Catholics in the United States and Latin American countries will participate in a government-sponsored program of prayer and religious demonstrations on Tuesday, Oct. 17, to protest the persecution which continues in Cuba at the hands of the communist-controlled regime of Fidel Castro.

In the Diocese of Miami, Bishop Coleman F. Carroll has called for a "faithful vote" to support the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and to receive Holy Communion on Oct. 17. He says that the intention that God will help the hand of the godless dictator of Cuba and will grant to our Cuban neighbors, whether in Cuba or in exile, abundant consolation and strength in this hour of terrible persecution.

The arrival in South Florida of nearly 100,000 Catholic refugees from Communist oppression in Cuba has given the Diocese of Miami an opportunity to take to heart the admonition of St. Paul, "Bear one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ." Bishop Carroll told parishes in a letter urging support of the program of prayer for the Cuban people.

"The parishes within the Diocese have helped to supply these refugees with food, clothing, shelter and medical care," Bishop Carroll said, pointing out that in addition many thousands of hours of spiritual direction and comfort have been given the refugees by priests, Brothers and Sisters.

"Fidel Castro recently expelled a Cuban Bishop and 151 priests," Bishop Carroll continued. "Less than 50 priests now remain in Cuba to care for over five million people. In addition different Cuban families among us hear daily that their loved ones have faced the firing squads. As a result of these fresh burdens, tension among the refugees is at an all-time high and their hope at an all-time low."

Bishop Carroll suggested that school children also assist at Masses which will be celebrated on Tuesday and recommended that the faithful remember the intentions of the Cuban people in their daily recitation of the Rosary.

CIVIC DEMONSTRATIONS TO PROTEST PERSECUTION

Parishes, Schools Join Civic Crusade

Freedom Forever Under God

Schools and parishes of the diocese will take part individually in a patriotic, civic observance being held this weekend.

Oct. 14 and 15, based on the theme, "Rededication to God and Country."

The observance calls for a personal reappraisal of the duties of citizenship and a pledge to carry them out so that the United States may be strengthened internally and become more effective in the world struggle against communism.

The participation of school children and parishes was asked in letters written by Father James J. Walsh, director of the diocesan Bureau of Information, and Msgr. William P. Keever, diocesan superintendent of schools. The manner of participating in the observance was left to the discretion of pastors and school principals.

PUBLIC RALLY

Highlight of the observance will be a public rally in Bayfront Park on Oct. 15 at 7:30 p.m.

The diocesan government program is being sponsored by a civic group headed by Mrs. Rosalie H. Elliott, of St. Hugh parish. The group is seeking to draw attention to the place of God in American history and contemporary, national affairs. The group's theme is, "Join the American Revolution — Freedom Forever Under God."

As described by Mrs. Elliott, the three aims of the observance are:

To remind Americans of the ideas and principles on which the U.S. was founded and which have kept the spirit of '76 advancing to the present time; to

DUE TO ILL HEALTH

Bishop Of Atlanta Resigns

WASHINGTON (NC) — Pope John XXIII has graciously acceded to the request of the Most Rev. Francis Hyland that he be permitted to resign the position of Bishop of Atlanta, Archbishop Diogenes Vagnozzi, Apostolic Delegate to the United States, announced here.

Bishop Hyland has been in ill health for some time and the Holy Father has now transferred him to the Titular See of Ritsa.

Bishop Hyland became the Ordinary when the See of Atlanta was established as a separate diocese in 1966 through a mission of what had been the Diocese of Savannah-Atlanta. He had been Auxiliary Bishop of Savannah-Atlanta from 1949 until that time.

Born in Philadelphia, Oct. 9, 1901, Bishop Hyland studied at St. Charles Borromeo Seminary, Overbrook, Pa., and was ordained in the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul, Philadelphia in 1927.

He took the degree Doctor of Canon Law at the Catholic University of America in 1938, and the following January joined the staff of the Apostolic Delegate in this city. He was Secretary to the Apostolic Delegate until September, 1939.

Remember the Missions

This Sunday, Oct. 15, is Mission Sunday, a day of prayer, almsgiving and sacrifice on the part of all Catholics.

Adm. Felix Stumpf, U.S.N. (ret.), said the Communist party also seeks to attack all organizations against communism and to fight against a U.S. Supreme Court decision that required the Communist party to register with the Justice Department.

A locally originated Catholic television program will be presented by WKCT Channel 7 in Miami in cooperation with the Diocese of Miami. Titled “That I May See,” the program will be moderated by Father David J. Heffernan and will be seen Sunday at 11:30 a.m. beginning next Sunday, Oct. 15.

Father Heffernan, pastor of St. Lawrence Church, is serving as chairman of the Diocesan Commission for Radio and Television. He will attempt to cover the story of Catholicism by presenting from various churches and schools in the diocese filmed examples of the many phases of Catholic action relating to rites, traditions, educational facilities, and the Sacraments.

