March Is Vocation Month; Bishop Calls For Prayers

To the Priests, Religious and Laity of the Diocese:

Traditionally March is Vocation Month in the United States. Although in the Diocese of Miami a varied program to foster vocations is in effect the year round, we place special emphasis in March on the necessity of prayer and sacrifices that God may come to our aid in the still critical need of priests and religious.

It is true that God has blessed us with anincrease in numbers of seminarians, but we are indeed most grateful to be called to participate in the extraordinary Jubilee Year observance in the Diocese of Miami when they participate in a Concelebrated Mass on Sunday, March 6 in the Cathedral of St. Mary.

Mgr. Michael J. Fogarty, V.F., pastor, St. Coleman parish, Pompano Beach, will be the principal concelebrant of the Mass at 4 p.m. in the first church of the Diocese.

Those participating will include parishes of St. Ambrus Church, Deerfield Beach; St. Elizabeth Church, St. Coleman Church and Assumption Church, Pompano Beach; St. Vincent Church, Margate; Blessed Sacrament Church, St. Clement Church and St. Pius X Church, Fort Lauderdale; Blessed Trinity Church, Miami Springs and St. Dominic Church, Miami.

Hundreds of men, women and children from those parishes will meet in the Cathedral school patio at 3:10 p.m. prior to a procession which will proceed the Mass at 3:30 p.m.

Father Joseph Brunner, assistant pastor, the Cathedral, will explain the Jubilee Year and indulgences to be granted to the pilgrims who will make a profession of faith.

The homily during the Mass of Concelebration will be preached by Father Robert Reardon, pastor, Blessed Sacrament parish.

Pilgrims will hear confessions beginning at 2 p.m. before the Mass of Concelebration.

The extraordinary Jubilee Year declared for the entire Church by Pope Paul VI to mark the conclusion of Vatican Council II is unlike jubilees of the past inasmuch as the events of the Jubilee year are centering around the bishops of the Diocese of Miami.

The faithful in 10 parishes of Dade and Broward Counties will be the first pilgrims to participate in the extraordinary Jubilee Year observance in the Diocese of Miami when they participate in a Concelebrated Mass on Sunday, March 6 in the Cathedral of St. Mary.

In addition to catechism classes conducted twice weekly by the Spanish-born priest, Dominican Sisters of Coba, and volunteer lady, the mission provides a program of education and recreation for children of the migrant families who come to South Florida every winter to work in the tomato fields, orange groves and flower gardens.

SEWING CLASSES

About 60 young girls and women are already enrolled in sewing classes and take instructions in other subjects pertinent to home-making from volunteers who staff the vocational school conducted at the mission.

According to Father Vilacoba, the next phase of the program directed by the Diocese of Miami is the establishment of 350 Spanish-speaking Apostolate will be the inauguration of classes in auto mechanics and other subjects for men. A local mechanic, Luis Garcia, has already volunteered his services and the mission is seeking donations of tools and other equipment necessary to teach the classes.

Some 4,000 migrant workers, most of whom are from Texas and of Spanish or Puerto Rican origin live annually in the Fort Myers area and work an average of from 10 to 12 hours a day. They live in bunk housing which rent for from $12 to $15 per week.

Although an estimated 95 percent of the migrant families are baptized Catholics, few have been instructed in their religion. Like other Spanish-speaking...

SECRETARY FOR THE LAITY

ROME (NCI) — The postconciliar commission for the lay apostolate has met in Rome for the first time. The principal problem tackled at the four-day meeting was how best to create a secretariat for the lay apostolate.

Section 26 of the Second Vaticano Council's decree on the Apostolate of the Laity states that “a special secretariat should be established at the Holy See for the service and promotion of the lay apostolate. It can serve as a well-equipped center for communicating information about various apostolic programs of the laity, promoting research into modern problems arising in this field and assisting the hierarchy and laity in their apostolic works with its advice.

LAITY REPRESENTATION

“The various movements and projects of the apostolate of the laity throughout the world should also be represented in the council and by the Holy See to call together a study commission on the creation of such a secretariat. Now this group, which meets in Rome the week of May 9, comes under the wing of the lay apostolate commission.”

James Norris, an American and one of the commission's lay consultants, had already arranged with the Holy See to call together a study commission on the creation of such a secretariat. Now this group, which meets in Rome the week of May 9, comes under the wing of the lay apostolate commission.

Norris was a lay auditor at the council and in assistant director of Catholic Relief Services — National Catholic Welfare Conference.

LAITY REPRESENTATION

VATICAN CITY (NCI) — Pope Paul VI blessed more than 70 vehicles sent to St. Peter’s Square. They are to be sent to India as part of the Pope’s campaign to give it famine relief.

Massed around the enormous Egyptian obelisk in the center of the square were 40 Fiat trucks and trailers from Italy, 50 Citroen trucks from France and two trailer trucks made by the German firm of Mercedes-Benz, representing 28 such vehicles already acquired in Calcutta, India.

The Pope left his apartment and went down to the square Sunday morning to bless the vehicles and chat with their drivers.

The vehicles are to be sent to India to assist in the distribution of grain and other foodstuffs and medical supplies in connection with the widespread and inter-Christain emergency famine aid program for India.

Present in the square was Msgr. Jean Rodhain of France, president, and Msgr. Charles Bove of Germany, secretary general, of Caritas Internationalis, international Catholic charities organization which is charged with coordinating and carrying out the Catholic aid program. As of Feb. 25, L’Osservatore Romano, Vatican City daily, said its collection for pop-aid to India totaled for Italy alone almost $2 million.

TALKS WITH DRIVERS

The Pope stopped briefly at each truck and talked with the drivers. He also met with repre- sentatives of the auto manufacturers who had supplied the vehicles.

