well-known Protestant scholars spent as many hours discussing the problem that the Catholic doctrine and practice as the Bishops did themselves. They saw the same thing in the Basilean and joined with the Bishops in the saying of the Angelus.

After all, it should not surprise us that they remain dedicated, convinced Protestant.

ANSWERS SELF

In this last sentence, the correspondent really answered his own questions. It was taken for granted that the Protestant clergyman went on the retreat, not because they wanted to find out if they should enter the Catholic Church, but because they wanted those precious hours of prayer, recollection and discussion to help bring them closer to Christ. Most of them admitted they did not know the meaning of a retreat. Their use of the word appeared to come from ours and does not include the need of silence, much prayer in common with our Catholic vates, meditations given to a group etc.

Undoubtedly they came first of all as persons, which no one can analyze with any more certainty than a guess as to the past and their own admission they wanted the chance to pray and to think, to learn more of Christ, to stand back from their work and to evaluate honestly, to find out how they could love. However even more than this, it seems likely these men were influenced to some degree by the new spirit of charity in the Ecumenical Movement, a spirit which has brought Catholic and Protestant into more intimate contact the past two years. Surely their unprecedented activity in the Ecumenical Monastery for several days of prayer is another proof of the sincerity of the thought foreseen last November in the summary of the schema on Ecumenism, that the Church in Rome that the Council calls on all the faithful to “recognize the signs of the times which indicate that everywhere, under the breath of the Holy Spirit, great efforts are being made by way of prayer, word and action to achieve that fullness of action which Christ has willed.”

In discussing these matters, which are still so new to us, we are going to have to remind ourselves of Pope John’s long, wordy urgings to bring charity and justice to our relations with non-Catholic Christians. And usually in this case charity should take the form of the accent of simple saying, a dainty Protestant is sincere in his convictions and in the position of the other.

CARDINAL Bona once stated that “certainly it better corresponds to justice and Christian charity, and moreover to the reality of facts, to admit...” their good faith, leaving in particular cases the judgment to God alone to specify and give statistics.”

In the light of this it should be obvious that a Protestant minister, after several days of prayer and personal conversations, could leave the “even more ardent Protestant.”

Spirit Of Change Sweeps Latin America

(The Bishops of the U. S. are sponsoring an organized effort to aid the Church in Latin America. The Alliance for Progress is undertaking a revamping. The Bishops of Latin America are working for some reforms. An essay following article, dealing with the swift change going on in Latin America, was written by the editor of Noticias Catolicas, Spanish language edition of the N.C.W.C. News Service.)

By JOHN E. SHEEN

“Change” is the key word for today’s ferment in Latin America.

As recently as World War II the South American continent was relatively quiet. Only palace revolutions disrupted life in the big cities, and rural areas were unaffected.

Strategic buying of war materials by the big powers resulted in a brief boom, followed by rapid changes. The first significant one was the belief by the people that the Four Freedoms, which were freeing them from the grasp, freedom from want and freedom from tyranny, had the most impact on the people.

Masses of people are being a witness in a lawsuit, he will be a witness to Christ — in his shop, in his office, in his profession; in Africa, Asia, Latin America — everywhere. Our Lord’s last words on God’s poor. "They will have a part with you."... to Mrs. A.M. for $1 "We are able to you will sacrifice for him through his Society for the Propagation of the Faith, 355 Fifth Avenue, New York 10, N.Y., or your Diocesan Diocesan of persons into city slum districts (callapers).

— Unemployment and lack of a proper education are suffocating the potential of youth.

— Political intradation and poor leadership are increasing labor strik —. Communist influence in civil affairs is growing. An example in Argentina for his 70 years in the United States, perhaps our families should pray for vocations, but for "laborers for the harvest."

The new generation of children will be taught not only Catholic Doctrine, but Christian living. Perhaps it did not say: "If you know My doctrine, you will do My Will," but "If you do My Will, you will know My Doctrine."

—A sense of “nation.” Peasants and Indians feel increased pride in their country is on the brink of disaster.

— A gap between classes. We have always been dramatic changes in the history of Latin America: the painful economic encyclical of Pius XII, leading to a new society marked by contrasts; the concept of political independence and of “nationality” of the Church; the advent of socialism and communism; the United States or even the Soviet Union. But the basic political parties have helped to improve relations with the rich and the middle class. The old anticanclerical parties have helped to improve relations with the rich and the middle class.

— International relations.

There is a close interplay between national problems and international issues, best exemplified by the local parties and enemies of, for example, the Cuban revolution, Russia, the United States or even the new African nations.

— Religion. Attitudes for or against religion under a definite revision, quickened by the recent social encyclicals of the Second Vatican Council and the local efforts of religious leaders. The fading away of the old anticanclerical parties has helped to improve relations with the rich and the middle class.

— Economic life. Inflation, the big cities, and rural areas were almost idyllic.

— Labor movements. The growing labor movement is a result of the desire for change had existed in the United States. It needed to be translated into action.

— Political intrusion and poor leadership are increasing labor strikes. But the basic political parties have helped to improve relations with the rich and the middle class.

NEW YORK (NC) — Visitors to the Vatican Pavilion at the New York World’s Fair will gain a moving and graphic insight into one of the great mysteries of the Catholic Church — the fact that the Church is Christ living in the world.

This is the theme of the magnificent exhibit nearing completion on a 55,000 square-foot site at Flushing Meadow.

A spokesman for the pavilion’s board of directors, which is headed by Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, and Bishop Bryan J. McEntegart of Brooklyn, said the building and exhibits will be ready for the dedication ceremonies, scheduled April 19, three days before the fair’s opening.

“We estimate that between 6,000 and 8,000 persons will pass through the pavilion’s glass doors every hour during the life of the Fair,” said Father Raymond A. Leonard of Brooklyn, who is the pavilion’s director of exhibits.

Many of these will be drawn to the pavilion by the artistic treasures on display — the central piece of which will be Michelangelo’s celebrated Pieta — but incidentally they will receive a liberal education on the meaning of the Church for Catholic civilization.

CENTRAL THEME

The central theme will be illustrated in three sections — the Church as Christ loving, as Christ teaching and as Christ sanctifying. The execution of the theme is under the direction of Norman La Liberte, an artist-designer-photographer on the faculty of the Rhode Island School of Design, and Robert Nickle, a consultant and designer in two- and three-dimensional media and a faculty member at the University of Illinois.

The oval-spiral design of the building was determined by two factors — the elliptical-shaped site allotted for its construction and the necessity for providing smooth crowd-flow during peak attendance days.

Surmounted by a lantern and an aluminum cross in gold, the building will rise to a total height of 100 feet and measure 135 feet in width. Total cost of the structure, including maintenance and demolition, will be approximately $3,500,000. This figure is small in comparison with the $50 million exhibit of General Motors or the $40 million Ford structure.

On entering the pavilion, the visitor will find himself in a long tapering gallery which functionally channels the crowd into four lanes as an approach to the Pieta. In preparation for this important artistic and religious experience, the gallery will feature a portrayal of the life of Christ — from the prophecies through the crucifixion — using various audio and visual techniques, as well as modern and traditional art.

FOUR RAMPS

Four ramps, three moving and one stationary, will guide the visitor out of the entrance gallery past the Pieta, the setting for which was designed by noted theatrical designer Jo Mielziner. The moving walks will operate at varying speeds, depending on crowd flow. Visitors on the ramps nearest the Pieta will be within 15 feet of the sculpture.

The more distant ramps will be tiered so that everyone will have an unobstructed view of the work. The stationary walk was designed for art lovers who prefer to spend more time before Michelangelo’s masterpiece.

From here, the walks lead into the main exhibit area, about 27,000 square feet in size, which is faced by a 25-foot high glass wall that opens the interior to a clear view from the fair grounds.

In this area the visitor will see the Universal Church carrying out its mission in the contemporary world. The portrayal of the Church as Christ loving in the world will be seen in a six-and-a-half minute film presentation of the Church’s works of mercy, its social mission in the world at large. There also will be a “scholar’s walk” that will provide detailed information for the serious visitor.

The Church’s mission of sanctification will be portrayed visually through a technique termed “the living newspaper,” and visitors will learn here of the sacramental and prayer-life of the Catholic.

