1964 DDF CAMPAIGN GOES 'OVER THE TOP' $1,569,311 Total
In First Returns

"Over the top" and still driving forward on all fronts.
That best describes the 1964 Development Fund Campaign of the Diocese of Miami following the "Pastors' Report Meeting" last week with Bishop Coleman F. Carroll.
Tabulation of the returns made at that time by priests and workers of every parish and mission in the diocese revealed that the goal of $1,500,000 already had been surpassed.
The actual figures reported showed: Total amount of pledges, $1,369,311.35, of which nearly one-half, or a surprising $710,777.27, had been paid in cash.
The final total of the amount contributed in this year's drive however, is expected to be in excess of these preliminary figures, according to reports from many of the parishes. Priests and lay workers are continuing their efforts to contact every wage-earner in the diocese and make 1964 a year of 100 per cent participation.

In expressing his deep gratitude to priests and lay people alike for their demonstration of true Christian charity and diocesan solidarity, Bishop Carroll called it a united effort on the part of everyone, motivated by a real spirit of love of neighbor.
The initial report for this year's campaign is in excess of the amount raised at the same period in previous years, leading to predictions on the part of some workers that the 1964 drive would establish a new record on the part of the faithful of the diocese in support of the Church and expansion of its humanitarian, charitable and educational facilities.

In 1960, the amount contributed was $716,621.96; in 1961, it was $825,801.35; in 1961, it was $1,230,693; in 1962, it was $1,361,479.24, and in 1963, it was $1,522,000.
In every year, the actual cash payments have been an amazing 91 per cent or more. In similar campaigns, average payment is about 80 per cent and in other types of campaigns it is much lower.

In speaking to the pastors and lay workers at the report meeting, Bishop Carroll said he was grateful to all of them and expressed particular praise for Father Neil J. Flemming, his coordinator in the campaign; to James W. McCaughan, the general chairman; to Frank Hillary and Stuart W. Patton, the co-chairmen, and to Frank Hilley, diocesan campaign director, for the many hours they had spent in meeting groups in all sections of the diocese and for their other arduous duties.

"This result has not been achieved without hard work on the part of everyone," the Bishop declared. "It has come (Continued On Page 11)
Pope Emphasizes Unity Aim Of Council

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope Paul VI told 3,000 pilgrims who came here from Trent to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the Council of Trent that the Second Vatican Council is seeking solutions for the difficult problem of the reunion of Christians, which was left unsolved at Trent.

The Pope celebrated Mass at the main altar of St. Peter's on Easter Sunday. After reading the Gospel, he spoke at length to the assembled pilgrims, paying tribute to the history and the faith of the northern Italian city of Trent which was the seat of the 15th-century council held to meet the challenges of the Reformation.

Linking that Tridentine council with Vatican II, Pope Paul said that both stressed a "singular fact." That fact is, he said, "the mystery of the faithfulness of the Catholic Church to Christ her Founder and Master."

From this faithfulness, the Bishop of Rome continued, there comes a sureness in the essence and guidance of the Church and "the certainty that her teaching is valid today as it was yesterday and as it will be tomorrow; that adherence to her doctrine and discipline will not render thought barren, that it will not sever it from the understanding and acquisition of all that modern science produces and possesses."

The Pope continued by saying that this mystery of faithfulness provides "for loyal and fruitful dialogues with intellectual and spiritual trends of our times, and stimulates the Church to pour forth in expressions which are ever new because they are always sincere and lived, the inexhaustible riches of truth which faith guarantees for us in the divine and religious field."

Pope Paul said that the spirit of the Council of Trent "kindles and strengthens that of the present Vatican council, which is linked to it, and from which it begins to deal with old and new problems which have to open a door, not set up a barrier; not end a dialogue but open it; not approach errors, but seek virtues; not make for him who has not come in centuries but to seek him out for the benefit of all participants at the council were taken into account in rewriting the schema. Some of these were made orally at weekly meetings of the observers and the secretariat during the council. Others were made in writing.

Cardinal Bea, president of the new draft, read about times that emerged during debates at the council's second session last fall, will be sent to bishops throughout the world. It is expected that it will be considered and voted on during this fall's third council session.

All five chapters of the schema were rewritten, including the final two on religious liberty and the Jesus which were not put forward for full debate last fall.

Vatican City (AP) — Council Fathers and experts of the Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity, cloistered in a retreat house south of Rome for two weeks, have rewritten the Vatican Council's proposed schema on ecumenism, including its statements on religious liberty and Jewish-Christian relations.

An official of the Secretariat said after the council that the rewritten schema is "bolder" than the original.

The new draft, reshaped along lines that emerged during debates at the council's second session last fall, will be sent to bishops throughout the world. It is expected that it will be considered and voted on during this fall's third council session.

All five chapters of the schema were rewritten, including the final two on religious liberty and the Jesus which were not put forward for full debate last fall.

Augustin Cardinal Bea, S.J., president of the council, said that the rewritten schema is "bolder" than the original version. But he emphasized that all recommendations were made with care and thought.

"In the light of the council Fathers' interventions," the American priest said, "we realized we had somewhat underestimated the growth of the ecumenical movement in the Church between the time the council was announced and the time this schema came to the floor of the council."

"Our work in the past two weeks has been to strengthen our schema in accordance with the wishes of the majority of the interventions, spoken and written," he said.

"Our meeting had a highly international character. This was made possible by the enlargement of the membership of the secretariat through election by the council and appointment by the Pope," he stated.

CONTINUATION OF WORK OF COUNCIL OF TRENT

Cardinal Ritter, Archbishop Hallinan On Liturgy Board

VATICAN CITY (NC) - Pope Paul VI has expanded to 43 members the new Commission for the Sacred Liturgy charged with carrying out the long-range reforms ordered by the ecumenical council.

President of the commission is Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro of Bologna, Italy, who was a member of the ecumenical council's Commission for the Liturgy.

The commission is composed of 10 cardinals, 28 bishops and four other prelates, 19 of whom serve on the council's 36-member liturgical commission.

Twenty-six countries on all continents are represented on the new commission. Included are nine Italians. There are three members each from France, Germany and Spain, and the U.S. has two members.

American members are Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis and Archbishop Paul J. Hallinan of Atlanta, a council commission member. Also on the new commission is Bishop Joseph A. Martin of Nichole, Que., another council commission member.

In announcing the appointments, the Vatican City daily L'Osservatore Romano commented:

"To this commission, in addition to the task of preparing general liturgical reform on the basis of the norms contained in the (ecumenical council's) Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy, there is also entrusted the task of seeing to the application of the constitution in the letter and spirit of the council which approved it."

The paper added that "by the competence of all its members," the new commission "is in the best position to carry out its task with depth of study and with great experience."

Pontiff Sad On Receiving Expelled Sudan Missioners

VATICAN CITY (NC) - Pope Paul VI told some 200 missionaries ousted from the Sudan in early March that their expulsion by that African nation was "lacking every motive of justification."

The Pope added that their departure was "contrary to the good name and civil progress of the nation and harmful to the sacred common rights of justice and liberty."

Pope Paul received the expelled missionaries at an audience in the Vatican's Consistorial Hall, which was also attended by Gregorio Cardinal Agagianian, Prefect of the Sacred Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith. The priests, Brothers and Sisters had arrived in Rome during the preceding few days, most of them without their personal belongings.

The Pontiff said he received them with "a heart filled with sadness" and told them he had followed the events leading to their ouster with "immense pain."