In a brief impromptu speech at the blessing, the Pope cited the cooperation of the U.S. Cath- olic overseas aid agency, Cath- olic Relief Services-National Catholic Welfare Conference and Protestant organization in bringing relief to India. Among those who stood nearby as he spoke were James J. Norris, executive assistant to the direc- tor of CRS-NCWC and Msgr.

PEACE NEEDED TO OVERTAKE FAMINE, POPE TELLS ENVOY

VATICAN CITY (NCI) — Pope Paul VI receiving the credentials of Pakistan’s new envoy to the Holy See, emphasized that famine can be neither alleviated nor forestalled without peace.

The Pope has launched a campaign for funds against famine in the world, especially in the Indian subcontinent, where the long-standing antagonism between India and Pakistan flared again after the long-standing antagonism between India and Pakistan flared into open warfare in September. The two nations agreed to test their differences only in January.

The Pope, speaking in Eng- lish, told the new envoy, Jamaal Abdul Khalik: “Our thoughts turn often to the great country which you rep- resent, especially in these days when the distress and suf- fering caused by famine attract the sincere sympathy of our pa- ternal heart. We have contrib- uted as far as we are able to alleviate the pangs of hun- ger, and we pray that the Al- mightly may mercifully grant the means of saving many lives and averting great suffering.

The relief of the starving, and the accumulation of funds for the future, require that tran- quility of order which is peace. Our fervent petition to the Cre- ator and the Sovereign Lord of heaven and earth is that peace may be established and main- tained in justice and love among all nations so that the resources otherwise wasted in death and destruction may be dedicated to the relief of the poor and assist- ance to the hungry.”

Pope’s Weekly Schedule Is Announced

Pope Paul VI has announced his Holy Week schedule.

On April 3, Palm Sunday, he will attend a rally with Catho- lic youth in St. Peter’s Square. On Holy Thursday April 7, he will be at a special assembly in his cathedral, the Basilica of St. John Lateran, for an inter- national group of intellectuals and for the celebration of the commemoration of the last Sup- per.

Good Friday he will address the Synod of Bishops in the Lateran basilica and later in the evening continue his past practice of participat- ing in the Good Friday service at the Pale of St. Peter’s. He will then give his annual Easter blessing to the city and the world.

Two other events have been announced by the Vatican press office. On May 28, Pentecost, Pope Paul will meet with the clergy of Rome to close the jubilee period following the end of the ecumenical council and on June 9, the feast of Corpus Christi, he will take part in a procession in another outlying parish church of Rome, St. Cle- ment on Monteacuro.
VATICAN CITY (AP) - In the presence of thousands in St. Peter's basilica, Pope Paul VI bowed his head as a cardinal traced the Sign of the Cross in ashes on his head in the traditional Ash Wednesday rite, repeating the familiar words: "Remember man that thou art dust and unto dust shalt return.

The pope explained to those present, he had chosen the unusual course of publicly participating in the rite — in the past this ceremony has usually taken place in the privacy of the Pope's chapel — because it is an "austere and impressive penitential ceremony" and because it recalls everyone to spiritual considerations.

Pope Paul declared that the rite of Ash Wednesday "startles modern man from two points of view, that of his immense capacity for delusion, for auto-deception concerning the reality of life and of his values. It calls out to us that we are mortal and that we must make a satisfying explanation of this our fate which, understood and thought upon, obliges us to give our highest interest to values which, escape the condemnation of ashes, spiritual values, moral values.

And so it is that the Church imposes on us this lesson, not only because it is true but even more so because it is necessary."

In contrast, the pope said, the traditional rite of the imposition of ashes recalls the lesson of Christian asceticism and ashes become the "instrument of penitence, that is of conversion, of change and of a new renewal of vigor and joy.

Pope Paul received ashes from Cardinal Marella in St. Peter's Basilica.

Science Will Pull People Back To God, Pope Says

ROME (NC) - Pope Paul VI, continuing his round of visits to places of work, told workers at a pharmaceutical plant that the same science which seems to pull people away from God will one day lead them back to Him.

At the plant itself, which is run by the ICAR pharmaceutical firm, the Pope was greeted by posters proclaiming: "The ICAR Family Greets the Pope of Peace and Charity" and "The Hour of Reconciliation Has Come. Welcome to Our Bishop."

The pope noted that while the forms of penitence change, the "human need (for it) does not change, nor does the law of God."

...and so it is that the Church imposes on us this lesson, not only because it is true but even more so because it is necessary."

TOO GOOD TO LAST?

Nopre. Florida's always been this good. Stick around, Mr. Visitor, and take a closer look. Florida's an even greater place to live year-round.

Last year, more than 150,000 visitors, here for vacations, visits with relatives, even business trips, discovered that life in Florida is a year-round vacation, with plenty of living room, a comfortable tax climate and a wealth of business opportunities, from professional to industrial to part-time retirement work. There's something here. For good.

If you really must leave—have a pleasant trip. We'll keep the sand warm while you've gone. Hurry back!
The Role Of Government In American Economic Life

By Mag. GEORGE G. HIGGINS

The Wall Street Journal recently charged, in a major statement of its political philosophy, that the American economic system is overly complex and has become "an archaic edifice of man-made laws," and that the government should play a more active role in directing the economy. The Wall Street Journal's proposal has caused some controversy among economists and political leaders, and has led to a debate about the appropriate role of government in the economy.

Under the proposal, the federal government would impose a tax of $300 on every individual who earned more than $100,000 per year. This would be offset by a negative tax — i.e., a tax rebate — that would be given to individuals with incomes below $100,000. The Wall Street Journal argues that this would simplify the tax system and reduce the burden on low-income individuals.

However, economists have generally opposed this proposal, arguing that it would be difficult to implement and would have negative economic effects. For example, it could lead to a reduction in investment and economic growth. Additionally, critics have pointed out that the proposal would not address the underlying causes of income inequality, such as differences in labor market opportunities and education levels.