Father Heffernan is the first Miami born priest in the Miami Diocese. He was an Air Force chaplain for several years. In this diocesan telecast, Father Heffernan will be assisted by other members of his commission, including priests, monks and lay people of youth Florida.

In the opening program, Oct. 15, Father Heffernan will give a preview of the topics to be covered in the future and will explain the goals of the new program.

Sacrament Of Penance

The “power of the keys” is the governing power which Christ granted to His Church. To Peter He promised: “And I will give thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven. And whatsoever thou shalt bind upon earth, it shall be bound also in heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt loose upon earth, it shall be loosed also in heaven” (Matthew 16, 19). Later He repeated this promise to all the Apostles (Matthew 18, 18).

The power of the keys is the power to forgive sins exercised in the sacrament of Penance. Our Lord instituted this sacrament when, after His Resurrection, He breathed on the Apostles and told them: “Receive ye the Holy Ghost. Whose sins you shall forgive, they are forgiven; whose sins you shall retain, they are retained.”

Church In Hungary Faces New Oppression By Reds

By C. M. STRACIWHITZ

VIENNA (AC) — The Catholic Church in Hungary was marked for a new onslaught by the communist government even before the death of its long-time archbishop.

In articles in the only Hungarian periodicals even killed as “Catholic” now point to the unleashing of new oppressive measures against the few re-maininng members of the Hungarian Hierarchy. At the same time, these articles indicate that Catholic resistance to the Red regime in Hungary is stronger than had officially been admitted.

The two journals are "Uj Kohas” (New Man) and Katholi-Lik Szé (Catholic Word). The latter is the organ of the Kiev-based organization of “peace priests.”

The Church in Hungary lost its acting head with the death of 75-year-old Archbishop Jozsef Gross of Kalocsa. Although he had been imprisoned by the Reds from 1931 until 1954, the regime conferred several honor on him in the last years of his life. The obvious aim was to make it appear that Church-state relations were good.

ARREST RECALLED

But the Archbishop gave the lie to such propaganda attempts late last winter when nine priests were arrested on “tresson” charges. The Archbishop protested to the Red Premier.
The communists made no mention of the Archbishop’s protest.
But they went ahead and sentenced the nine priests, and had them laymen tried with them, just to trial terms ranging from 2 to 12 years.

The Archbishop’s death left only five diocesan bishops free in the whole country — even in the sense of freedom under communist rule. Hungary has three archbishopes and its 6.2 million Catholics constitute two-thirds of the total population.

The Primate of Hungary, Jos-sof Cardinal Mindszenty, Archbishop of Esterhazy, has been out of touch with his people ever since Nov. 4, 1956, when he chose asylum in the U. S.
Legation in Budapest to the almost certain death promised in the wake of the Soviet suppression of Hungary’s fight for freedom.

OTHERS UNDER ARREST

The two other archbishops, Eger and Kalocsa, are now without a bishop. The Bishops of two dioceses have long been under arrest. They are Bishops Josef Potery of Vac and Bertolom Bodadik of Veszprém. Of the five remaining diocesan bishops, one is 82 years old and the others are in their seventies.

Plan Would Solve Korea’s Over-Population Problem

SEOUL, Korea — The Korean Bishops have presented a five-point program to help solve this country’s population problem without resorting to artificial birth control methods.

The program was issued in a pastoral letter written by Bishop Paul Ro, Apostolic Vicar of Seoul, in the name of the Korean Hierarchy. It was released in answer to the announcement of the revolutionary junta that will launch a birth control campaign.

The pastoral warned all Korain Catholics of the evils of artificial birth control and stat-ested that its use is followed by moral decay. Admitting that Korea has a population problem, the Bishop stressed it cannot be solved by immoral means. Instead, they said, it can be overcome only by improving social and economic conditions.

They continued:

“The following means may be more effective since they are not contrary to natural law:

Top Court Studies Cases In Censorship, Obscenity

BY RUSSELL SHAW

WASHINGTON (N.C.) The U. S. Supreme Court opened its 1961-62 term with an all-time high of 1,606 cases on its docket — but without the church-state disputes that highlighted its last session.

Pending cases involving movie censorship and obscene literature laws were expected to test the limits of special interest to parochial school students, and the requirement of a declaration of belief in God as a condition for holding public office.

As the nine justices of the nation's highest tribunal opened their new term, it was expected that one of its first actions would be a major decision involving the U. S. Communist party.

True to expectations, the court in its second session of the new term refused to reconsider a ruling which had beenhotly contested by the parties. Thus the court gave effect to the ruling which had been held in abeyance since June.

The court held, 5-4, last June 5 that the party must register with the government as a "communist-action" group under the 1960 Subversive Activities Control Act.

But on June 23 Justice Felix Frankfurter, himself the author of the decision, granted the party a stay of effect pending the outcome of its petition to the court for a rehearing.

In seeking a rehearing the Communist party's lawyers have argued that the registration requirement violates the constitutional right of party officials to protection against compulsory self-incrimination. By registering, they claim, party officials would make themselves liable to penalties under the Smith Act, which makes active membership in the Communist Party a crime.