He said the missionaries in the Sudan had been motivated by "no desire for supremacy, no capacity of domination and no quest for material interests." He thus denied Sudanese government claims that they had been expelled because of their "abuse of Sudanese hospitality" and "interference in the Sudan's internal problems."

Instead, the Pope declared, they "had indefatigably spread the teaching of Christ, bearing with it also orderly civil, social and cultural progress."

Despite the Moslem-dominated Sudanese government's decision to deport all Christian missionaries from the country's predominantly pagan and Christian campaign began early after the Sudan won independence in 1956, the Pope said he hopes the government will reconsider its action. He stated:

"For the sake of the love we feel for this dear land, and for all the peoples of Africa, we still wish to hope, and now to express the hope, that the Sudanese authorities will reexamine the entire question with serene objectivity."

Irish Envoy To Be Speaker At St. Patrick Day Luncheon

Irish Ambassador Frederick H. Boland, former representative of Ireland to the United Nations and former president of the UN assembly, will be the principal speaker during a St. Patrick's Day luncheon at 12:15 Tuesday, March 17, in the Surf Club, 9031 Collins Ave., Miami Beach.

Recently appointed chancellor of Trinity College, Dublin, from which he was graduated in 1935, Ambassador Boland studied law at King's Inn and Trinity Law School in Eire and in 1938 was awarded the Rockefeller free-scholarship in social sciences.

He entered the Irish foreign service in 1939 and from 1959 to 1966 served as ambassador to Great Britain at the Court of St. James. He was subsequentiy appointed permanent representative of Eire to the United Nations, a member of Irish delegations to all sessions of the League of Nations Council from 1939 to 1943 and all sessions of the assembly of the League of Nations from 1930 to 1936.

Mgr. William Barry, P.A., pastor, St. Patrick parish, serves as honorary chairman of the committee on arrangements for the luncheon sponsored by the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick.

Tickets for the luncheon are available at the rectory of St. Patrick Church.

CINCINNATI, OHIO (AP) — In an effort to solve the problems of rising cost and enrollment, all parish elementary schools of the Cincinnati archdiocese will drop the first grade beginning next September.

Archbishop Karl J. Alter indicated a major reason for the action was to protect existence of the hard-pressed local parochial schools. He told a press conference that he hoped the decision would safeguard the remaining grades.

The act, he said, underscored "the burden we have been carrying all these years in operating our own schools without outside help."

Closing of the first grade in elementary schools in the 19-county Ohio archdiocese will turn the 10,000 children seeking admission over to public schools.

"The annual operating costs of our elementary and high schools in the archdiocese amount to more than $13 million," he said. "This represents an increase of more than $13 million," he said. "This is a grave blow to the Catholic school movement and its continued existence," he said.

He indicated that the addition of these pupils to the first grade will present serious problems, he said, "but the public schools will continue to provide the best education possible for all pupils enrolled."

He added that the additional enrollment very likely would mean that an extra levy for operating expenses would be placed on the ballot next fall.

Pierce, who remarked that the independent schools are "one of the major forces in the public schools," said the system he heads will continue to provide the best education possible for all pupils enrolled.

Archbishop Alter said he was sure there would be "considerable regret on the part of the parents involved."

The Archbishop told newsmen that the problems caused by the immense increase of the school population were "especially acute" in the Cincinnati archdiocese.

He explained that the ratio of Catholic boys and girls enrolled in Catholic schools this year in the archdiocese was "one of the highest in the U.S."

"Whereas the average enrollment is 50 per cent in the dioceses of the United States, our archdiocese has enrolled 75 per cent of the Catholic school population," he said.

He also called attention to the fact that school enrollment in the archdiocese rose more in the past 10 years than in the prior 125 years of its history.

Public school boards throughout the archdiocese were notified in advance of the public announcement and immediately began to revise their plans for the coming year in order to accommodate the additional boys and girls who will enroll.

Wendell Pierce, Cincinnati public school superintendent, said the system he heads will receive an estimated 3,614 of the first grade pupils.

He noted that 75 per cent of the Catholic children who go on to elementary schools in the 19-county area attend public schools next fall. Total enrollment in first grade last fall was 7,577.

RISK IN TUITION

The changes announced by the Archbishop, which will include a rise in high school tuition rates to $900, reflect "further evidence of the gradual chopping away of the civil rights of parents in education by the state," according to Paul C. Mecklenborg, President of Ohio Citizens for Educational Freedom.

In a prepared statement, the Cincinnati accountant declared: "This is a grave blow to the concept of freedom of choice in education, which is so important to the freedom of thought and freedom of religion in this country."

Mecklenborg went on to say that "through economic pressure, the state is forcing the parochial school parents to send their children to the state schools."

"This includes all the parents of children in the first grade and includes the parents who find it impossible to pay the high school tuition in addition to the nonpublic school taxes," he said.

"These parents can no longer exercise their inalienable and constitutional right to direct and control the education of their children in the school of their choice. The right of the parents in education... becomes nothing more than a myth."

Mecklenborg said that the parochial and other independent schools "serve a public purpose by teaching the usual public school subjects and by instilling the civic virtues of obedience, loyalty and patriotism..."

"The independent schools are everybody's business because everyone should be concerned about what they teach and about their chance for survival."

Declaring that "forces are being arrayed against even the continued existence of these schools," he said that "their very survival is at stake."

Architect's Plan For New St. Michael Church

Ground To Be Broken Sunday

For New St. Michael Church

Ground will be broken at 5 p.m. Sunday, March 15, for a new Church of St. Michael the Archangel at 2901 W. Flagler St.

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll will officiate at the ceremonies assisted by Msgr. R. E. Philbin, founding pastor of the parish, and diocesan director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, and Father Sebastian Loncar, parish administrator.

When completed the new church will accommodate more than 1,200 persons. The sanctuary and altar will be located within the central space of the church designed by Miami architect, Murray Blair Wright. The altar will be placed upon a circular predella large enough to permit Mass facing the people in the future.

Confessionals in the new church will be concealed within deep cavities at the side walls, and side shrines will be placed in similar recesses in keeping with their secondary role as related to the main altar.

A feature of the exterior building design is a 10-foot campable with provisions for the future bells surmounted by a massive cross poised in front of the main sculptural shape of the nave.

The entrance will open onto a large plaza with curved drive- and areas for landscaping at the sides.

Senator Lauds Relief Groups For Cubans' Resettlement

WASHINGTON (NC) — The U.S. Cuban refugee resettlement program has been “a story of democracy in action that all the world should hear,” Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan said here.

Hart, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on refugees and escapes, thus described the Cuban resettlement program in a study published by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

He paid particular tribute to the voluntary relief agencies which have cooperated with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in carrying out the program. They are Catholic Relief Services — National Catholic Welfare Conference; Church World Service of the National Council of Churches; United Hias Service; and the International Rescue Committee.

In the past three years, some 40,000 Cuban refugees have been resettled by Catholic Relief Services, according to a statement in the committee study by Msgr. John F. McCarthy, CRS — NCWC assistant executive director.

They have gone to 129 different U.S. dioceses and 23 foreign countries.

Msgr. McCarthy said reports from diocesan resettlement directors indicate that the Cubans are “industrious and honest, ready to adjust to a new environment, and efficient in jobs which enable them to support their families.”

In recent months, he noted, there has been a change in attitude among many of the refugees which tends to make them more receptive to resettlement.

At first, he said, most of them were hopeful for Cuba’s early liberation and hence resented resettlement. But now, he added, “by and large” the Cuban refugee community in and around Miami has resigned itself to the idea that “the day of liberation may be off in the distant future.”

