Solemn Pontifical Mass sung by Bishop Charles P. Greco of Alexandria, La., in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Fontainebleau at 9:30 a.m., Tuesday, Aug. 16, will mark the formal opening of the 84th annual convention of the Knights of Columbus.

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll, spiritual director and host to the convention will preside during the Mass and be the principal speaker at the traditional States Dinner scheduled to be held Tuesday evening.

The sermon during the Mass will be preached by Bishop Ernest L. Unterrichter of Charleston, S.C.

The Catholic Diocese of Miami and its many welfare agencies all closely identified with this wonderfully humanitarian program since its inception, "Bishop Carroll fired," strongly urged resident status be given to the Cuban parolees."

The appeal pointed out that under their present status Cubans are denied lower rates of state-supported schools of higher learning, homestead exemption or any of the benefits of Medicare. Nor can they be accepted as volunteers in the U.S. Air Force, Navy or Coast Guard.

Collective' Charity Need Told Isabellans

Today's Christians must give witness to collective charity for the common good which is rapidly disintegrating in the world, a Mexican Bishop told delegates to the Daughters of Isabella convention in St. Mary's Cathedral Monday.

Bishop Samuel Ruiz Garcia of San Cristobal de las Casas preached the sermon during Solemn Pontifical Mass celebrated by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll to mark the opening of the biennial sessions of the organization.

MANY DELEGATES

More than 1,500 delegates from the United States, Canada, and the Philippines participated in convention sessions which Dr. Anna Walsh of Florissant, Mo., supreme regent presided, at the Hotel Deauville, Miami Beach.

A Memorial Mass which will be celebrated at 7 a.m. today (Friday) for deceased members of the organization by Msgr. Edward Shea, Watertown, Conn., supreme chancellor, will mark the conclusion of the four-day meeting.

Requiem For Monsignor DeVaney

FORT MYERS — More than a thousand clergy, religious and laity crowded St. Francis Xavier Church here Monday to pay final tribute to Msgr. Joseph H. DeVaney, V.F., pastor, who died in an accident on July 30 while vacationing in Montana.

Solemn Pontifical Requiem Mass was sung at 11 a.m. by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll for Monsignor DeVaney, who was 51 at the time of his death.

ABSOLUTION BY ARCHBISHOP

The final absolution was given by Archbishop Joseph P. Hurley, Bishop of St. Augustine, who was accompanied to the funeral by a large delegation of Monsignori and priests from the Diocese of St. Augustine.

Msgr. DeVaney apparently was hiking off the established trails on Mt. Oberlin in Glacier National Park when he fell about 100 feet to his death. The accident site is about one and one-half miles from Logan Pass, the scenic crossing of the Continental Divide on Going to the Sun Hwy. A car which he had rented in Billings was found in a parking area.

In his eulogy, Msgr. James F. Neulan, pastor, St. Agnes parish, Boca Raton, and long-time friend of Msgr. DeVaney, told the congregation that in his vocation as a priest, "Msgr. DeVaney had as his special concern the poor, the weak, the humble, the minority group, those who are always searching for a voice to speak for them.

SACRED MISSION

"He provided that voice. He was a man always ready to meet a challenge," Msgr. Neulan said. "In Liberty City, Coconut Grove, Banche Park and Richmond Heights, four of the colored districts of the Miami area, he started missions, built churches, erected schools, worked unceasingly and unswervingly for the people committed to his care.

"He was convinced of their need but the money to finance these various projects were not available from his parishioners since most of them were of limited means. He went on begging trips to parishes in northern dioceses and to the more affluent parishes of the Miami area. He met that challenge and these institutions are functioning today."

Outlining the accomplishments of Msgr. DeVaney on South Florida's West Coast, Msgr. Neulan also spoke of the affection which existed between the priest and his altar boys and declared, "We hope that the young men and women of this parish and those throughout the Diocese will draw inspiration from the life as recently and courageously ended. The fields are indeed white for the harvest. Let us pray the Lord of the harvest to give the harvesters a full and bountiful harvest of souls.

ARCHBITHER HU RUT, Bishop of St. Augustine, gave The Absolution.

The battle will not be easy. The requirements of this vast apostolate stagger the imagination and cause the most optimistic to experience a certain sense of inadequacy before the task.

Therefore, with this in mind, I am inviting you to participate in a very practical way in a project which is the responsibility of all who enjoy our rather generally elevated standard of living. Be aware of the needs of others, spiritual as well as material. I urge you to contribute generously to the collection next Sunday for the benefit of Indians and Negroes in this country.

Imparting to you my paternal blessing, I remain,

Very sincerely yours in Christ,

Bishop of Miami

HELPED FATHER LORD

A former co-worker with the late Father Daniel Lord, S.J., in promoting sodalities on a parochial and inter-parochial basis through “The Queen’s Work,” Miss William, with her brother, Father George William, S.J., was instrumental in establishing the Daughters of Isabella in the Philippines.

In his sermon, Bishop Ruiz told convention delegates, “When the Son of God was made man, incarnated for our salvation, He took part in the life of a country, of a race, and of a special culture; but His incarnation. His life and His doctrine was a profession or occupation, a part.”

The authentic Christian,” he declared, “cannot live without ceasing to be one, a life of egoism. If he lives his life of piety, but does not practice love towards his fellow-man, towards those of his community, his profession, his country, the whole world, he has not understood the significance of being a Christian.

BLIND TO GOAL

Welcoming convention delegates, Bishop Carroll urged them to study, reassess and renew your organization in such a way that it will conform to the decrees of the Council as they relate to the work of the Church.

 Calling upon the Daughters of Isabella to be “builders of charity,” Bishop Ruiz emphasized that since man is both author and beneficiary of the social environment in which he moves, he must build on the natural dignity of man and must respond to the designs of God.

“Together we seek the solutions to our common problems in the temporal order. Each one and all have a responsibility in this search,” he continued, describing collective promotion as “the organized strength of a group of men who have common interests and who unite to defend their rights and to satisfy their needs, fundamentally those of being men and being treated as human beings.

CELEBRATING OUR 35TH YEAR

Florida National Bank is celebrating its 35th year of banking service to the Greater Miami area. During these 35 years we’ve built the reputation as the bank that put Florida first. We’re proud of our reputation. In fact, we’re proud of every moment of our 35 years. So, in order to say “thank you” to our customers, we’re inviting you to a birthday party, August 17th.

We have a huge cake replica of The Alfred I. duPont Building for anyone who would like a piece of birthday cake. And, if you were born in Dade County during our anniversary year (August 17, 1931 to August 16, 1932) you’ll be given a complimentary birthday cake of your very own.