Nevertheless, the Wall Street Journal's proposal has sparked a lively debate about the role of government in the economy and has raised important questions about the need for tax reform and economic policy changes. As the debate continues, it will be important to consider the potential benefits and drawbacks of proposals like the Wall Street Journal's and to develop policies that promote economic stability and growth.

Education Important To All

The Governor's Conference on Education held in Tampa this past week was called in order to develop a 16-year program for Florida education. The board of the program included "education from nursery school through college as well as continuing and adult education both in private and public schools as a single question." Education is now one of the most important contributions to education of the nation's needs. However, it can be said that the aim of the conference to seek out quality of education and to provide the best opportunities for people in the private and public institutions must merit the commendation and cooperation of all citizens.

The Governor's Conference was lead by the Rt. Rev. Coleman F. Carroll, Bishop of Miami, President of the conference. He is a member of the steering committee which indicates that the role of the private school is being recognized as an important factor in the all-round educational picture in the State. Needless to say, if this is the case in 1966, it should be all the more true in 1970 — the goal of the current development plan.

As Catholics, we should all be deeply interested in the long-range program — not merely in the relatively narrow sense of concern for the recognition and quality of private schools, but in the larger context present in the educational welfare of all the State from the lowest grades through the university classes.

At any rate, we should all be deeply concerned. This is our problem, the problem of every Catholic in the diocese. Therefore, the only realization of the critical need will make enough Catholics accept their responsibility to pray fervently and to sacrifice constantly in order to foster vocations.

Church Doesn't Fully Convey Wonder Of Divine Things

By FATHER JOHN P. SHEERIN

"The trouble with the Church is that she is not God made small," the Rev. Ernest Southco, a Bishop, Anglican, is quoted as saying in a Dec. 22 feature, "The Trouble With the Church," by a London, England, newspaper. Southco, who is the archbishop of the Church of England, contended that the Church has taught a concept of God that is altogether too small in comparison with the immensity of the immanence and transcendence of God.

Bishop Robinson, Anglican author of "Honest to God," inveighs against the Sunday school idea of God as a venerable old man sitting on a cloud. Instead, this Anglican author would have us think of Him as an all-pervading divinity within us, as the mind of our daily work, at the very center of modern life. The traditional God is too small for the space age.

Yet, is it not the aim of the Catholic Church to make God small? The omnipotent, everlasting God deliberately chose to make small when He was seen in the manger on the first Christmas. As Bello writes, "It was so small you could not see it.

Like Christ Himself, the Church is trying to convey to us our littleness. Christ spoke to the people of His time not in the majestic language of philosophical or theological abstraction but in simple, understandable stories, in the parables that the unlearned farmers and fishermen of His time could comprehend. What a waste of time it would have been for Him to tell His listeners His message in the terminology of theology!

A matter of fact, even theological formulations of doctrine are inadequate to convey the full significance of the truths God has revealed. We might almost say that even St. John was talking "baby talk" when we think of the immense gap between His words and the depth of the divine mystery He was trying to communicate. And every reasonably informed Christian knows that the teaching of the Church does not fully convey the majesty, the glory, the wonder of divine things.
BISHOP McGRATH ANALYZES ONE OF GREAT DOCUMENTS OF THE COUNCIL

Church’s Attitude Toward World Today

By Msgr. JAMES J. WALSH

Q. What was the primary objective of the Council in the Modern World?
A. The primary objective was to describe in general the attitude of the Church toward the world of today which is so different from the world of the past. In many respects there has seemed to be a separation between the Church and so many areas of our interest... not only separation, but often conflict and hostility. This is a lack of communication, for instance, between men of science and theologians who speak different languages. Lack of communication, for instance, is the effort of the Church through this constitution to establish the Church’s position not only of religion to society today but of society today to religion. It works both ways.

Background
Q. What is the background of the schema — how did it manage to get on the Council’s agenda?
A. It was immediately the result of those speeches on the Council floor at the first session in 1962, speeches given by Cardinal Suenens particularly, by Cardinal Lercaro and by the then Cardinal Montini.

Cardinal Suenens asked that the Council concentrate upon two aspects: the Church with regard to itself and the Church with regard to the world. Then, at Pope John’s order, elements were reduced from seventy to thirteen. The first was The Church and the Modern World. The Church in the modern world — the Church and the modern world today — the Church and the modern world in the past. Then, there was the document.

It was put together according to the general orientation given by the Commission for Constitution during 1966. It was not ripe enough for the Conciliar plenary; then it was re-done according to the indications of the mixed commission, particularly charged with the schema on the Church and the Modern World. The document was sent into discussion on the Council floor in 1966, was re-done again and debated again. It is the only document which was subject to the discussions on the Council floor.

Q. Why was this?
A. It was due to the very novelty of the document in its aim (no council had ever tried this before), its method and style. There was great difficulty in finding that aim, that style. This is what we are speaking about, what, and to what purpose.

Time Of Change
Q. In Schema 13 everyone

(least Rev, Mark McGrath, D.D., Bishop of Veraguas, Panama, was a member of the Theological Commission of the Second Vatican Council which was responsible for the drafting of the Constitutions on the Church and worked on other key documents of the Council. Bishop McGrath was also a member of the Joint Commission for the Church in the Modern World. In these responsible positions, he was deeply involved in the inner working of the Second Vatican Council the past four years. He granted the following interview to Msgr. James J. Walsh just after the Council ended.)

seemed to feel getting too specific. That is a condition changing rapidly and understanding of certain problems is becoming clearer. Do you feel that most of the final documents would be outdated in the future?
A. Yes, really this document is basically the beginning of a new dialogue. This means that the Church is facing up to a new age, and therefore it recognizes the need for a new attitude, a new approach.