While “thousands of Americans have opened up their homes and hearts” to the refugees, Msgr. McCarthy said, at the same time there has been “innsufficient participation” up to now by communities outside Florida.

He also pointed to what he called “problems” in the refugee program and suggested steps to solve them. They are:

— The fact that many close relatives and friends of the refugees remain in Cuba and are at present unable to leave. Resumption of airline flights from Havana to Miami would be necessary for this to come about, he said.

— The ineligibility for assistance under the government’s refugee program of refugees who have come into the country through ports of entry other than Miami and have not registered with the Cuban Refugee Emergency Center there. He suggested that a plan for “ab-

A Debate All Should Watch
The debate on the Civil Rights bill currently going on in the Senate ought to be carefully and indeed prayerfully watched by all. It has been predicted that the bill which passed the House by 250 votes to 130 is in for a hard time and perhaps some bitter controversy. Apparently a well planned filibuster engineered by Southern senators is not unlikely.

This debate among the senators of the United States is obviously most significant. It should help clarify for the general public the issues touched on in the Rights bill. If any section really is opposed to the rights of American citizens, then everyone should know exactly what the proposal involves.

For instance, it is claimed that the public accommodation section is an invasion of property rights. If so, then honest debate should reveal the evil and call for proper revision without背景下 the issue with irrelevant charges or ancient prejudices.

It ought not be labelled impractical idealism to hold that the exchange of ideas among the senators ought to lead to resolutions which represent the mind and will of the majority of the American people. While the rights of individual states most certainly have to be guarded, there are times when the common dicipes.

WASHINGTON LETTER
U.S. Fears Protest To Reds Might Worsen Jews' Plight
By J. G. GILBERT
WASHINGTON (N.C.) -- The government of the United States, as a matter of policy, refuses from protests made by the West to Moscow over the persecution of Jews in the Soviet Union. This refusal to protest would only worsen the plight of Jews in Russia.

"This is an interesting revelation at this time, when the highly controversial stage play "The Deputy" has been brought to the country. The play seeks to point out transplants of Jews from Germany to the Soviet Union."

For instance, the Soviet government has often accused,Soviet Jews of smuggling in foreign influences and of being agents of foreign countries, most particularly of the United States and Israel. It would be highly to the interest of Soviet Jews if the United States took actions which would seem to lend credence to this charge.

"Formal actions by the U.S. government or its official representatives could have this unfortunate result and also lose in effectiveness because of the tenacious hold the U.S. government has over the Soviet Union as motivated pri-mates of false cold war considerations."

"Where feasible," says the State Department, the United States government can do nothing to disrupt the Soviet Union's plans to move Jews from Germany to the Soviet Union."

"The Deputy" distorts the char-acter of the Pope.

The production has several good points but not an anti-Catholic drama.

It is to be hoped that the production will continue to work for an improvement in the lot of Soviet Jewry, reduce the negative pressures on their religious, cultural, and civil life.

The situation of the Jews and other minorities in the Soviet Union is a subject of continuing concern to the United States government. Within the iner-hin limitations mentioned above, the department will continue to work for an improve-ment in the life of the Jewish people of the Soviet Union.

What the State Department document says is that seasoned出售, a certain number of Jews would be allowed a certain liberty in adjusting facts to his story. But he has no right to distort the facts about Pope Pius XII and then call the play "The Deputy." Some of the New York critics pardoned the dramatic flaws in the play on the grounds that it was a "terribly important message."

The production and the statement of the Pope says and does than he is in the message. The result is that he leaves the theater with nothing but the abstract message.

He does not get the force of the colossal human and Christian guilt of those who kept their silence while the millions of Jews were being tortured and inhumanly murdered. The message does not penetrate to the deepest part of his consci-

One should watch the developments with awe, we are reminded that this scientific advance will also usher in some uncertainties, such a donation is permissible as the dual organs, such a donation is permissible as long as the one remaining organ would continue to function properly and no serious complications will result.

We can be sure that the possibilities of transplanting organs are far greater than most of us can imagine now. It is good to know that science is making such advances, and equally heartening to realize that theologians are working out the guide lines for correct moral procedures.

Radio dramatist would be allowed a certain liberty in adjusting facts to his medium. But he has no right to distort the facts about Pope Pius XII and then call the play "The Deputy." Some of the New York critics pardoned the dramatic flaws in the play on the grounds that it was a "terribly important message."

The message is that spiritual men should cry out against injustice no matter what the Church says and does than he is in the message. The result is that he leaves the theater with nothing but the abstract message.

He does not get the force of the colossal human and Christian guilt of those who kept their silence while the millions of Jews were being tortured and inhumanly murdered. The message does not penetrate to the deepest part of his conscience.

As a result, he can walk out of the theater with no sense of sharing in the guilt of the whole. He can proceed to cast a cold eye on the injustice being inflicted on the Jews here in the United States, in the United States, in the whole world.

In short, the liber on the reputation of Pope Pius is not only bad history but bad drama as well. Robert Bolt, author of "A Man for All Seasons," declared that he wanted to work into his play the message of the U.S. government's commitment to an ideal. He deliberately chose Thomas more as the central figure because he did not want a controversial figure whose emotional and partisan overtones would be distracts attention from the message. Both felt that passions over the English Reformation had long since cooled.

Seminary Day Affects Many Lives

By Msgr. JAMES J. WALSH

Recently several hundred parents in the Diocese watched their sons go off to take an examination. As news goes in families, tests ordinarily do not get a lot of attention but this one was special. At least it was the eyes of the boy and his parents because they were advised notice that an 8th-grader in grades 6-8 was to be Msgr. Walsh admitted to St. John Vianney Seminary next September.

As it turned out that day 167 boys in all parts of southern Florida took the first big step toward the goal of the priesthood.

This event starts off the train of thought.

What about these parents of potential priests? What were their reactions and comments as their sons headed for the examination center? Judging from hundreds of interviews these past five years, we can venture a guess that their attitudes differed greatly.

Some of the parents surely thought the decision to try for the seminary was an answer to their prayers. Many a mother has thought of herself that she was praying at her son's birth that God would call him to be a priest. While often a father refuses to be so forward with his admission, records prove that there are parents who have shared his wife's lofty desire for a vocation in the family.

Others undoubtedly were somewhat amused and cautious. They really were surprised when little Joe announced that he was thinking of the seminary. Perhaps the parents realized for the first time that they were still thinking of him as an overgrown baby with a ravenous appetite, but now he was not only ready to enter the seminary, and to be honest, not good enough. They were prepared to hear that he flushed out and were ready to check it off at one more passing faith. And because he was in good company.

Still others were anything but happy. One parent announced his desire to occupy the seminary. It may have been the worst news that he and his family could receive — and not attractive nor disturbing. But after their friends and family had a chance to adjust, it was as if a light had gone out, their minds were made up quickly — against it.

VARIOUS COMMENTS

Perhaps they heard such sobering warnings as: "It is ridiculous to send a child away from home like that;" (if it had been a scholarship to a swank prep school in New England, then the parents probably would have heard they'd be "crazy" to deny Jim that opportunity).

"How can one possibly know he wants to be a priest at his age?" (but had he said doctor or lawyer, or engineer, they'd have thought he was insane). He's still a baby — let him see the world first!" (sounds like a sound piece of advice; recruiting means that a seminarian has joined the Desert Fathers). "You'd hardly be at all different in a few years again;" (slightly exaggerated, since he spends approximately two months out of the year at home, including many weekend visits).

Good land! what does he want to be a priest for anyway when there are so many other opportunities available? He should be educated, perhaps a lawyer or doctor. He believes that this objection comes from people who are aware of God's Church's tradition and of the need of priests).