Here also will be found a display of one-quarter life-size color transparencies of Michelangelo’s Sistine Chapel, which depicts in heroic detail the Biblical story of Genesis, from the creation to the flood.

In a central location of the exhibit devoted to the Church as Christ teaching will be a full scale replica of the Excavated tomb of St. Peter and its immediate environs, which was constructed in Vatican workshops under the supervision of archeologists associated with the historic excavations. The original tomb is not open to the public.

The exhibit area is surrounded by a circular chapel, which seats 300 persons and can be converted into a room for Communion breakfasts, lectures and organizational meetings.

The statue of the Good Shepherd, a work of Christian sculpture dating back to the catacombs, will be prominently exhibited in the chapel.

THE INTERIOR of the chapel in the Vatican Pavilion at the New York World’s Fair is shown in this artist’s sketch. Located on the mezzanine of the exhibit rotunda of the Pavilion, it will be adaptable for multi-purpose use. The pavilion will be dedicated April 19.

Pope Pays A Visit
To Vatican Garage

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope Paul VI paid a private visit to the Vatican garage and praised its personnel.

The Pope prayed in the small chapel and visited briefly with the staff of the Most Holy Child who take care of the office work connected with the garage, which supplies, maintains and repairs the fleet of cars and trucks of Vatican City.

Author Says Hitler Told How He Would Handle Vatican

MUESSNER (NC) — "I would simply march into the Vatican and lug out the whole gang, and then I would say: 'Sorry, I made a mistake!' But then we'd be rid of them!"

This remark was made by Adolf Hitler, Nazi dictator, according to a book by Henry Picker. He says the remark is based on stenographic notes made by himself while he was present at meals in the war-time headquarters of the "Fuehrer" during the years 1941 and 1942.

The book, "Hitler's Table Talk," was written by Picker and Heinrich Himmler, and published in Stuttgart.

Picker's remark was made in reference to Benito Mussolini, the late "Duce" of Italy, whom Hitler blamed for having made what he thought were too many concessions to the Holy See in the Lateran treaties.

The author of the book also reports a statement by Hitler proclaiming the "impending collapse of the Church," although it might take one to 200 years. "I am not interested in articles of faith," Hitler said, "but I won't tolerate any interference of those sky pilots, for the state must be absolute head, and this organized deceit must be hit hard."

"It ought to be possible," he added cynically, "to arrange for only dumbbells to stand on pulpits, and only old women to listen to them. Because all those men of the cloth are a curse."

"Echo der Zeit," Catholic weekly here, reviewing the book, points out that one of Hitler's remarks indicates an answer to the charges leveled at the late Pope Pius XII by Rolf Hochhuth in connection with the Nazi persecution of the Jewish people.

"If anyone in this country there were a mistake, I would have all the opposition leaders, including those belonging to political Catholicism, dragged out of their homes, arrested and executed on the spot."

Hitler, says the paper, in his hatred of the Jews also meant to destroy Christianity, and in Christianity, Jewry. "Jewish Christianity" was the phrase he frequently used indicating that both Jews and Christians were the objects of his venom.

Vatican Daily Denies Polish Bishops Were Spies For Reds

VATICAN CITY (NC) — L'Osservatore Romano has denied charges in a German magazine that Poland's Bishops have failed to recognize the reality of their country's communist government and that they were reactionary conservatives at the ecumenical council.

The Vatican City daily also denied an accusation by a Milan magazine that the Polish Bishops at the council acted as spokesmen for Poland's Red regime.

The Hamburg weekly, Die Zeit (Time), said that church-state relations in Poland were "so bad it is not for the attitude of its hierarchy. The periodical also said that during the council "the interventions of the Polish Fathers were of a traditional nature with no understanding of contemporary reality."

The editorial said that the Polish Bishops "enjoy the full trust of the Church" and that it is "impossible that their good will, their loyalty and their very honor should be doubted in any way."

The editorial said that charges in an unnamed Milan magazine that Poland's Bishops formed a "secret network" of espionage for the Polish government were false.

It said that such charges could be overlooked in a less troubled atmosphere, but, that the deliberately created atmosphere of doubt required an answer. It said:

"The attitude of the Bishops should be viewed against its dramatic background: a firmly and reasonableness Catholic people are touched in all that they hold most sacred, which they have inherited from their fathers. The Bishops are with this faithful people. They watch over them as best they can, they share their sorrows and support their testimony."

Listed Jewish Group Assails Play's Criticism Of Pius XII

BROOKLYN (NC) — The largest Jewish community organization in the nation has issued a long and strongly worded defense of Pope Pius XII and criticism of the play "The Deputy," which is scheduled to open in New York Feb. 26.

The Brooklyn Jewish Community Council, which describes itself as "the authorized voice of Jewry in Brooklyn, wherein reside nearly one million Jews, the largest such population in America," rejected "as contrary to history" the charge Pope Pius failed to do all he could be for Jews persecuted by the Nazis.

"The Deputy," by German author Rolf Hochhuth, is sharply critical of Pope Pius for his alleged failure to defend the Jews during World War II. The play has been produced in several European countries where it has stirred up controversy.

The Brooklyn Jewish Community Council charged publicly against reaching a conclusion "based on a theatrical production written for the Broadway of the world."

Maximilian Mos, president of the Jewish Council, said its board of directors "concluded that the eternal values of truth, justice and human dignity so dear to the Jewish tradition make it the council's moral duty to speak out in denial of the accusation and reaffirmation of the heart-felt appreciation which the Jews who were directly affected and who survived the Hitler holocaust themselves publicly expressed to Pope Pius XII."

Sudan Arrests 3 Priests
In Continued Harassment

KAMPALA, Uganda (NC) — Three more priests — two Italian missionaries and a Sudanese who have been arrested and released on bail in the neighboring Sudan, whose government continues its harassment of the Church.

Sudanese refugees reaching Uganda reported the priests were accused of aiding southern Tutsi rebels who are fighting the northern-dominated government, claiming it follows a policy of racial discrimination, political subversion, religious persecution and economic exploitation.

The detention of the three priests followed reports in January that five other priests — three Italians and two Sudanese — had been arrested on charges of antigovernment activities.

The arrests are the latest development in a government campaign against the Church in southern Sudan which has resulted in the closing of all its mission stations in the country in his Moslem-ruled African nation in 1956. Since then the government has been under the control of a military junta.

The north-south conflict began after the Sudan was given independence in 1956. Since then the government has been under the control of a military junta.

Hail U.S. Hero! Beat Soviet Champ On Borrowed Skates

ESSELSVILLE, Mich. (NC) — From now on, it is anticipated, anxious crowds will be queuing up to get a trimming in the third chair of Bunyan’s Barber Shop in nearby Bay City. That’s where Terry McDermott resides.

Esseville and Bay City combined to give Richard Terrance McDermott, winner of the Olympic gold medal in the 500-meter ice skating dash in record time, a thunderous welcome home. Crowds cleared as he rode triumphantly in a motorcade to a civic reception at the airport from Innsbruck, Austria, site of the winter Olympic games.

The 22-year-old barber had borrowed a pair of skates and boosted Nevada Grubin, heavily favored Soviet champ, in the speed skating competition. He also clipped one-tenth of a second off Grubin’s world record, skating the 500 meters in 40.1 seconds. He brought the U.S. its first gold medal in the winter games.

His wife is the former Virginia Vermoesch. They were married last September. They were married last September.

His wife said she doesn’t skate, doesn’t want to, but added: “I’d like to raise a family of sixters. This is really something to remember. It will be something wonderful to tell our children.”

McDermott is the youngest of a family of six sisters and a brother.

Vieit Nam Buddhists Object To Catholic In High Post

SAIGON, Viet Nam (NC) — Buddhists have object to the proposed appointment of a Catholic as Prime Minister in the Buddhist-run government, it is learned on good authority here.

On the other hand Archbishop Paul Nguyen Van Binh of Saigon has told Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, of the Military Revolutionary Council, that Catholic authorities were proposing no names for the Prime Minister post.

If two persons, one Christian and one non-Christian were being considered, and the non-Christian was better qualified, the bishops preferred to see him appointed, the Archbishop said.

Gen. Khanh consulted political and religious leaders before forming the new government, sources said, which were announced today.