It will be a big day for us here at Florida National. Won’t you join us and help make it even bigger?

Day Of Recollection Marked By Dialogue

Seminarians Discuss Vital Issues

By CASS CASEY

This summer's second Day of Recollection held last Sunday at St. John Vianney will be an event both major and minor seminarians of the diocese will long remember.

It was not only the first time this year that both the new and old clerics got together but in the spirit of the times there was a day long dialogue on pressing problems of the day.

JOINS DISCUSSIONS

Joining in the discussion with the students, priests and Serra Club members, for the first time was Bishop Coleman F. Carroll, who spent the entire day with the seminarians.

In his sermon on the decree on priestly training, Bishop Carroll expressed the concern of the Church in adapting the training of her future priests to the needs of the day and illustrated by examples in both seminaries.

Following the Pontifical Mass celebrated by Bishop Carroll the 200 students in attendance divided up into 14 discussion groups for an open forum on prede termined topics.

VARY TOPICS

Spirited discussion covered about such topics as: Perserverance in Vocations.

The Parish, Sacrifice and Involvement In Social Problems of the Community by Priests and Seminarians.

In "Perseverance in Vocations," the question was asked, "Can emotions influence one's judgment on a vocation adversely?"

In the discussion on The Parish questions centered on changes of the role of the pastor and assistants, relationship in the Mystical Body of Christ and the parish of the future.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS

On involvement in community social problems, discussion centered on motives, dangers in involvement, urgency and if participation indicates a change in attitude or concern.

During the two hour session on a wide range of topics, Bishop Carroll joined in the discussion of vital points with the boys and answered specific questions about the diocese.

While all topics were treated with equal interest, the question on involvement in social problems of the community drew the most interest.

Bishop Carroll stressed the need for social justice as a solution to the many pressing social problems of the day. He applauded the implementation of self-help projects as a means of relaxing some of the tensions in communities beset by these problems.

During the afternoon session Bishop Coleman F. Carroll, director of vocations, in presenting the Parish, Sacrifice and Involvement In Social Problems of the Community drew the most interest.

Father Zinn Speaks At CYAC Convention

Christian Duties Of Young Cited

Catholic young adults as Christians share in the duty of building the Kingdom of Christ, Father Charles J. Zinn told delegates to the Miami Diocesan CYAC Council convention Saturday.

Assistant pastor of the Cathedral and the Bishop's representative to The Voice, Father Zinn, who recently returned from studies in Rome, spoke during convention workshop sessions held at the Hotel Americana.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

Peter Rainarz of the Miami Catholic Singles Club was elected Council president during the two-day meeting. Other officers installed during a luncheon Sunday by Father Walter Docierill, diocesan director of youth activities, are Donald Laurie of the Fort Lauderdale Catholic Club, vice president; Arlene Storch, Palm Beach CYAC, treasurer; and Sue Roeder, Lauderdale Catholic Club, secretary.

Alfonso Sepe, assistant prosecutor for the State Attorney's office in Dade County, was the afternoon banquet speaker during a formal banquet Saturday evening.

Father Zinn, speaking on VATICAN COUNCIL'S challenges to young adults were outlined for South Florida's CYAC members by Father Charles Zinn during convention sessions.

"The Challenge of Vatican II to the Young Adult" told a group of almost 200 young men and women that at the Council, "for the first time, the Church has spoken officially of an apostolate of the laity."

SPIRIT OF LOVE

Love is the one word which characterizes the theology and spirit of the entire Council, Father Zinn explained in his talk to delegates from the Dioceses of Miami and St. Augustine.

"This was the spirit of Pope John and was expressed by him in his opening speech when he called the Church the Loving Mother of All. To fully appreciate the Council decree the Apostolate of the Laity, "the priest said," it must be understood in the light of other documents and particularly the Constitution on the Church. This Constitution is the center and gives the spirit to all other Council documents.

"Here the Church is seen as the People of God, Christ is our King and the members of the Church are members of His kingdom. The document teaches that Christ is the great teacher, ruler, priest continuing to act in the world building up His kingdom. He wishes to associate all men in this kingdom."

Father Zinn pointed out, "using men as His instruments."

Father Zinn emphasized that the right and duty of the laity to be a "leaven in the world" is not delegated by bishops but is assigned by the Lord Himself, deriving from their baptism and confirmation, from their union with Christ.

GENUINE APOSTOLATE

"They exercise a genuine apostolate by their activity on behalf of bringing the gospel and holiness to men, and on behalf of penetrating and perfecting the temporal sphere of things through the spirit of the gospel," Father Zinn said.

"In the simplest and yet the most profound of terms the laity's apostolate is to love, to grow in love ourselves, and to spread love," Father Zinn continued.

In practice, he explained, this love takes the form of service which includes the mobilization of the 90 per cent of Catholic adults not now participating in traditional Catholic action programs.

NEW OFFICERS of the Diocesan CYAC Council receiving congratulations from Father Walter Dock erill are Peter Rainarz, Miami president; Sue Roeder, Fort Lauderdale, secretary; Arlene Storch, W. Palm Beach, treasurer; and Donald Laurie, Fort Lauderdale, vice president.

He cited a study of the needs in the Diocese and community consultations with pastors, education, and a selection of areas for action as steps in fulfilling the apostolate.

CARDINAL GREETS ISRAEL LEADER

Cardinal Spellman greeted the president by using the Hebrew word "shalom" (peace). The Israeli leader replied that he was "very happy." President Shazar began his conversation with a reference to the Hebrew word "tsahalon" (peace), the Israeli leader replied that he was "very happy."

During their 15-minute conversation, the cardinal and president spoke of Pope Paul's visit to Israel in January, 1964, and of the growing ecumenical spirit.

The president gave Cardinal Spellman a box of Jerusalem olive wood containing a medallion commemorating the Pope's visit to Israel. The box was inscribed on one side with the Latin "Terra Sancta" (Holy Land) and on the other with "Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself" in Hebrew, Latin, and English.

Multiple Murders Shock–Abortion?

Many observers of the national scene are pointing out these days that the campaign to legalize abortion has been gaining considerable ground and much sympathy. "Family Life Directors told CRUX recently that there is a "need for a nationwide legal-medical program," since the vast majority of people are not aware of the extent of the campaign.

Perhaps most people never think of an unborn child as having any rights. Many still believe that in the first weeks or months of life the embryo or fetus cannot really be considered a human being. They base their defense of abortion on this assumption, that the "I" of the womb is not a person.