There are some elements of this constitution which are very long lasting and permanent, particularly Part One which is the first attempt at a synthetic presentation of the basis of the Church’s social teaching, the vocation of man in the world, the role of the Church in society, etc. Even in the second part there are some elements, particularly in the chapter on marriage, doctrinal elements which will guide our thinking for a long time. But there is much of this constitution which is in a certain sense the result of the effort on the part of those who wrote the constitution to avoid what would be too passing, too particular to some areas or too new to be adequately considered.

Q. What are some of the enduring features of the Church in the Modern World?
A. Fundamentally, the new approach. It’s new as far as a council is concerned. It is found in the writings of Leo XIII and in many movements in the Church, but it has now been concisely set forth. In this approach there is very frank admission of the various forms of the Church in the modern world, scientific, technological, economic, social etc. This differs from the attitude of the Church during the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries because those forms were too hostile to the Church on many occasions.

Secondly, in this different approach there is an attempt to understand the problems in themselves as well as possible and to present them under the aspect of the various human issues they raise, so that these human values can be integrated with the word of God, and thus be elevated to their higher dimension. I think these approaches and methods are going to last a long while and are going to set the pattern of our dialogue with the world for the future.

Also, there are doctrinal elements in the first part of the constitution which bring together or comment upon the thinking of the Church in the last seventy years along this line. And in the second part, there are issues they raise, so that these human values can be integrated with the word of God, and thus be elevated to their higher dimension. I think these approaches and methods are going to last a long time.

Q. Can you give an example of this?
A. For instance, in the last chapter on war and peace there is strong emphasis upon the fact that peace is a dynamic order; it is not simply the lack of sense of war. It is the harmonious relationship between the different nations of the whole world, the nations, with the aim of creating a world community, which must be strived for at great effort, and the economic-social foundations of peace demanding international cooperation and tending to remove some forms of international government. These things are very strongly expressed and a d convenient place for them to be stated.

Q. In the section on marriage and the "internal moral order" which marks a departure from past teaching?
A. Yes, there is, in very much so. I think this is a methodological approach which is quite different from the past. There is an attempt to look at the problem of marriage as it exists in the world today. It is not the old doctrinal, moral aspects of the territory of the Church, it leads to a consideration of the concept of love in the world today. This is to be taken literally in the context of Hollywood movies, or U.S. magazines, and so forth. It is the love which is possible in the modern world, and this, of course, leads to a consideration of the sexual revolution, the issues they raise, so that these human values can be integrated with the word of God, and thus be elevated to their higher dimension. I think these approaches and methods are going to last a long while and are going to set the pattern of our dialogue with the world for the future.

The dominating problem, then, is the concept of relationship between man and woman in marriage. The personal element involved in marriage can be brought out far more clearly than the past when matrimony was viewed largely as an institution for social benefit or necessity. The highlighting of love between husband and wife brings out the personal element, the personal union towards perfection in love, as we know it today and the various forms in the Christian Family Movement today.

The other hand, if there is a false notion of what this love is and of the responsibility which involves it then it does vitiate not only the love but also the family.

Marriage Purposes
Q. Does this mean a change in the traditional list of the purposes of marriage?
A. In beginning the chapter on marriage with this problem, some may interpret it as if the order of ends in marriage has been reversed — as if we are speaking of marriage as being primarily a means by which two human beings of the opposite sex come together to give themselves as if the order of ends in marriage has been reversed — as if we are speaking of marriage as being primarily a means by which two human beings of the opposite sex come together to give themselves as if the order of ends in marriage has been reversed — as if we are speaking of marriage as being primarily a means by which two human beings of the opposite sex come together to give themselves as if the order of ends in marriage has been reversed — as if we are speaking of marriage as being primarily a means by which two human beings of the opposite sex come together to give themselves...
GOD LOVE YOU

Most Reverend Fulton J. Sheen

Often, people meet say, "I love your column," but then never send anything for the poor of the world. What would we think of the woman at the well if she had told Our Lord that she loved the way He said, "I am thirsty," but had offered Him nothing to drink? What this column could not be very much loved if it does not grow! It is so much better to say, "I really do not like your column, but I love the poor for whom you plead so here is $10." Remember, therefore, those for whom this column began under whose orders, namely the Holy Father.

Remember "Remember" is such a beautiful word. Our Lady used it in the Magnificat, Zachariah used it in his Benedictus, Our Lord used it when He cleansed the Temple, when He desired Benson to anoint the body of his son, when He asked Mary to ask Joseph to bring the manger of our Lord to Bethlehem. Jesus wanted His mother to imitate Lot's wife who loved the bridge clubs of Sodom more than the message and warning of an angel. Our Lord asked us that He be the bridegroom of your soul. He always asked that we remember His death on the Cross by making the past present in the Hour, by uprooting that Cross on Calvary and planting it in New York, Tokyo, Saigon and everywhere in the world.

Remember that Our Lord said that He would send the Holy Spirit to recall to our minds all His teachings. May He send His Spirit into the souls of all who read this, that you may remember 1) The Holy Father alone is responsible for all the Missions of the world. 2) His agency for collecting the money needed to support all the Missions of the world is The Society for the Propagation of the Faith. 3) There are thousands of others who collect for their group or mission but not for all missions and all societies. 4) Not a single penny of your alms sent to the Holy Father through his agency for the Propagation of the Faith is ever invested in stocks or bonds or buildings in the United States. Every cent goes to the world. 5) Like your gifts, the money received for the missions is spent for the missions. 6) Every cent goes to the world's poor. 7) His agency for collecting the money needed to support the missions has no losses, no expenses. 8) Not a single penny of your alms sent to the Holy Father with the mention of "women's auxiliaries" is distributed by the Holy Father. 9) His agency for collecting the money needed to support the missions has no losses, no expenses. 10) His agency for collecting the money needed to support the missions has no losses, no expenses.