The Catholic whose appointment was considered likely was Dr. Nguyen Tan Hoan, whom the military named to succeeding the late President Ngo Dinh Diem. Dr. Hoan left Vietnam in 1964. He is married to the late President, Ngo Dinh Diem. Dr. Hoan left Vietnam in 1964.

Sees Anti-Church Drive In Mexico

Buenos Aires, (AP) — Bishop Alexis Poly- penko said that communists are mapping a major drive against the Catholic Church in Mexico.

The bishop, who is a member of the Latin American bishops’ conference, said the communists were planning a campaign to oust Catholic influence from the country.

On the other hand, Archbishop Samaniego, said the bishops preferred to see a Catholic in a Cabinet position.

Bishop Commends Hospital Auxiliary

FORT LAUDERDALE — Members of Holy Cross Hospiteau, building the hospital auxiliary and held Saturday at the Governor's Hotel.
Organized with almost 900 members in the latter part of 1955 when Holy Cross Hospital was nearing completion, the auxiliary now numbers 1,200 members who volunteer their services in two divisions of service: activities and fund campaigns.

During 1963 the auxiliary donated $78,000 to the hospital as the result of the annual dinner and a fashion show in addition to smaller benefits sponsored by the six circles of which the auxiliary fund raising group is comprised.

Donations in past years have provided air conditioning, elevators, X-Ray and radiation equipment, and convert facilities for the Sisters of Mercy of Pittsburk who administer Broward County's Catholic hospitals.

Volunteer services provided by members of the auxiliary which maintain Catholic, Protestants, and Jewish women enrolled, are numerous and extensive.

During the past year G rey Ladies gave a total of 76,153 hours of service while the "Pink Angels," a group of teenage girls sponsored and trained by auxiliary members to assist patients and work in linen rooms, donated 2,153 hours.

The coffee shop which offers light refreshments and meals is staffed entirely by volunteers who during 1963 totaled 15,000 hours on behalf of the hospital.

This shop and the gift shop which maintains a gift cart which bears notions and other items of use to patients are both located in the hospital lobby. Volunteers accounted for 17,300 hours of duty between the shop itself and the cart last year.

"More than 2,000 hours were spent by auxiliary members in the hospital sewing room where they completed 3,500 items including hospital gowns and linens and in addition made 75 cartons of linen already in use."

Through the auxiliary, children under 12 years of age, normally not permitted to visit rooms on hospital can "visit" patients via telephone and closed circuit television.

The younger sits in the lobby and by a special telephone is connected with the patient's room where his image is flashed on a portable TV set rented from the auxiliary. Last year members donated 18,000 hours on this particular service.

Mrs. Glenn Plumb, new auxiliary president, is the co-founder of the group with Mrs. Leon Gorman, under the guidance of Msgr. Rowan T. Baskat-ter. The board of directors includes officers and 20 commit-

Broward Report Is Issued
On St. Vincent De Paul Aid

FORT LAUDERDALE — The Particular Council of Fort Lauderdale, Society of St. Vincent de Paul, last year distributed free merchandises valued at $5,439 to needy families and persons in the area.

Much of this aid, in the form of furniture, clothing and household articles, was given to the migrant workers in Broward County as well as those in the West Palm Beach, Fort Myers and Immokalee areas.

The needy items for the migrants in the West Palm Beach area are distributed by the per-ters of St. Joseph of Our Da-

Protestants Told: They Get Tax Aid For Own Colleges

COLUMBUS (NC) — Are Protestants undermining their opposition to tax aid for parochial schools by accepting such aid for their own colleges and welfare institutions?

The answer may be yes, the Rev. Eugene Carson Blake told a major study conference on Church-State relations sponsored by the National Council of Churches.

“The acceptance of tax funds in various forms and under various conditions by Protestant church-related colleges and institutions has caused many legislators and others to question the sincerity and validity of the Protestant opposition to tax funds for church-related elementary and secondary schools,” said Dr. Blake, who is a member of the firm executive officers of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

“There are those who foresee great difficulty in making a convincing and constitutional distinction between the colleges and parochial schools in their eligibility for tax funds,” the Presbyterian leader said.

AID FORESEEABLE

“In fact, there are some who predict that it is only a question of time until parochial schools in this country receive tax aid. If this is true, some say, the Protestant churches will have paved the way for the reversal of their own principle by confounding the use of tax funds by their institutions of higher education and welfare.”

SEES END OF ERA

He expressed hope that the era has ended “in which we tried to win support for our positions by distorting the positions of others, by impugning their motives or loyalty, or by appealing to ancient prejudices.”

He said there is a “vigorous and venerable tradition” of Church-State separation among American Protestants. “One of the firmest features of this tradition is that no tax aid should be given to parochial schools of any church,” he added.

“That long-standing principle is being challenged today by many voices, both within the churches and without,” he said.

“The prospect of Federal aid to education has made this issue increasingly acute.”
COLUMBUS (Ovi — A national Protestant and Orthodox study conference on Church-State relations has gone on record in support of tax aid to "specific health and welfare programs" in parochial schools.

However, the conference also held that public funds should not be used for "overall support of church-related schools.

The conference participants recommended a "shared-time" program — under which students spend part of their time in public schools and part in church-related schools — as the "most effective" solution to the parochial schools' financial problem. And they said they are "willing to explore other legal means for solving it."

The conference rejected "over-simplified formulations" on Church-State matters, including that "which seeks to make religion exclusively a private matter or to make all public matters secular."

These stands were taken in the final statement adopted by the first national study conference on Church and State sponsored here by the National Council of Churches.

The conference brought together some 420 Protestant and Orthodox leaders representing 24 denominations for four days of talks on Church-State relations.

Also present were 12 Catholic and 12 Jewish observers as well as representatives of several Protestant denominations that do not belong to the National Council of Churches, the nation's largest Protestant and Orthodox federation.

The conference's findings are not binding on the National Council, They will be submitted to the NCC's policy-making board for consideration.

Before adoption of the conference final statement, its section on public support of church-related schools was amended to limit such aid to specific health and welfare programs rather than, as in the original formulation, merely "specific programs" in such institutions that serve a public purpose.

In its final form, this passage read as follows:

"Since parochial elementary and secondary schools are maintained by churches, so that religion permeates the entire atmosphere of the school, government funds should not be authorized or appropriated for general support of such schools, as distinguished from aid in support of specific health and welfare programs conducted by such institutions for specific public needs."

"While we acknowledge the right of parental choice of schools, we do not admit that a choice by parents of parochial or private schools imposes an obligation on the state to support such choice through the granting of public funds in all or support of such schools."

"In recognition of the seriousness of the financial problem of the parochial schools, we propose shared-time as the most creative measure for solving this problem, and are willing to explore other legal means for solving it."

In the area of welfare, the conference concluded that it is "some well defined circumstances," government may legitimately support "specific programs of church-affiliated health and welfare agencies."

It said government may do so to further "a clearly identifiable public interest."

The conference agreed that America is "a pluralistic and not simply a Protestant society."

They voiced "acceptance" of the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling against required prayer and Bible reading in public schools.

They said they oppose proposals like the so-called "Christian amendment" that seek to "commit our government to official identity with a particular religious tradition."

While the functions of Church and State "must be clearly defined as separate," they said, "yet relationships should be flexible enough to encompass the increasing areas of interaction."

On the overall question of Church-State relations, the conference summed up their position this way:

"While it is not the business of government to underwrite religious activity or to use its coercive powers to sanction or compel acceptance of any religious creed or practice, neither should it sanction or promote secular creeds or ideologies."

"Government extends its proper authority if it shows hostility or even indifference to religion. It may appropriately recognize in its public practice and in its publicly supported educational programs the role of religion in American history and life."

"While it is not the business of government to promote or support religion, it is the government's role and duty to further religious liberty."

New Plan To Assist Needy Collegians Offered Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new four-year college student aid plan, described by its sponsor as the "comprehensive" approach to the financial problems of needy collegians, has been introduced in the Senate.

Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana told the Senate that while 1968 program would cost a maximum of $650 million yearly and would be aiding 1,300,000 students.

These are the four major features of Hartke's plan:

1. An undergraduate scholarship program. This would provide partial scholarships based on merit to 300,000 students by 1968. It would be administered by the state governments.