This is a grave mistake. From the first moment of conception, the tiny cell is truly a person, regardless of size or form, as such has the rights belonging to a human being.

This means primarily the right to life. The need for education along these lines is obvious when we compare the reactions of people to the mass killings of Chicago and Texas recently with the figures on criminal abortions performed every year in the United States.

Everyone was horrified at the slaughter of innocent people, but how many were deeply disturbed over the murder of the defenseless unborn child in the abortion mills. In Dade County, newspaper stories gave lurid accounts of the multimillion dollar abortion business locally, but authorities gave no indication they were unduly concerned and many people shrugged it off as just one of these things.

Most people still feel that "therapeutic abortions" are routinely necessary to save the life of a mother. And yet many medical authorities stress that there are no medically sound reasons nowadays for the termination of pregnancies. A survey reported a few years ago in a national medical journal proved that the death rate of mothers in hospitals which refused therapeutic abortions was actually slightly lower than in those made a practice of expelling the fetus when medical opinion felt the condition of the mother demanded it.

Moreover, studies, especially in Japan where they have had two decades of legalized abortion, indicate that "more emotional illnesses arise from abortion that continue pregnancies."

If the abortion campaign will continue to grow, it will be because of its popularity and ignorance. Our people should now get acquainted with the facts and thus assume their responsibility to protect an innocent life.

The impetus of the Council itself, and especially the post-conciliar commissions, both of the universal as well as the local Church, will eventually insure an updating of the multimillion dollar abortion business locally, but authorities gave no indication they were unduly concerned and many people shrugged it off as just one of these things.

BUYERS GUIDE IS PUBLISHED

CHICAGO — (NC) — Mathew Ahmann, executive director of the National Catholic Conference for Intercontinental Justice (NCCJ), announced here that the following three editions of the guide will also be published.

The guide directs its attention to the problem of the social consequences of abortion. It includes an extensive list of organizations and statements of modern scientists and theologians on this subject.

The new edition also includes a section on the medical and scientific aspects of abortion, as well as a discussion of the legal aspects of the subject.

The guide is designed to help individuals and organizations involved in the abortion issue to obtain accurate and reliable information on the subject.

The guide is available from the NCCJ at a price of $3.00 per copy. Copies may be ordered by writing to the NCCJ, 1100 W. Main St., Chicago, IL 60605.
Some 'Reporting' Misleads Public On Church Renewal

By MSGR. JAMES J. WALSH

Someone sent an interesting article from a popular magazine with the intriguing title, "Have You Heard About The New Catholicism?" We read it quite eagerly, wondering if we had missed any of the new things. It seems that we did. The article went into many aspects of the Church which the Vatican Council dealt with, points of greatest public interest, and much of it was treated very well.

For instance the topic of mixed marriages was handled fairly and yawnthetically. The article poetically stated that the Church has "ABANDONED THE RIGHT TO BE IN VIETNAM. WHILE SAYING THAT THE U.S. HAS NO MILITARY FACTS, THAT AS I STUDIED LATELY THE INTELLECTUAL, ECONOMIC, AND SOCIAL PROBLEMS OF THE SOUTHEAST ASIA, ONE CAME TO THE CONCLUSION THAT THE CHURCH'S INVOLVEMENT WITH THE 'JESUS CRISIS' LEADS TO THE 'SAME STUFF AT A HEAD OVER HEELS.'" D . F. Visser 't Hooft.

After thus plunging head-over-heart into all-out generalization, the conference proceeded to engage in a long and heated debate over the stigmatizing question whether a body of "cannot be justified" should be changed to "should be condemned.

Dr. Visser 't Hooft and other WCC leaders finally intervened to stop that discussion, and the resolution stood as originally approved.

A TOPPER

The conference then compounded its foolishness by rejecting a proposed amendment criticizing North Vietnam for sending soldiers to infiltrate into Laos.

All this adds up to such incredible stupidities, pawns and disharmonies, such preposterous ivory-towerism, such spooky supposition, such infantile incoherence about plain elementary facts, that as I flew on a military airfield, the word "embarrassment" was commonly accepted convictions among Catholics.

For instance, "individual confessions, according to some rumors, may be replaced by a general abdication from sin given by the priest to the charged father." The upshot of this blue moon subject is mentioned. Hardly anyone however takes it seriously. The point lies in sympathy with the collective guilt of the nation. The word "absolve" does not belong in this discussion. It distorts the meaning and the intention of the declaration of Pope John XXIII. It serves to keep the fires of controversy hot.

PROVOCATIVE RUMOR

Some very broad "rumors" were the basis for comments on education in the article. "The parochial school may well be on its way to extinction... rumour has it that grammar schools will be phased out, and large regional Catholic high schools emphasized." This provocative rumor has been making the rounds for some years, but meanwhile the NCEA report covering the past several years indicates strongly that Catholic education is expanding on every level.

It is true that elementary pupils decreased the past year, but this is not traced to a downgrading of parochial school enrollment. The main reason found in the trend to cut down the size of classrooms is that the "baby boom" is over, that the population is leveling off as expected.

At any rate while Catholic education has some fearful crows to meet because of the tremendous burden of expense and the lack of teachers, it is widely considered very healthy and vigorous.

This shows that it is up to Christians to work intelligently in these very important matters. There is a lot of important news in the daily press. We can be happy that the secular press is publishing more and more religious news; there was a time when it practically ignored the existence of the Catholic Church. The new trend, however, tends to form the image of the Catholic Church in the mind of the American people and for responsibilities for Catholics.

In a letter sent by Ambrose Cardinal Cognolati, Papal Secretary of State, to the French Social Week at Nice, France the cardinal said many laudable things about public opinion. It is surprising especially in its emphasis on the need of public opinion in the Church that it comes from a cardinal who is not generally considered a progressive.

RESPONSIBILITY

He views public opinion as a real blessing to the active exercise of responsibility by the citizenry but a blessing that brings with it a responsibility for Catholics. In the midst of a pluralistic and usually tolerant society, they find that their faith is subject to criticism and affected by extreme changes.

The problem that faces them however is this: "All too frequently indifferent with regard to the values of faith, public opinion forms an idea of the Church drawn from the images presented by the press, literature, radio, movies, television, and songs which are both the expression and catalysts of dominant mentalities."

In an article in The New Hungarian Quarterly, (Winter, 1965) Miller says that artists and writers were almost totally ignored by the public, and that today their views are considered newsworthy.

Reveal Pius XII’s Plans
For Ecumenical Council

By JAMES C. O’NEILL

ROME — (NC) — More than 10 years before Pope John XXIII announced plans to hold the second Vatican Council his predecessor Pius XII had studied orders for a council drawn up.