Now we are well aware that the mention of "women's auxiliaries" is liable to confuse up your mind a group like a quilting bee, or an afternoon tea party whose main activity is gossip-swapping... or a gathering of women merely bent on exhibiting their newest acquisitions in hats, or gloves, or caps. As "De Rubeus" would say, "an anachronist!" And we strongly echo, "quite the contrary!

Space in such a weekly column as this does not permit us to treat with the myriad donations of their precious time and unless they are channeled to support the causes they have espoused through their own "funds of love." Truly such chronicles would fill volumes. Yet we do have space and time to introduce to you those lines of energy and well-directed charity called our auxiliaries... but not enough to catalog in even in cameo form some of the major times of their feeks of human kindness. This will have to wait for a future issue.

Yet it may and must be said that all organizations are comprised not of people who find time hanging heavily on their hands, but who wish only for morass of verbo "news"... or the few chronicles that transmit the transitory glare of a doubtful piece of publicity.

Mostly, they are homemakers whose families naturally make them feel uneducated and uncaring demands on their time.

MULTIPLE DUTIES

That they are able to carry water on both shoulders so efficiently and still survive is a cause of admiration. Theirs is a balanced sense of humor, good will and determined purpose, is one of the mysteries of our day. They are able and willing to do as is your fortune and yours... and in a certain reflection of the sound and spiritual growth and development of these havens of God's mercy.

There are those of us who have neither the time, inclination or energy for such extra-curricular activity. So let's do our respective parts to those who somehow are endowed with all three.

Each of our charitable institutions is nobly aided and abetted by auxiliaries composed of men and women whose services and devotion they would be a serious and regrettable void. To mention a few, there's the St. Joseph Auxiliary of the Catholic Home for Children; the Auxiliary of St. Vincent; the newly-formed "Friends of Bethany," among others.

It is our pleasure and privilege to pay tribute today to one of these groups whose benefactions are often unknown and unconfessed: the Auxiliary of your Catholic Welfare Bureau.

For many years, this group provides a corps of trained persons who assist the staff of the Catholic Welfare Bureau of Miami to carry out its diverse scope of which is too vast to itemize here. We salute them.

To salute them all! Further, we solicit your interest and cooperation to what auxiliary of yours or another you think will and will inspire you to participate in any kind of your choosing but highly rewarding pursuits.

DEEDICATION CEREMONY AT CURLEY HIGH

New Chapel, Faculty House

Priests, religious and laity joined hundreds of Archbishop Curley High School students in attending dedication of a private chapel and faculty residence for the Brothers of the Holy Cross there last Monday.

The building and chapel were blessed by Msgr. Patrick J. O'Donoghue, V. G., pastor of St. Mary Magdalen parish, Miami Beach.

Msgr. O'Donoghue celebrated a Mass in the chapel at which several priests and members of the faculty assisted. The private chapel seats 50 persons.

He noted that the school was built largely through the "sacrifices" of parishioners in North Dade County.

Msgr. O'Donoghue said "we are very proud and happy to have the Brothers of the Holy Cross" on the faculty of Curley High.

Present for the dedication rites were: Brother Kevin Decheney, C. S. C., present principal; and Brother John Baptist, C. S. C., provincial of the Southwestern Province.

The main talk at the ceremonies was delivered by Brother John who came to Miami from Austin, Texas, where the provincial house is located.

The new two-story faculty residence will accommodate 25 Brothers. There are 15 Brothers on the faculty at the present time.

Included in the faculty residence are a recreation room, library, TV room, dining room, three guest parlors and 25 private rooms.

Brother John told his audience that the dedication "makes us realize that Archbishop Curley High School has a distinctive job to do not only for the Church but also for the country; not only in Miami but in the context of the whole world."

"For Archbishop Curley High School," Brother John said, "embodies an idea, an ideal." Brother John explained that that "ideal" is based on the Declaration of Christian Education promulgated by the Vatican Council.

Brother John then quoted a statement in the Declaration which stated that "Catholic education must be unselfish service to the world community."

The Declaration was further quoted by Brother John as saying that "Catholic schools cannot be narrowly sectarian, cannot be bastions and fortresses of protection against the outside world, much less ghettos fostering the growth of pupils as so many hot-house-plants, sheltered and protected from secular society."

FORT LAUDERDALE — The three St. Vincent de Paul Society Salvage Stores in Broward County are making an appeal for used furniture and clothing for needy families.

Thomas A. Corcoran, president of the particular council of Fort Lauderdale, said the stores stocks "are low due to the heavy influx of visitors" to the area.

The three stores, their locations and telephone numbers are as follows:

Fort Lauderdale, 813 West Broward Blvd., 224-4741; West Hollywood, 1098 SW 56th Avenue, 933-9546; and Ferngrove Beach, 2333 North Dixie Highway, 942-3412.

Items needed by the stores include furniture, household articles, bedding, clothing, shoes, tools, bicycles, toys and other articles that may be of use to a family or individual.

It was pointed out that merchandise not destined to needy families is sold at a very nominal price to the public. All proceeds are then used by the Society.

Members of the Fort Lauderdale particular council have donated a number of religious articles to the Catholic boys at the Florida School for Boys in Okeechobee.

The articles included: 50 text-books Bibles, 60 Father Steadman medals; 120 Rosaries and 40 Rosary cases.

The religious articles were taken to the school by Father Joseph M. McGinnigle, administrator of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs parish, and Charles Miller, a member of the parish St. Vincent de Paul Conference.

The articles will be distributed to the boys at the school by Father Michael J. Hanlon.