2. Expansion of the National Defense Education Act. The yearly limit on NDEA loans would be raised from $2,000 to $5,000 for undergraduates and from $2,000 to $2,500 for graduate students. The number of students thus aided would be 470,000 in the first year and 600,000 in succeeding years.

3. A student loan insurance program. This would involve a self-sustaining revolving fund of $1 million to encourage commercial sources to offer student loans. It would help 35,000 students in the first year and 120,000 yearly thereafter.

4. A student work-study program. This would make available $225 million annually to provide job-related training to those who have a Pell grant and to support such students through the granting of public funds in all support of such schools.

"In recognition of the seriousness of the financial problem of the parochial schools, we propose shared-time as the most creative measure for solving this problem, and are willing to explore other legal means for solving it."

In the area of welfare, the conference concluded that it is "some well defined circumstances," government may legitimately support "specific programs of church-affiliated health and welfare agencies."

Requiem For Terry Ward; Teacher Delegation Attends

Requiem Mass was sung Tuesday in St. Timothy Church for Terry Ward, 27, physical education instructor, of 4160 SW 101th Ave., who died Saturday of cancer.

Father Patrick Stevin, pastor, St. Thomas the Apostle parish, offered the Mass in the presence of the family and large delegations from the Dade County Teachers Association and the Diocese of Miami Catholic Teachers Guild.

A member of the faculty at Banyan Elementary School, Mr. Ward was stricken with cancer two years ago. During his last six months of teaching he wore a surgical mask so that no one would see the results of the dread disease on his face.

Teachers from 32 schools in Dade County and throughout the country established the Terry Ward Fund for the young man and for his wife, Crystal, and for his children, three-year-old Cara Beth and 18-month-old Terry. Initially the fund was designed to help Mrs. Ward meet the expense of refunds for the young man and for his wife, Crystal, and for his children, three-year-old Cara Beth and 18-month-old Terry. Initially the fund was designed to help Mrs. Ward meet the expense of retraining interrupted when she was married four years ago.

The son of Mrs. Betty Ward, formerly director of the Miami News annual Youth Roundup, who is now recreation director of the Dade County Children’s Home at Kendall, Mr. Ward came here 32 years ago from Kansas. He was a member of the Dade County Teachers Association and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. He was a graduate of Coral Gables High School and the University of Miami where he was president of Sigma Chi social fraternity.

Other survivors include his brother, Francis of California. Padem Bird Road Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Catholics Told To Strive For ‘Superior’ Schools

“Catholic schools and colleges must not be just good, they must be superior,” Father Cuthbert Allen, O.S.B., declared in a talk to the Catholic Teachers’ Guild last Sunday at Notre Dame Academy.

Father Allen, a member of the faculty of Belmont Abbey College, Belmont, N.C., said that Catholic teachers should not have a “defeatist attitude toward our education.”

“Excellence is our goal,” Father Allen asserted.

In citing some statistics compiled in a nationwide survey, Father Allen said there are a total of 5,652,500 students attending Catholic grade and high schools and that one out of every six Catholic students is in a Catholic school or a Catholic college.

Father Allen said that the “teenage explosion is already under way” and that there will be an increase of some 30 per cent by next year with one-half of the population then being under 25 years of age.

In commenting on the statistics concerning converts to Catholic Church, Father Allen said that the “percentage of conversions is decreasing while the population is increasing. In 1962, there were 135,000 converts. It took 360 Catholics, 365 days to make one American like their Church well enough to join their Church. We had 135,000 come into the church while 118,000 came out of the Church.”

HONORED for his many services, Dr. C. Kermitt Phelps, chief of psychology at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Kansas City, has been named “civil servant of the year” among 27,000 Federal employees in the Greater Kansas City area. Diocesan Teachers To Hold Institute Postuplic Low Mass offered by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll at 9:15 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 20, in the auditorium of Immaculata-La Salle Academy will mark the opening of the Sixth Annual Diocesan Teachers Institute. Participating in the two-day sessions will be religious and lay teachers from schools throughout the 16 counties of the Diocese of Miami.

According to Msgr. William F. McKeever, diocesan superintendent of schools, classes will be suspended in schools of the diocese on those two days in order that faculty members may attend the institute.

Four speakers prominent in the field of education will speak during the sessions.

Father John M. Cullin, S.J., ordained to the priesthood in 1956, in a teaching fellow and doctoral candidate in the School of Education at Harvard University.

He is also an instructor in Fordham's Department of Communication Arts and consultant on television to the National Catholic Educational Association. His articles have appeared in America, NCEA Bulletin and the Catholic School Journal.

His topic during sessions of the institute will be "Teaching in a Post-Literate World."

Dr. Vincent Edward Smith, distinguished lay philosopher and editor of the "New Scholastic," is now director of the philosophy of science institute at St. John University.

Formerly professor of philosophy at the University of Notre Dame, he is a past president of the American Catholic Philosophical Association and co-author of a series of science textbooks for the Catholic elementary school, the first volume of which was published last year.

Sister M. Theresa, O.S.F., head of the business department of Madonna High School, Aurora, Ill., has been a member of the summer school faculty at the Catholic University of America since 1952.

"Building Language Power" will be the topic of Sister Hilda Maria, O.P., supervisor of schools staffed by Adrian Dominicans Sisters in the Archdiocese of Chicago.

The author of the "Christian Courtesy Series" published by the Catholic School Board of the Archdiocese of Chicago and "Building Language Power," elementary English series, grades two to eight, published by Laid-low Brothers, Sister Hilda Maria is a member of the executive board of the National Catholic Elementary Education Association.

Unity Prayers At Lourdes

VATICAN CITY (NO — Pope Paul VI has asked the Italian volunteers organization which transport sick people to Lourdes and back to pray at the French Marian shrine for the success of the ecumenical council and the cause of Christian unity.

In a brief speech to the National Council of the Italian Union for Transporting the Sick to Lourdes and Italian Sanctuaries — generally known by its initials, UNITALSI — the Pope again indicated his hope that the third session of the council that will last the final one.

He told the UNITALSI group that he has run into "not a few occasions of sadness and worry." With his mission, and that he prays to God and the Virgin Mary for aid in overcoming them. "In this same prayer," he continued, "the Pope includes several special intentions, among them the high hopes for the council and the new occasions of spiritual encounters among all the Christian brethren seeking unity.

"We ask Our Lady to help us always. This is especially what we want to tell those who are fortunate enough to go to Lourdes ... in the coming pilgrimages, may there be a multiplication of the prayers for the third session of the council, that it become the determining session. In a war, may everybody, healthy and sick, ask Our Lady to bless the Church."

THE DIOCESE OF MIAMI
DEVELOPMENT FUND DRIVE!

GIVE to God's Own work! This annual fund drive is the most fervent and universal of all, because the need is so great. The past generosity of both our Catholics and understanding people of all religions has made it possible for our Diocese to reach out and help the abandoned, dependent, and retarded children among us, trying hard to catch up; the aged and infirm who no longer can take care of themselves. Yes, the helpless are being helped — the unwanted are being loved, and guided toward useful and worthwhile lives. But the need is growing, and we must grow with it. We must expand and improve our facilities for proper training and adequate treatment and care. We greatly need your support. Surely, the money you invest in His works of mercy will be returned to you in other ways many times over.

MUCH HAS BEEN DONE BUT MUCH NEEDS DOING!

Here are just two of the many projects planned for '64. With your generosity, we will achieve all our goals.

THE MARIAN CENTER
—a school for exceptional children. These exceptional children among us are different than most. They are retarded and trying hard to overcome this handicap. Some of these children can't express themselves lucidly, but they can hope, and hope is really an informal prayer. With your help, their hope for better and more useful lives may be fulfilled.

CENTER FOR THE STUDY OF GERIATRICS
This will be a modern research center, completely equipped and professionally staffed to study diseases of the aged. Our government views geriatrics as an increasingly important field for research.

Over the past 5 years, our Diocesan projects have expended over 36 million dollars in South Florida's business and industry! That helps everybody, but think how much more these projects have helped the poor and unfortunate who need them the most!

DISTINGUISHED guests present for ceremonies of installation at Barry College were Bishop Coleman F. Carroll, Mgr. They are shown with Sister Mary Dorothy, new president, and members of the clergy.