These parents for our purpose here will be divided into two groups. Some felt locking the door on the morning of the exam, but rather than divine refusal, or having the loom go while fervently hoping he would not pass the test or that he'd fail to make the grade in some other step in the screening.

The second group did lack the door. They wanted none of this "none-sense," and made no bones about it. They were not allowed to take the examination and that was that. How many locked doors there were for the screening was none, one knows. We suspect the number is not low.

Some boys are not ready for the seminary. Most of them are not rejected outright, but deferred until after their school or until their records prove that they can make the grade. It is interesting and encouraging to some parents who were thus deferred were stirred by the challenge of proving themselves, and when eventually accepted into the seminary are among the finest.

Some are put off because of motivation. Occasionally we find the "I have a friend in the seminary". Now and then we come across a boy who is main-"arrantly interested in the excellent education the seminary offers. Perhaps he has a bug in his ear from a parent. It is not uncommon for a student to be attracted by the "security" the life offers or the honor and public recognition that come with failure to be accepted by the altar society and the nobility of a priest or seminarian.

Some who are recent converts to Catholicism may mature first as Catholics without adding the burden of training up to Exam day at the same time. There are some cases of boys who never went to Catholic schools and whose parents never bothered to provide them with the religious training other than that necessary for First Holy Communion and Confirmation.

It was an unusual day for par-"essional news — that day of the examination. And its results may influence the lives of many people for come.

Envy, Jealousy Spiritually Contaminated

By FATHER LEO J.Trese

There are few sins as spiritually corrosive as envy and jealousy. They are breaches of charity to which no one is immune.

Envy is the sin by which I b e g r u d e to someone, w h o belongs to me, and of whom I do not possess. I wish that I had the same or an equal status as he. Or, if Father Trese I cannot hope to have the article. I still wish that he did not have it.

I may envy my neighbor his house, his larger home or his better job. If a woman, I may envy another her more24. She is excelling, her expensive grooming, her better education or her ability to conduct a meeting. They may envy a neighbor his greatest virtue. There is no end to the things or qualities which may inspire envy. Plainly it is not a sin to wish that I had a car like the other man's, a house like the other man's, or a brain like the other person's. The essential evil of envy is that one is resentful that the other person should be better off than I, and that I should be deprived of what he has even if I cannot have it. Envy will be a grave sin if I seriously believe that another be deprived of something which to him is of extreme importance.

Envy is concerned with things. Jealousy is concerned with love and affection. By the very nature of the case, jealousy may be awakened by another's friendship or love which another person is receiving. A man may be jealous of his friend if another man shall cause his friend to be less happy. It may be awakened by another's friendship or love which another person is receiving. A man may be jealous of his friend if another man shall cause his friend to be less loved. If a woman sees another happily married to her husband.

Paradox may be jealous of each other, too, with respect to their children's love, and may foolishly compete for the children's affection. What is worse, one parent may resent the love which the other spouse gives to children.

All of the forms of jealousy, in this context of marriage, are spiritually pernicious. The happiness of countless marriages has been ruined by the unfounded jealous suspicions of husband of common friends.

Jealousy is not limited to the marital state, however. A man may be jealous of a neighbor who is more popular than himself. A woman may be jealous of a fellow-worker who is better liked by the rest of the office staff. The Alarm Society presi-"dent may be jealous of the Rosary Society president because it is the latter whom the pastor most often consults. Jealousy has many faces — and all the faces are ugly. Jealousy is more likely to be a grave sin than is envy because the effects of jealousy are usually much more harmful. If my jealousy is so that it de-"strs my peace of mind or seri-"ously disturbs the happiness of another, and even destroys my jealousy is a mortal sin.

In matters of envy and jealousy, as in other areas of life, the spiritual life must not be confused with sin. Even the best of us may at times have envious or jealous sentiments at someone else's good fortune or popularity. This is normal. We sin only if we continue willingly to harbor the resentment and make so ef-"forts to spread it that we are falling into sin.

Envy and jealousy in their extreme forms can be signs of a serious emotional disorder. Among individuals whose personal lives are few and simple is an emo-"tional disorder which can bring about a change in personality. The one term is the contrary, on one must depend upon "things" to give himself status is suffering from some form of emotional insecurity.

Looking At Governmental Role In Social Welfare

By MSGR. GEORGE G. HIGGINS

In last week's column it was suggested that Protestant, Catholics and Jews in the United States would probably agree on one principle of subsidiarity as a starting point in their discussion of Church-State relations in the field of health and welfare — if they could first come to agreement on the precise meaning of this fundamental principle of social activism.

One thing that stands in the way of coming to agreement on the face of some Protestants — and possibly, also, of certain Catholics — is the field of health and welfare — that the principle of subsidiarity, as commonly employed by Catholic writers, means that government is best which governs least.

This is not what the principle of subsidiarity really means to well informed students of Catholi-"c social principles. On the contrary, it means that while governments should not arbitrarily usurp the role of individuals or voluntary organizations in so-"cial and economic life, neither should it hesitate to adopt such programs as are required by the common good and are be-"yond the competence of indi-"vidual citizens or groups of citizens.

There can be two false views of the globe. One is to love it for its color, and the other is to mock it, as the Soviet Union does, by placing a picture of a dog on one of its poles. This is the way we put the Cross on the globe! This is the way we save our souls.

You are already one with poverty all over the world. You can send the Missions! For Christ! Each time we make a sacrifice for someone else may be strengthened with the Life of Christ.

BISHOP LAUDS THEIR VOCATION AID

Pastors Honored By Serrans

Because of personal interest in the young people in their parishes and their close contact with them, priests can do the most effective work in encouraging vocations to the religious life, Bishop Coleman F. Carroll told members of the Miami Serra Club last week.

But the priests need help, the Bishop added, and he thanked Serrans for their assistance in the promotion of vocations.

Bishop Carroll spoke at the annual "Pastors' Day" luncheon held at the Columbus Hotel, with pastors from many parishes throughout the diocese as guests of honor.

The Bishop congratulated the Serra members for their outstanding work for vocations among boys and girls in Catholic schools and urged them to explore other fields, particularly in the colleges and universities, in cooperation with the Newman apologist.

He urged the Serrans to be leaders in studying and understanding the changes in the liturgy soon to be adopted as a result of the Ecumenical Council, including the use of the vernacular in the Mass and the sacraments. He also called upon them to be active in advocating the rights of all individuals regardless of race or creed.

Another speaker at the luncheon was Father William R. McCarthy, M.M., who has spent 10 years as a missionary in Lima, Peru, where he helped establish a Serra Club 10 years ago. Describing the difficulties in South America resulting from unstable governments, inadequate housing, limited food and medical supplies and an expanding population, Father McCarthy said, however, that the growth of Catholic schools, colleges and seminaries speak well for the future of the Church there.

He emphasized the tremendous amount of good resulting from the Caritas program for food distributed by Catholic Relief Services of the N.C.W.C., administered by the Bishops of the United States.

No surprise speakers warmly applauded were Robert Lacey and William Squires, of St. Rose of Lima school, who described a visit they had made to St. John Vianney Minor seminary. They were introduced by Jack Knap, chairman of the Serra Visitation Committee.

An outstanding worker in the field of vocations in the Diocese of Pittsburgh, Msgr. Henry R. Carlin was introduced and spoke briefly. He is the pastor of Holy Rosary parish, Pittsburgh, Bishop Carroll's home parish.

John McDonald, Serra president, outlined the club's program which was explained in detail by Edward McFate, chairman of the internal program committee.