MOVIE CENSORSHIP

The stage has been set in the court for another round in the continuing battle over movie censorship, a battle which stretches back nearly a decade-and-a-half to 1948. In that year Justice William O. Douglas expressed the opinion in a dictum that films are in a "state of abeyance since June.

advantages, of his immediate need, and think of the com- mon good alone and the years ahead. His voice has never been expressed better than in Father James Keller's book, "Government Is Your Business." We consider the thoughts presented by Father Keller of so great value to every opportunity to belittle and ridicule those who undertake a career in government?

Do I want to brand my country as a "grafter" or a "crook" and thus slander those who are doing as honest and efficient a job as others who earn their living out of the sweat of their brow?

Do I expect others to provide first-class government at a smaller salary than myself would take for the same job?

Do I make the mistake of labeling every forward move as an infringement on the individual's right to govern himself, or socialize, or do I distinguish intelligently and objectively between infringement of government upon the individual and normal public control?

Do I run the risk of oversimplifying delicate and compli- cated problems of government by jumping to hasty conclusions that solve nothing and do little more than muddy the waters further?

Do I make it a practice to disagree without getting disagreeable when discussing weaknesses and difficulties of government?

Do I become so preoccupied with the little issues that I miss the big ones?

Has it ever occurred to me that I am wrapped up in my own interests so I overlook what is best for the country and everybody in it?

Do I make the unfortunate mistake of waiting for the perfect person to do a government job that otherwise I am too impatient to risk getting things going?

Do I put the objectives of a political party, a business, or an organization before the best interests of the country?

Do I take a special delight in stirring up trouble or in making a bad situation worse, when I should be using my time and energy to bring conflicting interests together?

SUM AND SUBSTANCE

The Liturgical Movement Is An Ecumenical Bridge

By FATHER JOHN B. SHEERIN

Most of us have read the news items about the triennial meet- ing of the bishops of the Prot- estant Episcopal Church in De- troit in September. We remem- ber with a little of sadness that they voted to open birth con- trol.

Our curiosity was piqued by the fact that Father Sheerin that they voted against dropping the word "protestant" from the Church's official title. More important than either of these items, however, was the pas- soral letter issued at the end of the 12-day meeting. It dealt with Christian unity.

Written by Bishop Angus Dun of Washington, long active in ecumenical work, the letter expressed the readiness of Anglicans for reunion talks with oth- ers Christian bodies. It expres- sed regret that the Catholic Church does not belong to the World Council of Churches but rejoiced in the fact that the Vatican is now sending officially approved "observers" to Council meetings.

COMMON INHERITANCE

Bishop Dun called attention to the common inheritance the Anglican Church shares with other Christian churches; the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Com- mandments, the beatitudes and the parables and the psalms, the belief in the Trinity. Above all, the Anglicans confess Christ as Lord and Savior and in the measure in which they come to know other Christians, "we find that in these other households of faith and prayer the holy love of God in Christ is breaking through to town and calling out to penitent faith."

These latter words remind of a movement that is sweep- ing through Christian churches today, notably in Catholicism and in Anglicanism, J. V. Longmead Casser- ley, in an article in the Prot- estant Religion in Life (Spring, 1960) said: "The litur- gical movement is, of course, primarily a pres- sure of reform and renewal in the Roman communion but it has had at the same time a considerable influence on non- Roman Catholic bodies; per- haps more particularly on the Anglican communion, to which the present writer belongs, but also on many Luth- erans and members of Re- formed churches.

The goal of the liturgical movement is not to strike out on new frontiers but to redis- cover the true meaning and purpose of the worship. Wrong notions and attitudes have over- grown Catholic Mass practices, for instance in the reaction to the liturgical regulations of the Council of Trent. Some Catholics attend Mass as more passive devotees, saying the rosary or me- chanically reading a prayerbook or perhaps meditating on the Bible or on the Eucharist. They pursue their private devotions while the priest reads his missal in a for- eign tongue at a distant altar.

But Our Lord is not an idea of God. They pursue their private devotions while the priest reads his missal in a for- eign tongue at a distant altar.

On The Metro Amendment

The churches, he says, have an interest in helping the poor in the field of labor education. "But there is a danger," he hastens to add, "that in the aid of groups whose prime loyalties are not to democratic processes and the liberty of union, but to bases outside the common inclusive system of labor cooperation. I deny the churches," he says, "the right to interfere in internal union affairs. To work for the protection of the external base of loyalty of the labor movement, but in accepting the aid of groups whose prime loyalties are not to democratic processes and the liberty of union, but to bases outside the common inclusive system of labor cooperation."

LESS OF DANGER?

Mr. Eby’s argument against the danger of outside interference by the churches in the internal affairs of organized labor is dis- rected, presumably, at the protest- ant churches as well as the Catholic Church. There is some reason to believe, however, that Mr. Eby regards Protestantism as less of a danger in this regard than Catholicism. This, I suppose, is not to be wondered at in view of the fact that he is himself an ordained minister in one of the fundamentalist denom- inations.