Details never before released of the possibilities of a council in the early 50’s have been published by Rome’s Jesuit magazine, Civita Cattolica. They were drawn from secret archives of the Doctrinal Congregation.

NEW DETAILS

That Pius XII considered holding a council is not new, for Domenico Cardinal Tardini twice in 1959 had spoken of the late Pope’s thoughts of summoning a council. Also in 1959, Ernesto Cardinal Ruffini of Palermo disclosed he had asked Pius to summon a council. The new article, however, discloses a number of facts not made public until now.

According to the article, Cardinal Ruffini in an audience with the Pope on Feb. 24, 1948, told the Pope that he and Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani — then Msgr. Ottaviani, assessor of the Congregation of the Holy Office, and now pro-prefect of its successor, the Doctrinal Congregation — favored the summoning of a council to clarify various doctrinal points so as to combat various errors, including communism.

Additionally it was argued that the Pope’s desire to proclaim as dogma the Assumption of Mary could be opportunely aided by the calling of a council.

The Pope approved exploratory studies to be conducted by the Holy Office to preserve maximum secrecy. After four meetings between March and July, if it was decided there should be five commissions: one for dogmatic and speculative theology, one for canonical and liturgical, one for missions and one for culture. The commissions were recommended for a central commission to be named to direct preparation of the council.

A list of 36 names to compose a preparatory commission had been drawn up and included representatives of 18 countries, all Europeans with the exception of the United States, Canada, and Lebanon, and of nine religious orders or congregations.

A second phase of activity was experienced from February through July of 1949. The Pope named as president of the central commission the then Nuncio to Italy, Archbishop Francesco Borgogna Duce, and as its secretary Father Pierre Charles, S.J., dogmatic theology professor at Louvain University in Belgium.

NOW MAN AND WIFE

Luci Carried Rosary Given by Pope John

WASHINGTON — (NC) — The “something” borrowed many brides carry on their wedding day takes on significance only because of its part in the traditional ceremony. This was not so at the marriage of Luci Baines Johnson to Patrick John Nugent.

The young bride borrowed a mother-of-pearl and gold rosary from her sister Lynda Bird. The rosary was presented to the older Johnson girl by the late Pope John XXIII during a 1962 audience.

The “sixpence in her shoe” was the gift of Adelaide Roscoe of Perth Amboy, N.J., the first of many people around the country who thought to send one along.

The “something new” was really the church. Unrevealed until Luci appeared leaving the White House on the arm of her famous father, her traditional wedding gown by Prescilla Vaglia, lace and embroidered with pearls and highlighted with a three-yard long cathedral train. The neckline of her dress was of wedding band shaped and outlined with sea pearls. Pearls also accent the long lace sleeves.

EMBROIDERED HEM

The other beautiful gowns at the wedding complemented the attire of the bride. The bridesmaids were gowned in “pink pinks”; the flower girl and ring-bearer were in white.

N.J. School Aid Study Bill Signed

TRENTON, N.J. — (NC) — Gov. Richard J. Hughes signed into law a bill creating a special commission to study the relationship between private and public schools and the feasibility of increased state aid to private schools.

The bill calls on the commission to study specific areas of aid to private schools, including mandatory bus service to the schools (lines now run along established public school routes), textbook loans and shared-time programs.

es in Miami and elsewhere have established businesses. Most are employed; pay taxes and contribute substantially to the welfare of the community. But in their present status, many are denied employment because they cannot file intent to become citizens.

This temporary resident status disqualifies hundreds of Cuban lawyers who could teach in public schools as well as hundreds of doctors and dentists from returning to active practice of their professions.

"A recent study conducted by the Catholic Welfare Bureau of the Diocese of Miami indicates that nearly one-half of the Cuban refugees in the present exodus to Miami elect to remain in South Florida rather than settle elsewhere. Of the new arrivals, 25 per cent are men; 43 per cent women; and 32 per cent children under 18. By employment these people are classified as follows: 9 per cent, professional and managerial; 14 per cent, clerical; 5 per cent, laborers; 6 per cent, unskilled; 6 per cent, services; 2 per cent, agricultural and fisheries and 65 per cent, housewives, students and children."

Bishop Carroll concluded by stressing that favorable consideration of the bill would enable these people to become citizens more quickly and contribute substantially to the culture and economy of the area where they choose to live.

"As we look about us in our daily activities," Bishop Carroll pointed out, "we cannot but help but notice the plight of certain individuals in our own community. Although our nation as a whole has enjoyed a long period of interrupted prosperity, nevertheless, countless persons have not participated in these blessings."

Reminding the faithful of their obligation to be mindful of needs of others, spiritual as well as material, Bishop Carroll emphasized that although the Indians and Negroes "are on the way to a better way of life, these people have only begun to enjoy the material benefits which we ourselves have long ago taken for granted."

Bishop Speaks At Profession Of Vows

Cuban Vocations Urged

Miami's Cuban refugee families were called upon Saturday by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll to nurture and encourage vocations to the religious life and the priesthood from among their own people to provide an adequate number of nuns and priests to minister to the needs of their children.

The Bishop spoke to several hundred exiled families following ceremonies of profession during a Mass of Consecration at 4 p.m. in the Cathedral.

PERPETUAL VOWS

Sister Paulina Montijo, a Sister of St. Philip Neri stationed at Villa Madres Residency for Young Working Women near downtown Miami, professed perpetual vows in the presence of representatives of other religious orders and friends.

Bishop Carroll noted that the occasion was a significant one in the Diocese of Miami inasmuch as the Sisters of St. Philip Neri, who came to South Florida from Cuba because of persecution, "have made considerable sacrifices to carry on their work here."

"God is a provident God and will provide vocations in sufficient numbers," the Bishop emphasized. "It is up to us to pray that God will bless our families with such callings. As we witness this impressive ceremony, it should not be necessary for me to ask your young women to ask themselves if God is calling them to the religious life. The greatest blessing that can come to any family must have as many of its members single out in a special way to serve in the religious life for your children."

He added that most of the refugee youngsters are being taught by young religious from this country and reiterated that it is the obligation of Cuban refugees to provide vocations from their families.

Commenting on Sister Paulina's profession of vows, Magr. James J. Walsh, diocesan director of vocations, told the congregation that they were "witnessing the final step of one like Peter and Mary who has left all things to follow Christ" and noted that the ceremonies of profession retell the "story of love and sacrifice which is the story of every vocation."