Frank Macle, who is general chairman of the Serra International Convention to be held in Miami in 1965, told of the plans and arrangements being made for that gathering which is expected to include more than 3,000 Serrans from all parts of the world; 150 priests; 50 bishops and archbishops and perhaps a representative from the Vatican, as well as other dignitaries.

Leader Of Catholic Press Hailed For 40 Years Service

WASHINGTON (N0) — Frank A. Hall, director emeritus of the Press Department, National Catholic Welfare Conference, was praised here as a man who has "always tried to express the mind of the Church" through news reporting.

This description was given by Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, Apostolic Delegate to the United States, at a dinner in the National Press Club celebrating Hall's 40th anniversary with the N.C.W.C.

Archbishop Vagnozzi said Hall through his career has "rendered service to the world."

"No other country," he declared, "has a Catholic news agency which can compare to the press service of the N.C.W.C."

Some 250 of Hall's friends and associates turned out for the celebration, during which it was announced that he had been given by Pope Paul VI to the rank of Commander with Silver Star in the Order of St. Gregory the Great.

Tributes were paid to Hall from many sources. Among them were: a telegram from Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, Papal Secretary of State and former Apostolic Delegate in the U.S., expressing his "deep gratitude," and a message from Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle, chairman of the National Catholic Welfare Conference's administrative board, saying the "inestimable value" of his work.

Auxiliary Bishop Philip M. Hannan of Washington, assistant episcopal chairman of the Press Department, represented Archbishop Joseph T. McCormick of San Francisco, the department's chairman, at the celebration and conveyed the Archbishop's greetings and good wishes.

Four bound volumes were presented to Hall containing tributes from 160 cardinals and bishops, dozens of Catholic editors and many professional associates.

Among the tributes were the following:

Cardinal Cognani: "Your own ideals, summarized in the love and service of God and country, have enriched American life and instilled aspirations towards greater moral achievements in your fellow countrymen."

Albert Cardinal Meyer of Chicago: "The hierarchy of the United States, and through them their dioceses, priests, Religious institutes and people are grateful to you for your untiring service in their behalf."

James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles: "I wish to assure Mr. Hall of one of our nation's best wishes and that his years of retirement will be long and blessed."

Joseph Cardinal Bitter of St. Louis: "Those are years of service not only to the Press Department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference but to the whole of the Catholic press as an instrument for the Church itself."

Archbishop Karl J. Alter of Cincinnati: "If it were a Correct Medal which should be presented on this 40th anniversary, I think we would say: 'For courage, vision, loyalty and dedication to a cause beyond the call of duty.'"

Archbishop Leo Roye of St. Paul, Minn.: "It is largely to the imagination, the courage, and the perseverance with which you labored in the Press Department that the tremendous growth of the Catholic press in the United States can be traced."

Archbishop John F. Dearden of Detroit: "Today it (the N.C.W.C. News Service) is a most useful instrument of the Church because of your dedicated work over these four decades."

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll of Miami, Fla.: "You have always been aware of the Catholic press as an instrument of the Church in the spreading of the Gospel, in defending truth whenever it was under attack and in helping to sow the seeds of charity among all men."

LEMONS FOR BEAUTY — To keep your skin clear and fair and your hair brilliant you need the natural cleansing and bleaching properties of lemons. Ask your druggist for a bottle of lemon delph, the latest lemon-type skin cleanser that beautiful women and now men are using. Lemon delph bleaches yellowness from hands and neck, beautifies the complexion as much as out-plugged pores and closes them to a beautifully fine texture. Lemon delph is excellent for a quick cleanse or to give a good grey nose. A little lemon delph brushed on the hair after your shampoo will give it the glamping of sparkling diamonds. This is a luxury skin cleanser and cleanser.

about through the combined efforts of all, and primarily because of the efforts and the prayers of the pastors and their assistants, as well as the hard work and prayers of so many fine men and women which have moved so many others to be so generous.

"Indeed, it is an expression of the deep-seated Faith of the people of the Diocese of Miami. To bring about such success, there must be tremendous sacrifice on the part of everyone in order to achieve those things which are needed by those less fortunate."

OUTLINES PROJECTS

Bishop Carroll outlined the projects which will be made possible by the 1964 Development Fund campaign. These include:

- The Marian Center for Exceptional Children, already under construction in the Belle Glades area. To be staffed by 11 Sisters of St. Joseph of Cotolfeno, who came here from Italy last Fall, the center will provide care and religious instruction for mentally retarded boys and girls. It is expected to be completed and opened in September of this year.

- A Geriatrics Center to care for the elderly poor and to be equipped and staffed to study diseases of the aged.

- Homes for teenage boys and girls made dependent through no fault of their own.

- Additional Newman Centers to be established on the campuses of junior colleges and universities in South Florida, to provide for the religious instruction and guidance of Catholic students.

Father Flemming, who conducted the pastors' report meeting, urged that those who might have been inadvertently overlooked or those who through absence or for other reasons have not as yet been able to make their contributions get in touch with the Diocesan Development Fund office in the Chancery Building, 6301 Biscayne Blvd., Miami; telephone number Plaza 7-5714.

Obscene Literature
Topic Of HNS Talk

"It is the parent's responsibility to help clean up the obscene literature situation in Dade County," Aram Goshgarian, former chief latery prosecutor in the State's attorney's office, declared in a talk to the Holy Name Society of St. Peter and Paul parish.

In his talk last Sunday, Mr. Goshgarian disclosed little known facts concerning the distribution and circulation of obscene reading material in Dade County.

He told of indecent literature which can be obtained easily through advertisements contained in local news stands.

Mr. Goshgarian outlined ways and means whereby parents can help stem the flow of improper reading material. Mr. Goshgarian challenged the group by stating that the responsibility cannot be passed on to teachers, judges and pastors.

St. James Holy Name Receives Communion

The St. James parish Holy Name Society members took part in a Corporate Communions on Holy Name Sunday, March 8, and afterwards held a regular meeting at which new officers were elected.

Father James F. Dixon, pastar of St. James and spiritual director of the Society, spoke to the members at their meeting and pledged his complete cooperation with the Holy Name membership drive now underway in the parish and throughout the Diocese.

Father Dixon promised the members he would help in an effort to place a Holy Name membership application blank in the hands of every man in the parish.

New officers elected by the society were: Robert Clark, president; Attilio Amante, vice president; John Powers, treasurer; Herman Reichle, secretary; John Sample, Inside marshal; and John Brown, outside marshal.

The officers will be installed sometime in May.

New Pathways To Learning In Our Diocesan Schools

Reading Well Is Modern Education Springboard

By Msgr. WILLIAM F. McKEEVER
And Father JOSEPH H. O'SHEA

If an educator were allowed to shout only one brief sentence from the rooftop of the House of Learning, it should be: “Teach the children to read well!”

Behind the failures in the histories, and the sciences, and in literature, almost always there lurks the inability to read with sufficient comprehension and adequate speed.

This may sound like belaboring the obvious, but it is the kind of obvious item that cannot be repeated too often to all who are involved in the work of education.

The trouble with so many obvious (and curable) ills is that we tend to get used to them after a few feeble, ineffective efforts to rout them to rout. Then follows apathy. And finally, it becomes almost impossible to mount a sustained, all-out attack to find a remedy for the ailment.

In the schools of the Diocese of Miami, the all-out attack against poor reading is on. As of now, this educational offensive does not consist of a common reading program used by all the schools.

Several experiments are under way, and the results are being carefully studied. The objective is to arrive shortly at the most effective program which each school will use by all the schools to develop reading strength among the pupils.