Bishop Carroll Congratulates Sister Dorothy

PLEA AT BARRY INSTALLATION

Bishop Asks More Than One System Of Higher Education

The importance of more than one system of higher education in the United States was emphasized by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll following ceremonies at Barry College where Sister Mary Dorothy, O.P., was formally installed as second president of the women's college in Miami Shores.

Mother Mary Genevieve, O.P., Mother General of the Adrian Dominican Sisters who administer the 24-year old liberal arts college, and president of the board of trustees, conducted the installation in the presence of South Florida educators, faculty members, student body and a large delegation of clergy, religious, laymen from the Dioceses of Miami and St. Augustine.

"This is a very meaningful day in the history of the college," Bishop Carroll said, "a day in the history of the college which had only 40 students and today has 821.

"During these intervening years it has established itself as a special place within this community. There is a debt owed to it by many. The cultural level of the college is impossible to measure and has spread its influence in both parochial and public school systems because of its excellent teacher-training program — more than half of the students are preparing for teaching professions."

"Among the many problems confronting Sister Dorothy as president, the Bishop said, will be that which now faces all private colleges and universities — the question of survival itself. With tax money being used to support public institutions of learning, he explained, it is important that consideration be given to private schools such as the University of Miami, Biscayne College, Barry College and others so that they will be permitted not only to survive but to prosper."

"Reflecting that Sister Dorothy had written a doctoral thesis on 'The Improvement in Reading,' Bishop Carroll said that "educators know how difficult it is today to teach and produce scholars when the students themselves, in many instances, actually do not know how to read."

"How many students," he asked, "do we find in colleges who read a book only to pass an examination? The answer to this problem lies in the constructive work such as that which can be done by Sister Dorothy. It is important that somewhere early in the education of a child, he be taught how to read and to develop the habit of good reading."

"Truth is that which must be sought after," the Bishop continued, "it doesn't appear to be a big problem as such. It is the real bond between God's mind and the things that are in our minds. No one can be comfortable or complacent without knowing the truth. It is necessary that the Church should never forsake the truth received by Christ from the Father."

"Students ask, 'What is truth?' But many go on their way never finding the answer because of their impatience."

"It will be Sister Dorothy's responsibility that all who enter this college become aware of truth, and also to help them meet the demands of society. In her guidance in the way of truth, in some measure she must help remove the face of the earth — a renewal — is so badly needed in our day, says God bless her in her work."

Advanced Placement Plan Extended To Grade Schools

By Msgr. WILLIAM F. McKEEVER
Diocesan Superintendent of Schools

And Father JOSEPH H. O'SHEA
Diocesan Superintendent of High Schools

In the November issue of the newsletter, "Pointers for Principals," published by the National Catholic Educational Association, one of the pointers strongly emphasized was that "advanced placement at the grade school level must come... sooner or later."

According to the writer, this very desirable program could not be achieved without the development of more and better "articulation — i.e. coordination and cooperation — between high school and elementary school."

It should be a matter of some pride to the Catholic people in the Miami Diocese, that 20 of our grade schools already have started this Advanced Placement Program, with the help of zealous administrators and faculty members of the neighboring Catholic High Schools.

With the coming of the next school year, it is anticipated that all of the diocesan elementary schools will offer to the more capable students in the upper grades, the opportunity to learn high school subject matter before their graduation.

Those elementary school graduates who prove — through testing — that they have absorbed this advanced work, will; those graduates who prove — through testing — that they have absorbed this advanced work, will be placed in a special program of studies in high school which will enable them to do college work in their junior and senior years.

Finally, most of the outstanding colleges in the country will give these students college credit for this advanced work done in high school. The students must prove, however, that they have actually learned the "advanced work," by passing the advanced placement examination.

The challenge to provide opportunities for bright grade school students to do advanced study, presented a special difficulty to our parochial school administrators, a difficulty that ordinarily is not encountered in the public school system.

Public schools will frequently have a large enough number of pupils in one grade, so that a complete section of students capable of doing advanced work can be organized and taught as a special class of normal size. Individual difficulty.

Most Catholic grade schools have too few students for this approach to be practical. The usual two sections of eighth grade pupils found in our schools, might have from 10 to 20 students who would be capable of doing high school work. But, apart from these rare exceptions, it is financially impossible for us to provide a special classroom and a special teacher for each small number of pupils. And so, the special difficulty!

Providentially, a recent development in the tools of instruction has appeared on the educational scene, as a possible way to provide advanced learning for capable students, without involving prohibitive costs. This development has come to be known as programed instruction.

Because programed instruction of one kind or another has become increasingly prominent in education, it deserves special treatment in this series. Next week we shall describe it in some detail.

For today it is enough to say that programed instruction is a means of self-tutoring, whereby a student can learn material by independent study, and can advance at his own pace, instead of moving along at the same rate as his classmates. In this learning situation, the teacher directs and supervises the student's progress, and conducts more or less frequent reviews by way of a check on that progress, but is not involved with the burden of daily instruction.

EXPERIMENTAL PROGRAM

Last year, in an experimental program at Corpus Christi School, 10 boys and seven girls of the 8th grade used programed materials for the study of ninth grade algebra.

Although they began in January and were only permitted to take the materials home on the weekend, at the end of the school year those students demonstrated to the mathematics teachers at Notre Dame and Curley High Schools, that they had learned ninth grade algebra. They are now taking sophomore mathematics in their freshman year, and are doing very well.

At present 20 of our elementary schools are using this method of advancing certain students, with supervisory help being provided by the nearest Catholic Central High School. In some of these schools, pupils in the sixth and seventh grades are studying ninth grade materials.

Develop A ‘Strong Faith,’ Scouts Urged

By Father Walter Dockerill, Diocesan Youth Director

Develop a ‘strong faith,’ Catholic Boy and Girl Scouts in the Diocese were urged last Sunday in a talk by Father Walter J. Dockerill during a Holy Hour at St. Rose of Lima Church.

Father Dockerill called on the Scouts to “try to imitate the great faith” of the blind man whose story was told in last Sunday’s Gospel.

The Holy Hour for the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Cub Scouts in the Diocese, was held to commemorate the 55th anniversary of National Boy Scout Week which ended yesterday (Thursday).

Following the Holy Hour, a meeting was held for all Catholic leaders of the Boy Scout troops to discuss preparations for presentations of the Ad Altare Dei awards sometime in June in The Cathedral.

In his talk, Father Dockerill, director of youth activities in the Diocese, told his audience that they were “a little bit different from other boys and girls” because Catholic Scouts should exhibit “patience, kindness and a charity that beareth, and endureth all things,” as St. Paul had urged in his Epistle which was read at last Sunday’s Mass.

“What could be more Christian-like” Father Dockerill asked, “than the Scout oath that urges you to help others and to be morally straight as it says in the Scout oath? It’s not easy to do this but you can be pious without being haughty or proud.”

“To be faithful to the Scout oath — to be obedient, cheerful, clean reverent in your home, school, neighborhood and church — is not easy,” said Father Dockerill but he told the Scouts that if they were faithful in this way to the Scout oath their rewards would be great.

Father Dockerill had words of praise for the Scout leaders saying that he was certain that the “work you are doing is making God happy.”

“It takes sacrifice and hard work on your part,” said Father Dockerill to the Scout leaders saying that he was certain that the “work you are doing is making God happy.”

VEROT
By JEAN HASTINGS
When Verot High School students returned to school Jan. 27, they found a new program in keeping with the modern trend, waiting for them.
This program is officially called "Students Reading Affiliates" Reading Laboratory and it is especially designed for Verot students. The student move ahead as fast as he can at his own rate. There are four different Labs for different levels. The one which is being used mostly is Vero High School and there are Lab I for high school and college level students. One of the basic principles of the SRA Reading Laboratory was that the student start at his own level and progress at his own rate and according to his ability for learning. Another basic principle is to provide materials of gradually increasing difficulty so that the student can attain higher reading levels. In this program, students keep their own record books and correct their own work.
A honor roll was also published at Verot following the distribution of report cards for the last marking period. First honors went to Susan Frank, Susan Carasia and Jean Hastings, juniors; Elaine Backett and Ann Marie Hennessy, seniors; and William Cohen, junior, and Barbara Kavanagh, sophomore.
Receiving second honors were: Susan Barry, Donald Conway, Mary Anne Sullivan, femme; and Warren Prosperi, Tom Wall and Martinelle Zinn.