DEDICATED PERSON

Noting that many people formerly thought of a nun as "somebody shut behind bars, a girl who was to be pitied because she was wasting her talents," Magr. Walsh pointed out that "people of all faiths have come to identify a Sister as one dedicated to the service of God and neighbor."

"Sister Paulina," he said, "today in her profession, will make only one request. She will beg permission to consecrate herself to Jesus Christ in poverty, chastity and obedience."

Commenting on the fact that nowadays people of all faiths are being stirred to the needs of the underprivileged, Magr. Walsh stated that "few are willing to go as far as a Catholic nun," who gives total dedication of heart, hands and soul and "lifts up her hands to God to plead their total cause. Like Moses," he said, "she holds up her hands to God for the good of all men."

PROVINCIAL PREACHES

Father Pedro Echeverria, S. J., Jesuit Provincial, and one of the concelebrants of the Mass, preached in Spanish during the ceremonies at which Mother Marie Isabel Lasaga, superior, received the final vows of Sister Paulina.

"St. Philip Neri Novitiate Choir from Vero Beach sang during the Mass. Also concelebrating the Mass with Bishop Carroll were Father Angel Vincenzo, O. F. S. to the Venerable Religious; Father Cerejido Rojas, S. J., rector, Belen School; Father Emilio Rasco, professor at the Gregorian University, Rome; and Father Anthony Naverrete, pastor, St. Hugh parish, Coconut Grove.

In the Diocese of Miami, the Sisters of St. Philip Neri, whose motherhouse is in Spain, also staff St. Jerome School, Fort Lauderdale.

Las familias de refugiados cubanos en Miami fueron exhortadas el sábado por el Obispo Coleman F. Carroll a alentar y fomentar las vocaciones hacia el sacerdocio y la vida religiosa. La madrileña María Concepción Obispo Carroll Residencia a Cubanos fue consultada por los fieles en su misa celebrada a las 6 p.m. en la Iglesia Catedral.

Para ese día se disponían misas especiales en todas las parroquias, los báculos de las cuales deben ser consultados por los fieles a través de los correspondientes bolletines parroquiales.

Crímenes que Pasan Desapercibidos

Observadores del acontecer nacional vienen en estos días señalando que la campaña para legalizar el aborto, está ganando considerable terreno, así como muchos simpatizantes. Directores de los Buro's de Vida Familiar declararon recientemente a la prensa que "es una necesidad del progreso" esta campaña. Ello basado en el aborto en este argumento: que "aquello" que está en el seno de la madre no es aún, una persona.

-Quizá la mayor parte de estas personas piensen que un niño antes de nacer no es un ser humano. Otros muchos creen que el embarazo o feto en sus primeras semanas de vida, no debe de ser considerado realmente como un ser humano. Ellos basan su defensa del aborto en este argumento: que "aquello" que está en el seno de la madre no es aún, una persona.

- Esto es un grave error. Desde el momento inicial de la concepción, a despues de su forma o tamaño, esa pequeña célula es verdaderamente una persona, y como tal posen los derechos inherentes a todo ser humano.

- Primariamente esto se refiere al derecho a la vida. Y es obvia la necesidad de educación en este punto a comparar este argumento con las reacciones de diferentes personas ante los asesinatos masivos de Chicago y Texas, con los estudios de aborto criminal que en esos días se efectuan.

- Si la campaña de abortos continua aumentando, se deberá a la apatía y la ignorancia. Nuestro pueblo debía familiarizarse mejor con la realidad de los hechos, y asumir la verdadera libertad.

- Hoy más, especialmente en Japón, que cuenta con una experiencia de dos décadas en la realización legalizada de abortos, los estudios indican que "más enfermedades emocionales se derivan de los abortos que de embarazos continuados.

- Y poco a poco, con la misma lentitud como los asesinatos, se deberán a la apatía y la ignorancia. Todo el mundo se ha horrorizado ante la práctica de la eutanasia, y de nuevo, sin esperar nada en compensation. Pero todos, incluyendo a los que sirven, porque la vida es el medio para ser bilateral, que hay que definir de como el arte de gobernar, es el medio para servir, no para servirse.

- Los funcionarios públicos son personas seleccionadas para servir en provecho de su propia vida y los hijos de su pue.

- Quienamos la política una tirania o una cástilla de servicio, "tratando de nader y guardar la reina", como dice el viejo refrán, tan por donde van ellos que, de los seres humanos, de nadar y guardar la ropa. Pero todos, incluyendo a los que sirven, porque la vida es el medio para ser bilateral, que hay que definir de como el arte de gobernar, es el medio para servir, no para servirse.

EXTRAÑO PERO CIERTO

Homenaje a Puerto Rico

Sólo quien haya vivido — a menos visitado— ha podido comprender el triste quitar del Caribe, comprender a bullying, el dolor de las personas. "Puerto Rico y Cuba son, de un pájaro las dos alas..."

- El mismo sol y la luz luminoso, el porqué tan grande entre el Viejo San Juan y en el Viejo San Juan, el carácter servicial y afable por los puertorriqueños y los cubanos, "gente", las mismas tradiciones y cultura...

- Pero estos días en la his- toria, a la Cuba de hoy le ha tocado vivir una tragedia de la que su hermanamiento se ha visto libre, pero que ha demostrado ser "en el mismo corazón". Hoy a miles de cubanos ha tocado buscar asilo, y en América del Norte y en América del Sur y en América del Este, y están sintiendo que el bo- rínqueo de los que han sido recibido con amor de hermano, abrazadores brillantes oportunidades de renovar sus vidas en la hoy prospera economía de la isla. Los cubanos que viven en Brooklyn, Nueva York, en frente de los acreditados, han invitado homenajes de grati- tud a su pueblo hermano que los acogieron. Uno de ellos, la presentación del espectáculo musical "Añorada Cuba" en la ciudad de San Juan.

- Y ahora, aquí en Miami, el ex espectáculo folklórico que anima el padre Jorge Bes Cha- be, recibido el sábado 14 y el domingo 15, en tres funciones que se presentarán en el Teatro de Miami, un nuevo homenaje a Puerto Rico y a los boricuas de Miami.

- La revista musical realizada por jovenes cubanos re- fugiados, que tantos aplausos ha recibido, se presentará en las dos islas del caribe, comprendiendo a cada una de las islas indicadas por el poeta:

- "Sabe? Hay alegría, hay luz y hay color. Y hay un país donde hermano quiere decir hermano y donde amigo quiere decir amigo..."

- "Y tú irás", "El mismo paisaje verde y luminoso, el parecido tan caracter servicial y afable..." "Puerto Rico y Cuba son, de un pájaro las dos alas..."