In addition to the religious articles, a quantity of books and clothing and books were given to the school by the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Broward HNS Groups Meet

FORT LAUDERDALE — A meeting of all parish officers of Holy Name Societies in the Broward Deanery was held last Tuesday, in St. Anthony parish hall.

Edward Atkins, chairman of the Diocesan-wide Holy Name Society membership drive, was the main speaker at the meeting.

The drive is to get under way on Monday, March 13, and continue through Sunday, April 17.

Goal is 11,000 members. A similar drive last year brought the total enrollment of Holy Name men in the diocese to 10,000.

In addition to parish officers, all membership drive chairmen in each parish were invited to attend the Tuesday session.

Dom Zanca, president of the Broward Deanery, reported that a meeting of the deanery's executive board was held at the rectory of St. Bartholomew parish, Miramar.

Father Noel Fogarty, deanery moderator, attended the meeting.

OFFICERS

Organization and programming were among the items discussed by the deanery officers.

Also discussed were the purposes and aims of the Holy Name Society.

It was pointed out that the Society, through its meetings and activities, should aim to give a spiritual uplift to its members.

It was also suggested that meetings should be run briefly and orderly and that the programs should be devised to provide some intellectual or spiritual value.

Introduction of the "Open Forum" consisting of a question box which would call for suggestions of any subjects of interest to some intellectual or spiritual value.

The Question Box

Was John The Baptist Born Without Sin?

By Mgr. J. D. Conway

Q. Was John the Baptist born without original sin?

A. It is commonly believed that he was sanctified when Mary, the Mother of Jesus, visited his mother, Elizabeth, be- fore either child was born. The sanctifying grace which existed at that time removed original sin from his soul.

Q. I read that the Second Vatic- an Council was going to change the regulations for mixed marriages. Did the Coun- cil do so?

A. The Council turned over to the Pope an entire con- cerning marriage, and the mat- ter remains in his hands. We do not know what action he will take or when he will take it.

Q. In an article you wrote some time ago about St. Joseph you apparently closed the story of his blossoming rod with a list of ages. It seems to me that in all justice a more balanced ap- proach should have been given in regard to this story which has been adhered to as exten- sive, if not thorough, by the Church. I am in the process of complet- ing a translation of the "Life of St. Joseph" when a greater appreciation of universal- ity, this was done so that the people may join better in prayer, and, instead of being passive spectators they may be- come active participants and doers in the sacred rite.

Q. I think the really sad thing about the new liturgical changes is that these new rules don’t readily accept them after a lot of following the old Mass. These changes are straightforward liberal or rebellious.

A. I believe in the Father himself has called for such toler- ance and understanding. But he has also called for sacrifice. "The Church has made a sacri- fice of its language — Latin — a sacred, beautiful, and expressive language. It sacrif- ied centuries-old traditions of Gregorian chant and music, until by a greater appreciation of universal- ity, this was done so that the people may join better in prayer, and, instead of being passive spectators they may be- come active participants and doers in the sacred rite."

By Father John A. O'Brien

The Church is essentially a missionary institution and it can do a great deal of good with- out betraying its divine Foun- der. "Go, there- fore, with the one who has divided the spoils of Christ to the Apostles, "and make disciples of all nations, "teaching them to observe all that I com- manded you; and behold, O'Brien will be with you all days, even unto the consum- mation of the world." (Matthew 28:19-20)

Since the number of priests is so limited, it is of the utmost importance that every Catholic participate actively in the Mass and Masses, without betraying its divine Foun- der. "Go, therefore, with the one who has divided the spoils of Christ to the Apostles, "and make disciples of all nations, "teaching them to observe all that I com- manded you; and behold, O'Brien will be with you all days, even unto the consum- mation of the world." (Matthew 28:19-20)

Ad Altare Dei Classes
North Dade Deanery:
will take place in a ceremony at the Cathedral on Sunday, March 6, at the Newman Club Center at Miami-Dade Junior College.

The retreat will begin with the celebration of a Mass, at the Center which is located at 296 NW 115th Street.

Following the Mass, the students will cook and serve their own dinner. A Homily will then be held and this will be followed by group discussions.

Father Arthur R. DeBevoise, chaplain of the Newman Club, will offer the Mass and preach a sermon.

Father DeBevoise, who is also Diocesan Director of Newman Clubs, said any student interested in attending the retreat may contact the Newman Center at 400-1722.

Another similar “twilight” retreat for men students will be held Sunday, March 20, at the Center.

PLANS
Father DeBevoise said plans now are being mapped for the annual Newman Club Awards Banquet which will be held this April 30, at the Everglades Hotel Roof. Parents of the students also will be invited to the banquet as well as representatives of all Newman Clubs in the area.

Meanwhile, it was announced that a religious instruction class for junior students at the college who want a refresher course in Catholicism will be held from 8 to 9 p.m. every Tuesday beginning March 8. Any interested non-Catholic also is invited to attend, Father DeBevoise said.

Every Tuesday night from 7 to 10, the Center is open to junior college night students.

Religious Emphasis Week will be held at Miami-Dade Junior College starting Sunday, March 6. A lecture will be given at the Newman Center on a religious topic as part of the week’s activities. Date and time of the lecture is to be announced later.

Father DeBevoise disclosed that the Miami-Dade Jr. College Newman Club received the Catholic Action award at a Newman Club convention held last month in Gainesville. Newman Club representatives from throughout the Southeastern Province of the Newman Student Federation attended the convention.

The award is based on what a club has done to aid the community in which it is located rather than carrying out projects which aid only the club itself.

The judges gave the award to the Dade Newman Center mainly for its activities in aiding the boys and girls at Dade County’s Youth Hall.

Father DeBevoise reported that students from the Aquinas Student Center at the University of Miami joined this year with the Dade Newman Center to aid the Youth Hall residents.