"I believe," he says, "that our democratic institutions have their origin in the Protestant reformation which insisted on the right of conscience, freedom of worship, and freedom of political expression." I cannot help but inter- prit this to mean, that in the opinion of Mr. Eby, Catholicism, in contrast to Protestantism, is not in favor of democ- racy — that Catholicism, in other words, is one of those groups whose prime loyalties are not to democratic processes and the theory of union, but to bases outside the common inclusive system of labor cooperation."

Mr. Eby really feels this way about Catholicism, I am sorry, but of course I am not disposed to argue with him about the matter. On the other hand, I think it should be stated for the record that he is being unfair to American Protestant- ism as well as to American Catholicism when he makes the assertion, that the churches have been or are guilty of interfering in the internal affairs of organ- ized labor.

CITIES NO EVIDENCE

"I deny the churches," says Mr. Eby, "the right to interfere in internal union affairs." So far, so good. But to the best of my knowl- edge, the churches have never done anything of the kind. If Mr. Eby thinks they are, he should have a chapter and a page in his book, for he fails to do so. He cites no evi- dence of interference by the churches in the internal affairs of the American trade union movement.

The only Catholic organiza- tion to which he refers is the Association of Catholic Trade Unions, which he says, "has already made a successful alliance with labor and which produces a cadre of leader- ships with certain powerful seg- ments of the labor move- ment."

This reference to ACTU, it must be said with all due re- spect to the zealous leaders of that organization, is much too light for thinking. I doubt that there are more than a handful of priests directly associated with ACTU, and even then, I am unacquainted with any who have ever been elected to the board of directors of that organization. We have all heard the expression, "It's the Mass that matters," but do we really understand what it means to offer? When we reach for a word to express our faith, the Mass is the right choice. It is the sacrifice that God made for us, and the Divine service of worship by the Church.

The Mass is the fulfillment of the sacrifice of Christ on Calvary. It is the offering of the Church, and we are invited to share in this offering. The Mass is the sacrament of the Eucharist, the sacrifice of Christ, and the offering of the Church.

We come to the altar to offer our prayers and to receive the grace of the Eucharist. We come to the altar to offer our prayers and to receive the grace of the Eucharist. We come to the altar to offer our prayers and to receive the grace of the Eucharist.

Do you really appreciate the urgency of your need to offer this sacrifice? Your dependence on God is so basic and complete that even your most heartfelt prayers and most fervent praise is not enough. You need to offer the sacrifice of Christ on Calvary. God is the only one who can offer this sacrifice. It is the only sacrifice that God can offer.

People Of Bologna

Greet Pope John

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Two thousand Catholics from the heavily communist industrial city of Bologna, Italy, were among the first to wish Pope John XXIII a happy birthday.

The pilgrimage led by Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro, Archbishop of Bologna, was the first of a number scheduled to come to Rome from many parts of Europe to pay homage to the Pope on the occasion of his 60th birthday, which will be officially celebrated on Nov. 4.

The Pope’s actual birthday is Nov. 25, but his observance has been moved up to Nov. 4 to coincide with the date of his coronation in 1953.

AN ALTAR BOY NAMED "SPECK"
POPE BACKS FREE ENTERPRISE

Pope John XXIII, in his encyclical "Mater et Magistra," has repeatedly emphasized that it is not the function of government to replace the free initiative of individuals and voluntary groups. However, this central teaching of the historic document has been almost completely ignored in the general press and too much attention has been given to what it has to say about legitimate government action in the field of social welfare and social reform.

These facts highlighted an interpretation and explanation of "Mater et Magistra" presented by Msgr. George G. Higgins, director of the Social Action Department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, before a regional convention of the five Serra Clubs of South Florida and Puerto Rico. He spoke at a banquet Saturday which closed the three-day gathering at the Key Biscayne Hotel.

The most widely publicized and perhaps the most controversial section of the encyclical, Monsignor Higgins declared, is the one dealing with the phenomenon of socialization, which is not to be confused with socialization. Socialization, he said, is understood as the "progressive multiplication of relations in society, with different forms of life and activity and juridical institutionalization."

It finds its expression for the most part, he added, not in governmental programs but in "a wide range of groups, movements, associations and institutions, both within single national communities and on an international level."

While the encyclical's treatment of the role of government in economic life is described as "liberal" by Monsignor Higgins pointed out, in favoring socialization, it is "giving its blessing first and foremost, but not exclusively, to volunteer programs" we are torqueing governmental programs — for example, social security — "in so far as they are in harmony with the principle of subsidiarity."

Summarizing the Holy See's views on socialization, Monsignor Higgins said:

"While the public authorities must not remain inactive, it is not their function to replace the free initiative of individuals and voluntary groups but rather to direct, stimulate, coordinate, supplement and integrate the activities of individuals and groups in the interest of the common good."