San Ambrosio 340 - 397

En una ocasión en que el emperador Teodosio ordenó una indisciplinada matanza en Tesalónica, San Ambrosio se opuso a ella y denunció su crímen, haciendo penitencia pública. Así lo hizo el emperador, y siendo el gran soberano del mundo, se despojó de todos sus problemas de rey y liberó públicamente su pefado en la iglesia de San Ambrosio.

Tres Días De Revisión Matrimonial

Por primera vez en la Diócesis de Miami, dieciocho parejas se reunieron en un motel de Fort Lauderdale preparado especialmente al efecto, para tomar parte en un retiro espiritual para Matrimonios, que dirigió el Padre A. gel Villaronga, OFM.

Diferente en contenido y enfoque al Ejercicio EspiritaO o al Cursillo de Cristiandad, este Retiro tiene como objetivo la presentación de la vocación de armonía y deeros de la vida matrimonial, proporcionándolo jóvenes la oportunidad de un intercambio a la luz de Dios, de su presente realidad, y futuro encusmiento.

Comenzando el viernes en la noche y concluyendo el domingo por la tarde, desde la platia inicial se hizo hincapié como base fundamental de un positivo resultado, el diálogo de los esposos entre sí, aplicando las ideas presentadas a su circunstancia personal. La oración conjunta, la buena voluntad de ambos y la ayuda del sacerdote, fueron señaladas como complemento para un mayor aprovechamiento espiritual.

Matrimonios de diversas edades utilizaron este fin de semana para revivir pensamientos y metas. Los habían recorrido, llenos de ilusiones, y también los habían con más de 20 años de unión conyugal, dispuestos a mantener jóvenes los lazos de afecto y amor.

Las facilidades del "Carriage House Motor Lodge" contribuyeron a proporcionar un ambiente adecuado para to todos. Un salón social, en otro momento utilizado por los turistas para jugar cartas y desarrollar actividades festivas, fue utilizado en esta ocasión para los temas y meditaciones del ascenso, así como capilla portátil donde Cristo acompañaba a los matrimonios en el sacrificio de la misa.

Después de cada charla, las parejas podían libremente retirarse a sus amplias habitaciones con aire acondicionado para pensar y resolver "a duos", o bien pasear junto al agua por los acogedores jardines, lejos del bullicio cotidiano y dedicados tan sólo a la vital tarea, tan difícil con las complicaciones de hoy, de ordenar los valores del hogar en una jerarquía clara y estricta, a la sombra del Evangelio.

Fueron analizadas en las pláticas con franqueza y profunda son las dificultades con las que se enfrenta la familia cristiana, la necesidad de los cónyuges en apoyarse más que nunca en el amor mutuo, la importancia de la educación de los hijos como cimiento de una sociedad al servicio de Dios, los peligros que amenazan la armonía y estabilidad de la pareja, las etapas de la caridad en función del matrimonio, y el papel activo de los esposos en la renovación que plantea el Concilio Vatícano II.

En los tiempos libres, el Padre Villaronga estuvo a la disposición de los asistentes para dirección espiritual individual o conjunta de los esposos, añadiendo esta orientación particular, su fruto en casos y situaciones concretas.

Cinco parejas que al casarse, no lo habían hecho con misa de celebración, tuvieron la oportunidad en la noche de hacerlo en emotiva ceremonia. A su vez la renovación de las promesas de los espousales fue efectuada por todos, durante una hora santa denominada "Nazaré" con la que se finalizó esta jornada, y la que incluyó una consagración especial al Corazón de Jesús y unas hermosas oraciones de voz a otro cónyuge, que en representación del grupo hicieron dos de los participantes.

"Es un ocasio especializada para poneros de nue vo en sintonía con nuestro amor y con Dios...; "Soy introvertido y hace mucho tiempo no sostenía una conversación tan íntima y fructífera con mi esposa como en estos días...; "Hemos dado juntos un paso adelante en nuestra felicidad y comprensión del uno al otro...; "Nos ha permitido perfilar el equilibrio, entre nuestro hogar y nuestras actividades de apostolado".

El Padre Villaronga en una de sus Pláticas en el Grupo de Matrimonios.

La libertad es como un or ma de fuego; hay que sa ber manejarlo.

Puntos Para Meditar

Frases como estas escuchadas al terminar el Retiro, demuestran claramente los efectos del mismo, que son de esperar se multipliquen con la gracia y estímulo que la devoción y la formación por él impulso.

El Movimiento familiar Cristiano, del que el Padre Villaronga es director diocesano, y que fue el organizador de este Retiro, tiene ya en perspectiva la celebración de otros similares en un futuro cercano, para los matrimonios hispanos, que sin duda se beneficiarán como este primer grupo, de una mejor cimentación de su felicidad conyugal y eficacia en sus deberes familiares.

By JACK HOUGHTELING

Last school year, Tommy Koziol turned in one of the finest efforts ever by a football athlete. He was the outstanding player in both football and baseball.

In football, he was a rugged, 175-pound halfback in "vein," a 450-yarder. For LaSalle High, he was truly an all-around athlete, also being a starter in basketball.

Now, Tommy is out making a name for himself among the almost 1,000 high school graduates who have accepted bonus offers to play professional baseball. He signed with the Houston Astros of the National League and was assigned to Bismarck, N. D., in a rookie league.

His doing quite well, too.

Now playing second base, he's batting .305 and appears to be headed for a step up baseball's chimney next season.

"Most of his hits seem to be for extra bases," stated his brother Bob, who preceded him as one of LaSalle's first stars, and is on summer vacation in Miami.

"The other night he hit a three-run homer to win a game for them," continued Bob. "He called us right after that game. He was mighty happy."

MOVED TO SECOND

Bob, who is a pitcher for LaSalle College in Philadelphia, says that Tommy was moved to second base because of his throwing.

"They didn't like the way he was throwing and figured that moving him to second would help compensate for it. They liked his hitting and fielding but figured that second was a better spot for him."

According to Bob, his younger brother has been playing second base in the new position.

The Koziol family is also hoping that when Tommy turns in one of his over 100 bonus offers to play professional ball, a part of the bonus he received guaranteed him a college education.

He's planning on joining brother Bob as a freshman in September at LaSalle.

Bob has also been making it good but strictly as a collateral performer.

Last spring, his sophomore season, he was a 3.0 and had an ERA of 1.96 for 33 innings.

HAVE TO WANT

"I was used mostly in relief," explains Bob, "as we had about eight good pitchers on our squad. As a sophomore, I had to wait my turn to pitch.