Each of the present experiments avoids the error of trying to give the same reading instruction to all the pupils of the same grade. As might be suspected, the reading skills and potential among the students of any one grade vary widely. To

When the reading period arrives (it is held at the same time by pupils in the same class. The poor reader and the good reader are not faced by the same challenge, but use materials of varying depth, and increase their speed according to their capacities.

An experiment that has been giving consistently impressive results is the Program for Achievement in Reading, which is more familiarly known as PAR. As with the SRA program, the emphasis on multi-level materials is used at the same time by pupils in the same class.

The PAR program however, is more elaborate than SRA. It makes use of machines called the tachistoscope, the rate-meter, and the ratemeter, which help to train the student to read groups of words rather than word by word.

Good readers always read this way. President Kennedy's ability to devour great amounts of written material within a short time was possible only because he had learned to skim through paragraphs and absorb the essential thought.

The PAR program also differs from SRA in that it prefers that the students receive a concentrated course in reading, a kind of saturation approach designed to develop a quick and dramatic jump in reading ability.

To date, some 20 diocesan schools have conducted experimental classes using PAR, and the reaction to the program in each school has been enthusiastic. The average overall reading gain of the pupils involved was two grade levels.

Currently, a follow-up investigation of the progress of the students who took the course is being conducted. If the research shows that the striking improvements resulting from the PAR program generally stay with those students, then all of the students of all the diocesan schools will be given the benefit of PAR.

COLUMBUS

By L. LATANE PARKER

The first week of March turned out to be a busy week at Columbus High School. Most important of all was the fact that it was test week in preparation for Report Cards which came out on the eleventh. However, this didn’t stop a good number of our basketball team members from being actively engaged in their respective activities.

Five finalists from Columbus in the Annual Civilian Essay Contest have been announced. They are: Jim Cruteau, Bill Pratt, Latane Parker, Eugene Stark, and Harold Pritchard.

Columbus Ends Fine Season

By JACK HOUGHTELANG
Miami's Christopher Columbus High School — South Florida's Cinderella basketball squad — almost pulled off another shocker in the finals of the Class AA Region 4 meet before falling victim to mighty Miami High, a 10-time state champion, 45-33, last Saturday.

The Explorers, the smallest Class AA school south of Orlando, almost became one underdog in a tournament of two regional meets and a live to win the record, led by a 14-13 margin until 3:19 remained in the second quarter before MHS took command and pulled away to its 24th triumph in the school's history.

Columbus had upset Fort Lauderdale High in the semifinals of the tournament, 46-44, after winning the AA-16 group meet last Saturday.

Columbus ran into double and triple defensive maneuvers on its star, 4-4 Jim McDermott. Against Lauderdale, however, McKirby was able to pick up 11 points in the second half to go on to score four field goals while John Bevilaqua chipped in nine points and Paul Stulgaitis eight.

However, Miami High, famed MHS attack, got only five only five and while rebounding are Columbus players, John Bevilaqua (No. 41) and Paul Stulgaitis (No. 61).

Coach Andy Tarkowski tried a revamped lineup and a change in defensive tactics in hopes of bringing the three-year-old Chaminade school past Haines City but the strategy failed. The taller Haines City crew dominated the rebounds and when starters Bob Depathy and Lou Marlow made sure early in the fourth quarter, the Lions hopes were dashed.

St. Pat's, a favorite in the state-wide Class C competition, found the officials as much of a handicaps as a handicap as the Lake Placid team. Lake Placid outscored the Shamrocks 24-5 from the free throw line in gaining the triumph.

Final League Games Set Sunday In CYO Basketball

The 34 teams in the CYO Basketball League end season play this Sunday with the four division leaders needing only one more victory to sweep their respective championships.

In the North Dade Division, Holy Redeemer (9-0) in North Dade and St. Dominic (9-0) in South Dade face the toughest competition in their final games of the division tourney. But Holy Redeemer goes up against St. James beaten only three times in nine contests. The Lions take on Corpus Christi, now in third place in South Dade with a 9-2 record.

Nativity CYO (9-0) in Broward plays against St. Elizabeth who has not gained a victory since St. Mark (8-4), then plays games against St. Vincent (5-3) and St. Luke (3-3).

Holy Redeemer won its ninth straight last Sunday by topping St. Vincent de Paul 30-28.

The toughest game of the season was against St. Thomas Aquinas of Fort Lauderdale who led all through the game until the fourth quarter when Assumption caught up and tied the score 21-21 by a free shot from Dale Jarvis.

After an extra period of two minutes Assumption won 22-20. The top scorers were Yolanda Brennan and Diane Jarvis.

Assumption has a record of nine wins and no losses. One of the wins came in a game played against the student council basketball team of Miami University.

The score was 33-33.

The Captains of the Assumption team were Dale Jarvis and Brenda Garcia who received the awards for outstanding basketball playing. Team members included: Varusica Mapp, Diane Jarvis, Gilda Carillo, Mohr Y., Yolanda Brennan, M.E. Hill, Daisy Reever and Susie de Marmol.

The coach was Miss Diana Hedges.

Teens, There Is Plenty Of Time For Dates Later

I am a girl, almost 13 years old, and I have changed. I smoke with the boys. I also flirt with them. I am not spoiled like a lot of kids, but when I get around boys I act that way. My parents don't know this but it is getting so no one likes me any more. Please help me.

Joyce, I want to compliment you for the insights you seem to have. At least you realize something is wrong but you can't quite pinpoint it. Furthermore, your problem is not unusual." In fact, it is almost chronic among girls of your age. Let's put it this way — it is a combination of being a young adolescent, groping your way to what you think is maturity, trying too hard to compete with the other girls, and being a bit precocious.

Precocious is a big word, so I'm going to begin by explaining what it means. It is attempting to think and act much older than you really are. It is trying to be 18 when you are only 13.

It is always a little silly, if not downright ridiculous. Have you ever watched young children dressing up like men and women, playing the parts of husband and wife? You probably smiled at them as we all do. It is harmless. After a while they tire of it, take off the long dresses and trousers and turn to another game. In a way you are doing the same thing but it just isn't funny. You are not a young child and you are not playing. You are in earnest.

You have reached a stage in life when you have left childhood but not yet entered upon adulthood. For the next five or six years, possibly longer, you will vacillate between childhood and adulthood, perhaps more times than the despise of your parents, teachers and everyone else, including yourself. Some of this is inevitable but it can be made a little easier if you understand yourself.

May Invite Problems

It would be strange if you were not beginning to become interested in boys at your age. You are not certain just what you mean by flirting with the boys. You probably mean you go out of your way to attract their attention. This may be quite innocent on your part but boys may misunderstand. The boys with whom you are associating may misinterpret your flirtation. So you may be inviting real moral problems for yourself and the boys.

At your age you should know many boys as casual friends, companions with whom you talk and joke. You are a bit young even to date. Hold that for a few years. There will be plenty of time to date later, and you will undoubtedly have plenty of dates when the time comes. But of this I am certain — you are uncertain. That is why you smoke with the boys.

Smoking with the boys, which apparently the other girls do not, gives you — or so you think — an inside track with them. You are not playing. You are in earnest. That is why you smoke with the boys.

There are certain rules of the game in dating and courtship which you will have to learn when the time comes. You don't take unfair advantage, as you have already done. You have probably antagonized your girl friends, so start right now to win them back. You need them.

All New Friends

You need them because soon these girls will be having parties and socials to which they will invite boys but not you. We all need friends of the same sex as confidants, as companions, especially before marriage. You will lack them and with whom will you associate most of the time? If you continue as you are, you will be an outcast from the group, a lonely, dejected girl, just the type who can meet and marry the wrong boy.