POPE'S "OPTIMISM"

He called upon the Catholic press to focus attention as clearly as possible on this "fundamental principle" of the encyclical, namely that "individual human beings are and should be the foundation, the end and the subjects of all the institutions in which social life is carried on; individual human souls considered in so far as they are and should be by their nature, intrinsically social, and in so far as they are in the plan of Providence, by their elevation to the supernatural order."

One of the most distinctive features of the encyclical, the speaker asserted, is its tone of quiet and reassuring Christian optimism as characteristic of Pope John. This optimism, he said, is notably apparent in the Holy Father's treatment of the "profound transformations" which have taken place in the fields of science, technology and economics, in the social field and in the field of politics.

"At no point," Monsignor Higgins added, "does he turn his back on the modern world with all its problems, and at no point does he contrast the present unfavorably with the past."

"The same spirit of Christian optimism and openedhearted benevolence characterizes the concluding section of the encyclical on the lay apostolate."

CHALLENGE TO LAITY

Calling upon laymen and lay women everywhere to study "Mater et Magistra," Monsignor Higgins said that "the important thing is not to discuss the encyclical theoretically, but to try to discern its practical meaning and to look for opportunities to apply its principles to contemporary problems, as we are urged to by His Holiness. Seldom, if ever before, has the Church issued such a ringing challenge to the laity, he declared, concluding:

"Let us hope that our generous laity in the United States will be among the first to respond to his challenge and thereby be among the first to merit the special blessing which His Holiness, in the final sentence of his encyclical, bestows upon all his spiritual children but especially upon those who will reply with generosity to his appeal for more intensive and more effective apostolic action in the temporal order."

Bishop Carroll Observes Third Anniversary

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll observed the third anniversary of his installation as the first Bishop of the Diocese of Miami in St. Mary Cathedral last Sunday. He was celebrated of a Solemn Pontifical Mass of Thanksgiving.

It was in the same church on Oct. 7, 1958 that Archbishop Francis P. Kenough, of Baltimore, had officiated at the ceremonies of installation. Bishop Carroll had been appointed to head the newly-created Miami Diocese by the late Pope Pius XII on Aug. 13, 1958.

The sermon for the anniversary was delivered by Father John J. Nevin, assistant pastor at the Cathedral. He recounted many of the accomplishments in the Diocese in its first three years which have come about, he said, as a result of the leadership of Bishop Carroll, the assistance rendered him by the priests and Sisters and the loyal cooperation and support of the laity, all working together as living cells of the Mystical Body of Christ.

Bishop Carroll himself expressed his joy at the great increase in the number of vocations in the Diocese when he spoke briefly at the banquet which closed the regional convention of Serra Clubs at Key Biscayne Hotel Saturday night.

"There is great reason to rejoice," the Bishop declared, "because so many young men have heard and responded to the call of Almighty God."

This has come about, the Bishop explained, because of the prayers and dedication of the Serrans, their established work of fostering vocations and also as a result of the zeal, the devotion, the sacrifice, the prayers and the generosity of so many people — all those wonderful Catholic laity, all working together.

OLD BRIDGE, N.J. (NSC) — After six months and five million trading stamps a project launched by St. Thomas the Apostle parish succeeded in securing a 62-passenger bus valued at $8,000 to be used by the school.
A detailed explanation of three types of work carried out by members of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine will be given during a Lay Institute to be held at two locations in the Diocese.

The institute is open to all men and women and will be held Saturday, Oct. 21, at 8 a.m. in Little Flower Church, Coral Gables, for parishes of Dade County, the Keys and west to Naples.

The institute will be repeated on the following day at 3 p.m. at St. Joan of Arc Church, Boca Raton.

The CCD work to be explained is that of fishers, helpers and teachers. The three groups work as a team in providing religious instructions for Catholic children who attend public schools.

Their different roles will be described by Mr. and Mrs. William Vick, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Renick and Miss Grace Young, all of the Diocese of St. Augustine. Members of the Miami CCD will join in a discussion of the functions of the executive board in a parish CCD program.

In announcing the dates of the Lay Institute, Father R. E. Philbin, diocesan director of the CCD, pointed out that every parish is directed by a regulation of the Holy See to establish a unit of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine.

He said the CCD is linked by its specific objective to the basic ministry of the priest. He called the CCD a lay extension of the priesthood.

Parish executive board members and all fishers and helpers have been urged to attend the Lay Institute and to invite all persons who are interested in CCD work. Plans are being made to offer additional training during the Christmas vacation week.

Cardinal Cicognani
Heads Vatican Agency

VATICAN CITY (NO) — Pope John XXIII has appointed Arleto Cardinal Cicognani, Vatican Secretary of State, to be President of the Cardinals' Commission for the Special Administration of the Holy See.

Named Pro-President of the same commission was Gustavo Cardinal Testa of the Vatican administrative staff.

Cardinals Cicognani and Testa hold similar offices in the Commission for the Administration of the Properties of the Holy See. Thus the Pope has unified the administration of the two commissions, which are responsible for the control of the Holy See's income and property.