"But, I expect a lot more work next year."...LaSalle finished with a fine 18-6 record and just missed out on winning their conference title and a playoff berth for a sport in the national tournament.

Bob is majoring in English, made the Dean's List and expects to teach in college on graduation.

Christian Doctrine Training Program Will Start On Oct. 3

The 1965-66 training program of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine will begin Monday, October 3 at 7:30 a.m. in the Diocese of Miami.

A course in modern catechetics combining doctrine and method will be offered in a 50-hour program conducted during a 25-week period to prepare teachers for the C.C.D. schools of religious training in parishes throughout the Diocese of Miami.

Primary objective of the C.C.D. is the religious education of all Catholics not enrolled in Catholic schools. The 50-hour course will provide the student teacher with a basic knowledge of the Christian message and the manner of presenting it attractively to elementary and high school students.

PROBATIONARY teacher's certificates will be awarded to those completing the course.

A permanent teaching certificate is issued to the instructor who has taught for one year under supervision.

Courses in modern catechetics will be presented on two levels at each of the above centers. Those attending classes on the secondary level will be trained according to the techniques of group dynamics.

A special two-week course will begin Sept. 11 in San Pedro parish, Tavernier; and Sept. 15 in San Pablo parish, Marathon; and in San Pedro parish, Tavernier.

Union Office For A Working Mother?

THE FAMILY CLINIC

I am a working mother with three children whom I do not neglect. But I have been in the forefront of union activity and received some publicity which my children dislike. I believe in unions, and have the opportunity of accepting an office with a newly organized union, all of which is in keeping with my convictions. Should I accept this position at the risk of causing difficulties at home with the children? My husband approves.

By JOHN J. KANE, Ph. D.

...or letter is among the most interesting I have ever received. I believe many readers will agree because it points up a not uncommon dilemma of modern parenthood: how far do obligations to children extend?

Numbers of American families are really child centered, in fact, too much so. There are probably few parents who have not experienced feelings of guilt in teaching in which you may live. One writer, internationally known, his "fathers," and also with some of the tragic occurrences and which enriches your life. I see no reason why this position at the risk, of causing difficulties at home.

During life we must all undergo some frustrations and disappointments. The parent who tries to forestall this during all of the child's life makes a mistake. Since some of this is inevitable, how much better to teach children how to bear up under adversity when it is inevitable.

Some Become Tyrants

As a consequence some children literally become tyrants. They not only try but do dictate to their parents who, under fear of faulty child rearing, succumb. Here is an example of poor child rearing that merits much more attention than it receives.

Parents are older, and adequate parents have learned to profit by experience. Usually they are in a better position than young children to make decisions especially about their own lives.

So far as one can offer a rule of thumb, it is better for a mother with pre-school children not to work outside the home. Sometimes out of sheer economic necessity they must. But if children are adequately cared for and the mother tries to compensate for her absence, no grave harm inevitably follows.

You say your children are not neglected. You find union activity an area in which you have strong convictions and which enriches your life. I see no reason why this is inevitable, how much better to teach children this during all of the child's life makes a mistake. Since this does disturb children.

Explain What Unions Are

There is one quite definite step which you must take. You and your husband, who agrees with you, must teach children what unions are, what they try to do and above all what the conditions of the working men were prior to unions. Naturally, you will freely grant that some unions have made mistakes.

If they are old enough to read and appreciate it, let them become acquainted with the lives of some great union leaders of the past and present. If they are old enough to read and appreciate it, let them become acquainted with the lives of some great union leaders of the past and present. Usually they are in a better position than young children to make decisions especially about their own lives.

I am not going to pretend that your children will not suffer some scars from your work and from the limelight in which you may live. One writer, internationally known, who handled controversial subjects once told me how his children were insulted by being told their father was a Communist, a charge entirely unfounded.

Here again, is an opportunity of teaching your children something about the society in which they live. People do misrepresent and distort matters particularly when they are a vested interest and feel they are apt to suffer from union or any other kind of activity even though it is badly needed and long overdue. All children suffer some scars as they go through life. Perhaps the scars yours will undergo will ultimately seem to them stripes of honor. For you to give in to them on the issue I fear is merely to practice a type of overprotection which can only harm, not help them.
Curried Shrimp with Grapes Tasty

By FLORENCE DEVANEY

It's because of a very lucky accident that we today have the luxuriant clusters of large green-gold Thompson Seedless grapes heaped so lavishly on produce counters. It all started about 70 years ago in Yuba City, California with one very lucky little odd-ball grape cutting which was to become the ancestor of the mighty Thompson empire.

A farmer in Sutter County, William Thompson, ordered wine grape cuttings from somewhere near the Mediterranean. When they arrived everything seemed as ordered, except for three or four cuttings which looked different. Thompson planted these by themselves, just to see what might happen.

Curried Shrimp with Grapes

1. 4 cups (1/2 cup) butter or margarine
2. 1 teaspoon salt or salt to taste
3. 1 teaspoon ground black pepper
4. 1/8 teaspoon cayenne

1. Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Remove from heat and blend in flour, curry powder and onion. Stir well and bring to a boil.
2. Add 1 cup milk or shrimp stock and 1 cup shrimp or 2 cans (6 oz. each) chopped fresh onion.
3. In a blender combine 2 cups Thompson Seedless grapes and 2 cups milk.
4. Blend again. Strain mixture into a large serving bowl. Blend in 2 teaspoons, fresh lemon juice, 1/2 cup Thompson Seedless grapes, 3 eggs, beaten slightly.
5. Blend well. Butter or margarine in a saucepan. Remove from heat and add 2 cups Thompson Seedless grapes.

MORE DASH TO THE DISH

1/4 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
1/4 teaspoon cayenne
1/4 teaspoon dash cayenne
4 cups deveined cooked shrimp or 2 cans (6 oz. each)
2 cups milk or 1 cup shrimp stock and 1 cup 1/2 cups Thompson Seedless grapes.

Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Remove from heat, blend in flour, curry powder and onion. Stir and cook 1 minute. Gradually add milk or shrimp stock and milk. Stir and cook until of medium thickness. Add salt, black pepper, shrimp and grapes. Heat until hot. Serve over choice of noodles or toast.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Molded Fresh Grape Cream

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
3 eggs, beaten slightly
2 cups milk
2 teaspoons pure vanilla

1. Soften gelatin in cold water. Set aside for later use. Combine sugar and salt in a saucepan or top part of a double boiler. Add 1/4 cup of milk. Bring to a boil. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Add grapes and heat 3 minutes or until grapes are tender skinned. Amaz-ingly enough, they were seedless. Today this little grapevine's descendants are legion. Forty-eight per cent of California's half million acres of vineyards are planted to Thompsons.