CURLEY
By FRANK SKILLING
The newest sport at Curley High is wrestling. Although it began only last fall, the team is a success.
It has attracted many students who are willing to undergo the physical demands required for the sport. According to the coach, Brother Theodore, nine of the team are winter-sports men and demands better physical condition than football.
High school matches are six minutes each, with points given for the initial takedown and subsequent cargo. The winner of that period determines the end of a match and usually the winner (both of the first period matches) must be held on the mat for one sec- ond. "Three on one," a "takedown" pin, total points determine the winner.
Co-captains of the team are Bob Brady and Eduardo Bardia. Despite lack of actual wrestling experience, the team has been a success.
In order to promote an appre- ciation of good drama and ac- tive interest in the Missions by their students. Picking ‘All-Stars’ In Diocese Poses Tough Task

By JACK HOUGHTHYLING

With the basketball season heading into its final month of play, a look at diocese all-star prospects makes it clear that it’s going to be the toughest job ever to come up with the elite squad since so many standout players are now performing.

Some — like Jim McKindry of Christopher Columbus, the only junior on last year’s squad — appear to be a shoe-in but after that it gets tough.

For the first time, with 11 schools to pick from, a 20-man squad will be selected, four forwards, two centers and four guards.

Even so, it looks like a not-so-easy task.

McKindry, of course, heads the list. The 6-4 senior is the leader of the South Dade Division, with a 26.4 scoring mark heading into this week’s action, bolstered by back-to-back scoring production of 39 and 42 points against Hialeah High and Miami Jackson.

Next in line, probably, are St. Thomas Aquinas’ 6-5 Charlie Hut, the leading scorer in Broward County; Pat Stallings, St. Patrick’s 6-5 center, the runner-up to McKindry in Dade scoring, and Paul Michael, Archbishop Curley’s 6-4 forward-center.

Huth has been scoring at the 19.5 mark, Stallings at 25 points a game and Michael at an 18.9 clip plus averaging close to 20 rebounds a game.

There is a good chance of other stars to compete for berths on the team.

BY HANDING ST. ANTHONY TEAM ITS FIRST DEFEAT

Nativity CYO Leads Broward Division

Two tier for division leads in the CYO Basketball League were broken last Sunday as Camp Matecumbe and Nativity both climbed into undisputed possession of first place in the South Dade and Broward Division respectively.

Nativity CYO remained the only undefeated team in the Broward Division by winning handily over St. Anthony 66-46. Pat Dell’s 24 points was high for the winners. St. Anthony had been unbeaten until it met Nativity.

Nativity now boasts a record of five wins and no losses.

In other Broward Division games, Clement (4-1) exiled out a close one-point victory over St. Elizabeth 31-30 in a game that was not decided until the closing seconds when St. Clements dumped in the winning basket as the game-ender whistle sounded.

In the only other Broward Division game, our Lady Queen of Martyrs (2-3) romped to a 59-16 triumph over St. Gregory led by Andy Wesolowski’s 15 points.

San Raphael (3-1) fell from the ranks of the unbeaten in the South Dade Division last Sunday in a low-scoring game against St. Timothy (3-0). St. Timothy notched 19 points in its win while San Raphael could score only 12. A close man-to-man defense that bottled up San Raphael’s leading scorers was credited with helping St. Timothy pull off its surprise victory.

Camp Matecumbe (4-0) remained all alone atop the heap in the South Dade Division as San Raphael’s defeat when it rolled past Epiphany CYO 41-15.

St. Dominic (4-1) stayed close to the Seacore of school when it romped to a 47-19 win over St. Peter and Paul as Loyd Boggy poured in 14 points for the winners.

In other South Dade Division games, an improved St. Hugh team won its first victory 36-26 over Holy Rosary CYO and Corpus Christi edged past St. Louis 25-16.

The highest point total of the day was put together by the Holy Redeemer (5-0) team in the North Dade Division as they ran up a lop-sided 92-24 score in defeating St. Monica (4-1). Ed- ward Holmes led the Holy Redeemer scoring with 22 points.

Opa-locka (5-0) continued to shine with North Dade Division lead with Holy Redeemer by defeating St. John the Apostle CYO 94-34.

Assuming that Holy Redeemer and Opa-locka win their next two games, the tie for the North Dade Division lead would not be broken until the two teams meet on Sunday, March 1, at the North Miami Beach Auditorium.

St. Lawrence (4-1), handed its first loss in four starts a week ago last Sunday, got back on track last Sunday as it rolled past Our Lady of Perpetual Help CYO 44-31 with Barry O’Malley leading the way with 19 points.

St. James CYO (4-1) helped by Joe Miranda’s 17-point effort, was an easy man of it in winning over Visitation (0-4) by a 60-41 score, and St. Rose of Lima got its record to four wins and only one loss by defeating Blessed Trinity (1-4) by a 58-37 score.

In the only other North Dade Division contest, the Cathedral Academy stunned Venice CYO 47-27 as Douglas Drayfield tugged 13 points for the winners.

Saucy Molasses Pudding

By FLORENCE DEVANEY

Every once in a while the homemaker finds a recipe that is so versatile she will make it again and again over the years. Saucy Molasses Pudding, first cousin to the classic Plantation Pudding, is such a virtuous dish.

To make this modern version, a butter goes into a baking dish. Then a molasses-butter-lemon juice mixture goes over the batter.

As the dessert bakes, the liquid goes to the bottom and forms a sauce which keeps the whole pudding pleasantly moist.

The versatility of the pudding lies in its ability to shine at any occasion.

Children will love Saucy Molasses Pudding as dessert for the family meal.

Because it is so delicious, it does yeoman service, too, on the company buffet and may follow the most elegant main course.

Serve it when guests drop in for coffee, or for the youngster's after-school snack.

SACUY PUDDING

\[ \frac{1}{4} \text{ cup sifted all-purpose flour} \]
\[ 2 \text{ teaspoons baking powder} \]
\[ 1 \text{ teaspoon salt} \]
\[ \frac{1}{4} \text{ cup butter, divided} \]
\[ \frac{1}{4} \text{ cup sugar} \]
\[ 1 \text{ cup milk} \]
\[ \frac{1}{4} \text{ cup raisins} \]
\[ 1 \text{ teaspoon grated lemon rind} \]
\[ \frac{1}{4} \text{ cup unsulfured molasses} \]
\[ \frac{1}{4} \text{ cup water} \]
\[ \text{Juice of 1 lemon} \]

Stir together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream 4 tablespoons of the butter. Gradually add sugar, and cream the mixture until light and fluffy. Add milk alternately with flour, beating after each addition until smooth. Stir in raisins and lemon rind. Turn into a well greased 9-inch square baking pan. Combine remaining butter, unsulfured molasses, water and lemon juice in saucepan. Bring to a boil. Remove from heat and pour gently over batter. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) 45 minutes. Serve warm.

YIELD: 9 servings.

GOLDEN SPICED YAMS

6 yams, cooked, peeled
2 teaspoons nutmeg
2 tablespoons molasses
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup miniature marshmallows

Combine yams, butter, cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg and salt; mix well. Spread half of yam mixture in bottom of greased, shallow baking dish. Top with half of marshmallows. Repeat layers using remaining yam mixture and marshmallows. Bake in 350 F over 30 minutes.

HONEY MINT CARROTS

About 12 carrots
1/2 tablespoons chopped mint leaves
1/4 cup honey
1/4 cup butter

Cook carrots until tender. Drain and add honey and butter. Cook gently over low heat until carrots are glazed, turning occasionally. Sprinkle with mint just before serving.

CREAMED CABBAGE

1 head of green cabbage, about 2 pounds, cut into wedges
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup water

Cook cabbage in salted water to boiling. Cover and steam for 5 minutes. Melt butter and blend in flour, salt and pepper. Add cream and cook until thickened and smooth. Drain the cabbage. Add the sauce and serve immediately.

YIELD: 9 servings.

Drink At 18? Answer Is Definite 'No'

By JOHN J. KANE, Ph. D.

No one likes to be called a "party pooper." It is not only something 'id a vulgar expression, but it means a challenge. Doesn't it remind you of when you were much younger? Remember when the other kids used to say, "I dare you, I double dare you?"