Cardinal Cicognani holds other important posts besides those of State Secretary and President of those two commissions. He is President of the Pontifical Commission for the State of Vatican City. This last post makes him governor of the sovereign State.
U.S. Must Keep Red China Out Of United Nations

By J. J. GILBERT

WASHINGTON (N.C.)—New impetus is being given to the proposal that the United States Government recognize communist China and that the Peking regime be admitted to the United Nations.

There are those here in official and advisory capacities who favor such moves. It is said that they are more numerous now than they have been for several years. At the same time, there is ample reason to believe that public opinion throughout the country is heavily against such policies.

Hardly any one denies that acceptance of Red China would be in the interests of the communist bloc of nations. The Red-dominated nations support acceptance with monolithic unity. There is division of opinion in the non-communist world where the policy of "containment" is criticized by individuals and groups.

Perhaps the most effective argument used to date by the proponents of recognition is the one that we cannot continue to ignore 600,000,000 people on the China mainland.

The answer opponents give to this is that they are not being ignored. The fact that they exist is known only too well, and the fact that they have been subjugated by a communist regime is a matter of constant and grave concern to the free world.

Proponents point out that the communists operate a de facto government on the mainland. This does not make it a de jure government, however, opponents reply, and as long as a lawful government offers resistance which is not clearly hopeless international opinion will hold it would be premature to recognize a revolutionary party.

DEFIANT AND AGGRESSIVE

Even apart from these considerations, opponents ask how the United States can recognize Red China when it is, in its oppression of its own people, is aggressive against its neighbors; stands condemned as an aggressor by the United Nations; and, to do so, it is contended, would be to surrender our position as the champions of oppressed people.

Some say non-recognition does not contribute greatly to the growth of resistance to communist aggression on the China mainland. To this it is replied that recognition would undermine all resistance there.

To those who say the U.S. attitude toward Red China is provocative, it is answered that our policy is in fact a defensive one: that Red China's aim is the elimination of all Asian nationalists and it will pursue this objective with or without provocation.

It is charged that some Asian neutrals regard the U.S. stand on Red China as belligerent and unreasonable. To them it is replied that our policy is a fraud; that the argument would have us surrender; that any argument by no means presents the view of all Asians.

NO LISTENING POST

To the argument that Peking would present an excellent listening post, opponents of recognition answer that Great Britain has not found it so useful; that Peking has proved to be the "worst listening post." and that even journalists who go there get more information about Red China in Hong Kong or Tokyo.

It is said that recognition would open the way to trade with Red China. Opponents respond that Western countries that already trade with communist China have not done too well; that such trade is always at the mercy of communist whim; that some countries trade with Red China without granting recognition.

Some contend that recognition of the Peking regime would lead to the settlement of many problems. Opponents point out that negotiation and the settlement of problems necessarily precede recognition; that Chou En-lai has laid down conditions that are unacceptable. While speaking of the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Formosa as one of the conditions, Chou En-lai has also said:

"It is the imperialist policy of the U.S. Government, and not merely the fact that U.S. troops have invaded and occupied China's Taiwan (Formosa), that has put the U.S. Government in the position of being the enemy of the (Asian) peoples."

Diocesan Youths Will Mark Communion Day Oct. 29

All young people of the dio- cese — from grade school age through young adulthood — are being urged to receive Holy Communion on Sunday, Oct. 29, the Feast of Christ the King.

The observance of Youth Communion Sunday is being promoted by the CYO which is headed by Father Walter J. Dockrill, diocesan director of youth activities.

Father Dockrill said "we are making an all-out effort to alert our young people to the observance of Communion Sunday and all units of the CYO are expected to promote the day, as well as Catholic Youth Week itself, in their respective parishes.

Receiving Communion on Oct. 29 "is a special way to adore God," he said, "to thank Him for His generosity and to ask him for one's personal needs."

"Refuse" is rather a strong word to use in regard to your mother. If you feel this way you naturally show it and this attitude would ruin any mother-daughter relationship.

Your mother has the privilege of forbidding you to date any- one, for any reason she consid- erates legitimate. And I'm sure you know your privilege and re- sponsibility according to the fourth commandment in obeying her. However, to help you un- understand a little, better I'll try to explain.

There is a world of difference between being friendly on a casual basis and dating. This boy and his family are probably very decent, fine people. Differ- ence of nationality should not be the criterion for choosing a boy friend. However, your moth- er knows you and your temper- ament and she feels this "isn't the boy for you."

Mothers usually have good reasons for their objections. While they aren't always clear to you, of one thing you can be certain: they are for your best interests. When you begin to realize and appreciate this your relationship with your mother is bound to improve.

Dear Doris:

"Dear Doris; This fall I will be a Ju- nior in high school so the problem of a date becomes more pressing in. What a boy like? Steam is if it is a ght for a girl to write a letter to a boy (former class- mate) and ask him to the prom."

Wondering

Yes, a letter is fine. Once he accepts you can make further deposits by phone or letter.