The Dade Newman Center founded the Youth Hall project last year.

Students from five Newman Clubs in the Diocese of Miami took part in the two-day Newman Club convention which were held at the University of Florida.

DECISION
The five were: Indian River Student Center; Miami Newman Center; North Dade Newman Club; St. Thomas Parish at 7 p.m.; and Little Flower parish at 7 p.m.

West Palm Beach High School seniors who were present at the Newman were organized and directed by Miss R. A. Plume.

Notre Dame Academy’s junior class designated last week as American History Week, and launched the school into a week-long observance.

Planning in their American history, the Senator Patricia Mary, I.H.M., they presented daily talks and discussions over 1500 school’s public address system, finishing each day’s presentation with the National Anthem.

Thursday afternoon was the time of the Newman School basketball tournament.

In the two preliminary games, the juniors lost, while sophomores went out with the seniors. When the seniors played each other, victory went to the seniors; in the elfman game, pitting seniors against sophomores, the seniors emerged triumphant.

Everyone enjoyed the exchange of-passing afternoon, presented by the Physical Education Department, headed by Mrs. Norma Roberts and Mrs. Lucille Gallin.

Three Diocesan Teams Battle In Regionals Tonight

Miami's Archbishop Curley High, Hollywood's Chaminade and Miami Beach's St. Patrick's join the state's basketball elite tonight.

The three diocese schools each won group tournament titles last week to move into the select group of four schools \("\) will compete in the regionals tonight and Saturday.

The regional champions advance to the state finals next week at the University of Florida.

Curley, 25-4 for the season, won the Class AA Group 15 meet and will be in the AA-4 regional at the Miami-Dade Junior College Fieldhouse with South Dade High, 14-7, as its opponent at 5 p.m.

Fort Lauderdale High, 17-9, meets Nicaragua, 12-11, in the first game.

Chaminade captured the A-16 group meet to boost its record to 19-4 and the Lions go against Wauehula High, 23-1, in the 4-4 regional at Fort Lauderdale Nova High at 7:30 tonight.

The second game sends Pa- holyn, 14-5, against Plantation, 11-12.

Little St. Patrick's wins the C-16 group title and plays in the C-4 regional. The Sham- rocks, 11-11 for the season, face Everglades, 11-12, in the 7:30 opener at LaBelle while host LaBelle, 13-3, goes against Mt. Dora Bible School, 16-7, a for- mer state champion, in the sec- ond contest.

GRABBING OFF a rebound in last Saturday's Class AA Group 15 championship game are Curley High's top rebounders, 6-4 Woody Giordano (11) and 6-4 Larry Herrera (6). Curley de- feated Edison High in the contest 96-81.

Not so lucky were other dio- cesan schools.

In the AA-16 tournament, de- fending champion Christopher Columbus lost a 29-27 decision to Palmetto in the first round, although Joe Hope hit for 26 points, and Msgr. Pace High, 12-8, lost to Everglades in the C-14 de- spite 18 points by Iverson Wil- liams and Bishop Verot of Ft. Myers was dropped, 71-50, by Alva in the C-15 meet with Brady Vought leading the Vi- kings' scoring with 14 points.

Curley Archdiocese won its ti- tle by coming out on top of one of the finest tournament games ever played in South Florida with an 84-81 decision over Eden- son. Edison shot a hot 60 per- cent through the first three quarters to stay even with Cur- ley and it wasn't until John Taylor's mid-court steal and basket with 2:36 left in the game that Curley was able to pull ahead for good.

The Knights had trailed, 74- 79, with four minutes left to go before the Curley defensive pressure wore down the Red Raiders.

Guard Johnny Gay's 36 points and Taylor's 22 led the Knights to their title triumph after tal- king Jackson, 68-48 in the semi- final round.

The championship game was Curley's 10th consecutive tri- umph.

Chaminade got a break in its tournament when LaSalle's Tommy Kosiak sank a jumper with three seconds remaining to eliminate Pace in the semifinal round.

Chaminade and Pace were the tournament co-favorites and the Lions had held a 24-marg- in over Pace in three regular season games, all of which were close.

Bob DePauw's 31 points helped Chaminade route LaSalle, 77-52, in the title game with 5-8 Jimmy Nester pouring in 31 as the main support.

In the C-6 meet, St. Patrick's had to win only one game of the three-school affair after drawing a first round bye.

The Shamrocks avenged an earlier loss by whipping Miami Christian School, 61-51, with Os- car Fernandez and George Gils- land each getting 20 points to account for most of the Pat's scoring.

Nominating Committees’ Great Responsibility

By MISS GERTRUDE SHAW

DCON Club Participation Chairman

We are approaching the time when elections will take place in the various affiliations and organizations. On the shoulders of the nominating committees rests the great responsibility to secure candidates who will be the able leaders for the various offices involved.

How well the elected nominees fill the vacant jobs, how well they serve, is largely dependent upon the organizations to progress towards their goals is due, in no small part, to their leadership abilities.

Frequently, we hear women who are members of the nominating committees to consider having candidates for election. This marks, “I am too busy getting my own house in order — or — I’m too busy taking care of my family now and I haven’t a moment’s time to myself,” etc., etc., etc.

Tom Adams, our Secretary of State, when talking about public service, has stated that leaders should not shirk, said, “Sometimes, I wonder why — although Washington had said, ‘Gentlemen, I am honored, but I do wish you would try to find someone else. I’m just getting things organized at Mount Vernon. Anyway, I’ve already served my time — against the French, you know’.”

Adams further went on to say, “How would our history read now if Patrick Henry had said to Washington, ‘He’s too busy, Tom; we must let him fight. Leave the British around, someone is going to get hurt’.”

FAMOUS HISTORY

Well, you know that our history reads gloriously because such men as Washington and Henry were dedicated to our way of life and assumed their responsibilities for the benefit of the nation.