Age Of Maturity Is 21

Theoretically, at least, by 21, an individual is supposed to have reached some kind of physical and emotional maturity. He or she has grown up. Naturally, this is not always true but it is generally true. Society has to fasten upon some kind of a benchmark. This happens to be it. By this age it is assumed the person is responsible and can make prudent decisions.

Whether you decide to drink or not, how you drink and where you drink are decisions which must be made prudently. This is particularly true of those who per-ceive you to drink under such circumstances are not se-cetly hoping to make a spectacle of you.

Contrary to what most people think, alcohol does not stimulate a person. From the very beginning it has a depressant effect. It appears to stimulate because it lowers one's inhibitions. People talk more readily, laugh more easily and feel less restraint. When they drink too much, they feel no restraint at all and behave in a silly fashion.

There are many different kinds of drinks: Beer, wine, whiskey, liquors and cocktails. The latter contains whiskey, gin or a liqueur. All of these are far stronger than beer or wine. To get the same amount of alcohol in beer, one would need several glasses, of which it is the source of alcohol. Some drinks such as maltine and man-hattans are a mixture of wine and whiskey, consequently partially potent.

If a person drinks on an empty stomach, his system absorbs more alcohol and absorbs it more quickly than if he were eating. But there is more to it than this. People v from time to time. Some days one drink may have the same effect as two or three on other days. Larger and heavier people can usually drink more than smaller and thinner people. For this reason most men can drink more of such disciplinary action. But, of course, "everyone else does it." They don't get caught and you don't expect to be caught. But I'm wondering if many of the other boys and girls who drink are 21? Are you associating with a group that is as once too old and too fast for you?

Now no one likes to be called a "party pooper." It is not only something 'id a vulgar expression, but it means a challenge. Doesn't it remind you of when you were much younger? Remember when the other kids used to say, "I dare you, I double dare you?"

Actually, there is nothing wrong with drinking alcoholic beverages. There are even some things to commend it. A drink or two at the right time and place may ease tension, facilitate conversation and relax the strain that some feel in meeting strangers as a party. But let's be certain it is the right time and the right place.

A major question is about the right time. State laws on the legal age for drinking vary a bit, and are, by necessity, arbitrary. Some people may drink without harm at 20 and some cannot drink without harm at 30, 40, 50 or over. But why does society generally make twenty-one the magic age when one can vote, legally drink and assume other privileges so far denied?

The answer is a matter of habit. When one is 21, the parents have reached some kind of physical and emotional maturity. Their systems are not wallop, and not the type anticipated. It may cause dizziness. Where you should drink is still another matter.

A person is responsible and can make prudent decisions.

Historic Church Conflicts To Be Filmed

By WILLIAM H. MOORING

ROSLINDALE, Calif. — A man is backed to death in a church. His one-time "best friend" is blamed for the crime. He had quarreled.

An innocent Jew has been executed. His followers campaign against capital punishment, to extol his lifelong stand for brotherhood and human dignity...His enemies argue that all these ideas had been tried before, and found with much good?" by a Greek.

This leads him into bitter quarrels with the man who plans to divorce his wife. For good?" by a Greek.

Still another man refuses to believe the man is hacked to death in a church. His one-time "best friend" is blamed for the crime. In March or April, the same man stands trial, accused of murder. His "best friend" is the man who만 who plans to divorce his wife. For good?" by a Greek.

Los Cambios Litúrgicos en Vigor Desde el Domingo

El domingo, 16 de febrero y primer Domingo de Cuaresma, entraron en vigor los cambios litúrgicos aprobados por el Concilio Ecuménico y que se dieron a conocer en el documento "Sacram Liturgiam", fechado en la fiesta de la Conversión de San Pablo, el 23 de enero último.

El Papa Paulo VI decidió entre otras cosas que todas las misas dominicales y de fiestas de guardar deben tener sertón. En cuanto al sacramento del matrimonio, debe celebrarse normalmente en el curso de la misa, después del Evangelio y la homilía.

Nuevas instrucciones del Papa hacen patente el aserto del documento conciliar de que "la participación activa y completa del pueblo es el principal objetivo" en la labor de renovación litúrgica.

TENER VIGOR.

Sigan las estipulaciones efectivas a partir del 16 de febrero:

1—Los seminarios y casas religiosas de estudio deben preparar ya la aplicación de los artículos 15, 16 y 17 de la Constitución, estableciendo la adecuada instrucción litúrgica como un curso principal y obligatorio de los estudios sacerdotalles. La implantación de lo previsto en dichos artículos debe comenzar dentro del próximo año.

2—De acuerdo con el artículo 45 han de crearse comisiones diocesanas para la promoción del movimiento litúrgico. En todas las diócesis donde sea posible se establecerán también comisiones de música sagrada y de arte sacro (Art. 46).

3—A partir del 16 de febrero será obligatorio el sertón en las misas dominicales y en las de fiestas de guardar (Art. 35).

4—La facultad de administrar la Confirmación durante la Misa entra en vigor el 16 de febrero (Art. 71).

5—El Sacramento del Matrimonio debe normalmente celebrarse después de la lectura del Evangelio y de la homilía (Art. 78). Si el Matrimonio se celebra fuera de la Misa, habrán de ser tres lecturas, a comienzo de la ceremonia y tras una breve exhortación, la Epístola y el Evangelio de la Misa de Expirantes, impartiéndose a los esposos la bendición ritual.

6—Los sacerdotes que reciten el Oficio Divino deben tener un Oficio Divino privadamente que sólo puedan omitir la hora de Prima, y elegir entre las tres horas menores de Tercia, Sexta y Nona la que corresponda mejor al tiempo del día (Art. 89).

7—Los obispos diocesanos pueden, en casos especiales y por razones bien consideradas, dispensar de la obligación al Oficio Divino, ya sea totalmente o en parte, o permitir que se sustituya por otras oraciones.

8—A los miembros de comunidades religiosas que residen parte del tiempo en el Oficio o el Oficio Parvo se les considera participantes en la oración oficial de la Iglesia (Art. 98).

9—Las comunidades religiosas no clericales con permiso para recitar el Oficio Divino en lengua vernácula deben someter la traducción a la aprobación de la Santa Sede (Art. 101).

10—Las conferencias episcopales nacionales legítimamente constituidas serán las organizaciones "territoriales" encargadas en cierto grado de regular la liturgia en sus áreas respectivas.

11—Toda otra innovación en el ámbito litúrgico desde instituciones de la Santa Sede, y, en algunos casos, de los obispos

La Iglesia en Latinoamérica Necesitará Ayuda por Muchos Años

LIMA (NC)—Durante los próximos 40 a 70 años la Iglesia necesitará ayuda exterior en Perú y en casi toda Latinoamérica, dijo el nuncio apostólico a los participantes en la primera asamblea de Colegiados del Instituto Papi para América Latina.

Mons. Romolo Carboni subrayó que la Iglesia necesitará ayuda en Latinoamérica y que no se limitará a los asuntos llamados temporales. La ayuda a los católicos en la tierra de sus raíces es la que garantiza la supervivencia de la Iglesia en Latinoamérica. La ayuda a los católicos de países donde ésta ha presenciado, y sigue presenciando, una época de persecución, es una labor que prescinde de sus propios recursos" y llevan adelante, con ayuda de los universitarios, una "labor que prescinde del bien común".

Resulta, añade el CIC, "el mejor esfuerzo que hasta ahora se ha realizado para poner en contacto directo a los jóvenes universitarios con la vida, uso y costumbres de las comunidades indígenas".

En un comentario editorial, difundido por el servicio informativo del CIC, se dice que el gobierno peruano ha considerado acertadamente la canalización mediante la CPU de la "asistencia técnica, económica y social" a fin de que las comunidades indígenas "puedan conocer de sus propios recursos y lleven adelante, con ayuda de los universitarios, una labor que prescinde de sus propios recursos".

"La Iglesia en Latinoamérica necesita ayuda por muchos años".

PROYECTO SOCIAL DE LA IGLESIA EN PERU

Velan Estudiantes Católicos por los Indígenas

LIMA (NC) — El Centro de Información Católica aprobó el plan de Cooperación Popular Universitaria puesto en marcha en Perú para ayudar a las comunidades indígenas.