2. It's such a delicious grape that it takes 6,000 to 8,000 cars of fresh Thompsons each year to fill the American fruit bowl. Additionally about 90 per cent of California's raisins are made from Thompsons, while still another part of these handsome grapes is used in making white dessert wines.

3. Besides eating out of hand, you'll enjoy using Thompsons in these good dishes.

SPICED GRAPE

1/4 cup sugar
1 cup water
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice

1. Combine sugar, water and lemon juice in a saucepan. Add cinnamon and bring to boiling point, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add grapes and heat 3 minutes or until grapes begin to look cooked. Remove from heat, stir in gelatine and stir in pure vanilla extract; chill. Wash grapes and cut in half. When mixture begins to thicken fold in grapes and whipped cream. Turn into a 1 1/2 quart mold. Chill until firm and ready to serve. Garnish with clusters of green grapes.

YIELD: 8 servings.

Blender Gaspacho

Remove garlic skins, peel away tomato skin and blend 1 clove garlic and 3 tomatoes in your electric blender. Now add 1 onion cut in quarters, 1 green pepper cut in quarters and 1 cucumber, seeded and cut in cubes, to blended mixture and blend again. Strain mixture into a large serving bowl. Blend together 1 cup vinegar, salt, cayenne and tomato juice long enough to mix thoroughly. Stir into the serving bowl and chill in refrigerator. Add olive oil before serving. Chop remaining tomato, onion, cucumber and pepper in very, very fine pieces (keep these 4 vegetables in separate piles), then put into 4 little bowls. Heat butter or margarine with remaining clove of garlic, toss in bread cubes and fry until crisp and golden. Put these into a little bowl. To serve: Put 2 ice cubes in each soup bowl, ladle in a portion of the chilled vegetable-egg mixture and spoon some of each chopped vegetable and bread cubes on top. Serves 4 to 6.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Once Upon A Time Films Were Entertaining, Critic Says

'Moviegoers Put Through Ordeals'

By William H. Mooring

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — It seems no time at all since the premieres of so-called "socially-conscious" screenplays were telling us that people weren't going to the movies for entertainment anymore. They were out for "an experience." A appetite didn't last long, any people now go to a movie expecting an ordeal. Nothing less will do.

I am not afraid to mention titles, although I am not in the mood to publicize certain cinema sensations by passing them, so you may fill in the space for yourself.

ENTER CYNISM

The first movie away from the romantically geared screenplay — with or without a modicum of "social significance" — occurred quite some time ago. It was accelerated more by the increasing cynicism of pseudo-sophisticates in the college and high school brackets, than by any honest-to-goodness hunger for deeper, more meaningful drama.

(Sometimes I even think that this cynicism is a great, big, phony pose to cover up innate sentimentality, but push that aside for now.)

No one in his right senses would argue that movie-making should have stayed on that level of taste and intelligence where everything was either black or white; where the bad guy got a fat lip and the good guy got the girl.

WHERE THE END?

One wonders, however, where the current movie "kick" for heroes with hearts as black as Simon

Movie 'Alfie' Wins A Code Exemption

NEW YORK — (NC) — "Alfie," an upcoming Paramount film that deals with abortion, has become the third film to be exempted from regulations of the Production Code of the Motion Pictures Association of America (MPA).

At the same time, the National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures (NCOMP) announced it has changed its classification of "The Pawnbroker," also exempted from code regulations, from Class B to Class A-3 (morally unobjectionable, but "nudity scene had been cut.

The only other movie granted a code exemption was "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" which was placed in NCOMP's A-4 category, a classification "given to certain films which, while not morally offensive in themselves, require caution and some analysis and explanation as a protection to the uninformed against wrong interpretations and false conclusions."

THE VOICE Miami, Florida
A Protestant friend of mine told me that the professor in her religion course claimed that it is generally accepted today, by most prominent biblical scholars, that the Gospels were not written by four distinct men, but that those of Matthew, Luke and John were taken from that of Mark and another document.

If this is true, the traditional proof of the validity of the Gospels by comparison of the words of the four separate men no longer holds. By 60 A.D. when Mark wrote, stories could have been elaborated upon, and the Lord's words could have been changed. In that case the New Testament would be reduced to a collection of stories that might be true. Along this line I read in a Catholic magazine that the story of the Good Samaritan should be taken as a legend or fable.

The professor mentioned said also that the Gospels of Matthew, Luke and John were not necessarily written by those men.

I suspect that your friend has not quoted her professor with complete accuracy.

We have always known that the first three Gospels, Matthew, Mark and Luke, in some way depend upon each other or upon common sources.

MUCH ALIKE

They are very much alike in general outline, in the events they narrate, and in the words they quote. And yet each is distinct in style, as Mark wrote the Good News as he knew it, and in its adaptation to its peculiar audience. Luke was a historian, and it is intended (e.g., Matthew was probably written in Syria for Jewish Christians of the diaspora; Mark was probably written in Rome, and its author, who was conscious of its Gentile readers, Luke planned an effort to tell the entire story of Jesus and the Apostolic Church, continued in the Acts of the Apostles, in constant awareness of the importance of Gentiles in the Church).

In times past it was customary to explain the similarity between the first three Gospels by the fact that they all depended on the preaching of the Apostles in the early Church. It was customary to say that Matthew wrote from his own eye-witness, his memory, and his own circle of repeated preaching; that Mark wrote the Good News as he had heard it preached by Peter; and that Luke, who had followed the preaching of the same Good News by Paul. In a very true sense Matthew was conscious of its Gentile readers; Luke planned an effort to tell the entire story of Jesus and the Apostolic Church, continued in the Acts of the Apostles, in constant awareness of the importance of Gentiles in the Church.

In any case, it is certain that the Biblical Commission rejected the hypothesis that Matthew and Mark merely copied from one another, and that Matthew and Luke shared a common source.

To continue their work they depend upon a common source, a common source which they designate as "Q" (for German word quale — source). Some authorities believe that Luke also used another source, which they designate as "L" for some of the material common to him.

Two more points: (1) from the interdependence of the first three Gospels we must not get the idea that Matthew and Luke merely copied from Mark and Q. They were true authors, with their own styles, and in their own purposeful arrangement of their material. (2) In a very true sense Matthew was the first Gospel; it did more than any other Gospel to form the Christian image of Jesus; it was the one most read in Christian assemblies, the one best known throughout the Church's history.