Power-Packed Rams Play
Oak Ridge High Tonight

FORT PIERCE — St. Anastasia High will take its well-oiled, high-scoring football machine to Orlando tonight to battle Oak Ridge High, one of Orange County’s finest schools.

St. Anastasia turned in its most impressive victory of the season last week with a 26-0 win over Jupiter and remained tied with Cardinal Newman of West Palm Beach for the Twin-Coast Conference lead. Newman beat the Raiders by a 14-12 count.

The St. Anastasia Rams are now 2-4 in the conference and 6-9 for the year. The Rams have averaged 35 points a game with an 8-6 victory over Daytona Beach Father Lopez High as the only upset. It was played in a rainstorm.

Against Jupiter, the Rams received a standout performance once again from quarterback Paul Krause who passed and ran well. He scored touchdowns on runs of 16 and 18 yards and passed 25 yards to end John Stone, for another tally. Krause also had a 30-yard run.

Little Johnny Asteigen scored the lone St. Thomas touchdown on a 30-yard run.

The Curley offense and defense was made by quarterback Bill Zloch and Krause. Krause scored again in the third period and fullback Mike Heffey added a touchdown on a 30-yard run.

The last Rams score came in the closing moments of the game when Columbus had taken an 8-0 lead. The Rams scored on a 30-yard run from halfback Mike Pitoni to halfback Ricky Hoke. The latter was a standout for the Raiders in the line.

Outstanding for the Rams in the line were guard Vince Grazianzi and end Clyde Kille.

Win-Hungry Knights Tackle
Palmetto Saturday Night

Archbishop Curley High, boun-ed by its first victory of the season, will try to make it two in a row Saturday night when it meets winless Palmetto High at Curtis Park.

The Knights scored their first victory of the season by upsetting St. Thomas Aquinas of Fort Lauderdale, 13-6 last week. The win brought the Curley record to 1-2.

Explorers Seek
First Win Today

Christopher Columbus High, still looking for its first victory, will play Miami Military Academy this afternoon at 3:15 at the Kaygates home field in Miami Shores.

The Explorers lost their fourth straight of the year last week by a 13-6 count to Hialeah when the Thunderbirds rallied for two fourth quarter touchdowns.

Columbus had taken a 6-0 lead in the second quarter when they moved 35 yards in 10 plays after linebacker Bill Durney had recovered a Hialeah fumble.

Key plays in the drive were passes of 11 and nine yards from junior quarterback Rick Dunn to halfback Jack Roberts. Clyde Atkins contributed a nine-yard run off right tackle to the drive.

Carter Burras, playing his first game at fullback after starting the season at tackle and later sliding to halfback, got the touchdown on a halfback carry over left guard.

The rest of the game was even until Hialeah put on its final period spurt.

“The kids played a good ball game for three quarters,” Coach Pete Aiello said, “but we just can’t get a full game out of the team.”

Aiello was pleased with the play of Durney, sophomore end Jim Cun and Burras.

Caspers Invade Sarasota
For Cardinal Mooney Game

WEST PALM BEACH — Cardinal Mooney High will journey across state to Sarasota tonight to meet Cardinal Mooney High after turning in its finest offensive showing in many years.

The Crusaders whipped Florida School for Boys of Okeechobee last week by a 41-13 score, running up 56 points in the first half. The victory boosted Mooney to a 5-1 record for the year and enabled the Crusaders to remain tied with St. Anastasia High for the lead in the Twin-Coast Conference, both with 20 marks.

Newman, which relies on an all-star attack in its first two games, stayed almost entirely on the ground in holding Florida.

Biggest gainer was halfback Joe Griffin who scored on touchdown runs of 57, 40 and 70 yards. The latter was a spectacular punt return in the fourth quarter after reserves had played most of the second half.

Also scoring for the Crusaders were quarterback Paul Daly who went six to clinch a 12-yard score. Fullback Charles Kairalla’s 13-yard jaunt was the biggest gainer of the drive.

The remaining touchdowns were recorded by Dave McIn-

Nuestra Parroquia

En su Santidad el Papa Juan XXIII ha pedido a los fieles del mundo el reto positivo del "sentido privado del Santo osario por la intención del paz". En una carta apostólica el Papa el Señor Pontificio le llama el 10 de septiembre.

La historia de los pueblos —dice el Papa— muestra cómo la ausencia de los más poderosos estados de Europa se ha visto marcada por hechos de sangre y lagrimas, siendo un hecho histórico que estas circunstancias la devoción a Nuestra Señora ejerció siempre su influencia para evitar amenazadores desastres y para el puro y el progreso de la moralidad.

El Papa Leon XIII, gran conocedor de la sociedad de su tiempo, escribió 15 documentos, entre encíclicas y pastoral recomendando el rezo del Santo Rosario, afirmando que en oídos de aquellos que rezan brillan un poder extraordinario para fortalecer la fe y comulgar una paz duradera por vida de la virtud..."