Con esta idea, se ha realizado un proyecto de Cooperación Popular Universitaria, que se ha puesto en marcha en Perú, Bolivia y Chile.

Un nuncio elogió el plan de Voluntarios del Papa, considerándolo como una prueba concreta de que la Iglesia en Estados Unidos desea ayudar con todos sus recursos a la Iglesia en Latinoamérica, y está dispuesta a hacerlo.

Examen de Ingreso en el Seminario

El sábado 29 de febrero, de 8 a 12 del día se efectuarán los exámenes de ingreso para todos aquellos estudiantes que están cursando el octavo grado de High School en el Seminario Diocesano de Miami, St. John Vianney.

En otra parte de esta edición aparecen los lugares donde se realizarán los exámenes de ingreso para estudiantes de octavo grado.
"Permanezca en Casa el Domingo"

Diez Mil Voluntarios Recabarán Ayuda Para Obras Sociales de la Diócesis

"Permanezca en su casa el domingo por la tarde y abra su puerta y su corazon al visitante del "Diocesan Development Fund".

Esta apelación la están haciendo en sus semejantes denominaciones todos los sacerdotes de la Diócesis, porque como el domingo, día 6, más de diez mil voluntarios recorran las calles de todos los distritos recabando su contribución para el "Diocesan Development Fund" (Fondo de Desarrollo Diocesano).

Esta jornada, denominada "Permaneciendo en Casa" será la culminación de la campaña de este año para el "DDF", para que el Obispo Coleman F. Carroll ha fijado una meta de un millón quinientos mil dólares para la construcción de diversas obras sociales de la Iglesia en el sur de Florida.

Con lo que se recudará en esta campaña del Fondo de Desarrollo de la Diócesis se concurrirá a los siguientes proyectos:

... Inmediata Construcción del "Marlan Center", que para niños retardados mentales se está construyendo ya en North Dade. Este centro estará dedicado a hacer a los niños retardados más felices y a entrenarlos para que puedan acomodarse mejor a la vida en sociedad cuando crezcan.

SANTIAGO, Chile (NC) — Se espera que una pastoral colectiva del Episcopado chileno sobre los puntos principales tratados por el Consejo Económico Vaticano II y sobre los problemas sociales y religiosos del país.

El hecho de cobrar el impuesto limitar el exceso de poder que consiguió una pastoral anterior, de 18 de septiembre de 1962, en la que los Obispos expusieron las condiciones sociales y económicas de Chile, provocando un gran debate en el país.

La Vega, semanario católico de Santiago, publicó en su número de 15 de marzo de 1964 que el vaticano I, reiteró su pastoral del año pasado, en que el espiritu de cuarzo y la vida conyugal, y se entendía en este caso de la esperada pastoral. Dijo, en parte, así:

"En medio de la sequía y espíritu que causa a vuestros Otois la conciencia del momento excepcional que vive la humanidad y nuestra Patria, se hacemos un llamado apremiante y creemos que es una necesidad, una urgencia para la Iglesia y su presencia en medio de los problemas de tod os aquellos que se precisan abordar para ser verdaderamente fieles al Evangelio del Señor".

La pastoral que se está destinada a concretar los fundamentos, métodos y objetivos de un gran plan pastoral, basado en "la esperanza de una comunidad de hombres que haya también la oportunidad de adquirir un impacto similar al que exige de los cristianos una actitud de austeridad cuarterana, y a la vez gradualmente, para el nombre de "las tentaciones de la generación especial por la Cuaresma: tentaciones de vanidad, tentación de ambición, pero que vigile también la vanidad, tentación de gula, tentación de vanidad, tentación de vicio, tentación de rechazo de una de ellas, no suponía la necesidad del rechazo de otras. Se impone una estrecha vigilancia sobre uno mismo; sobre la carne; sí, pero no sólo sobre la carne: sobre el espíritu también.

El cardenal presidió una reunión extraordinaria del Episcopado chileno, recien celebrada en el Seminario Pontificio de Santiago.

Los Obispos estudian la aplicación en Chile de la Constitución Litúrgica acordada por el Concilio. Se sabe que entre los acuerdos figura el de traducir al castellano la primera parte de la misa, hasta el Credo, y la administración en castellano de los sacramentos. El propuesto es que los fieles participen en la liturgia, en vez de ser simples espectadores.

"Aquellos a los que su misión es ayudar y servir, ayudarás con fortaleza, con inteligencia y con cariño. "

Como parte principal de la reunión del Episcopado, y que duró tres días, se estudió un Plan Pastoral que se deberá a conocer en breve.

EPISCOPADO CHILENO PREPARA DOCUMENTO

"Plan Pastoral Urgente"

Santo Domingo de la Vega - 15 de marzo de 1964

La Liturgia de la Iglesia tiene una secuencia sutil, refinada y una postura interior también. Hay una secuencia sutil, refinada y una postura interior también. Como punto principal de la reunión del Episcopado, y que duró tres días, se estudió un Plan Pastoral que se deberá a conocer en breve.

Buen pórtico para adentrarse en los días violentos de la Cuaresma.

El pueblo creyente tiene una ve nitad especial por la Cuaresma: sabe que es un tiempo litúrgico distinto al resto del año, y sabe también que exige de los cristianos una actitud y una postura interior también peculiar.

Cueras: Sacrificio y Oración

Por el Pbro Angel Viil enforce, O.F.M.

La Cuaresma en el antiguo es impartiendo. Uno de ellos es el Miércoles de Ceniza: el gesto y las palabras "Atoner a Cristo, huyendo de lo que causa reves y en po lo te convertirás", dice el sacerdote, mientras traza una cruz en ceniza sobre la cabeza del cristiano.

Cada semana de Cuaresma viene saliendo con una testariedad que hace vibrar al alma, devoción que más o menos, y a la vez profundamente, pa la participación viva y fecunda de los problemas de la existencia para jovencitas de 18 a 25 años.

He Was Led To Priesthood By Dating Catholic Girl

By FATHER JOHN A. O'BRIEN

Did you ever hear of a Catholic girl dating a non-Catholic and leading him not to the altar rail but to the altar and the priesthood? Probably not.

But that is what happened when Elaine married dated Paul Meier and thus interested him in the Catholic Faith. It shows how every Catholic can be a channel of God's precious gift of faith if he lives up to his religion, tells how much it means to others and offers to share it with others.

Paul Meier is the pastor of St. Aloysius Church, R. R. 2, Girard, Kan. “I lived among Catholics,” related Father, near Sacred Heart Cathedral in Kansas City, and saw how much their religion meant to them. One neighbor, Pat Bourbon, was the finest young man I’ve ever known. He was all a Catholic should be, and I looked up to him.

“I then too on the American Legion baseball team, on which I played, there were some Catholic boys whom I got to know real well. This made me realize that Catholics couldn’t be as bad as pictured by Protestants, despite my belief that Catholics were priest-ridden.”

“In 1935 I went on a blind date with a chum of mine. He was also a non-Catholic and was dating a Catholic girl from Marymount College, Salina, and I was taken along as a date for her. I married her, Elaine Laughlin. After this work I began dating Elaine, and soon we were going steady with serious intentions. She was a lovely Catholic girl, who loved her faith and lived up to its ideals.

“I removed from Wichita to get a job and complete school. I knew that if I hoped to marry Elaine, I would have to be a priest. I had love for all and the family. He should love his children more than the gang in the next block, or evil ‘orphans in Korea. He loves his friends and associates more actively than strangers, foreigners, and Communists.

However, this order of precedence does not exempt him from loving all of them, treating them fairly, wishing them well, and helping them according to their needs and his means.

Q. May a person go in Holy Communion on Sundays only, missing the weekdays in between, if they are still in the state of grace?

A. Yes. Indeed. Many people do it, going to confession only when they are not in the state of grace. If you are a daily communicant, I recommend confession every two weeks, so that you may gain the plenary indulgences for confession and Communion, which make all the difference in the world.

Q. Mother was buried in a non-Catholic cemetery years ago, and there is a lot there for Father. We have talked this over and sometimes don’t know what to do. Should he get a lot in a Catholic cemetery and have mother’s body taken up and interred there, next to the site of his future grave? The family feels he should be next to the lot, where she is now buried.

A. I personally agree with the family a hundred per cent.