Ahora el padre Vilacoba está buscando personas que se ofrezcan para enseñar a los emigrantes. Algo que resalta es que estos emigrantes les enseñen a algunos jóvenes que trabajan en servicios en el centro del pueblo como para la realización de un proyecto y la práctica de efectos de escuelas vocacionales. Alguno de estos estudiantes son para que trabajen en los campos de cultivo de Fort Myers. Usan en las escuelas o a los comerciantes de la ciudad de Fort Myers, junto a las escuelas del área de concentración de campesinos en el municipio de Fort Myers. En Miami, cuando pasan a otros estados, los menores de 16 años son los que manejan sus actividades con el fin de que vivan por ellos mismos un ambiente de rectitud, el honor y la justicia.
Student Chided In Front Of Class – Sad

THE FAMILY CLINIC

Most of my problems stem from one major problem: a low I.Q. One of my teachers informed me of this in front of the entire class. Needless to say, I suffer a very bad inferiority complex with nervousness and self-consciousness, inadequacy and the whole bit. We all have a role to play in this world, but what can I do? In God’s eyes I am of some value, in man’s eyes I don’t have much and I don’t value myself quite ghly either.

By JOHN J. KANE, Ph.D.

Rose, persons with low intelligence quotients don’t write letters like yours. There were no errors in spelling, no mistakes in punctuation and grammar and you expressed yourself quite clearly.

My first impression is that the teacher who told you that your I.Q. was low was either wrong or misleading you. She was, professionally, unethical to make such a statement in front of the class.

I can, however, understand, why you are nervous and discouraged, even a bit depressed. You exemplify a principle in social psychology that if people believe something, whether it is right or wrong, they act accordingly, so perhaps the best reply to your letter is an explanation of the I.Q. test.

First, there are various types of intelligence quotient tests. Some are better than others. None are perfect. Scores also vary and unless the person interpreting the test knows the meaning of the score on that specific test, conclusions can be quite inaccurate.

The I.Q. is supposed to reveal innate intelligence but as a matter of fact it is an indirect method of getting at it. The verbal test, which is what you probably took, tests vocabulary, ability to understand and recall a story, spatial relationships.

There is another aspect to the I.Q. test and its effect on the person taking it at least until about age 18. The test gives the mental age of the person, which is in turn modified by chronological age and multiplied by 100. This is the intelligence quotient.

To use a crude analogy, it is as though a handful of mud were thrown against a wall. Depending on the texture of the wall, the amount of force, a certain amount clings, some falls off. The more education a person has the greater his knowledge, and to continue the analogy, the more the amount of mud clung to the wall.

There is another aspect to the I.Q. test and its effect on the score has yet to be determined. I refer to motivation. When an individual takes such a test he may have strong motives to obtain a high grade. Consequently he tries quite hard. Others are bored or couldn’t care less. As a result they are careless and indifferent, even a bit depressed. You exemplify a principle in social psychology that if people believe something, whether it is right or wrong, they act accordingly, so perhaps the best reply to your letter is an explanation of the I.Q. test.

Education Pays

Persons with considerable formal education are accustomed to reading and writing, and thus enjoy an advantage that the less educated lack. The test is also associated with the age of the person taking it at least until about age 18. Three New And Unusual Seafood Dishes

By FLORENCE DEVANEY

There may be times when three is a crowd, but it’s a "crowd-pleaser" when the trio happens to be made up of three unusual new seafood dishes designed to fit any menu with taste pleasing style.

Home Economists of the United States Department of the Interior’s Bureau of Commercial Fisheries have painted a “picture of wealth” for the homemakers with the creation of three colorful entree eye-openers that bring together the elegant, the exotic, and the easy for the ultimate in good eating.

The Elegant — Shrimp In Sour Cream brings all the charm of the old South to your table with today’s convenience. Succulent Gulf shrimp blend with a rich sauce that is tastefully accented with mushrooms and onions. Sour cream’s tart flavor adds the touch of individuality that makes this dish a sophisticated seafood standout.

The Exotic — Red Snapper With Curry Sauce brings the enchantment of the Middle East to dinner in a colorful, eye-appealing entree that will intrigue, excite, and hold in a medley of compliments from your timehonored guests. A quick-to-fix curry sauce tops golden fillets to make a most “fitting” dish, for any occasion.

The Easy — Fish Portions With Almond Cheese Sauce has a natural appeal to any home-maker because it’s the fast-to-fix treat with an up-to-date beat. Ultra-convenient portions are in the height-of-fashion when dressed up in an almond cheese sauce that is “simply” inviting. Get in the swing of things by preparing your menu with these “dapper dandies of the deep.”

Shrimp In Sour Cream

1 pound cooked, peeled, and cleaned shrimp, fresh or frozen or 4 cans (4 oz. each) shrimp
1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons chopped green onion

Thaw frozen shrimp or drain canned shrimp, Rinse canned shrimp with cold water. Cut large shrimp in half. Cook mushrooms and onions in butter until tender. Blend in flour. Add soup and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add sour cream, pepper, and shrimp. Heat, stirring occasionally. Serve on toast points or patty shells.

Our broiled live Maine lobsters are flown in daily.

Who says lobsters can’t fly?

Ours do. Every day. We fly them in live because we want them fresh. Then we broil them with excruciating care because, after going to all that trouble, it would be shameful to serve them any way but perfectly. Steaming. Succulent. The ultimate in seafood. If Maine isn’t your favorite state, we also broil Florida lobster, South African lobster tails. Whip up marvelous Maine or Florida lobster a la Newburg. An elegant Florida lobster salad bowl supreme. Now you know why there’s a lobster on the New England Oyster House symbol. And why lobster is one of the most popular entrees on our menu.