El rezo del Rosario ha llegado a constituir una práctica de devoción cristiana entre los fieles que tienen su puesto después de los Sacramentos en la vida cristiana en la repetición mecánica de fórmulas. El rezo del rosario de los Papas no lo hubieran recomendado tan incesantemente. El propio el Papa en el mes de mayo, el Papa XXIII requiere tres condiciones: contemplación, meditación e interés.

La contemplación es la conversión hacia un pensamiento, un sentimiento, con la consagración y la vida de Jesús, Hijo de Dios e Hijo de María, que visió al mundo para redimir, sanar y aumentar; en el aliento de la vida oculta, dedicada a la oración y al trabajo; en los dolores de una Pasión bendita y en el triunfo de la "Resurrección" explica el Papa.

La meditación es el acto más noble del pensamiento humano, por eso ocupa un lugar primordial entre las prácticas de la religión y por tanto en el rezo del rosario.

La meditación que tan difícil parece a muchos, es en el fondo el acto más fácil, porque se trata de lo más natural. Todos meditamos. El comerciante medita en sus negocios, la mujer frívola medita sus traídas y galanterías y hasta el niño medita también sus juegos y travesturas. La meditación que está en la base de las actividades humanas, de los libros, es también en la base de las actividades del hombre cristiano.

Al hombre que vive sin esa meditación, los soledades de la vida diaria le verán a desnudo y sin alma como una veleta sin orientación.

El tema principal de las meditaciones de todo cristiano debe ser la vida de Jesucristo. "Conocemos poco de Jesucristo, porque pensamos y meditamos poco en El, rosario es un esquema de la vida de Jesucristo."

El tercer elemento, la intención, dice el Papa: "Indica personas, instituciones o necesidades de orden personal o social, las cuales para un católico verdaderamente pia-doso y activo, se encuentran dentro de las actividades de la vida cristiana, una caridad que se difunde en los corazones, como la visión viva de la comunidad en el Cuerpo Místico de Cristo."

De esta manera, proclama el Papa, "si el rosario "es la sede de la paz", una paz "universal del alma individual y del gran número de redemidos, unidos en una solidaridad entre todas las naciones del mundo. En la invocación personal suplica las gracias divinas; en unión con el coro inmensa de la Iglesia, comparten las "grandes gracio..."

La paz en sentido humano y cristiano significa inculcar en los nueces la verdad, la justicia y la hermandad, pero en el rezo de los pueblos, los pueblos de la paz..."

La historia de los pueblos —dice el Papa— "constituye un esquema de la vida de Jesucristo."

La contemplación, meditación e interés: las cual para un católico verdaderamente piadoso y activo, se encuentran dentro de las actividades de la vida cristiana, una caridad que se difunde en los corazones, como la visión viva de la comunidad en el Cuerpo Místico de Cristo."

De esta manera, proclama el Papa, "si el rosario "es la sede de la paz", una paz "universal del alma individual y del gran número de redemidos, unidos en una solidaridad entre todas las naciones del mundo. En la invocación personal suplica las gracias divinas; en unión con el coro inmenso de la Iglesia, comparten las "grandes gracias de la humanidad entera"...

La Iglesia otra vez.

El Arte de Hacer Jugar

Consejos del Padre G. Courtos

Regla general: el niño juega a las personas mayores según el interés que ve en ellas hasta aquello a él mismo le interesa.

Mostrar interés por sus juegos, tomados en serio. Si abandonas este modo, podrás estar cierto de que vuestro prestigio e influencia aumentarán considerablemente.

POPE ASKS FOR MOVIES THAT ELEVATE

In Talk to Film Reviewers

Pope John XXIII called on Catholic movie leaders to continue to fight for the production of motion pictures that will not be a cause of "artistic, intellectual or moral degradation," which may contribute, on the contrary, to man's education, development and greatness and also to his recreation.

"The success of such an undertaking depends on the common and persevering activity of all Catholics - clergy and laity - together with the help of all men of good will." said the Pontiff.

Many responsible Hollywood producers fear, however, that motion pictures, resulting from its deletion, may stimulate public agitation for Federal or State film censorship. It is almost certain to bring to a head, nation-wide parental demands for film classification, under such grades, to exclude "young people from those films which are unsuitable to their age, though they are too often being attended with resulting, serious harm." This quote is from Papal Encyclical "Miranda Prorsus" of 1957.

Producers and columnists no more at the pressure groups of a finger pointed at the Legion of Decency, should bring themselves up to date.

The Legion has more than keep pace with what Hollywood calls "changing movie tastes."

It is doing much to help and nothing to hinder valid dramatic treatment of realistic themes.

White-Tite Roof Coating Has Many Exclusive Features

More than 16 months have passed since this flat tile roof on the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Byrd 4945 Riviera, Coral Gables was sealed and coated with WHITE-TITE. Naturally, it is still bright and clean - it's guaranteed for two-full years and has a five year warranty. "This roof will stay white, free of mold and fungus even for many months," says Jesse Scalzo, owner.