You may or may not be spoiled but now you are spoiling yourself with the boys and with the girls. The girls dislike you because they feel you take advantage of them. The boys, who pretend to like you, do so because they think they can take advantage of you. Fortunately, this has just started. It is not too late to mend your ways.

At Parties And Dances

The wearin' o' the green will be featured during St. Patrick's parties and dances scheduled by Catholic groups throughout South Florida to honor the patron saint of Ireland next week. Dedication Beach — A luncheon and card party under the auspices of St. Vincent Ferrer Rosary Altar Society will be held Tuesday, March 17 at the Boca Raton Hotel.

The "Emerald Isle" festivities will begin at noon under the direction of Mrs. Robert A. Greene and Mrs. John Ronn Adams, chairman.

Little Flower Women To Hear Psychologist

HOLLYWOOD — "Psychology and Catholic Life," will be the topic of Mrs. T. D. Haugh of Port Lauderdale when she speaks to members of Little Flower Catholic Woman's Club at 10 a.m. Wednesday, March 18 in the school auditorium.

A graduate of Barry College who did two years of graduate work in psychology at the Catholic University of America, Mrs. Haugh now serves as president of the Broward County Chapter of the Barry College Alumnae Association.

Mrs. Harold L. Hill, newly installed president of the women's club will provide music for dancing at 8 p.m. in the Polish-American Club, 1300 NW 24 Ave. Johnny Masters and his band will provide music for dancing and refreshments will be served.

Members and their friends are invited to attend.

OPA-LOCKA — A St. Patrick's dance sponsored by the Parish Council of Our Lady of Perpetual Help parish will be held, Saturday, March 14 at the parish hall, 1300 NW 28th Ave. The Rhythm will provide music for dancing from 8 p.m.

Further details are available from Mrs. Joseph Halakat at 743-2651 or Mrs. Richard Puto at 743-2601.

"YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU"
by FLORENCE DEVANEY

Next Tuesday, March 17th, will be a gala day for anyone who has an Irish blood in his veins.

Naturally, you'll wear at least a touch of green, so why not serve a St. Patrick's day dinner? 'Tis indeed a fine menu we give you here.

The Irish soda bread pictured would make a delicious quick bread for many a luncheon or dinner.

Irish Soda Bread
3 cups sifted enriched flour
1% cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
Buttermilk and soda give Irish soda bread its good traditional flavor. Speaking of tradition, of course corned beef and cabbage become a part of the festivities on St. Pat's Day and refreshing indeed is the shamrock salad that goes with it.

You might like to finish the gay menu with Blairney stones, those luscious tiny cakes frosted in a good butter frosting and then rolled generously in chopped peanuts.

"Here are recipes.

First Federal Savings
AND LOAN ASSOCIATION OF MIAMI
America's Oldest Federal... Largest in the South

Building or buying? Discover why more families come to us for home loans than anywhere else

We can tell you why. But the real proof lies in making comparisons. Compare interest rates. First Federal's mortgages are written at 5 3/4%, 5 1/2% and 6%. That fact can save you thousands of dollars.

Compare your closing costs. First Federal includes all the extras for which you usually pay extra. You pay only for a survey (if required) and abstracting. Compare prepayment privileges (You can prepay all or any part of your First Federal mortgage without penalty).

Compare refinancing costs and the advantages of local, personalized service (for adjustments—promptly and without red tape). Compare these and other benefits. When you do, you'll know why more families come to America's Oldest Federal for low-cost home financing than to any other Florida institution.

En la Cripta de la Iglesia

Al amanecer de la semana anterior, el padre Eduardo Fernández, en Flagler y 13 Avenida, ofreció una serie de oraciones para que la atención toda se centrase en el P. Armando Llorente S.J.

Por otra parte, el lunes, martes, y miércoles Santos, de los días 15, 18 y 21, se ofrecerá la oración en el apóstolado, a partir de las 8:30 p.m. a cargo del P. Armando Llorente S.J.

En Vísperas de la Gran Tragedia

Por el Padre Angel Villaronga

El Domingo de Pasion es el primer anuncio grave de la Semana Santa. Es como una preparación próxima, dentro de la preparación remota que es la Cuaresma.

Los matices se perfilan.

Las imágenes de los altares se cubren, para que la atención toda se centre en la Cruz, símbolo de ignominia antes, y realidad de salvación ahora.

Los textos sagrados son una invitación a la oración, al dolor de los pecados y a la penitencia.

Cristo aparece a lo largo de esta semana, acorralado por sus enemigos, más asediado que nunca, más crítico, más en afilada oposición con los líderes de su pueblo, presagiando todo ello un desenlace sangriento.

La Iglesia invita a todos los hombres con este llamamiento de la Liturgia, para que sigan de cerca los pasos del Hijo de Dios en estos últimos días de su vida terrenal.

Porque es estimulante y alertador para el hombre de hoy, el recuento silencioso de las horas más amargas y tenébrosas que vivió la humanidad.

Es la historia del más grande de los amantes que hayan existido. La historia de la par hecha palabra. Del per- dón saliendo al encuentro. De la comprensión hecha bendición. La historia del sacrificio que no tiene límites. La historia del amor que agoniza en una cruz a la hora en que "tierra y cielo se quejaban —el sol triste se escon- día— la mar sahiosa bramando —sus ondas turbias revolviéndose".

La historia de un amor que en día to Fernández Villar, así como el todavía seminario de Florida, ha ofrecido una serie de meditaciones de cua- reisma para matrimonios, a las 8 p.m.

Retiros Espirituales en la Iglesia de Gesu

La Cripa de la Iglesia de Gesu se ofrecerá a todos los días 16, 17 y 18 lunes, martes, y miércoles, de 7 a 8:20 p.m., ofrecida por el padre Eduardo Fernández.

El jueves al sábado, los días 15, 20 y 21, se ofrecerá la oración en el apóstolado, a partir de las 8:30 p.m. a cargo del P. Armando Llorente S.J.

Recomiendan Película

NUEVA YORK (NY) — La Legación de la Deocescía recomienda para adultos la película "Hecket" sobre la vida de la Santa Teresa de Avila, que tomó el nombre de San Juan de Dios, con un índígena en el rol del padre de la religiosa. La película es una reflexión sobre la lucha de la religiosa por la libertad y la integridad del santo, pero advierte que más que su espiritualidad, la película expresa sus virtudes naturales.

San Pablo, Patrono de los Cursillos, Exalta el Papa a ese Movimiento

APROXIMA

El breve pontificado considera que "este método de enseñanza cristiana, que se estende ya a gran número de fidles, ha pro- ducido abundantes frutos: renovación cristia- na de la vida familiar de conformidad con la ley divina; generalización de las parroquias, y fiel observancia de los deberes, tanto privados como públicos, según el dictamen de la conciencia".

El anuncio del breve apareció en la revista "Yo" de la Congregación de las Cursillos en la Acción Católica.

Oración por las Vocaciones

Oh Dios, que no quieres la muerte del pecador, sino que se convierta y viva, Te roamos, por la intercesión de la Santísima Virgen María y de todos los santos, que nos concedas el aumento de opera- ciones de Tú Iglesia; operarios con Cristo, que se em- pleen y consuman en favor de las almas. Te lo pro- dimos por Cristo, Tu Hijo, que Confío vive y reina en unidad del Espíritu Santo por los siglos de los siglos. Amen.

INDIA: REUNION IN MALABAR
NADEIVI is a village in Malabar in southern India. Recently a new mission parish was begun there in service to some 35 families, some 150 persons. They had formerly been members of the Jacobite Church which from the sixteenth century has been separate from the Indian Church and which now is being reunited under the Bishop of Malabar. Here in this village, the Bishop has gone ahead, holding services, administering the sacraments, holding catechism classes for the children. He asked us to help him. A modest yet solid chapel to withstand the rough winds from the Indian Ocean will cost $2000. . . . Maybe someone one would like to make a MEMORIAL CHAPEL there—a trib- utie to some loved one . . . . Your donation of $1 or $5 or $10 or $100 or $1000 or more will make this a reality. Here is an opportunity to strengthen the Church there and make more real the spirit of union so sought by Pope Paul VI and the Ecumenical Council.

SEEING THE WHOLE BOARD
A checker expert explained it to us. A person like himself defeats an amateur player because the latter only sees a few moves ahead. The expert, studying the whole board, sees many as many moves ahead. He sets up traps for his amateur oppo- nent, which soon become obvious. Here in the checker image, we try to show the whole mission board. We tell many little bits of information about the widespread field of 38 countries in the Near and Middle East where our work is done. For instance, the problem of vocations:
1. You can educate a poor seminarian like JEAN KARCH, for $2 a week for six years—$120. Then another priest is ready to devote himself to Christ. Who will be his priest? If you take him, we'll send a lovely EASTER GIFT CARD mentioning your thoughtfulness.
2. Similarly you can train a Sister-to-be like SR MART LEONSY, for $2 a week for two years. You can pay in installments. She will always be your missionary du- ty.

FOR THOSE who send a FOOD PACKAGE (Cost: $10) to a PALESTINE REFUGEE FAMILY, we'll send an Olive Seed Packet. Of course the box will not go to a family,—it is the mission gift box at home but is deposited her allowance in her mission gift box at home but is

LITL SISTERS
BY BILL O'MALLEY

"AND TO THINK SISTERS — YOU TAUGHT ME TO WRITE!"

SHARING OUR TREASURE

When She Found A Reality
She Turned To Catholicism

BY FATHER JOHN A. O'BRIEN

The ecclesiastical movement seeks to achieve the unity of all Christians through the merging of all Christian Churches. That is a noble goal but it can be reached only through the return of all Christian denominations to the Catholic Church, the Mother Church of Christendom. FR. O'BRIEN

There is no prospect of the separated Churches doing this in our lifetime, perhaps not for centuries. Hence the most effective way in which every Catholic can help the cause of Christian unity is to win converts.

One of the best ways of doing this is to kindle the interest of non-Catholics in the faith. Once a truth seeker begins a serious study of the Catholic religion, he is well along the way that leads to the Church's open door. Christ has stamped His mark so indelibly and unmistakably upon His Church that few sincere searchers can fail to recognize the Church which He founded as the true Church.

This is illustrated in the conversion of Mrs. Gladys H. Pur- terror of Norfolk, Va. "My fam- ily lived in Washington, D.C.," she related, "and I was reared in the Methodist Episcopal Church, but attended many other Churches as well. My inter- est in the Catholic religion was kindled when I found a rosary and asked a Catholic friend, Matilda Sessy, how to say it. This entailed learning the Hail Mary and gave me an insight into the reverence and devotion of Catholics for the mother of Jesus.

"My interest was further deepened by finding "The Faith of Our Fathers" in my parents' library. Upon it was stamped "Providerhce Hospital" where my mother had once been a patient. The reading helped me to drive home to me several important truths: which changed my whole outlook on religion and led my embracing the faith. One of the truths was Christ's insist- ence upon unity of belief among all His followers.

"There shall be one fold, said Jesus, 'and one shepherd' (John 10:16). Shortly before His crucifixion Christ prayed for un- ity: 'Yet not for these only do I pray, but for all those who through their word are to believe in me, that all may be one, even as Thou, before the Father, art in me, and I in Thee' (John 17:21-22)."

Only then the mass of which Christ's Church is to be recognized. But such unity is only possible in the Catholic Church.

"The other important truth was forgiveness to the Church by Christ by which Christ's Church is to be committed to the mission regu- lation regarding the deed, but commit the mortal sin in thought and deed, but commit the mortal sin in thought and deed.

A. You love God less if you deliberately offend Him twice, just because you have done it once.

There may be elements of scandal which make the ex- tremal sin worse. It is a worse sin because it is more voluntary and deliberate.

We should not admit too quickly that someone who has com- mitted deliberate mortal sin in thought; we may still be daily- ing with the chance of a weak, uncertain way.

Tru religious conviction than to take us beyond the stage of mere personal preference and make us commit it over our own skin and how much it will be sinned. There isn't much love in that particular concern.

Q. A prominent Catholic the- ologian stated that a citizen's negligent failure to vote would be a grievous sin if there were grave issues confronting the na- tion and there was a need for higher, quality political... . How can a citizen... . national, international, grave issues confronting the na-...

Special Mass For Disabled
NORTH PALM BEACH — A special Mass for handicapped persons and shut-in unable to assist at Mass outside their houses will be offered March 22, at Our Lady of Florida Monastery and Retreat Home, 800 S. 1.

Father Cyril Schweinberg, C.P., retreat director, will offer the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass in the retreat home chapel and transportation will be provided by Knights of Columbus councils from the Boynton Beach, Riviera Beach, Lake Worth and Palm Beach areas.

Confessions will be heard before and during Mass.

Sidney C. Sterchele, of the West Palm Beach Knights of C.C.D., is in charge of transportation arrangements.

Pope John Medal
Delivered By U.S.

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — The Presidential Medal of Freedom awarded posthumously to Pope John XXIII by President John F. Kennedy will be delivered here by U.S. Ambassador Frederic Reinhart to Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, Papal Secretary of State.

The White House ceremony awarding the medal to the late Pope took place on Dec. 6. The medal, presented to the Pope “brought to all citizens of the planet a heightened sense of the dignity of the individual, of the brotherhood of man, and of the common duty to build an environment of peace for all mankind.”

Sister Reparata
Dies In Detroit

ADRIAN, Mich. — Solene Reppin Mass was offered in the chapel of the Dominican Motherhouse here for Sister Reparata, O.P., who died in Detroit in the 47th year of her profession.

Sister Reparata, who formerly served as superior at Roseman Academy and St. Ann School, West Palm Beach, entered the religious life from Immaculate Conception parish, Toledo.

She is survived by her sister, Sister Rose Clement, also an Adrian Dominican Sister.

VIII reasons why Van Orsdel’s is Miami’s most recommended funeral service

I  Convenient Locations — four chapels strategically located for family and friends.

II  More experienced — Van Orsdel’s conducts more adult funerals than anyone in Dade County, and passes savings developed on to the families we serve.

III  Finest facilities — Van Orsdel’s beautiful chapels provide everything possible for comfort and reverent dignity. All chapels equipped with pews and kneeling rails.

IV  Finest service — no compromise with quality. Our best service always — to anyone, regardless of the amount spent — and we guarantee our service.

V  Personal attention — our staff trained to personally handle every problem, no matter how difficult, every detail, no matter how small.

VI  Freedom of choice — every family may select a service price within their means — no one has to plead charity, to purchase any of our funerals — no questions are asked — and we use no selling pressure.

VII  Complete funerals, quality for quality, cost less at Van Orsdel’s — and have for over 20 years.

VIII  We offer all families a choice of over 60 different caskets, with the finest of funeral service and facilities ... complete in every detail, from $145 - $215 - $279.
